An important factor affecting the present car supply was the extensive and continuing car surplus dating from 1930. The daily minimum surplus reported by railroads totaled 545,000 cars during one week in 1932, and the minimum surplus remained about 100,000 cars throughout the period until 1938. The maximum surplus reported by the railroads was 772,000 cars as of June 30, 1932. The railroads reported a minimum surplus of 72,000 cars in 1940. During this period, car ownership was allowed to decrease to a point where it would be more in accord with maximum requirements. Shortages did not begin to develop until the war period, at which time the railroads could not obtain the cars they wanted to purchase because necessary materials were being diverted to other purposes. There are now on order, or committed, a volume which totals in excess of 130,000 cars, which volume is estimated as sufficient to keep the car builders and railroad car shops busy until July 1, 1948. The total freight cars of all types owned by class I railroads and certain minor railroads on May 1, 1947, was 1,744,239, and the total box cars, 726,364.

Respondents introduced evidence tending to show that the available car supply is, upon the whole, economically and efficiently utilized. Over-all efficiency is indicated by the following facts: The turn-around time for box cars, that is, the time between each load given a box car, has decreased consistently month by month throughout 1946, and up to March 1947. The turn-around time for all cars by months from January 1945 through March 1947 is as follows:

	Days	Days	Days
January	16.0	16.3	14.6
February	15.8	16.5	14.7

November	14.8	14.3
December	16.7	12.8

[1] Coal strike.

It will be noted that with few exceptions month by month there has been a decrease as compared with the corresponding month of the previous year. The latest record of turn-around time for the various types of cars is as follows:

	Box	Gondolas	Hoppers	Stock	Flat	All cars
	Days	Days	Days	Days	Days	Days
April 1947	12.56	15.28	15.56	22.98	17.85	14.60

Since January 1, 1947, the total box-car loadings exceeded those for a like period of 1946, by 72,000 cars. These increased car loadings are being accomplished with a decrease in the ownership of box cars of approximately 11,000 units, comparing May 1, 1947, with a corresponding day of 1946. Total loadings of all cars of revenue freight for the first 17 weeks in 1947 exceeded those of 1946 by 1.9 percent.

There has been a continuing cooperative effort between the shipping public and the railroads for the past several years in the matter of efficiency of car use. The results have been productive of increased efficiency. This can be measured in heavier loading; in more prompt loading and unloading; and the decrease in the number of cars held by industry beyond free time. In 1940 the average load for all carload freight was 37.7 tons per car. In 1942 the average load for all carload freight was increased to 40.1 tons per car, and in 1943 was increased to 41 tons per car. This increased average loading of freight cars was accomplished through voluntary cooperation of car efficiency committees of the 13 Shipper Advisory Boards, through orders of the Office of Defense Transportation, particularly General Order ODT–18, which took effect November 1, 1942, and through numerous service orders issued by this Commission.

As a result of service orders, a total of over 86,000 refrigerator cars, otherwise en route empty, were loaded with box car traffic to Pacific coast points during the 10-month period ended April 30, 1947.

The more prompt loading and unloading of cars is partially reflected in the faster movement of cars as shown in the records of miles per car per day. The average miles per car per day for all loads since 1939 are shown in the following table:

It will be noted that in 1939 the average mile per car per day was 31.7 and that this mileage increased steadily until 1944, when it was 49.3 miles per car per day. Since that time there has been a decrease in miles per car per day. The high averages of 1943 and 1944 and the first half of 1945 were in part due to the heavy movement of tank cars of petroleum products in special symbolled trains from the southwestern States to the Atlantic seaboard and to other long-haul movements occasioned by the war. The decrease in miles per car per day in 1946 is due in part to the effect of strikes, principally that of the coal miners during 1946, when thousands of coal cars were idle for a considerable period of time. So far in 1947 the miles per car per day are greater than those for the corresponding months of 1946.

The reduction in the number of cars held beyond the free time is reflected in the summary of reports by the car efficiency committees, of which there are 601 covering 856 cities and towns throughout the country. This record shows the percentage of cars received under load which were not released by industry within the 48-hour free time allowed under the demurrage rules. A summary of these reports is shown as follows:

Percent	Percent	Percent	Percent
22.2	16.76	16.13	17.78

The effect of the five-day week is reflected in the 1946 figure. The latest month for which complete data are available is April 1947, which shows 16.36 percent of cars not released by industry within the 48-hour free time period, indicating a favorable trend in the matter of car detention. Respondents admitted that service orders increasing penalties in the form of demurrage charges had had a beneficial effect in reducing car detention.

Another method of measuring efficiency in car use is by examining the record of net ton-miles per car per day which combines the items of tons per car and speed of movement. In the prewar years of 1939, 1940, and 1941, the net ton-miles per car per day was 610, 664, and 795, respectively. For the year 1946, it was 948, an increase of about 37.5 percent over the average of the three prewar years. The first two months of 1947 show a substantial improvement over the corresponding months of 1946.

Efficient use of freight cars calls for the least empty car mileage consistent with distribution requirements. Evidence of the more direct movement of empty cars from the point where released to the nearest loading territory is found in the trend of average percentage of empty car-miles to total car-miles. The reduction in recent years is shown is the following table:

AVERAGE PERCENTAGE OF EMPTY CAR-MILES TO TOTAL CAR-MILES

Percent	Percent	Percent	Percent	Percent
37.2	35.8	34.3	33	33

One means of reducing empty car mileage is to forward cars to the territory where needed by the most direct route instead of returning them over the route of movement. For the year 1946, for example, it was found that there were approximately 50,000 more box cars interchanged under load by the western railroads in the Southeast through St. Louis, Memphis, Tenn., Shreveport, La., and New Orleans, La., than were forwarded west through those gateways. The southeastern railroads, in turn, forwarded about the same excess of loaded box cars northbound through Potomac River gateways over the south-bound movement through those gateways. These cars thus released in the East and North were forwarded direct to the western railroads through the Chicago and St. Louis gateways rather than to return them over the more circuitous route through the Southeast. This was done in compliance with relocation orders of our agent empowered by Service Order No. 534 to reroute and relocate empty box cars. Early in 1943, in order to avoid cross hauling of cars of the same class between northern and southern California, it was agreed between the railroads in that area that each line would move east-bound any surplus empty cars regardless of the route over which they had moved into California loaded. In instances where the empty car moves over a railroad which has not participated in the loaded movement of that car, there is no waiver of per diem. At Chicago and St. Louis a larger number of cars have been short routed to owners at a substantial saving in empty car mileage. The result is that a railroad often bears the expense of transporting an empty car and at the same time pays the per diem charge on such car without receiving any revenue from that particular car.

It is an established practice to accumulate and store a considerable number of box cars for the loading of wheat and other grain beginning in the Southwest and moving north as the season advances. Box cars were being so accumulated and stored at the time of the hearing.

Respondents deem it impracticable to devise and apply any system of per diem penalties which would distinguish between cases of delinquent handling of cars and cases where efficiency is attained. No practical code of rules was proposed by any party which would distinguish between instances of avoidable delay and instances of unavoidable delay in the handling of cars.

Respondents contend that the per diem rules and demurrage rules are in no sense analogous. Demurrage is not assessed against a shipper or receiver until a reasonable period of time has elapsed. A shipper is not charged demurrage on Sundays or holidays. There are various other exceptions in the demurrage rules under which demurrage may be avoided. On the other hand, per diem is paid by a railroad for each calendar day a foreign car is on its line, irrespective of the conditions which account for its presence there. These conditions vary according to a large number of factors which in turn vary not only as between railroads but as between individual shipments. The demurrage rules are so designed as to distinguish between reasonable and undue detention of cars. On the other hand, respondents contend that the per diem rules have never been designed to distinguish between efficient use of cars and undue detention or delays in car handling. We believe that the per diem rules and charges were and should be designed to furnish some incentive for the prompt movement and return of cars.

In times of car shortage the car service division of the Association endeavors to promote the direct movement of empty cars from point of release to the nearest loading territory. The car service rules as they apply to box cars, although not suspended, are not actually being observed and there is no penalty for their violation. In other words, foreign cars are being appropriated for loading largely in disregard of the car service rules. This probably results in the least empty car mileage in relation to the loaded car miles. From the standpoint of efficiency in the use of cars, this policy cannot be questioned. However, it does not do entire justice to the railroads, and to the shippers located on the railroads, which own an adequate supply of cars as compared with other railroads which are not adequately supplied with cars, and are using the cars of foreign lines even for their local traffic, without regard to their expeditious return to the owner.

The average freight revenue per freight car day (serviceable) loaded and empty for all class I railroads was $9.33 in 1945 and $8.47 in 1946. Data are not available in the record to show these average freight revenues per freight car day for the various districts or regions. The average freight revenues and the average net railway operating income assignable to freight car service per car day is shown for the Great Northern, the Burlington, and the Santa Fe as follows:

Average freight revenue per freight car day (serviceable) loaded and empty

G. N.		C. B. & Q.		A. T. & S. F.
1945	1946	1945	1946	1945	1946
$11.44	$8.98	$11.77	$9.55	$12.14	$10.60

Average net railway operating income assignable to freight service per freight car day (serviceable) loaded and empty

G. N.		C. B. & Q.		A. T. & S. F.
1945	1946	1945	1946	1945	1946
$2.29	$2.12	$1.86	$1.80	[1] $0.69	$1.58

[1] This low average is due to amortization of defense projects in the last month of 1945.

The above figures indicate that the average gross freight revenue per freight car day (serviceable) is considerably in excess of $2.00 per day. The average net railway operating income assignable to freight service per freight car day (serviceable) loaded and empty exceeded $2.00 on the Great Northern in 1945 and 1946. In holding cars of another railroad for prospective loading it may be assumed that a particular railroad or its operating officials would consider the prospective earnings of a loaded car as compared with a prospective loss of earnings if a car was not available when a load was offered.

The American Short Line Railroad Association is a voluntary non-profit organization of 312 common carriers by rail, subject to the act. It is not a member of the Association of American Railroads. The members operate approximately 16,000 miles of main track, own about 35,000 cars, employ 52,000 persons, and in 1945 their gross operating revenue was in excess of $287,000,000. The 312 members are unanimously opposed to the establishment of $2 per day, or any other per diem rate, any portion of which would consist of a penalty. The short lines state that they are making every effort to avoid car delays, and not overlooking any opportunity to render the best possible service to their shippers, and that they would be seriously burdened by any increase in the per diem rate. They state that they are already burdened with costs, including per diem, to the point where their ability to continue operation may be impaired. They state that many provisions of the standard labor contracts now in effect on substantially all railroads are inflexible and prohibit any appreciable consideration being given to delayed cars. In their opinion, the pick-up and drop rule which limits the number of stops a train may make between termini; the penalties for one road crew running around another between termini; and the provision that assignment of extra work, or work of a different class, results in the beginning of a new day, are so costly that railroad officials would pay little attention to a penalty per diem rate in determining whether or not certain cars were to be moved. The avoidance of the penalty, even on several cars, would not equal the additional pay-roll cost. It is the view of the short lines that a penalty per diem charge would not result in a net saving of car-days. They urge that the concentration of cars for heavy seasonal movements would be impaired because of prohibitory costs if penalty per diem should be imposed. It should be pointed out that there are about 175 so-called apportionment agreements between short lines and their connections, which provide for quarter days of free time up to a maximum of two days, which is a reclaim period for the short lines. When a short line acts as a terminal switching line it is entitled to a switching reclaim. Any increase in the per diem rate would be borne by the short lines to the extent that they now pay per diem. Data showing the amounts actually paid by the short lines in per diem charges are not available in the record.

Some railroads own few cars in relation to the cars which they use and thus the amount which they pay in the form of per diem charges greatly exceeds the amount which they receive. On the other hand, some railroads own a great many more cars in relation to the cars which they use and, therefore, the amount which they receive in the form of per diem charges greatly exceeds the amount which they pay. Appendix A shows the class I railroads and the net amounts which they paid in per diem charges and the net amounts which they received in the form of per diem charges during the year 1946. An exhibit showing the debit per diem railroads and the net amounts of per diem which they paid in 1946, together with their net income, indicates that if the per diem charge had been $5.50 that each of these railroads, with very few exceptions, would have had a deficit in net income. The same exhibit shows the credit per diem railroads and the amounts which they would have received under a $5.50 per diem, which in many cases would have more than doubled their net income.

The witness for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, speaking for the major railroads in eastern and Allegheny districts (not including the New England railroads) placed in the record a statement of the car ownership formula adopted by these eastern railroads. It is that each railroad should own sufficient freight equipment by proper classes to protect the anticipated peak load that will originate on its line, with due regard to the short line roads and the terminal line roads who are dependent upon them for car supply, and taking into consideration foreign cars released on its line that can be reloaded in accordance with the car service rules. The New Haven owns 3,682 box cars. For the year 1946 the average number of box-car loads which it both originated and terminated was 16,768 per month. Based on experience, a box car in strictly local service on the New Haven was loaded six times per month, and to supply cars for this average loading approximately 2,795 cars were required. This left only 887 cars remaining of the total box-car ownership for off-line loading. Consideration of the supply of box cars for off-line loading requires a different approach. The New Haven receives far more loaded cars from its connections than it loads to its connections. For example, in 1946 an average of 41,496 loaded box cars per month were received from connections, and an average of 19,712 box cars per month were loaded for off-line movement and interchanged with connecting lines. The ratio of loaded box cars for off-line delivery was 47.5 percent of the loaded box cars received from connections. This leaves a considerable number of foreign-owned box cars on the New Haven which must be returned empty or moved to a loading area.

In 1921 the New Haven owned 35,745 freight cars of all types. On December 31, 1946, the total freight cars owned was 6,508. This reduction in the number of cars owned was planned by the New Haven. The New Haven has on order 1,500 additional box cars.

Semi-monthly car distribution reports are compiled by the car service division of the Association showing the cars owned, the cars on line, and percentage of cars on line to the cars owned. Appendix B shows the semi-monthly reports as of May 1, 1947, and January 1, 1941, for class I railroads. It will be observed that railroads in the eastern district on January 1, 1941, had on line 106.3 percent of their total ownership and that on May 1, 1947, they had on line 110.1 percent of their total ownership.

The semi-monthly report of the car service division dated March 1, 1947, shows that there are 113 class I railroads with an ownership of 1,738,302 per diem freight cars. Twenty-eight of those lines, comprising slightly less than 25 percent of the group, had a combined ownership of 1,426,724 cars, about 82 percent of the group total. The remaining 85 railroads, representing about 75 percent of the group, owned only 18 percent of the total cars. In respect to percentage of cars on line to ownership the 85 railroads (owning 18 percent of the cars) reported an average percentage of 113.7 percent of cars on line to ownership. However, there were marked fluctuations as to individual lines.

There are some penalties provided in the present per diem rules. Rule 1 provides "that when per diem is not reported to the car owner within four (4) months and ten (10) days from the last day of the month in which it is earned, the rate shall be increased fifteen (15) cents per day for each six months' period or fraction thereof that report of such per diem is thereafter withheld; provided, that the aggregate increase in the rate shall not exceed 60 cents per car per day."

Rule 15, among other things, provides as follows: "A road failing to receive promptly from a connection empty cars at home on its road, moving home under Car Service Rules, shall be responsible to the connection for double the per diem on such cars held for delivery after the first day for which reclaim is made." Thus, a railroad must pay double per diem if it fails to accept its own cars at a point of interchange.

In 1902, when the per diem rules first came into operation, there was a provision for an 80-cent surcharge (later changed to 75 cents) which applied in case an owner demanded of another road that such other road should dispossess itself of a car belonging to the former which had been on the latter road for a period of 20 days. If the car was not sent off line within the next 10 days, the penalty applied. The regular per diem at that time was 20 cents (later changed to 25 cents) so that the total charge with the penalty added was $1 per day. This penalty was later eliminated from the rules.

Conclusions. We find that effective October 1, 1947, and for a period of six months thereafter, the present per diem charge for the use of freight cars, other than tank and refrigerator cars shall be increased to $2.00, and that such increased charge will promote greater efficiency in the use and increase the supply of cars (except tank and refrigerator cars), and that such increased charge will be reasonable.

An appropriate order will be entered.

Mahaffie, Commissioner, concurring:

I concur in the conclusion reached in the report but desire somewhat to amplify the grounds on which, as I view it, the order is justified. A car shortage presently exists. A more severe one is threatened. The failure of essential transportation is likely to be one of the most grievous of troubles to an individual shipper. To the country as a whole, especially if wide-spread and prolonged, it may mean disaster. In view of these facts, any scheme that promises even a small measure of relief should have sympathetic consideration. It is on this theory that I am willing to try increasing per diem on a temporary basis. Per diem charges offer, of course, no complete cure. They apply only to cars off-line, and car delays on home lines are perhaps as frequent as those occurring on foreign lines. An additional consideration is that increases in per diem are likely to augment the earnings of lines already opulent and to shrink those of lines facing financial trouble. It is possible that an increase in per diem may so speed up movement as to mitigate this latter difficulty. Unless this does result the experiment will fail. On the whole, I have reached the conclusion that the plan has enough promise of benefit to make it, under present circumstances, worth trying.

Miller, Commissioner, dissenting:

I disagree with the conclusion reached by the majority. The record affords no basis for an increase in the present per diem charge for general application. I am convinced that the two-dollar charge will not accomplish its intended purpose which is to promote greater efficiency in the use of cars during periods of car shortage. On the other hand, it is apparent that the general application of this charge will bring about undesirable results. A carrier which efficiently handles cars will be subjected to the payment the same as a carrier guilty of inefficient use of cars. It will deplete the revenues of those carriers referred to as debit per-diem lines, and increase the revenues of those referred to as credit per diem lines.

I believe that a substantial increase in the per diem charge designed to apply to specific situations where cars are being unduly and unreasonably delayed would promote greater efficiency in the use of cars and increase their supply during periods of car shortage and that during such emergencies we have the authority to impose such increase by means of service orders. In my opinion, we should so find, and discontinue this proceeding without prejudice to the issuance of service orders as situations may demand.

Commissioner Barnard joins in this dissent.

Patterson, Commissioner, dissenting:

I do not agree with the findings of the majority. While they find that the per diem charge for the use of a freight car should be $2.00 for a period of six months beginning about three months hence, they make no finding that the present rate of $1.25 is not reasonable and sufficient compensation for the use of a car, although our power with respect to per diem charges is restricted solely to the fixing of such charges as compensation for the use of cars.

In prescribing an increase of 75 cents the majority apparently rely upon the provisions of Section 1 (14). That provision authorizes us to prescribe penalties or sanctions for non-observance of such rules, regulations or practices as we may establish with respect to car service. We have not established any such rules, regulations or practices. Manifestly we must before we can prescribe penalties or sanctions for their non-observance. When we do fix such penalties or sanctions in the form of money payments they should be paid into the United States Treasury and not into the treasuries of the railroads.

The penalty charge which the majority here imposes is as unjust as it is unlawful. It will apply for each day each railroad is in possession of a foreign-line car, irrespective of whether the car is efficiently or inefficiently handled, whether it is expedited or delayed, or delayed, or whether the delay is avoidable or unavoidable.

The majority also find that the increased per diem rate of $2.00 will promote greater efficiency in the use and increase the supply of cars. Just how these results will be accomplished they do not say. Neither their report nor the record affords any support for such a finding. Past railroad experience indicates just the contrary.

Mitchell, Commissioner, dissenting:

I cannot go with the findings of the majority because I am convinced that the Commission is without authority to require any increase in per diem charges, as does this report, solely as a penalty, and also because in my opinion the specific amount fixed is without support in the record. As I read the various provisions of the Act dealing with our powers in this respect, the authority conferred upon this Commission having to do with per diem is restricted to the fixation of charges therefor as compensation, not as a penalty. And such authority can be exercised only after hearing and on a record embodying some evidence upon the level of the charges. I can find no such evidence upon this record.

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of July A. D. 1947.

It appearing, that by order dated December 18, 1946, upon our own motion, we instituted an investigation to determine whether the establishment of a rate of $2 per day, or other increased rate, to be paid to the owner for the use of each car during periods of car shortages (except tank and refrigerator) by any common carrier would promote greater efficiency in the use and increase the supply of cars; with a view to the making of findings and the entry of an order or orders, under the authority of the Interstate Commerce Act (49 U. S. Code, sections 1–27), and particularly section 1 (10), (11), (13), and (14) thereof, requiring the establishment of an increased basis and rate of compensation for car hire during periods of car shortages if it be found that it will promote greater efficiency in the use and increase the supply of cars;

It further appearing, that this proceeding has been duly heard and submitted by the parties, and that full investigation of the matters and things involved has been made, and the Commission having, on the date hereof, made and filed a report containing its findings of fact and conclusions thereon, which said report is hereby referred to and made a part hereof; it is ordered, that:

§ 95.1100 Per diem charge increased. The present per diem charge to be paid to the owner for the use of freight cars, other than tank and refrigerator cars, shall be increased to $2.00, effective October 1, 1947 and expiring 11:59 p. m., March 31, 1948.

It is further ordered, that this order shall become effective October 1, 1947, and shall expire at 11:59 p. m., March 31, 1948, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended, or annulled by order of this Commission; that a copy of this order and direction be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement; and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission, at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

(40 Stat. 101, sec. 402; 41 Stat. 476, sec. 4; 54 Stat. 901, 911; 49 U. S. C. 1 (10)–(17), 15 (2))

3. Proceeding held open for such further action as may be warranted.

Report of the Commission. Exceptions to the report proposed by the examiner were voiced at the oral argument by the Office of Defense Transportation (hereinafter referred to as O. D. T.), by respondents, and by certain other parties.

This proceeding is an investigation on our own motion, instituted by order of December 18, 1946, as modified February 3, 1947, for the purpose of determining

(1) whether the rules, regulations, and practices with respect to the use, control, supply, movement, distribution, exchange, interchange, and return of railroad freight carrying cars[1] are unreasonable, or otherwise unlawful; whether freight cars are being wastefully, uneconomically or inefficiently used, controlled, supplied, moved, exchanged, interchanged, and returned, and whether such cars are being unfairly or inequitably distributed among shippers, and (2) whether common carriers by railroad have been and are providing themselves with safe and adequate freight cars for performing as common carriers their car service, with a view to making findings and the entry of an order or orders, under section 1 (10), (11), (13), (14) (a), and (21), section 2, section 3 (1), and section 15 (1) of the Interstate Commerce Act, requiring the establishment of such reasonable rules, regulations, and practices as may be necessary to correct any unreasonableness and to remove any other unlawfulness found to exist, and requiring the carriers to provide themselves with such freight cars as may be found necessary to enable them to furnish safe and adequate car service.

All common carriers by railroad subject to the act were made respondents, and a copy of the order of investigation was served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, herein sometimes referred to as the Association, as well as upon the carriers.

An initial hearing was held (1) to devise ways and means of making the best use of the available car supply, and (2) to determine whether this Commission should promulgate car service rules. The latter question was made the subject of briefs, a proposed report, and oral argument.

Parties presenting evidence. Evidence was presented by six employees of the Commission, viz, the Director and five field agents of its Bureau of Service; by the Chairman of the Car Service Division, in behalf of the Association and rail carriers members of the Association; by a Traffic Consultant, for himself and as a friend of the rail carriers; briefly by the American Can Company, manufacturer of metal and fiber containers at 65 plants in 23 States; briefly by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce, chiefly with respect to the box car situation in that area; by two individuals representing coal producers in western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia, and pertaining to coal cars in those areas; by the National League of Wholesale Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Distributors, with respect to refrigerator cars; by the National Agricultural Transportation Committee, for cooperative associations throughout the United States handling agricultural products, and specifically with reference to delays in transit of carload shipments of grain; by several persons representing a multitude of shippers and receivers of freight utilizing box cars in an area extending from the Illinois-Indiana State line westward to the Rocky Mountains and from the Canadian border southward to the Rio Grande River, and comprising individuals and companies operating many hundreds of country and terminal grain elevators, a grain and feed association having over a thousand members, numerous milling companies which, utilize grain in the manufacture of flour and feeds, grain markets, boards of trade, traffic associations, and the Illinois Commerce Commission. No evidence was offered by any railroad official or other employee of any individual railroad company.

Car service rules. Rail carriers commonly acquire and own freight cars of the type or types needed for loading the character of freight originating on their respective lines. Those originating grain and grain products or merchandise need high class box cars, those serving coal fields use gondola and hopper cars extensively, those carrying hogs and cattle require livestock cars, etc.

Shipments placed in freight cars owned by an originating carrier ordinarily may, if other cars are not available, be billed by shippers from any point of origin to any point of destination in the United States, as well as to many destination points in Canada and Mexico. Regulations to guide and govern the carriers respecting the return of such cars to their owners are formulated by representatives of the rail carriers, are adopted by votes of carriers owning a majority of the freight cars involved, are published by the Association in behalf of such carriers, and are designated car service rules.[2] In similar fashion rules are established which fix the compensation, known as the per diem rate, to be paid at the end of each month to the car owner for the use of its general service cars when on the lines of other railroads. One per diem rule, hereinafter discussed, relates, among other things, to the movement and distribution of freight cars.

Rules pertaining to the selection of cars to be loaded with shipments destined to points not situated on the originating railroad, and the return of freight cars to their owners when unloaded at points on other lines, are designated car service rules 1 to 6, inclusive, and are reproduced in the appendix hereto. They contemplate the retention of owned cars on owners' lines so far as practicable, and provide with specified exceptions that a freight car, unloaded at a point on the line of a carrier other than the owner, shall be moved, loaded or empty, to or in the direction of the owning road. Per diem rule 19, also reproduced in the Appendix, provides for the creation and maintenance of a Car Service Division, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., with plenary power to authorize departures from the car service rules, to transfer cars from one railroad or territory to another when necessary to meet traffic conditions, and to perform other indicated duties.

When the supply of freight cars is sufficient to meet current demands, approximately 85 percent of the units unloaded at points not situated on the owning road are handled in accordance with the car service rules, and compliance with the rules to this extent enables the carriers to maintain their equipment and meet the requirements of the shipping public. At such periods, many of the 15 percent failures to observe the rules are due to reloading, by consignees, of cars they have made empty, and billing of such loads to points not in the direction of owning railroads.

In periods like the present, when the car supply falls short of demands, maximum tonnage is handled by permitting cars to be reloaded immediately after a load is removed, without regard to ownership of cars or destination of shipments. At the present time the car service rules to a large extent are suspended and disregarded by both carriers and shippers. Generally a consignee receiving a loaded shipment in a railroad owned car may now remove the lading and immediately reload the car to a point in any direction, whereas, under provisions in the car service rules, if it had no load for a destination in the direction of the owning railroad it would be expected to release the car and hold its out-bound shipment until another car could be furnished. Shippers have a choice of many routes, direct and indirect, over which to forward their shipments, pursuant to tariff provisions, as explained in decisions by this Commission. Under the car service rules, if a car cannot be loaded to or in the direction of the owning road, it ordinarily retraces the route which the loaded car traveled, even though the route be circuitous, unless some arrangement be made, as authorized by the rules, for short routing the car to the line of the owner.

The present practice of largely disregarding the car service rules frequently results in the accumulation of box cars on individual railroads and in districts which receive more freight tonnage than they originate, particularly on railroad lines and in States eastward from Pittsburgh, Pa., and Buffalo, N. Y. To counteract this tendency, and to cause the transfer of such cars with a minimum of service to localities which originate more freight than they receive, car relocation orders have been served upon specified carriers, directing that a designated number of cars be delivered at named junctions to other indicated railroads. Orders of this character pertaining to box cars for western districts have been issued during the past several months by the Car Service Division, pursuant to authority conferred by per diem rule 19, and more recently by the Commission, through the Chairman of the Car Service Division, who has been appointed as Agent of the Commission. But up to the time of the hearing herein, the results of such orders had fallen considerably short of the hopes and expectations of shippers in the Central West and Northwest. Relocation orders in effect in the early part of 1947 did not produce the results desired, due in part to adverse weather conditions. Shortly before the hearing, the number of box cars ordered moved from eastern lines to western lines was increased to 1,200 daily, with privilege of stopping around 110 daily at intermediate points in central territory, to be loaded westward. Western shippers have suggested 1,500 daily, and have urged a minimum of 1,200 daily without stops to load at intermediate points. The movement of freight tonnage is greater from West to East than in the opposite direction, and considerable west-bound empty mileage is necessary to afford western shippers a supply of box cars based on units owned by railroads serving those areas, no matter whether the cars be handled under general car service rules or under special orders.

[1] The investigation does not include the distribution of coal cars at mines or related matters embraced within section 1, paragraph (12) of the Interstate Commerce Act, or issues involved in prior proceedings respecting distribution of coal cars at mines.

[2] The railroad car service rules here under consideration are published, as information, in the editorial section of the Official Railway Equipment Register. The issue for July 1947 is Agent M. A. Zenobia's tariff, I. C. C. No. 284.

On March 1, 1947, box cars were scattered to such an extent that class I railroads had on their rails but 16.4 percent of the units owned. If the Association or the Commission should now enter an order requiring rigid observance of the car service rules, carriers would be obliged to immediately start cars rolling in the direction of the owning roads, loaded or empty, and, due to cross hauling over direct and indirect routes of empty cars, when loads in the direction of the home road were not available, the aggregate volume of traffic handled might be materially reduced. In instances where carriers have provided themselves with a particular type of car for the tonnage they originate, and which terminate but small quantities of interline freight carried in that class of equipment, the Association by special orders has sometimes directed that such cars be returned to the home line immediately after being unloaded. An example is the open-top cars of certain coal carriers which now are the subject of outstanding orders. Similar orders, in addition to the aforementioned car relocation orders, could be entered with respect to box cars, purchased by railroads like the Great Northern,[3] Northern Pacific, and the Minneapolis & St. Louis, and constructed primarily for the carrying of grain and grain products. Many of the box cars now being moved to the Northwest and Central West under car relocation orders, while usable for rough freight, are not suitable for commodities like flour, without coopering, cleaning, and lining, which require time, and result in car delays.

Car supply and distribution. For the week ended March 8, 1947, car shortages were reported in all districts of the United States, but not on all railroads. For freight carrying cars of all kinds the shortages averaged 36,698 daily, for box cars 25,292, and for open-top cars 10,365. The shortages appear to be due, in part to the inability of railroads to acquire new equipment in the past few years when manufacturers were otherwise engaged at the direction of the Federal government, in part to the fact that the number of carloads of freight offered for movement annually since termination of the war has materially exceeded the number of carloads originated in any year in the 10-year period, 1931 to 1940, prior to participation by the United States in war activities, and to other miscellaneous factors. The car-lot shipments of revenue freight in 1946, as compiled by the Association and amounting to 41,341,205 carloads, exceeded by 3,670,741 loads, or about 11 percent, the number of carloads originated in 1937, the maximum for any year in the designated 10-year period. The total freight carrying cars owned and leased by class I railroads on January 1, 1947, approximating 1,740,000, was about 18,200 less than the number reported for January 1, 1937. The current post-war freight car shortage is the only severe peace-time car shortage, as described of record, that has occurred since 1922–1923. Shortages reported by rail carriers for the latter part of October 1922, as pointed out in the Commission's 36th Annual Report, page 16, amounted to 179,239 cars, more than four times as many as reported for the first week of March 1947.

Much of the evidence herein pertains to the supply and distribution of box cars. The districts presenting the most urgent appeals for additional cars of this type are (1) the Northwest, particularly the States of Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, and (2) the Central West, especially Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa, Missouri, and Illinois, where country elevators are generally filled to near working capacity with grain which cannot be shipped for lack of carrying equipment, and where, because many country elevators are unable to receive proffered grain, large quantities of the 1946 crops remain on farms.

The need for cars in the Middle West has been so urgent in recent months to move corn having moisture content, and to transport wheat, that open-top cars have been used extensively. Corn has also been transported in livestock cars.

On March 1, 1947, the Great Northern had on its lines but 58.6 percent as many box cars as it owned, Northern Pacific 65.6 percent, Minneapolis & St. Louis 61.5 percent and the Soo Line 78 percent. These are important carriers of grain from points of origin, and their box-car deficit on that date aggregated 19,846 units. The significance of this figure becomes apparent in the light of evidence herein that on the basis of recent averages each box car has handled a little more than two loads per month. For all class I carriers in the northwest group the percentage of box cars on line to ownership March 1 was 87.6.

In the Central West, the D. & R. G. W. had on its lines on March 1 box cars equal to 54.2 percent of its ownership, Burlington 65.4 percent, Santa Fe 85.6 percent, Union Pacific 88 percent, Rock Island 92.1 percent, Southern Pacific, including its lines on the Pacific Coast, 100 percent, Alton 105:1 percent, Western Pacific, extending from Salt Lake City, Utah, to San Francisco, Calif., 144.1 percent, and, for all class I railroads in the central western group 88.6 percent. In the Southwest, box cars on the lines of individual roads ranged from 62.5 percent of ownership on the Frisco to 165.7 percent on the Texas & New Orleans Railroad Company, and for the entire southwestern group of class I railroads the average was 101.3 percent. Recent complaints from grain shippers in the Central West have come most frequently from points in Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado, on the Burlington, Rock Island, and Union Pacific which, on March 1, 1947, had on their lines 12,093 less box cars than they owned.

A comparatively small rail carrier which on March 1, 1947, had on its rails 3,453 box cars, equal to 361.2 percent of ownership, is the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern. This railroad, less than 150 miles in length, starts from Waukegan, Ill., north of Chicago, Ill., and extends southwest, south, southeast, east, and northeastward in a semi-circle outside of and around Chicago to Gary and Porter, Ind.

Within official territory an average of 105.7 percent of ownership was reported respecting box cars on class I railroads other than the Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, and Virginian, in the Pocahontas District, and on those three roads an average of 66.9 percent. Reports by the two roads last named indicate no box car shortage on their lines in week ended March 8, 1947. The percentage figure given for official territory, 105.7, includes some railroads whose lines extend from the Atlantic Seaboard to Chicago or St. Louis, or both, and does not reveal whether or not the cars on such railroads are evenly distributed. Grain shippers and other shippers at some points in the western part of official territory, especially in Indiana, are not receiving an adequate supply of freight cars. They say the relocation orders, directing the movement of box cars from eastern lines to western lines, have a tendency to drain cars from this district, and they ask that their needs be not overlooked. Railroads operating lines which traverse Indiana include the Baltimore & Ohio which, on March 1, 1947, had on its lines box cars equal to 86.2 percent of its ownership; Chesapeake & Ohio 64.4 percent; Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville Railway Company 184.3 percent; Erie Railroad Company 94.6 percent; New York Central System 102 percent; New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company 88.6 percent; The Pennsylvania 101.7 percent; and Wabash Railway Company, with lines running from Buffalo westward to St. Louis, Kansas City, and Omaha, 80.3 percent. Each of these carriers reported shortages of box cars in the week ended March 8, 1947, except the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville, which did not report any shortage of any class of cars. The Chesapeake & Ohio reported a box car shortage of only 15 cars.

Class I carriers in southern territory reported that box cars on their respective lines March 1, 1947, averaged 92.8 percent of ownership. No evidence was offered by any shipper with reference to the supply or distribution of freight cars in any designated area of southern territory.

Freight car delays. Many of the car delays reported by shippers and others suggest a shortage of motive power, and, in some instances, a lack of personnel. The order of investigation does not specifically include an inquiry respecting the supply and operation of locomotives, and comparatively little evidence was offered concerning that feature. Among other reasons given for car delays are adverse weather in recent winter months, the 5-day week which is observed by many shippers and receivers of freight, accumulation and holding by railroads of cars for prospective loading, lack of railroad supervision, and the attitude of railroad workers.

The Commission's Bureau of Service has 70 field agents scattered throughout the country, about one-half eastward and the other one-half westward from St. Louis and Chicago, who make periodical and special inspections in their respective territories, and special investigations in response to complaints from shippers and instructions from the Washington office, regarding the handling, supply, and distribution by carriers of railway equipment. They also perform such other duties as may be assigned them. Their investigations are in the nature of spot checks, and in the past six months every large city and important terminal in the United States were visited. Information respecting car delays discovered by them is sometimes conveyed directly to the carriers involved, and sometimes transmitted through the Washington office. In February 1947 these field operators visited in the aggregate more than 1,100 railroad agents and yards, and contacted some 700 industry officials and about 2,200 railroad officials. They do not generally investigate shortages of railroad motive power as distinguished from shortages of cars. However, a summary exhibit of reports by field agents, regarding their activities in February 1947 contains a few references to locomotive shortages, as hereinafter pointed out. Five of the field men appeared in person and testified about car delays, and the advisability of formulating and establishing a rule or rules designed to eliminate or minimize such delays.

The New Haven, operating lines in New England, owned on February 15, 1947, a total of 3,719 box cars. It had on its line on that date 12,290 such cars, or more than three times its ownership. As to freight carrying cars of all kinds, its ownership was 6,450 and the number on line 17,190, equal to 266.5 percent of ownership. A check made on February 17, 18, and 19, 1947, respecting freight car handling by this line at Bridgeport, Conn., revealed delays of 2 to 5 days in switching 40 inbound loads to unloading points; 2 to 9 days in moving 9 cars after they were loaded by the shipper; 3 to 4 days in starting 27 cars destined to western points; and the retention for 3 to 7 days, before release, of 17 cars containing company material. No explanation was offered regarding the reasons for these delays. The reported delays would seem to indicate that it has on its rails more freight cars than can be handled efficiently.

Another carrier in New England which appears to be heavily overstocked with freight cars is the Boston & Maine which, on February 15, 1947, owned 2,745 box cars and had on line 6,483, equal to 236.2 percent of ownership. By contrast, the Minneapolis & St. Louis, operating lines in Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, and Illinois, owned on that date 2,692 box cars, and had on line but 1,386 such cars, equal to 51.5 percent of its ownership.

These records lend strong support to the charges emphasized by western shippers that some of the eastern rail carriers are alleviating car shortages on their lines by the use of box cars owned by other railroads.

Numerous car delays, generally of the type which occurred on the New Haven, were described in the February reports of the Commission's field agents. Among the terminal points at which delays occurred were Trenton, N. J., Rochester, N. Y., Norristown and Reading, Pa., Cleveland and Toledo, Ohio, Indianapolis, Ind., Chicago and Edwardsville, Ill., St. Louis, Jacksonville, Fla., Wichita Falls, Tex., Minneapolis, Minn., and Portland, Oreg. They say an unreasonable amount of time is consumed by rail carriers in switching loaded and empty cars between railroad yards and industries, and recommend the establishment of a rule fixing a time limit of 24 hours for the placement of loaded cars after arrival in break-up yards at destination points, and 24 hours for the removal of empties after the lading has been removed by consignees. They also describe as inadequate the car service records maintained by some of the carriers. No specific 24-hour rule was proposed, nor did they outline the character of records which they think should be maintained.

At Toledo, Ohio, a service agent found that east-bound and west-bound trains were delayed in February as long as 27 hours, and freight cars 3 to 9 days, due to lack of motive power; at Gardenville, N. Y., five trains were held 17 to 32 hours awaiting motive power; and at Syracuse, N. Y., five trains were delayed 20 to 43 hours each awaiting motive power. At Selkirk, N. Y., due to shortage of motive power and yard conditions, a train of 102 cars, ready to go forward, was held for 9 days; another train went forward after waiting 8 days; and still another, containing 112 cars, had been on hand 7 days when the yard was checked. Shortages of motive power at Detroit, Mich., and Buffalo in February were also reported by field agents.

Within Chicago, where some 4,000 carloads of merchandise were held under load in the early part of 1947, the congestion became so serious that an embargo was issued against further rail shipments of merchandise to that city. Box cars moving from eastern areas to western railroads, under relocation orders, were billed through or around Chicago and not allowed to carry tonnage consigned to that point or to pick up shipments at Chicago for points beyond. The congestion there was occasioned in part by snow storms, cold weather, a shortage of railroad motive power, both road and yard, and in part by a shortage of experienced shop and yard forces. However, car delays at Chicago have not been confined to the winter months. A spot check of grain shipments received at 14 elevators within the Chicago district during indicated periods in the six months ended December 31, 1946, and covering the movement of 1,387 carloads of grain after inspection had been completed, disclosed that an average of 4.3 days per carload elapsed between the time the carriers were requested to switch the cars from inspection tracks and the time of placement at elevator unloading points. One carload was spotted on the day the placement order was delivered to the carrier. From 1 to 14 days were required to switch the others. Reciprocal demurrage charges, payable by carriers to shippers when the former fail to spot cars within a specified time after being requested to do so, is suggested by operators of these grain elevators as an incentive to speed up car movement.

The Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, operating a grain elevator at Columbus, Ohio, received at that point from January 22 to March 7, 1947, inclusive, grain originating in Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio, totaling 144 carloads, of which 79 loads moved over single-line routes, and the other 65 over routes comprising lines of two railroads. The elapsed time from date of shipment to date of receipt at destination ranged from 2 to 24 days per car, and averaged 8.3 days. As illustrative of the service over single-line routes, the Baltimore & Ohio moved six carloads from Decatur, Ill., to Columbus in 5, 6, 6, 8, 8, and 11 days, respectively; the New York Central 10 carloads from Indianapolis, Ind., to Columbus, in 5, 6, 6, 7, 7, 7, 7, 8, 8, and 9 days, respectively; and the Pennsylvania six carloads from Indianapolis to Columbus, less than 200 miles over its main line, in 9, 11, 11, 12, 12, and 15 days, respectively. This slow movement suggested lack of motive power, or shortage of personnel, or both. The shipments of grain were not stopped in transit for inspection.

Milling companies, manufacturing flour and other grain products, now operate generally on a 7-day week except when their activities are curtailed directly or indirectly by a lack of freight cars. The operating time lost for this reason is substantial. Those which have mills in the Central West formerly counted on 5 days in transit from the Missouri River to New York, N. Y., but now they will not promise delivery there in less than 10 days. The unsatisfactory service, described as the poorest the railroads have ever provided, is attributed to a let down in effort since termination of the war, and to employee absenteeism, indifference, and disinclination to work. The evidence contains a reference to one instance where, during the hunting season, 285 railroad men out of a potential force of 310, failed to report for duty. The witness for the American Can Company, operating plants in 23 states, testified that transit time is slower than at any period in the memory of those familiar with railroad transportation.

Coal producers in western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia are concerned about a practice which they regard as a wasteful, uneconomic, and inefficient use of coal cars, and a resulting diminution in the supply of cars available to their mines. Their criticism is directed particularly at the Baltimore & Ohio which, in the past few years, has constructed many miles of track from its lines to new mining operations, without increasing its car supply, and then, by distributing cars among a greatly augmented number of coal producers, has reduced the supply formerly available to complainants' mines. They calculate that additional switching is required to move cars to and from an increased number of mines, and that the average turn-around time for coal carrying units is lengthened.

Despite the reported car delays, interruptions due to labor strikes in the past year or more, and unsatisfactory service reported by shippers, statistical records indicate that the rail carriers have been handling a substantial volume of traffic per railroad car in service. Based on freight cars owned by the railroads and private car lines the first of each year, the revenue freight originated in carloads, as compiled by the Association, averaged 20.5 loads per car in 1946, and 20.7, 21.6, 21.2, 21.8, and 22.3 loads per car in 1945, 1944, 1943, 1942, and 1941, respectively. In addition, they carried freight in less-carload lots, as well as carloads of railroad fuel and other company material. Loaded car miles and average lengths of hauls are not shown of record.

Freight cars owned by railroads and private car companies January 1, 1946, totaling 2,014,654, exceeded by 114,157 the number owned on January 1, 1941. The railroads recently arranged to acquire approximately 132,000 new freight cars. To permit their construction, steel companies agreed to supply car builders with enough steel to make 7,000 cars per month in April, May, and June, 1947, and 10,000 per month thereafter.

Proposed I. C. C. rules. Section 1 (14) (a) of the act authorizes the Commission, after hearing, to establish reasonable rules, regulations, and practices with respect to car service by common carriers by railroad, including the compensation to be paid for the use of any car not owned by the carrier using it. The car service rules published by the Association have been largely suspended and disregarded during the past several months, as hitherto explained, and the relocation and distribution of freight cars as between carriers are now governed in large measure by special orders issued by this Commission and the Association.

Shippers in the Northwest and Central West favor leaving with the Association the establishment and administration of car service rules and the distribution of freight cars as between railroads, but they emphasize that their districts have not been accorded a car supply in recent months based on the number of units owned by railroads serving those districts. They urge us, to require, by order, a more equitable distribution of cars, particularly box cars. They recommend, however, the use of service orders rather than car service rules, with the object of getting cars quickly to western points where they are badly needed. They advocate that an increased per diem rate, or other monetary penalty, be applied against those railroads which fail to handle freight cars with reasonable promptness at terminals and other places. O. D. T. order No. 18–A, pertaining to heavy loading of freight cars, has promoted efficient utilization of freight cars, and they ask that a similar regulation be issued by us if operations by the O. D. T. should be terminated.

Northwestern County Elevator Association, representing more than 1,200 country elevators in Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota, is not convinced that new rules are necessary. They contend we have ample power to order freight cars to localities accorded less than their proper supply. As to faster movement of cars at terminals and in road service, the Association is of opinion that the railroads in the Northwest have done the best they could with the kind of help available.

Southwestern Industrial Traffic League and Texas Industrial Traffic League suggest that a penalty per diem rate be applied during the car shortage emergency, but ask that it be accomplished by service orders and not be general rules. They join numerous other shippers in the West in requesting the issuance of service orders, requiring the return to western railroads of cars they own or the equivalent thereof, and emphasize their opinion that this Commission can serve commercial and industrial interests better by regulating railroad car service matters than by directly undertaking the performance of those services itself.

National Industrial Traffic League urges that there is no evidence that the car service rules are unlawful, and, until there is proof of unlawfulness or proof that the rules have become outmoded, or unworkable, or otherwise preventive of efficient and fair use of cars, it opposes the promulgation of a new code of regulations to be designed and enforced by this Commission. It perceives no demand for such action, either by any group of carriers or the shipping public; no unlawful railroad practice that might be cured thereby; and thinks it quite probable that Commission-made car service rules would work against rather than in favor of the public interest.

Indiana State Chamber of Commerce is not persuaded that any regulatory body is in position to issue the detailed instructions necessary to effective distribution of freight cars. The present arrangement, under which administration of car service rules rests primarily upon the Association and the rail carriers, subject to such orders as we may enter, is regarded as an arrangement that ought to be preserved. It asks that relocation orders, directing the movement of freight cars to the West or other areas, be modified to permit the cars to be loaded whenever freight is available for movement to the districts to which the care are destined.

The Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Association and Northern West Virginia Coal Association express the opinion that maintenance of car service rules by Commission order, whether or not in the form of a schedule of rates, fares, and charges would be unwise, would militate against the best railroad operation, and would slow down rather than speed up car movement.

American Can Company does not see how any rule we might lay down would meet the present situation, and is not sure that such prescribed rules would be workable. It suggests that improvement in car handling is a job the railroads should do, but concedes that if the carriers should acknowledge they cannot perform the job, prescription by us of rules to prevent car delays, might be the only alternative.

Refrigerator cars owned by private car companies are not governed by the aforementioned car service rules or per diem rules. Their owners are compensated on basis of miles traveled. The National League of Wholesale Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Distributors directs attention to the penalties against shippers under demurrage rules for detention of refrigerator cars, and to the outstanding service order which requires carriers to switch refrigerator cars within 24 hours after release by consignees. This organization, and the trade associations it represents, are of opinion that the only solution to the refrigerator car shortage is for this Commission to establish rules providing penalties against the railroads, payable to car owners, on the same basis as the penalties now paid by shippers and receivers of freight to rail carriers. The organization proposes that we establish car service rules applicable to refrigerator cars under either emergency or normal conditions, and asks us to cease issuing service orders.

The National Agricultural Transportation Committee believes the car service rules would be far more effective if issued and enforced by this Commission. Something in the nature of penalties against carriers is suggested.

Bethlehem Steel Company says the evidence of record does not justify the establishment of a code of Commission-made car service rules to supplant those published by the Association. The record demonstrates, according to its view, that the scarcity and shortage of railroad freight cars is not caused by either the present car service rules or the administration thereof; that there is no reason why this Commission cannot protect the public interest by issuing service orders under section 1 (15) of the act, as in past emergencies; that the car service rules published in behalf of the railroads are flexible and can be quickly modified to meet the needs of industry, but that rules promulgated by us would have the effect of a statute and could be modified only after a hearing. It regards freight car distribution as an operating function of railroad management which the Federal government should not undertake to usurp.

The United States Department of Agriculture emphasizes that prompt action is desirable when dealing with car shortages, particularly when transportation service is necessary to prevent spoilage of food products, and asks that we hold the proceeding open for a time in order that, if warranted by conditions, a further hearing may be held. It declares there is abundant evidence that the railroads in conjunction with the Association have done a commendable job during normal times respecting administration of the car service rules. During emergencies it believes we should enforce, and if necessary administer, rules or service orders, but says no need has been shown for us to undertake the task of issuing permanent orders designed to supplant the Association's rules so long as such rules adequately serve the public interest, and is doubtful if we would have the funds or the personnel to assume the enormous task of administering all the rules all the time.

The O. D. T. asks us to find that respondents have failed to furnish adequate car service; have failed to establish and enforce just and reasonable rules and regulations pertaining thereto; that establishment by respondents of reasonable rules and practices will promote a more adequate car supply in the interest of the public; and that failure of the carriers to furnish adequate car service and to establish and enforce reasonable rules contravenes section 1 (11) of the act and is unlawful.

As support for the requested findings, O. D. T. refers, among other things, to evidence that there is a shortage of all types of equipment, evidence respecting slow movements in road service, delays of cars at terminals, failures to promptly move cars from and to industries, inequitable distribution of cars which it characterizes as national maldistribution, insufficient crews, lack of railroad supervision, and general laxness in carrier operations following termination of the war. It says that car shortages have plagued the nation at intervals throughout the present century, and thinks the long-continued failure of the rail carriers to furnish adequate car service and establish reasonable rules, demands action by us to compel compliance with section 1 (11) of the act.

However, O. D. T. does not recommend that we formulate and establish car service rules, as authorized by section 1 (14) (a) of the act. It advocates rigid observance by the carriers of their car service rules, but opposes the entry of a service order under section 1 (15) of the act, requiring such observance, because that statutory provision relates to emergency conditions, and not to periods when the car supply equals the demand. It also is opposed to the entry of an order directing the carriers to incorporate their car service rules in their tariff schedules. Section 1 (13) provides:

> The Commission is hereby authorized by general or special orders to require all carriers by railroad subject to this part, or any of them, to file with it from time to time their rules and regulations with respect to car service, and the Commission may, in its discretion, direct that such rules and regulations shall be incorporated in their schedules showing rates, fares, and charges for transportation, and be subject to any or all of the provisions of this part relating thereto.

O. D. T. suggests that each railroad be required to file its rules respecting car service with the Director of the Commission's Bureau of Service, and that, after hearing, these rules, with such modifications as we may require, by order, be made obligatory upon each respondent, with the understanding that if any carrier fails to file its proposed rules, the Director of the Bureau of Service will prepare rules which, after hearing, by order shall be prescribed for future application. It contends that any carrier failing to comply with rules so prescribed would be subject to the penalties named in section 1 (17) (a) of the act.

The Association and the class I railroads declare that the distribution and utilization of the freight car supply lie at the heart of railroad operation. They perceive in the evidence of record no factual support for abolition of the present system of private management, and substitution of government control, over the handling and distribution of freight cars, and no evidence that more efficient use of the existing car supply would be accomplished through the promulgation of car service rules by us. They contend that the conditions complained of, if susceptible to relief at all by this Commission, can be remedied by car service orders. They think that the promulgation by us of car service rules would result in the establishment of a budding bureaucracy, at variance with American traditions, and incompatible with the principle of private operation of the railroads.

On the basis of evidence adduced at the hearing and in response to information and recommendations otherwise received from representatives of shippers and carriers, and from our field agents, we are affording by means of service orders, under our emergency powers, such assistance in respect of freight car relocation and distribution as the present emergency demands.

We are convinced that much remains to be accomplished in car detention and movement in order to reach the maximum of practicable efficiency. We believe that such maximum efficiency can be obtained by more wholehearted cooperation by all concerned so as to bring about prompter loading and unloading of cars, and greater expedition in their handling, especially within terminal areas. It is, of course, clear that while the present exceedingly heavy demand for cars for loading continues to exceed the available supply, permanent relief from the existing car shortage cannot be had until car manufacturers succeed in filling a large part of respondents' orders for new equipment, but in the meantime shippers and carriers can help themselves in large measure by the exercise of more cooperative efforts.

Findings. 1. We find that the railroad car service rules here under consideration have not been shown to have been or to be unlawful.

2. We further find that respondent railroads as a group have failed to furnish adequate car service, to the detriment of the shipping public.

3. And we further find, under the provisions of section 1 (13) of the act, that each of the respondent carriers should file with this Commission its rules and regulations with respect to car service.

If it should later appear that conditions might be improved by a modification of, or an addition to, the car service rules as so filed, action by us with that object in view can be taken (1) informally through conferences with and suggestions to railroad representatives; (2) by the issuance of a service order or orders under emergency powers conferred by Section 1, paragraphs (15) and (16) of the act; or (3) by the entry of an order, after hearing, as authorized by Section 1 (14) (a) of the act.

The proceeding will be held open for a time to facilitate any further action which the instant emergency may warrant.

An appropriate order will be entered.

Barnard, Commissioner, concurring in part:

I concur in the decision of the majority that the carriers should be required to file their car service rules with the Commission, but I do not think, however, that the evidence of delays in the handling of cars and the carrier failures to furnish cars is sufficient to warrant Finding Number 2. I would therefore eliminate that Finding.

Mitchell, Commissioner, dissenting:

I can not approve this report because at the hearing one of the presiding Commissioners said, and I quote from the record: "Very concretely, the object of this hearing is to furnish a record on which the Commission might arrive at a decision whether or not it should formulate and promulgate car service rules." The parties had a right to rely upon that statement, which was not withdrawn or modified during the hearing. The report directs the railroads to file their rules, but that question was not discussed, because the issue was limited as stated.

It seems to me the case should be decided upon the issue tried out by the parties, and not upon other questions on which the parties have not been accorded a full hearing.

Commissioner Patterson did not participate in the disposition of this proceeding.

APPENDIX

CODE OF CAR SERVICE RULES—FREIGHT

(Published by Association of American Railroads)

Rule 1. Home cars shall not be used for the movement of traffic beyond the limits of the home road when the use of other suitable cars under these rules is practicable.

Rule 2. Foreign cars at home on a direct connection must be forwarded to the home road loaded or empty.

If empty at junction with the home road and loading at that point via the home road is not available, they must, subject to rule 6, be delivered to it at that junction, unless an exception to the requirement be agreed to by roads involved. When holding road has no physical connection with the home road and is obliged to use an intermediate road or roads, to place the car on home rails under the provisions of this paragraph and the car has record rights to such intermediate road or roads, it may be so delivered.

If empty at other than junction points with the home road, cars under this rule may be:

(a) Loaded via any route so that the home road will participate in the freight rate, or

(b) Moved locally in the direction of the home road, or

(c) Moved locally in an opposite direction from the home road, or delivered to a short line or a switching road, if to be loaded for delivery on or movement via the home road, or

(d) Delivered empty to home road at any junction point, subject to Rule 6, or

(e) Delivered empty to road from which originally received under load at the junction where received if such road is also a direct connection of the home road, or

(f) Returned empty to the delivering road when handled in switching service.

Rule 3. Foreign cars at home on other than direct connections must be forwarded to the home road loaded or empty. Under this rule cars may be:

(a) Loaded via any route so that the home road will participate in the freight rate, or

(b) Loaded in the direction of the home road, or

(c) Moved locally in an opposite direction from the home road, or delivered to a short line or a switching road if to be loaded for delivery on or movement via the home road, or to a point in the direction of the home road, beyond the road on which the cars are located, or

(d) Delivered empty to road from which originally received, at the junction where received, if impracticable to dispose of them under paragraph (a), (b), or (c) of this rule.

Rule 4. Cars of railroad ownership must not be delivered to a steamship, ferry or barge line for water transportation, without permission of the owners, filed with the Car Service Division.

Rule 5. Empty cars of indirect ownership (Rule 3) to the road requesting the service, may be short-routed at a reciprocal rate of five cents (5¢) per mile, plus bridge and terminal arbitraries, with a minimum of one hundred (100) miles for each road handling the car, the road requesting the service to pay the charges.

Rule 6. If a movement of traffic requires return of empty cars to home road via the junction at which cars were delivered in interchange under load, the home road may demand return of empty cars at such junction, except that cars offered a home road for repeals, in accordance with the Interchange Rules of the Mechanical Division, must be accepted by owners at any junction point.

CODE OF PER DIEM RULES—FREIGHT

(Published by Association of American Railroads)

Rule 19. The Board of directors of the Association of American Railroads shall appoint a Car Service Division composed of a Chairman, and the requisite number of members, territorially representative, invested with plenary power to:

(a) Supervise the application of Car Service and Per Diem Rules.

(b) Suspend or permit departures from Car Service Rules 1 to 6, inclusive, except as provided in Rule 20.[1]

(c) Exempt when necessary, cars of any type, from the provisions of Car Service, Rules 1 to 6, inclusive, and provide other regulations under which such cars shall be handled.

(d) Transfer cars from one railroad or territory to another when necessary to meet traffic conditions, with due regard to car ownership and requirements (See note).[2]

(e) Conduct investigations, including examination of car records as may be necessary to insure the observance of Car Service and Per Diem Rules and of any orders issued by the Car Service Division, and in the event that they are unable to adjust such matters with the individual railroads, report all the facts with a recommendation to the Board of Directors.

(f) Obtain car location statements and other car performance statistics as deemed necessary.

(g) Take necessary action to bring about uniformity of practice among railroads by the standardization of car distribution rules, including record and report forms.

(h) Make recommendation to the Board of Directors when in their opinion a change in the per diem rate is necessary or desirable.

(i) To perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Board of Directors.

The headquarters of the Car Service Division provided for by this rule shall be Washington, D. C.

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of July A. D. 1947.

It appearing, that by order dated December 18, 1946, as modified on February 3, 1947, the Commission, upon its own motion, entered upon an investigation to determine (1) whether the rules, regulations, and practices with respect to the use, control, supply, movement, distribution, exchange, interchange, and return of railroad freight carrying cars are unreasonable, or otherwise unlawful; whether freight cars are being wastefully, uneconomically or inefficiently used, controlled, supplied, moved, exchanged, interchanged, and returned, and whether such cars are being unfairly or inequitably distributed among shippers, and (2) whether common carriers by railroad have been and are providing themselves with safe and adequate freight cars for performing as common carriers their car service, with a view to making findings and the entry of an order or orders requiring the establishment of such reasonable rules, regulations, and practices as may be necessary to correct any unreasonableness and to remove any other unlawfulness found to exist.

It further appearing, that this proceeding has been duly heard and submitted by the parties, and that full investigation of the matters and things involved has been made, and the Commission having, on the date hereof, made and filed a report containing its findings of fact and conclusions thereon, which said report is hereby referred to and made a part hereof, and has found that the respondent carriers have failed to furnish adequate car service, and that they should be required to file their car service rules and regulations with the Commission. It is ordered, that:

§ 95.1000 Filing car service regulations with Commission. Each of the common carriers by railroads, respond-

[1] Rule 20. Departure from Car Service Rules 1 to 6, inclusive, affecting Canadian Railway cars on United States railroads, or United States railroad cars on Canadian railways, shall be only by agreement as between the Association of American Railroads and the Railway Association of Canada.

[2] Note to per diem Rule 19, paragraph (d). This provides an adjustment of surplusages and shortages, and is intended to suggest an equalization of service so far as practicable and consistent with car ownerships. By the latter is meant that if one railroad has, in its good judgment, provided amply for its coal-loading patrons, for example, while another has not, and the demand is generally equal to supply, the mines of the first will not necessarily be depleted in order that the mines on the improvident road may be the better served. Generally, as between the provident and improvident roads, it must be recognized that if in time of great car demand, the latter has to be assisted for the benefit of its patrons and its territory at the expense of the former, there must necessarily be set up some method of compensation for the former, and this of necessity may go beyond mere car hire. In treatment of short "Feeder" railroads, without any appreciable car ownership, such railroads must be given a measure of car supply from "Trunk Lines" consistent with current distribution percentages on such trunk lines; in other words, they must be treated as industries on the trunk line connection.

cents in investigation No. 29669, is hereby notified and required to file with this Commission in duplicate its car service rules and regulations, under the first proviso of section 1 (13) of the Interstate Commerce Act (49 U. S. C. 1 (13)), on or before November 1, 1947, and thereafter to file with it any changes or amendments to such rules and regulations.

(41 Stat. 476, 49 Stat. 543; 49 U. S. C. 1 (13))

It is further ordered, that this order shall continue in force and effect until the further order of the Commission.

And it is further ordered, that notice be given to the general public by depositing a copy of this order in the office of the Secretary at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director of the Division of the Federal Register.

By the Commission.

§ 910.304 Pea Order 2—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and order, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 910.0 et seq.), regulating the handling of fresh peas and cauliflower grown in Alamosa, Rio Grande, Conejos, Costilla, and Saguache Counties in the State of Colorado, issued under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Administrative Committee established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the prohibition of loading of fresh peas, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., m. s. t., August 14, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., m. s. t., August 17, 1947, the loading of fresh peas grown in the counties of Alamosa, Rio Grande, Conejos, Costilla, and Saguache in the State of Colorado for transportation or shipped in the current of interstate commerce or commerce with Canada, or so as directly to burden, obstruct, or affect such commerce, is prohibited.

(2) As used in this section, "loading of peas" shall have the same meaning as is given to such term in said amended marketing agreement and order. (48 Stat. 31, as amended, 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 7 CFR Cum. Supp., 910.8)

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter VII—Sugar Rationing Administration, Department of Agriculture

[Gen. Order 6,[1] Amdt. 2]

PART 705—ADMINISTRATION

EXEMPTION FROM PRICE CONTROL OF CERTAIN SUGAR PRODUCTS

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to the authority conferred upon the Secretary of Agriculture by the Sugar Control Extension Act of 1947, General Order No. 6 is amended to read as follows:

§ 705.106 Exemption from price control of certain sugars and sugar products. Notwithstanding the provisions of any price regulation or order heretofore issued, all commodities (including services) are exempt from price control except sugar derived from sugar cane or sugar beets. "Sugar" means raw sugar, and direct consumption sugar as defined in Amendment 11[2] to MPR 60.

This amendment shall become effective 12:01 a. m., e. d. s. t., August 9, 1947.

(Pub. Law 30, 80th Cong.)

Issued this 8th day of August 1947.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

Opinion Accompanying Amendment No. 2 to General Order No. 6

The accompanying amendment to General Order No. 6 removes from price control all commodities (including services) except sugar derived from sugar cane and sugar beets. "Sugar" means raw sugar, and direct consumption sugar as defined in Amendment 11 to MPR 60, and therefore includes liquid sugar.

Improvement in the supplies of sugar syrups including edible molasses, cane syrups and refiners syrups and other sweetening agents, together with a slackening in demand for these products due to increasing supplies of crystalline and liquid sugar has made it possible to remove all commodities from price control except cane and beet sugar.

[7 CFR, Part 52]

UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF FRUIT JELLY [1]

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the United States Department of Agriculture is considering the issuance, as hereinafter proposed, of United States Standards for grades of fruit jelly pursuant to the authority contained in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act of 1948 (Pub. Law 266, 80th Cong., approved July 30, 1947). No previous United States Standards have been issued for this product.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed standards shall file the same in quadruplicate with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 0308, South Building, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed standards are as follows:

§ 52.323 Fruit jelly—(a) Identity. "Fruit jelly" means fruit jelly as defined in the definitions and standards of identity for fruit jelly (21 CFR Cum. Supp., 29.5), issued pursuant to the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

(1) Compliance with the standard of identity to establish the ingredients or proportion of ingredients will be indicated on Federal inspection certificates only when these conditions are ascertained during the process of manufacture.

(2) The soluble solids for fruit jelly are not less than 65 percent.

(b) Types of fruit jelly—(1) Type I. Prepared from a single variety of fruit juice ingredient.

(2) Type II. Prepared from a mixture of two or more varieties of fruit juice ingredients.

(c) Varieties of fruit jelly.

Apricot	Dewberry
Blackberry	Fig
Black currant	Gooseberry
Black raspberry	Grape
Boysenberry	Grapefruit
Cherry	Greengage, Greengage plum
Crabapple	Guava
Cranberry	Loganberry
	Orange
	Peach
	Pineapple
	Plum
	Pomegranate
	Quince
	Raspberry, red raspberry
	Red currant
	Strawberry
	Youngberry

[1] The requirements of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

(d) Grades of fruit jelly. (1) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of fruit jelly that possesses a good consistency; possesses a bright typical color; is free from defects; possesses a distinct and normal flavor; and scores not less than 85 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(2) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Choice" is the quality of fruit jelly that possesses a reasonably good consistency; possesses a reasonably bright, typical color; is free from defects; possesses a reasonably good and normal flavor; and scores not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(3) "U. S. Grade D" or "Substandard" is the quality of fruit jelly that fails to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice.

(e) Recommended fill of container. It is recommended that the container be filled with jelly as full as practicable without impairment of quality and that the product occupies not less than 90 percent of the capacity of the container.

(f) Ascertaining the grade. The grade of fruit jelly may be ascertained by considering, in addition to the requirements of the respective grade, the following factors: Consistency, color, and flavor. The relative importance of each factor has been expressed numerically on a scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given for each factor is:

	Points
(1) Consistency	40
(2) Color	20
(3) Flavor	40
Total score	100

(g) Ascertaining the rating for each factor. The essential variations within each factor are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor is inclusive (for example, "34 to 40 points" means 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, or 40 points).

(1) Consistency. The factor of consistency refers to the gel strength of the product.

(i) Fruit jelly that possesses a good consistency may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Good consistency" means that the fruit jelly possesses a tender to slightly firm texture and retains a compact shape without excessive syneresis ("weeping").

(ii) If the fruit jelly possesses a reasonably good consistency, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Fruit jelly that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good consistency" means that the fruit jelly may lack firmness but it is not syrupy; and that it may be more than slightly firm but is not tough or rubbery.

(iii) Fruit jelly that fails to meet the requirements of subparagraph (1) (ii) of this paragraph may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade D or Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(2) Color. (i) Fruit jelly that possesses a bright typical color may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Bright typical color" means that the color is characteristic of the fruit juice ingredient or ingredients and that the fruit jelly possesses a sparkling luster of may be not more than slightly cloudy, and is free from any dullness of color.

(ii) If the fruit jelly possesses a reasonably bright typical color, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Fruit jelly that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably bright typical color" means that the color is characteristic of the fruit juice ingredient or ingredients and that the fruit jelly may be slightly cloudy and may possess a slight dullness of color.

(iii) Fruit jelly that is definitely off color for any reason and fails to meet the requirements of subparagraph (2) (ii) of this paragraph may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade D or Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(3) Flavor. (i) Fruit jelly that possesses a distinct and normal flavor may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Distinct and normal flavor" means that the product possesses a good distinct flavor characteristic of the fruit ingredient or fruit ingredients after preserving and is free from any caramelized flavor or any objectionable flavor of any kind.

(ii) If the fruit jelly possesses a reasonably good and normal flavor, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Fruit jelly that falls into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Choice, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good and normal flavor" means that the product possesses a reasonably good flavor characteristic of the fruit or fruit ingredients after preserving and may possess a slightly caramelized flavor but is free from any bitter flavor or other objectionable flavor or off flavor of any kind.

(iii) Fruit jelly that fails to meet the requirements of subparagraph (3) (ii) of this paragraph may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade D or substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(h) Pertinent definitions from the standard of identity for fruit jelly. The following explanations represent only a portion of the definitions contained in the standard of identity for fruit jelly. Complete details may be found in the booklet entitled "Definitions and Standards for Foods. S. R. A., F. D. C. 2, Federal Security Agency," which may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

(1) Definition of fruit jelly. Fruit jellies are the jelled foods, each of which is made from a mixture composed of not less than 45 parts by weight of the fruit juice ingredient or ingredients to each 55 parts by weight of one of the optional saccharine ingredients.

(2) Fruit juice ingredient. The term "fruit juice ingredient" means the filtered or strained liquid extracted with or without the application of heat and with or without the addition of water, from the mature properly prepared fruits which are fresh, frozen, and or canned.

(3) Optional saccharine ingredients. The weight of any optional saccharine ingredient means the weight of the solids of such ingredient.

(i) Sugar. The term "sugar" means refined sugar (sucrose).

(ii) Invert sugar sirup. The term "invert sugar sirup" means a sirup made by inverting or partly inverting sugar or partly refined sugar; its ash content is not more than 0.3 percent of its solids content, but if it is made from partly refined sugar, color and flavor other than sweetness are removed.

(iii) Any combination composed of optional saccharine ingredients in subdivisions (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph.

(iv) Any combination composed of corn sugar or dextrose and optional saccharine ingredient in subdivisions (i), (ii), or (iii), of this subparagraph.

(v) Any combination composed of corn sirup and optional saccharine ingredient in subdivisions (i), (ii), (iii), or (iv), of ths subparagraph, in which the weight of the solids of each component is not less than one-tenth of the weight of the solids of such combination and the weight of corn sirup solids is not more than one-half of the weight of the solids of such combination.

(vi) Honey.

(vii) Any combination composed of honey and optional saccharine ingredient in subdivisions (i), (ii), or (iii), of this subparagraph, in which the weight of the solids of each component except honey is not less than one-tenth of the weight of the solids of such combination and the weight of the honey solids is not less than two-fifths of the weight of the solids of such combination.

(4) Other optional ingredients. Fruit jellies may also contain one or more of the following optional ingredients. Label statements for subdivisions (i), (v), and (vi) of this subparagraph are required under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

(i) Spice.

(ii) A vinegar, lemon juice, lime juice, citric acid, lactic acid, salic acid, tartaric acid, or any combination of two or more of these, in a quantity which reasonably compensates for deficiency, if any, of the natural acidity of the fruit juice ingredient.

(iii) Pectin, in a quantity which reasonably compensates for deficiency, if any, of the natural pectin content of the fruit juice ingredient.

(iv) Sodium citrate, sodium potassium tartrate, or any combination of these, in a quantity the proportion of which is not more than 3 ounces avoirdupois to each 100 pounds of the calculated ingredient used.

(v) Sodium benzoate or benzoic acid, or any combination of these in a quantity reasonably necessary as a preservative.

(vi) Mint flavoring and harmless artificial green coloring, in case the fruit juice ingredient or combination of fruit juice ingredients is extracted from apple, crabapple, pineapple, or two or all of such fruits.

(5) Soluble solids. The soluble solids content is determined by the refractometric method prescribed in the "Official and Tentative Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists."

(j) Tolerance for certification of officially drawn samples. (1) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of fruit jelly, the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of all containers, if:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the containers comprising the sample fails to meet all the requirements of the grade indicated by the average of such total scores, and with respect to such containers which fail to meet the requirements of the indicated grade by reason of a limiting rule, the average score of all containers in the sample for the factor, subject to such limiting rule, must be within the range for the grade indicated;

(ii) None of the containers comprising the sample falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores; and which, together with any other land included in the farm, constitutes a unit with respect to the rotation of crops.

A farm shall be regarded as located in the county in which the principal dwelling is situated, or if there is no dwelling thereon it shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of the farm is located.

(c) "New farm" means a farm on which tobacco will be produced in 1948 for the first time since 1942.

(d) "Old farm" means a farm on which tobacco was produced in one or more of the five years 1943 through 1947.

(e) "Cropland" means that land on the farm which is included as cropland for purposes of the 1947 Agricultural Conservation Program but shall not include wood or wasteland from which no cultivated crop was harvested in any of the years 1943 through 1947.

(f) "Community cropland factor" means that percentage determined by dividing the total cropland for all old farms in the community in 1947 into the total of the 1947 tobacco acreage allotment for such old farm: Provided, That, if it is determined that the cropland factors for all communities in the county are substantially the same, the county committee, with the approval of the State committee, may consider the entire county as one community.

(g) "Acreage indicated by cropland" means that acreage determined by multiplying the number of acres of cropland in the farm by the community cropland factor.

(h) "Operator" means the person who is in charge of the supervision and conduct of the farming operations on the entire farm.

(i) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate or trust or other business enterprise or other legal entity, and whenever applicable, a State, a political subdivision of a State, or any agency thereof.

(j) "Tobacco" means Burley tobacco, type 31, or flue-cured tobacco, types 11, 12, 13, and 14, as classified in Service and Regulatory Announcement No. 118 (7 CFR 30) of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, or both as indicated by the context. Any tobacco that has the same characteristics and corresponding qualities, colors, and lengths as either Burley or flue-cured tobacco shall be considered Burley or flue-cured regardless of any factors of historical or geographical nature which cannot be determined by examination of the tobacco.

(k) "Acre of tobacco" means 43,560 square feet of land devoted to tobacco by being uniformly covered with tobacco plants notwithstanding that the width of the rows of tobacco may vary from the width of rows which are customary for the kind of tobacco involved and without regard to interplanted crops.

§ 725.413 Extent of calculations and rule of fractions. All acreage allotments shall be calculated to the nearest one-tenth acre. Fractions of fifty-one thousandths of an acre or more shall be rounded upward, and fractions of five-hundredths of an acre or less shall be dropped. For example, 1.051 would be 1.1 and 1.050 would be 1.0.

§ 725.414 Instructions and forms. The Director, Tobacco Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, shall cause to be prepared and issued such instructions and forms as may be deemed necessary for carrying out §§ 725.411 to 725.427, inclusive.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS AND NORMAL YIELDS FOR OLD FARMS

§ 725.416 Determination of 1948 preliminary acreage allotments for old farms. The preliminary acreage allotment for an old farm shall be the 1947 allotment with the following exceptions:

(a) If the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in each of the three years 1945–47 was less than 75 percent of the farm acreage allotment for each of such years, the preliminary allotment shall be the larger of (1) the largest acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in any one of such three years, or (2) the average acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in the five years 1943–47: Provided, That any such preliminary allotment shall not exceed the 1947 allotment for such farm or be less than 0.1 acre, and: Provided further, That the preliminary allotment may be increased to as much as the 1947 allotment if the county committee determines that failure to harvest as much as 75 percent of the allotted acreage during any one of the three years 1945–47 was due to service in the armed forces on the part of labor regularly engaged in producing tobacco on the farm prior to entry into the armed forces.

(b) If no 1947 allotment was established for the farm, the preliminary allotment shall be the average acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in the five years 1943–47: Provided, That such preliminary allotment shall not be less than 0.1 acre.

(c) If the acreage of tobacco harvested on the farm in 1947 exceeded the 1947 allotment by more than 10 percent, the preliminary allotment shall be the 1947 allotment plus one-fifth of the number of acres by which the harvested acreage exceeded the 1947 allotment.

(d) The preliminary allotment shall not exceed 80 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm.

(e) The preliminary allotments determined under paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section shall not exceed the smallest of (1) 90 percent of the acreage indicated by cropland, (2) 20 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm, in the case of flue-cured tobacco, or (3) the acreage capacity of curing barns located on the farm and suitable for curing tobacco, which in the case of flue-cured tobacco shall be 3.5 acres per barn: Provided, That no preliminary allotment shall be reduced below the 1947 allotment because of these factors.

§ 725.417 1948 old farm tobacco acreage allotment. The preliminary allotments calculated for all old farms in the State pursuant to § 725.416 shall be adjusted uniformly so that the total of such allotments plus the acreage available for adjusting acreage allotments for old farms pursuant to § 725.418 shall not exceed the State acreage allotment: Provided, That in the case of Burley tobacco, any farm acreage allotment shall be increased if necessary to the smaller of (a) the 1947 allotment, or (b) 0.9 acre.

§ 725.418 Adjustment of acreage allotments for old farms. The farm acreage allotment for an old farm may be increased within the limits stated in paragraph (e) of § 725.416, such limits to be applied to the sum of the preliminary allotment and the increase under this section, if the community committee, with the approval of the county committee, finds that the preliminary acreage allotment is relatively small on the basis of the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop-rotation practices; and other cash crops produced on the farm, or that reduction of such allotment under paragraph (a) of § 725.416 was the result of abnormal weather conditions or plant bed diseases: Provided however, That any allotment may be increased above the limits stated in paragraph (e) of § 725.416 if the community committee and the county committee find that the preliminary allotment is relatively smaller in relation to the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco on the farm than the preliminary allotments for other old farms in the community which are similar with respect to such factors. The acreage available for increasing allotments under this section shall not exceed one-half of one percent of the total acreage allotted to all tobacco farms in the State for the 1947–48 marketing year.

§ 725.419 Reduction of acreage allotment for violation of the marketing quota regulations for a prior marketing year. (a) If tobacco was marketed or was permitted to be marketed in any marketing year as having been produced on any farm which in fact was produced on a different farm, the acreage allotments established for both such farms for 1948 shall be reduced by the amount of tobacco so marketed: Provided, That such reduction for any such farm shall not be made if the county committee determines that no person connected with such farm caused, aided, or acquiesced in such marketing.

(b) The operator of the farm shall furnish complete and accurate proof of the disposition of all tobacco produced on the farm at such time and in such manner as will insure payment of the penalty due and in the event of refusal or failure for any reason to furnish such proof, the acreage allotment for the farm shall be reduced by that amount of tobacco with respect to which accurate proof of disposition has not been furnished: Provided, That if the farm operator establishes to the satisfaction of the county and State committees that failure to furnish such proof of disposition was unintentional on his part and that he could not reasonably have been expected to furnish accurate proof of disposition, reduction of the allotment will not be required if the failure to furnish proof of disposition is corrected and payment of all additional penalty due is made.

(c) Any reduction shall be made with respect to the 1948 farm acreage allotment, provided it can be made prior to the delivery of the marketing card to the farm operator. If the reduction cannot be so made effective with respect to the 1948 crop, such reduction shall be made with respect to the farm acreage allotment next established for the farm. This section shall not apply if the allotment for any prior year was reduced on account of the same violation.

(d) The amount of tobacco involved in the violation will be converted to an acreage basis by dividing such amount of tobacco by the actual yield for the farm during the year in which such tobacco was produced, or, if the actual yield cannot be determined, by the estimated actual yield determined by the county committee for the farm for such year.

§ 725.420 Reallocation of allotments released from farms removed from agricultural production. The allotment determined or which would have been determined for any land, which is removed from agricultural production because of acquisition by a Federal or State Agency for any purpose shall be placed in a State pool and shall be available to the State committee for use in providing equitable allotments for farms owned or purchased by owners displaced because of acquisition of their farms by a Federal or State agency. Upon application to the county committee, within five years from the date of acquisition of the farm by a Federal or State agency, any owner so displaced shall be entitled to have an allotment for any other farm owned or purchased by him equal to an allotment which would have been determined for such other farm plus the allotment which would have been determined for the farm acquired by the Federal or State agency: Provided, That such allotment shall not exceed 20 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm in the case of Burley tobacco, and 50 percent of the acreage of cropland on the farm in the case of flue-cured tobacco.

The provisions of this section shall not be applicable if (1) there is any marketing quota penalty due with respect to the marketing of tobacco from the farm or by the owner of the farm at the time of its acquisition by the Federal or State agency; (2) any tobacco produced on such farm has not been accounted for as required by the Secretary; or (3) the allotment next to be established for the farm acquired by the Federal or State agency would have been reduced because of false or improper identification of tobacco produced on or marketed from such farm.

§ 725.421 Farms subdivided or combined. (a) If land operated as a single farm in 1947 will be operated in 1948 as two or more farms, the 1948 tobacco acreage allotment determined or which otherwise would have been determined for the entire farm shall be apportioned among the tracts in the same proportion as the acreage of cropland suitable for the production of tobacco in each such tract in such year bore to the total number of acres of cropland suitable for the production of tobacco on the entire farm in such year, except that if the farm to be subdivided in 1948 resulted from a combination of two separate and distinct farms prior to a combination in 1943 or any subsequent year, the allotment may be divided among such farms in the same proportion that each contributed to the farm acreage allotment: Provided, That with the recommendation of the county committee and approval of the State committee a variance of not more than the larger of one-tenth acre or ten percent from the acreage allotment determined for each tract on a cropland or contribution basis may be made.

(b) If two or more farms operated separately in 1947 are combined and operated in 1948 as a single farm, the 1948 allotment shall be the sum of the 1948 allotments determined for each of the farms composing the combination or, in the case of Burley tobacco, if smaller, the allotment determined or which would have been determined for the farm as constituted in 1948.

(c) If a farm is to be subdivided in 1948 in settling an estate, the allotment may be divided among the various tracts in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, or on such other basis as the State committee may prescribe.

§ 725.422 Determination of normal yields. The normal yield for any old farm shall be that yield which the county committee determines is normal for the farm taking into consideration (a) the yields obtained on the farm during the five years 1942–46; (b) the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco on the farm; and (c) the yields obtained on other farms in the locality which are similar with respect to such factors.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS AND NORMAL YIELDS FOR NEW FARMS

§ 725.423 Determination of acreage allotments for new farms. The acreage allotment, other than an allotment made under § 725.420, for a new farm shall be that acreage which the county committee determines is fair and reasonable for the farm taking into consideration the past tobacco experience of the farm operator; the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop-rotation practices; the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco: Provided, That the acreage allotment so determined shall not exceed in the case of Burley tobacco, 50 percent of the allotments for old Burley farms which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco, crop-rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco; and in the case of flue-cured tobacco, the smaller of (a) 15 percent of the cropland in the farm including land from which a cultivated crop was harvested in 1947, or (b) 75 percent of the allotment for old flue-cured farms which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco, crop-rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section a tobacco acreage allotment shall not be established for any new farm unless each of the following conditions has been met:

(1) The farm operator shall have had experience in growing the kind of tobacco for which an allotment is requested either as a share cropper, tenant, or as a farm operator during two of the past five years: Provided, however, That a farm operator who has been in the armed services shall be deemed to have met the requirements hereof if he has had experience in growing the kind of tobacco for which an allotment is requested during one year either within the five years immediately prior to his entry into the armed services or since his discharge from the armed services.

(2) The farm operator shall live on and be largely dependent for his livelihood on the farm covered by the application unless the community committee, with the approval of the county committee, determines that he does not live on the farm because of conditions beyond his control, such as inability to obtain material with which to repair or construct a house on the farm.

(3) The farm covered by the application shall be the only farm owned or operated by the farm operator for which a Burley or flue-cured tobacco allotment is established for the 1948–49 marketing year; and

(4) The farm will not have a 1948 allotment for any kind of tobacco other than that for which application is made hereunder.

The acreage allotments established as provided in this section shall be subject to such downward adjustment as is necessary to bring such allotments in line with the total acreage available for allotment to all new farms. The acreage available for establishing allotments for new farms shall be one-half of one percent of the total 1948 State acreage allotments.

§ 725.424 Time for filing application. An application for a new farm allotment shall be filed with the county committee prior to February 1, 1948, unless the farm operator was discharged from the armed services subsequent to December 31, 1947, in which case such application shall be filed within a reasonable period prior to planting tobacco on the farm.

§ 725.425 Determination of normal yields. The normal yield for a new farm shall be that yield per acre which the county committee determines is normal for the farm as compared with yields for other farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar.

§ 725.426 Determination of acreage allotments and normal yields for farms returned to agricultural production. (a) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of §§ 725.411 to 725.425, inclusive, the acreage allotment for any farm which was acquired by a Federal or State agency for any purpose and which is returned to agricultural production in 1948, or which was returned to agricultural production in 1947 too late for the 1947 allotment to be established, shall be determined by one of the following methods:

(1) If the land is acquired by the original owner, any part of the acreage allotment which was or could have been established for such farm prior to its retirement from agricultural production which remains in the State pool (adjusted to reflect the uniform increases and decreases in comparable old farm allotments since the farm was acquired by the Federal or State agency) may be established as the 1948 allotment for such farm by transfer from the pool, and if any part of the allotment for such land was transferred by the original owner through the State pool to another farm now owned by him, such owner may elect to transfer all or any part of such allotment (as adjusted) to the farm which is returned to agricultural production.

(2) If the land is acquired by a person other than the original owner, or if all of the allotment was transferred through the State pools to another farm and the original owner does not now own the farm to which the allotment was transferred, the farm returned to agricultural production shall be regarded as a new farm.

(b) The normal yield for any such farm shall be that yield per acre which the county committee determines is reasonable for the farm as compared with yields for other farms in the locality on which the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco are similar.

§ 725.427 Approval of determinations made under §§ 725.411 to 725.427, inclusive. The State committee will review all allotments and yields and may correct or require correction of any determinations made under §§ 725.411 to 725.427, inclusive. All acreage allotments and yields shall be approved by the State committee and no official notice of acreage allotment shall be mailed to a grower until such allotment has been approved by the State committee.

Done at Washington, D. C. this 8th day of August, 1947. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Chapter I—Monetary Offices, Department of the Treasury

PART 138—ORGANIZATION OF FOREIGN FUNDS CONTROL

PART 139—PROCEDURE OF FOREIGN FUNDS CONTROL

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

AUGUST 14, 1497.

1. Section 138.1 (11 F. R. 177A-96) is amended to read as follows:

§ 138.1 General statement of functions. The office of Foreign Funds Control acts pursuant to powers of the President under sections 3 (a) and 5 (b) of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, (50 U. S. C. App., secs. 3 (a) and 5 (b)) delegated to the Secretary of the Treasury by Executive Orders Nos. 8389 and 9193, as amended, (31 CFR, Cum. Supp., 127.9–127.17; 3 CFR, Cum. Supp., Chap. II; 3 CFR, 1945 Supp., Chap. II). Through a system of licenses, rulings and other documents, collectively known as the freezing regulations, the Control regulates financial and property transactions involving blocked countries and their nationals as defined under Executive Order No. 8389. With regard to liberated and neutral blocked countries, the primary purposes of the Control are to uncover enemy assets and prevent the consummation of looting transactions initiated by enemy countries, while the general aim with respect to enemy countries and their nationals is to immobilize their assets pending their ultimate disposition. The Control also administers regulations designed to prevent the importation into the United States of certain listed securities which disappeared during the period of enemy occupation of Europe.

2. Section 138.2 (11 F. R. 177A-96; 12 F. R. 6) is amended to read as follows:

§ 138.2 Outline of organization. (a) The central organization. By Treasury Department Order No. 86, July 10, 1947, Foreign Funds Control was transferred to the newly created Office of International Finance described in § 1.12 of this title. Foreign Funds Control is headed by the Director, who exercises his functions through two administrative divisions: (1) The Licensing and Enforcement Division, including the Trade and Securities Section and the Compliance Section, and (2) the Administrative Services Division. Each division is headed by a Chief. In addition, there is a Legal Division functioning under the Chief Counsel of Foreign Funds Control, who is responsible to the General Counsel of the Treasury Department.

(b) The field organization. Foreign Funds Control is represented in the field by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

3. Section 138.3 (11 F. R. 177A-96; 12 F. R. 6) is amended to read as follows:

§ 138.3 Description of functions performed by divisions and offices. (a) Licensing and Enforcement Division. This division has general responsibility for the licensing and enforcement activities of the central organization. In addition to reviewing and acting upon specific applications and cases, the division (1) establishes policies and procedures to guide the licensing activities of the field organization, (2) formulates general or blanket licenses under which broad categories of acceptable transactions may be consummated, and (3) has primary responsibility for developing unblocking arrangements with liberated and neutral countries.

The Trade and Securities Section deals with matters relating to trade and shipping; business and personal remittances; patents, trademarks, and copyrights; granting of generally licensed national status to individuals and organizations; release of accounts from freezing control; internees; benevolent and charitable payments; diplomatic and governmental expenses of blocked countries; securities; foreign exchange; attachments; litigation, and the creation and administration of trusts and estates; real estate; business enterprises which are controlled by nationals of blocked countries; and miscellaneous transactions.

The Compliance Section is responsible for the direct domestic and foreign enforcement functions of the Control, including cases involving blocking by specific action. It investigates activities which appear to be in violation of the freezing regulations and recommends appropriate action to prevent or punish such violations.

(b) Administrative Services Division. This division provides all administrative management services of the Control.

(c) Legal Division. This division performs all legal functions of Foreign Funds Control, including the drafting of public documents.

(d) Federal Reserve Bank. Under general supervision of the central organization, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York performs substantially all field operations of the Control in the territorial United States and Puerto Rico. Excepting a limited category of cases directly involving foreign governments, all license applications, other than those from the territory of Hawaii, are filed with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and final action on the applications is announced through it.

4. Section 138.4 (a) (11 F. R. 177A–96) is amended to read as follows:

§ 138.4 Delegation of final authority—(a) The central organization. Regulations, rulings, general licenses, and other public documents, except public interpretations, are issued by the Secretary of the Treasury. The Director of Foreign Funds Control has been delegated general authority to take final action with respect to all other Foreign Funds Control matters.

Authority to take final action in license applications referred to the central office has been granted to the Chief of the Licensing and Enforcement Division and to the Chiefs of the Sections within this Division. Final action on license applications is taken within the Division through the Section Chiefs, subject to instructions to secure clearance from the Division Chief or the Director, where the application involves an important policy decision.

Officers acting in the place of other officers have all the authority of the persons for whom they act.

5. Section 138.5 (a) (3) (11 F. R. 177A–96) is amended by deleting the words "(See § 138.3 (c))".

6. Section 139.1 (a) (11 F. R. 177A–97) is amended to read as follows:

§ 139.1 Licensing—(a) General licenses. General licenses have been issued authorizing under appropriate terms and conditions, many types of transactions which are subject to Executive Orders Nos. 8389 and 9193, as amended (31 CFR, Cum. Supp., 127.9–127.17; 3 CFR, Cum. Supp., Chap. II; 3 CFR, 1945, Supp., Chap. II). All such licenses are published in 31 CFR, 131. It is the policy of Foreign Funds Control not to grant applications for specific licenses authorizing transactions to which the provisions of an outstanding general license are applicable. Persons availing themselves of certain general licenses are required to file reports in the form and in accordance with the instructions specified in the licenses.

7. Section 139.1 (b) (2) (11 F. R. 177A–97; 12 F. R. 6) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Specific licenses. • • •

(2) Applications for specific licenses. Except as provided below, applications for specific licenses are to be filed on Form TFE–1 with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York or other agency prescribed in the appropriate regulations, 31 CFR, 130.3.

Applications for the release of securities imported into the United States and surrendered in accordance with the provisions of General Ruling No. 5 (31 CFR, 131, App. A; 12 F. R. 4933) are to be filed on Form TFA–1 with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

NOTICE CONCERNING PROPOSED ASSIGNMENT OF LICENSE[1]

The Commission hereby gives notice that on August 4, 1947 there was filed with it an application (BAL-632) for its consent under section 310 (b) of the Communications Act to the proposed assignment of license of McAlester Broadcasting, a copartnership composed of C. E. Wilson and P. D. Jackson, licensee of KTMC, McAlester, Oklahoma, to J. Stanley O'Neill, 2655 Heighwood Trail, Lake Mohawk, New Jersey. The proposal to assign the license arises out of a contract of July 28, 1947 by the abovementioned parties pursuant to which the presently licensed partners propose to sell to the prospective purchaser the properties and facilities of KTMC for a total consideration of $100,000. Of this amount $17,500 is to be deposited in escrow following execution of the agreement; $32,500 is to be paid in cash and the remainder of $50,000 is to be evidenced by the promissory notes of purchaser bearing 6% interest per annum payable in 36 equal monthly installments, the first installment to be due 60 days after the approval of the transfer. The unpaid purchase price ($50,000) is to be secured by first mortgage on the physical assets of the station which is also to be deposited with the escrow officer. The contract bears an acceleration clause allowing purchaser to pay the notes before maturity. Accounts receivable for services performed prior to approval are to belong to sellers and accounts payable to the same time are to be borne by sellers. Further information as to the arrangements may be found with the application and associated papers which are on file at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

Pursuant to § 1.321 the Commission was advised upon filing of the application that notice thereof would be given in a daily newspaper of general circulation at McAlester, Oklahoma starting August 5, 1947 in conformity with the above section.

In accordance with the procedure set out in said section, no action will be had upon the application for a period of 60 days from August 5, 1947 within which time other persons desiring to apply for the facilities involved may do so upon the same terms and conditions as set forth in the above described contract.

PART 951—TOKAY GRAPES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

REGULATION BY GRADES AND SIZES

§ 951.301 Tokay Grape Order 1—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 51, as amended (7 CFR, Cum. Supp., 951.1 et seq.), regulating the handling of Tokay grapes grown in the State of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Industry Committee, established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of Tokay grapes, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and the 30-day effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., August 16, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., December 1, 1947, no shipper shall ship:

No. 1 Table Grapes, as defined in the United States Standards for Table Grapes (11 F. R. 13568): Provided, That, in addition to the tolerances provided for said U. S. No. 1 Table Grapes, there shall be allowed, for each container of Tokay grapes, an aggregate tolerance of ten (10) percent, by weight, for defects not considered serious damage, and for bunches smaller than the minimum size specified for said U. S. No. 1 Table Grapes; or

(ii) From the Lodi District, any Tokay grapes produced in such district which do not meet the grade and size requirements of U. S. No. 1 Table Grapes, as defined in the aforesaid United States Standards.

(2) As used in this section, the terms "shipper," "ship," "Florin District," "Lodi District," "district," "size," and "bunches" shall have the same meaning as when used in the amended marketing agreement and order, and the term "serious damage" shall have the same meaning as set forth in the aforesaid United States Standards. The burden of proving that the proposed schedule should be approved, shall be upon the concessioners. After full opportunity to be heard has been accorded all interested parties, the Committee shall prepare a labor schedule for each park area and submit it to the Secretary for his approval. In preparing the schedules, the Committee shall give consideration to labor standards established by or pursuant to the laws of the State in which the place of employment is located. [Project Nos. 1956, 1965]

LYLES FORD TRI-COUNTY POWER AUTHORITY AND SOUTH CAROLINA ELECTRIC & GAS CO.

ORDER CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

AUGUST 7, 1947.

(1) On September 9, 1946, the Lyles Ford Tri-County Power Authority (the Authority), a municipal corporation, of Union, South Carolina, filed an application for preliminary permit under the Federal Power Act for a proposed hydroelectric development (Project No. 1956) to be located on Broad and Congaree Rivers in South Carolina, the project facilities, exclusive of transmission lines, to be located in Chester, Fairfield, Laurens, Lexington, Newberry, Richland and Union Counties, South Carolina. The permit, if issued, will be for the sole purpose of maintaining priority of application for a license for the project under the act for a period not exceeding a total of three years as may be necessary for making examinations and surveys, for preparing maps, plans, specifications, and estimates, and for making financial arrangements. The proposed project will consist of three units known respectively as the Blairs and Frost Shoals developments on Broad River and Columbia Regulating Dam on Congaree River. Each unit of development will consist of a dam, reservoir, powerhouse and appurtenant facilities.

(2) On January 27, 1947, the South Carolina Electric & Gas Company (the South Carolina Company), of Columbia, South Carolina, filed an application for preliminary permit under the Federal Power Act for a proposed hydroelectric development (Project No. 1965) to be located on Saluda River in Richland and Lexington Counties, South Carolina. The proposed project, known as the Lower Saluda development, will consist of a dam and powerhouse to be located about 1 mile above the mouth of Saluda River.

(3) Public notice of the filing of the two applications has been given as required by the act.

(4) The Authority has filed a protest against the granting of the application for preliminary permit for the South Carolina Company's Project No. 1965 and the latter company has in turn protested the granting of the application for preliminary permit for the Authority's Project No. 1956. It appears that the Columbia Regulating Dam on Congaree River proposed by the Authority would raise the water level of the Saluda River to an elevation sufficient to flood the dam site which the South Carolina Company proposes to utilize on that river. Therefore, it is apparent that the plans for Project No. 1956 and Project No. 1965 are in conflict.

The Commission finds that it is desirable and in the public interest to consolidate these two matters for the purpose of a hearing and to hold such a hearing respecting the matters involved and the issues raised in the two proceedings.

It is ordered, That a public hearing be held concerning these matters commencing on Tuesday, September 23, 1947 at 10:00 a. m. (e. s. t.) in the Federal Court Room, U. S. Court House, Columbia, South Carolina.

Date of issuance: August 12, 1947.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

PORTLAND GAS & COKE CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 8th day of August A. D. 1947.

Portland Gas & Coke Company ("Portland"), a gas utility subsidiary of American Power & Light Company ("American"), a registered holding company subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, also a registered holding company, having filed an application, and amendment thereto, pursuant to section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 with respect to the following transactions:

Portland proposes to issue and sell to Mellon National Bank and Trust Company of Pittsburgh its 3¼% installment promissory note in the principal amount of $4,500,000, payable in sixteen semi-annual installments of $281,250, commencing 30 months after the date of issuance, which is to be on or after August 1, 1947 but not later than September 15, 1947.

The proceeds from the proposed sale of the installment promissory note will be applied to the retirement of all of Portland's presently outstanding unsecured debt consisting of $400,000 principal amount of 1¾% Serial Notes due 1947 to 1951 and $1,750,000 principal amount of 2¾% Bank Notes due 1948 to 1950. The $2,350,000 balance of the proceeds will be used to construct additional facilities which Portland states are essential to ensure a continuity of adequate gas service. It is further stated that the present facilities of Portland do not have adequate capacity to meet prospective demands in the winter of 1947-1948 and failure to install additional facilities promptly may result in thousands of customers being without service during periods of moderately cold weather.

In the loan agreement, pursuant to which the installment note will be issued, Mellon National Bank and Trust Company represents that it is purchasing the note for investment purposes and has no present intention of making any disposition of such note. In its application Portland states that no finder's fee or other fee, commission or remuneration is to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions to any third person for negotiating the sale of the note.

The proposed transactions are subject to the jurisdiction of Oregon Commissioner of Public Utilities and the Washington Department of Public Utilities. Each of the foregoing regulatory bodies has expressly authorized the proposed transaction.

The application having been filed on July 21, 1947 and an amendment thereto having been filed on July 28, 1947, and notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said application, as amended, within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding with respect to the application, as amended, that the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and the rules thereunder are satisfied and that it is not necessary to impose any terms or conditions, and the Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said application, as amended, be granted and deeming it appropriate to grant the request of applicant that the order become effective at the earliest date possible:

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to said Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, that said application, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted.

By the Commission.

CONSUMERS POWER CO.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 8th day of August 1947.

Notice is hereby give that an application-declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Consumers Power Company ("Consumers"), a public utility subsidiary of The Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, a registered holding company. The applicant-declarant has designated sections 6 and 7 of the act and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 26, 1947 at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said application-declaration, which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. At any time after August 26, 1947, said application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said application-declaration, which is on file in the offices of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

Consumers proposes to issue $25,000,000 principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds to be dated September 1, 1947 and to mature in 30 years. The bonds are to be issued under and secured by Consumers' indenture dated September 1, 1945, as supplemented by an indenture to be dated September 1, 1947. The bonds will be sold at competitive bidding and the interest rate and the price to be paid to the company, which shall be not less than 100% nor more than 102¾% of the principal amount, exclusive of accrued interest, will be determined by competitive bidding. It is proposed that the coupon rate shall not be greater than 2⅞%.

The application-declaration states that Consumers will use the proceeds from the sale of the new bonds for the acquisition of property, the construction, completion, extension or improvement of facilities or for the improvement or maintenance of service, or for the discharge or lawful refunding of obligations, or to reimburse its treasury for expenditures made for such purposes. Property additions are contemplated during 1947, 1948 and 1949 in an amount exceeding $100,000,000.

The application-declaration also requests approval by this Commission of the transfer by Consumers on April 30, 1947 of $10,607,836.14 from earned surplus to common capital stock account, such sum representing the amount of the company's earned surplus at September 30, 1945 ($11,952,310.67) less an amount of $1,344,474.53, representing the balance of Account 107, Electric Plant Adjustments. The indenture securing Consumers' First Mortgage Bonds makes such surplus unavailable for the payment of dividends on its common stock. After making the proposed transfer, there would remain in earned surplus, as of June 30, 1947, $8,189,851.12.

The application-declaration states that the Michigan Public Service Commission, the state commission of the state in which consumers operates, has approved the proposed transactions.

Consumers requests that the Commission's order herein be issued as soon as possible and that it become effective forthwith.

By the Commission.

Assistant to the Secretary.

(e) "Backing material" means material to which the batt part of the insulation is attached or in which it is encased, used to repel moisture or vapor, or to serve as a nailing flange, or other structural function.

(f) "Manufacture" means: (1) In the case of insulation with backing material, and in the case of insulation not more than 24 inches wide without backing material, the processing of raw material to the point that the insulation is in form, and is packaged for delivery to recipients; or (2) In the case of insulation more than 24 inches wide without backing material, the processing of raw material to the point that insulation is in form and is packaged for delivery to vendees: Provided, It is delivered, shipped, or delivered to carrier for shipment to eligible recipients.

§ 501.103 Period of manufacture of insulation. Insulation must have been manufactured in the United States on or after the date of approval of the application and during the period from July 1, 1947, to and including June 30, 1948.

§ 501.104 Rate of payment. Rate of payment by the Secretary will be five and three-quarter (5¾) cents per pound of cotton, gross weight (as defined herein), used in the manufacture of insulation.

§ 501.105 Changing specifications. With the consent of the processor and the Secretary or his authorized representative, specifications referred to in a particular application may be changed. Such new specifications shall apply only to insulation manufactured after the change has become effective.

§ 501.106 Meeting specifications. Processors must certify that insulation manufactured under the approved application meets applicable minimum specification requirements. The insulation shall be subject to examination at the plant of manufacture or elsewhere as often as the Secretary or his authorized representative deems necessary. If on such examination it is found that minimum specifications for insulation are not being met, payments thereafter may be suspended until specification requirements are complied with. For purposes of examining and testing the material, samples shall be supplied without cost by the processor to the Secretary or his authorized representative.

§ 501.107 Packing and marking. At the time of manufacture all insulation shall be securely packaged and marked with a serial number or with a symbol by which the individual package can be identified.

§ 501.108 Inspection. During the period of participating in the program as herein provided, the establishment of the processor (and the establishment of others manufacturing insulation for the processor's account under the causing to be manufactured provision of this offer) shall be open to the Secretary or to his authorized representative or agent for observation of materials used, of insulation manufactured, and of compliance with other provisions of the program.

§ 501.109 Reports and cost data—(a) Progress report. From time to time the processor shall submit reports containing information in connection with materials used, insulation made, and other data by which the progress of the program may be appraised, the time of submission and the kind of data to be as required by the Secretary or his authorized representative.

(b) Cost data. During the period of participating in the program the processor, in cases where insulation is manufactured by his plant, or if the processor is a corporation, also in the plants of its subsidiaries, shall from time to time upon written request supply to the Secretary or his authorized representative data with respect to individual costs of items relating to the manufacture and distribution of each of the various types of cotton insulation manufactured during specified future period (week, month, or other periods of time). Such reports will be considered as confidential by the Department of Agriculture. During the period for which cost data are requested, the processor shall maintain such cost records relating to cotton insulation as will disclose accurate data with respect to the information requested. Failure of the processor to supply requested information will give the Secretary or his authorized representative the right to suspend payments until such request is complied with.

§ 501.110 Applications. No processor shall be entitled to payments unless he has submitted an "Application" (Form CN–13–1), to use a specified quantity of cotton in the manufacture of insulation in connection with the "Cotton Insulation Program (Fiscal Year 1948)," and the Secretary or his authorized representative has, pursuant to the terms and conditions set forth in that application and in this offer, approved such application in whole or in part. No payment will be made on any quantity of cotton in excess of that for which an application is approved. More than one application may be approved for the same applicant. The right is reserved to reject any or all applications.

§ 501.111 Payment as manufacture is completed. Any part or parts of the quantity of cotton covered by an approved application may be separately manufactured into insulation and the Secretary will make payments in connection with such quantities in the same manner as if the total quantity of cotton covered by such application had been used in the manufacture of insulation.

§ 501.112 Claims for payment. No processor shall be entitled to payments in connection with the use of cotton in the manufacture of any particular insulation unless he shall submit in connection therewith on or before August 15, 1948, or during any extensions of such time made by the Secretary or his authorized representative, a claim in voucher form and shall furnish to the Secretary or to his authorized representative or agent such information as may be requested for the purpose of enabling him to determine that there has been compliance with the conditions of this offer and the approved application, and to determine the proper payment to be made. The processor shall make available to the Secretary or to his authorized representative or agent, for the purpose of verifying such information, any pertinent books, records, memoranda, documents, papers, and correspondence of the processor or of the processor's agents or representatives, which the Secretary or his authorized representative or agent may request. The determination of the Secretary as to pertinency shall be final.

§ 501.113 Bond. Within 30 days after approval of an application the processor will furnish a bond, in a form satisfactory to the Secretary or his authorized representative, guaranteeing repayment of any amounts which the Secretary may have paid to the processor and to which the processor was not entitled under the provisions of this offer. The amount of the bond shall be 10 percent of the total maximum payments which might become due under the application as approved. If such bond is not furnished within the prescribed period of time (or within such period as extended by the Secretary or his authorized representative), the approval of the application shall be deemed revoked, without further notice by the Secretary or his authorized representative.

§ 501.114 Termination of offer. The Secretary reserves the right to terminate this offer at any time by giving public notice thereof. Such termination shall not affect any payments to be made pursuant to any application theretofore approved by the Secretary or his authorized representative.

Issued this 12th day of August 1947.

[SEAL] N. E. DODD,
Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

MANNER OF OBTAINING INSURANCE

§ 418.2001 Availability of wheat crop insurance. (a) After the publication of this subpart in the FEDERAL REGISTER, wheat crop insurance under annual contracts covering the 1948 crop year will be provided in accordance with this subpart in the counties designated by the Corporation.

(b) Insurance will not be provided under this subpart in any county unless the written applications filed for wheat crop insurance, together with the wheat crop insurance contracts in force, cover at least 200 farms or one-third of the farms normally producing wheat.

§ 418.2002 Application for insurance. Application for insurance, on a form entitled "Application for Wheat Crop Insurance" may be made by any person to cover his interest as landlord, owner-operator, or tenant, in a wheat crop. An application shall cover the applicant's interest in the wheat crop on all insurance units considered for crop insurance purposes to be located in the county in which the applicant has an interest at the time of seeding of the wheat crop to be harvested in 1948: Provided, however, That an application executed by any person as an individual shall not cover his interest as a partner in a crop produced by a partnership. Applications shall be submitted to the office of the county association or other office specified by the Corporation on or before the applicable closing date shown in § 418.2041. In case of death of the insured after the seeding of either winter or spring wheat is begun for the 1948 crop year, any additional acreage of that type of wheat (winter or spring) which is seeded for the insured's estate for the 1948 crop year shall be covered by the application.

§ 418.2003 Acceptance of application by the Corporation. (a) Upon acceptance of an application by a duly authorized representative of the Corporation, the contract shall be in effect, provided all the requirements in this subpart for the acceptance of applications have been met.

(b) The Corporation reserves the right to reject any application for insurance in its entirety or with respect to any definitely described acreage.

§ 418.2004 Cancellation of prior contract. The acceptance by the Corporation of an application submitted pursuant to the regulations in this subpart will automatically cancel any other wheat crop insurance contract previously entered into by the insured and the Corporation in the county for the 1948 and any subsequent crop year.

INSURANCE COVERAGE

§ 418.2005 Insurable and non-insurable acreage. Any regularly tilled acreage, as determined by the Corporation, is insurable unless it is designated as "non-insurable" on the 1948 crop insurance map before the applicable calendar closing date for filing of applications for insurance. This designation may be made on the crop insurance map by either identifying the acreage or by identifying a particular farming practice which, if followed, will make acreage non-insurable. Non-insurable acreage shall not be considered in any manner whatsoever under the contract except as provided in §§ 418.2019 (b) and 418.2036.

§ 418.2006 Kinds of wheat insured. The wheat to be insured under the contract will be winter and spring wheat seeded for harvest as grain, as determined by the Corporation: Provided, however, That, if the application is filed on or before the applicable closing date for spring wheat but after the applicable closing date for winter wheat, the contract will not cover:

(a) Any acreage of the winter wheat crop, or

(b) Any acreage of the spring wheat crop which is seeded on winter wheat acreage, except whole fields of such acreage, or parts of such acreage with definite boundaries, which are reworked and seeded to spring wheat in areas where it is adapted and a full seeding of spring wheat is made.

The contract will not provide insurance for volunteer wheat, wheat seeded with a mixture of flax or other small grains, vetch, Austrian winter peas, dry edible peas, or a type of wheat which is not adapted to the area, as determined by the Corporation.

§ 418.2007 Determination of insured acreage and insured interest. Promptly after seeding a wheat crop (winter or spring) the insured shall submit to the Corporation, on a form entitled "Wheat Crop Insurance Acreage Report," a report over his signature of the acreage seeded to wheat on each insurance unit in which he has an interest at the time of seeding and his interest at the time of seeding in the wheat seeded for harvest as grain. If the insured does not seed wheat, the acreage report shall nevertheless be submitted promptly after the seeding of wheat is generally completed in the county. This report submitted by the insured shall be considered final and not subject to change by the insured, except with the consent of the Corporation.

The Corporation reserves the right to charge the insured $2.00 if the insured fails to submit a seeded acreage report within 30 days after seeding of the applicable type of wheat (winter or spring) is generally completed in the county, as determined by the Corporation.

The insured acreage with respect to each insurance unit shall be the acreage of wheat seeded for harvest as grain as reported by the insured or as determined by the Corporation, whichever the Corporation shall elect: Provided, however, That the Corporation may elect to determine that the insured acreage is "zero" if the insured fails to file a seeded acreage report within 30 days after seeding of the applicable type of wheat (winter or spring) is generally completed in the county, as determined by the Corporation: Provided, further, That the Corporation reserves the right to limit the acreage to be insured: Provided, further, That insurance shall not attach with respect to (a) any acreage seeded to wheat which is destroyed or substantially destroyed (as defined in § 418.2016) and which can be reseeded before it is too late to reseed to wheat, as determined by the Corporation, and such acreage is not reseeded to wheat, or (b) any acreage seeded to wheat too late to expect to produce a normal crop, as determined by the Corporation.

The insured interest with respect to each insurance unit shall be the insured's interest in the crop at the time of seeding, as reported by the insured, or the interest which the Corporation determines as the insured's actual interest at the time of seeding, whichever the Corporation shall elect: Provided, however, That, for the purpose of determining loss, the insured interest shall not exceed the insured's actual interest at the time of loss or the beginning of harvest, whichever occurs first.

§ 418.2008 Wheat seeded for purposes other than grain. If the insured seeds only a part of his wheat for harvest as grain he shall submit with his acreage report of wheat seeded, a designation of any acreage seeded for purposes other than harvest as grain. Upon receipt of this designation and with the approval of the Corporation, the acreage used in computing the premium and amount of insurance will not include such acreage. However, any wheat threshed from such acreage shall be considered as wheat produced on the insured acreage in determining a loss under the contract.

§ 418.2009 Insurance period. Insurance with respect to any insured acreage shall attach at the time the wheat is seeded. Insurance shall cease with respect to any portion of the wheat crop covered by the contract upon threshing (unless combined and field-sacked and remaining in the field, in which event the insurance shall cease 120 hours thereafter) or removal from the field, but in no event shall the insurance remain in effect later than October 31, 1948, unless such time is extended in writing by the Corporation.

§ 418.2010 Amount of insurance. (a) The coverage per acre for insured acreage shall be:

(1) For acreage released by the Corporation and planted to a substitute crop: 50 percent of the applicable number of dollars shown on the 1948 actuarial table or on the 1948 table of area coverages and premium rates;

(2) For all other acreage which is not harvested: The applicable number of dollars shown on the 1948 actuarial table or on the 1948 table of area coverages and premium rates; or

(3) For acreage which is harvested: The applicable number of dollars shown on the 1948 actuarial table or on the 1948 table of area coverages and premium rates, plus $1.60.

(b) The amount of insurance for each insurance unit under the contract shall be the number of dollars determined by multiplying:

(1) The insured acreage, by

(2) The coverage per acre, and by

(3) The insured interest in the crop at the time of seeding. If different coverages per acre are applicable to parts of the insurance unit, the amount of insurance shall be computed separately, using the applicable acreage for each coverage per acre, and the total of such computed amounts shall be the amount of insurance for the insurance unit.

§ 418.2011 Causes of loss insured against. The contract shall cover loss of wheat while in the field due to unavoidable causes, including drought, flood, hail, wind, frost, winter-kill, lightning, fire, excessive rain, snow, wildlife, hurricane, tornado, insect infestation, plant disease, and such other unavoidable causes as may be determined by the Board of Directors of the Corporation: Provided, however, That the Board of Directors may determine that for any county or area the contract shall provide that loss of wheat due to any of the foregoing causes is not insured.

Where insurance is written on an irrigated basis, the contract shall also cover loss due to failure of the water supply from natural causes that could not be prevented by the insured, including (a) lowering of the water level in pump wells adequate at the beginning of the growing season to the extent that either deepening the well or drilling a new well would be necessary to obtain an adequate supply of water, (b) failure of public power used for pumping or failure of an irrigation district or water company to deliver water where such failure is not within the control of the insured, and (c) the collapse of casing in wells where such collapse could not have been foreseen and prevented by the insured: Provided, however, That the acreage of wheat which shall be insured on an irrigated basis shall not exceed that acreage which can be irrigated properly with facilities available and with a supply of irrigation water which could reasonably be expected, taking into consideration the amount of water required to properly irrigate the acreage of all irrigated crops on the farm: Provided, further, That the contract shall not cover loss due to the shortage of irrigation water on any farm where the Corporation determines that the total acreage of all irrigated crops on the farm is in excess of that which could be irrigated properly with the facilities available and with the supply of irrigation water which could reasonably be expected.

§ 418.2012 Causes of loss not insured against. The contract shall not cover damage to quality, or loss caused by:

(a) Neglect or malfeasance of the insured or of any person in his household or employment or connected with the farm as tenant or wage hand;

(b) Theft;

(c) Domestic animals or poultry;

(d) Failure to follow recognized good farming practices;

(e) Poor farming practices, including but not limited to the use of defective or unadapted seed, failure to plant a sufficient quantity of seed, failure properly to prepare the land for seeding or properly to seed, care for or harvest and thresh the insured crop (including unreasonable delay thereof);

(f) Over-pasturage;

(g) Following different fertilizer or farming practices than those considered in establishing the coverage per acre, or seeding wheat on land where the average productivity or farming hazards differ materially from the average productivity or farming hazards for the acreage considered in establishing the coverage per acre and premium rate for such land;

(h) Seeding wheat under conditions of immediate hazard;

(i) Planting excessive acreage under abnormal conditions;

(j) Inability to obtain labor, seed, fertilizer, machinery, repairs, or insect poison;

(k) Breakdown of machinery, or failure of irrigation equipment due to mechanical defects;

(l) Seeding another crop with the wheat or in the growing wheat crop, or;

(m) Failure to provide adequate casing or properly to adjust the pumping equipment in the event of a lowering of the water level in pump wells when such adjustment can be made without deepening the well.

PREMIUM FOR THE CONTRACT

§ 418.2013 Amount of premium. The premium for each insurance unit under the contract shall be based upon (i) the insured acreage, (ii) the premium rate, and (iii) the insured interest in the crop at the time of seeding. If more than one premium rate is applicable to the insurance unit, a premium shall be computed separately using the applicable acreage for each rate, and the total of the amounts so computed shall be the premium for the insurance unit. The premium for the insurance contract shall be the total of the premiums computed for the insured for all insurance units covered by the contract. The premium with respect to any insured acreage shall be regarded as earned when the wheat crop on such acreage is seeded. The minimum premium payable by the insured with respect to any insurance contract shall be $5.00.

§ 418.2014 Manner of payment of premium. (a) By executing the application for wheat crop insurance, the applicant executes a premium note. This note represents a promise to pay to the Corporation, on or before the applicable maturity date specified in § 418.2042, the premium for all insurance units covered by the contract. Each premium or unpaid portion thereof shall bear interest after maturity at the rate of one-half of one percent for each full calendar month or fraction thereof, except that no interest shall be charged on any amount paid within two calendar months after maturity.

(b) Payment on any premium shall be made by means of cash or by check, money order, postal note, or bank draft payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. All checks and drafts will be accepted subject to collection, and payments tendered shall not be regarded as paid unless collection is made.

(c) Any unpaid amount of any premium (either before or after the date of maturity) may be deducted from any indemnity payable by the Corporation, from the proceeds of any commodity loan to the insured, and from any payment made to the insured under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, or any other Act of Congress or program administered by the United States Department of Agriculture.

LOSS

§ 418.2015 Notice of loss or damage of wheat crop. (a) Unless otherwise provided by the Corporation, if a loss is probable, notice in writing shall be given the Corporation, at the office of the county association, or other office specified by the Corporation, immediately after any material damage to the insured crop and before the crop is harvested, removed, or any other use is made of it. Any such notice shall be given in time to allow the Corporation to make appropriate inspection.

(b) Unless otherwise provided by the Corporation, if, at the completion of threshing of the insured wheat crop, a loss has been sustained, notice in writing shall be given the Corporation, at the office of the county association, or other office specified by the Corporation, within 10 days after threshing is completed. This notice is in addition to any notice required by paragraph (a) of this section, and unless given within the time specified the Corporation reserves the right to reject any claims for indemnity.

§ 418.2016 Released acreage. Any insured acreage on which the wheat crop has been destroyed or substantially destroyed may be released by the Corporation for planting to a substitute crop or to be put to another use. The wheat crop shall be deemed to have been substantially destroyed if the Corporation determines that it has been so badly damaged that farmers generally in the area where the farm is located and on whose farms similar damage occurred would not further care for the crop or harvest any portion thereof.

Before any acreage is released it shall be inspected by a representative of the Corporation and an appraisal made of the yield that would be realized if the crop on such acreage remained for harvest.

On any acreage where the wheat has been partially destroyed but not released by the Corporation, proper measures shall be taken to protect the crop from further damage. There shall be no abandonment of the crop or portion thereof to the Corporation.

§ 418.2017 Time of loss. Loss, if any, shall be deemed to have occurred at the end of the insurance period as set forth in § 418.2009, unless the Corporation determines that the entire wheat crop on the insurance unit was destroyed or substantially destroyed earlier, in which event the loss shall be deemed to have occurred on the date of such damage as determined by the Corporation.

§ 418.2018 Proof of loss. If a loss is claimed, the insured shall submit to the Corporation a form entitled "Statement in Proof of Loss," containing such information regarding the manner and extent of the loss as may be required by the Corporation. The statement in proof of loss shall be submitted not later than sixty days after the time of loss, unless the time for submitting the claim is extended in writing by the Corporation. It shall be a condition precedent to any liability under the contract that the insured establish that any loss for which claim is made has been directly caused by one or more of the hazards insured against by the contract during the term of the contract, and that the insured further establish that the loss has not arisen from or been caused by, either directly or indirectly, any of the hazards not insured against by the contract. If a loss is claimed, any wheat acreage which is not to be harvested shall be left intact until the Corporation makes an inspection.

§ 418.2019 Amount of loss. (a) The amount of loss for which indemnity will be payable with respect to any insurance unit will be the amount of insurance under the contract for such unit, less the number of dollars determined by multiplying (i) the total production in bushels for such unit by (ii) $1.60, and by (iii) the insured interest in such unit: Provided, however, That, if the seeded acreage on the insurance unit exceeds the insured acreage on such unit, as determined by the Corporation, the loss for which indemnity will be payable shall be determined by the Corporation, the loss for which indemnity will be payable shall be determined by computing the loss for the seeded acreage (as though the total seeded acreage were insured) and reducing such loss on the basis of the ratio of the insured acreage to the seeded acreage: Provided, further, That, if the premium computed for the reported acreage is less than the premium computed for the seeded acreage, the amount of loss for which indemnity will be payable shall be determined by computing the loss for the seeded acreage and reducing such loss on the basis of the ratio of the premium computed for the reported acreage to the premium computed for the seeded acreage, if the Corporation so elects.

The total production for an insurance unit shall include:

(1) All threshed wheat (not including wheat in a mixture with other small grains produced on acreage released as provided in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph);

(2) The appraised production for any acreage of wheat which was not threshed but which was harvested as grain;

(3) For any acreage of wheat released by the Corporation and seeded to a substitute crop, that portion of the appraised production which is in excess of the number of bushels determined by dividing (i) the amount of insurance for such acreage by (ii) $1.60 (rounded in accordance with § 418.2040);

(4) The appraised production for any acreage of wheat released by the Corporation and not seeded to a substitute crop.

(5) The number of bushels determined by dividing (i) the salvage value of unmerchantable production, as determined by the Corporation, by (ii) $1.60;

(6) The appraised production for any acreage of insured wheat that is not harvested and is planted to a substitute crop or put to another use without the consent of the Corporation, but not less than the product of (i) such acreage and (ii) the bushel equivalent of the coverage per acre determined on the basis of a value of $1.60 per bushel (rounded in accordance with § 418.2040);

(7) The appraised number of bushels by which production on any acreage has been reduced solely because of any cause not insured against, but not less than the product of (i) such acreage and (ii) the bushel equivalent of the coverage per acre determined on the basis of a value of $1.60 per bushel (rounded in accordance with § 418.2040), minus any quantity of wheat harvested from such acreage; and

(8) The appraised number of bushels by which production on any acreage has been reduced because of any cause not insured against, where damage on such acreage has resulted from a cause insured against and a cause not insured against.

The determining production, volunteer small grains, volunteer vetch, volunteer Austrian winter peas, and volunteer dry edible peas growing with the seeded wheat crop, and small grains seeded with the growing wheat crop on acreage not released by the Corporation, shall be counted as wheat.

(b) Where the insured commingles production from two or more insurance units or portions thereof and fails to establish and maintain records satisfactory to the Corporation of the production from each of the component parts, the insurance with respect to such units may be voided by the Corporation and the premium forfeited by the insured: Provided, however, That, if all the component parts are insured, the total of the amount of insurance for the component parts shall be considered as the amount of insurance for the combination, and any loss for such combination shall be determined as outlined in paragraph (a) of this section. Where the insured fails to establish and maintain separate records, satisfactory to the Corporation, of acreage or production for non-insurable acreage and for one or more insurance units or portions thereof, any production from the non-insurable acreage which is commingled with the production from the insured acreage shall be considered to have been produced on the insured acreage, or the insurance with respect to such unit(s) under the contract may be voided by the Corporation and the premium forfeited by the insured.

PAYMENT OF INDEMNITY

§ 418.2020 When indemnity payable. The amount of loss for which the Corporation may be liable with respect to any insurance unit covered by the contract shall be payable within thirty days after satisfactory proof of loss is approved by the Corporation. However, if payment of any indemnity is delayed for any reason beyond the time specified, the Corporation shall not be liable for interest or damages on account of such delay.

§ 418.2021 Indemnity payment. (a) Any indemnity due under the contract will be paid by the issuance of a check payable to the order of the persons(s) entitled to such payment under this subpart.

(b) Any indemnity payable under a contract shall be paid to the insured or such other person as may be entitled to the benefits of the contract under the provisions of the regulations in this subpart notwithstanding any attachment, garnishment, receivership, trustee process, judgment, levy, equity, or bankruptcy, directed against the insured or such other person, or against any indemnity alleged to be due to such person; nor shall the Corporation or any officer, employee, or representative thereof be a proper party to any suit or action with reference to such indemnity, nor be bound by any judgment, order, or decree rendered or entered therein. No officer, agent, or employee of the Corporation shall, because of any such process, order, or decree, pay or cause to be paid to any person other than the insured or other person entitled to the benefits of the contract, any indemnity payable, in accordance with the provisions of the contract. Nothing herein contained shall excuse any person entitled to the benefits of the contract from full compliance with, or performance of, any lawful judgment, order or decree with respect to the disposition of any sums paid thereunder as an indemnity.

(c) If a check issued in payment of an indemnity is returned undeliverable at the last known address of the payee, and if such payee or other person entitled to the indemnity makes no claim for payment within two years after the issuance of the check, such claims shall not thereafter be payable, except with the consent of the Corporation.

(d) The Corporation shall provide for the posting in each county at the county courthouse of a list of indemnities paid for losses on farms in such county.

§ 418.2022 Other insurance. (a) If the insured has or acquires any other insurance against substantially all the risks that are insured against by the Corporation under the contract, regardless of whether such other insurance is valid or collectible, the liability of the Corporation shall not be greater than its share would be if the amount of its obligations were divided equally between the Corporation and such other insurer.

(b) In any case where an indemnity is paid to the insured by another Government agency because of damage to the wheat crop, the Corporation reserves the right to determine its liability under the contract, taking into consideration the amount paid by such other agency.

§ 418.2023 Subrogation. The Corporation may require from the insured an assignment of all rights of recovery against any person(s) for loss or damage to the extent that payment therefor is made by the Corporation, and the insured shall execute all papers required and shall do everything that may be necessary to secure such rights.

§ 418.2024 Creditors. An interest existing by virtue of a debt, lien, mortgage, garnishment, levy, execution, bankruptcy, or any other process shall not be considered an interest in an insured crop within the meaning of this subpart.

PAYMENT OF INDEMNITY TO PERSONS OTHER THAN ORIGINAL INSURED

§ 418.2025 Indemnity subject to all provisions of the contract. Indemnities shall be subject to all provisions of the contract, including the right of the Corporation to deduct from any indemnity the unpaid amount of any earned premium or any other obligation of the insured to the Corporation: Provided, however, That in case of a transfer of an interest in an insured crop, the deduction to be made from an indemnity payable to the transferee shall not exceed the premium due on the acreage involved in the transfer, plus the unpaid amount of any other obligation of the transferee to the Corporation. Any indemnity payable to any person other than the original insured shall be subject to any collateral assignment of the contract by the original insured.

§ 418.2026 Collateral assignment of right under the contract. The right to an indemnity under a contract may be assigned by the original insured as collateral security for a loan or other obligation of such insured. Such assignment shall be made by the execution of a form entitled "Collateral Assignment," and, upon approval thereof by the Corporation, the interests of the assignee will be recognized if an indemnity is payable under the contract, to the extent of the amount determined to be the unpaid balance of the amount (including interest and other charges) for which such assignment was made as collateral security: Provided, however, That (a) payment of any indemnity will be subject to all conditions and provisions of the contract and to any deductions authorized under § 418.2025 and, (b), payment of the indemnity may be made by check payable jointly to all persons entitled thereto and such payment shall constitute a complete discharge of the Corporation's obligation with respect to any loss under the contract. The Corporation's approval of an assignment shall not create in the assignee any right other than that derived from the assignor: Provided, however, That the assignee may submit a "Statement in Proof of Loss" if the insured refuses to submit, or disappears without having submitted, such statement. The Corporation shall in no case be bound to accept notice of any assignment of the contract, and nothing contained in any assignment shall give any right against the Corporation to any person other than the insured, except to an assignee approved by the Corporation. Only one such assignment will be recognized in connection with the contract, but if an assignment is released, a new assignment may be made.

§ 418.2027 Payment to transferee. In the event of a transfer of all or a part of the insured interest in a wheat crop before the beginning of harvest or the time of loss, whichever occurs first, the transferor shall immediately notify the Corporation thereof in writing at the office of the county association, or other office specified by the Corporation. The transferee under such a transfer shall be entitled to the benefits of the contract with respect to the interest so transferred, subject to any assignment made by the original insured in accordance with § 418.2026: Provided, however, That the Corporation shall not be liable for a greater amount of indemnity in connection with the insured crop than would have been paid if the transfer had not taken place: Provided, further, That an involuntary transfer of an insured interest in a wheat crop solely because of the existence of a debt, lien, mortgage, garnishment, levy, execution, bankruptcy, or other process shall not entitle any holder of any such interest to any benefits under the contract. If, as a result of any such transfer, diverse interests appear with respect to any insurance unit, the indemnity, if any, payable with respect to such unit may be paid jointly to all persons having the insured interest in the crop at the time harvest is commenced or the time of loss, whichever occurs first, or to one of such persons on behalf of all such persons, and payment in any such manner shall constitute a complete discharge of the Corporation's liability with respect to such unit under the contract.

§ 418.2028 Death, incompetence, or disappearance of insured. (a) If the insured dies, is judicially declared incompetent, or disappears, before the time of loss, and his insured interest in the wheat crop is a part of his estate at such time, or if the insured dies, is judicially declared incompetent, or disappears subsequent to such time, the indemnity, if any, shall be paid to the legal representative of his estate, if one is appointed or is duly qualified. If no such representative is or will be qualified the indemnity shall be paid to the persons beneficially entitled to share in the insured interest in the crop or to any one or more of such persons on behalf of all such persons: Provided, however, That if the indemnity exceeds $500, the Corporation may withhold the payment of the indemnity until a legal representative of the insured's estate is duly qualified to receive such payment.

(b) If the insured dies, is judicially declared incompetent or disappears before the time of loss, and his interest in the crop is not a part of his estate at such time, the indemnity, if any, shall be paid to the person(s) who succeeded to his interest in the crop in the manner provided for in § 418.2027.

(c) If an applicant for insurance or the insured, as the case may be, dies or is judicially declared incompetent less than 15 days before the applicable calendar closing date for the filing of applications for insurance but before the beginning of seeding of the wheat crop intended to be covered by insurance, whoever succeeds him on this farm with the right to seed the wheat crop as his heir or heirs, administrator, executor, guardian, committee or conservator, shall be substituted for the original applicant upon filing at the office of the county association, or other office specified by the Corporation, within 15 days (unless such period is extended by the Corporation) after the date of such death or judicial declaration, or before the date of the beginning of seeding, whichever is earlier, a statement in writing in the form and manner prescribed by the Corporation, requesting such substitution and agreeing to assume the obligations of the original applicant or the insured arising out of such application or the contract. If no such statement is filed, as required by this paragraph, the original application or contract shall terminate immediately.

(d) The insured shall be deemed to have disappeared within the meaning of the regulations in this subpart if he fails to file with the Corporation, at the office of the county association, or other office specified by the Corporation, written notice of his new mailing address within 180 calendar days after any communication by or on behalf of the Corporation is returned undeliverable at the last known address of the insured.

§ 418.2029 Fiduciaries. Any indemnity payable under a contract entered into in the name of a fiduciary who is no longer acting in such capacity will be made to the succeeding fiduciary upon appropriate application and proof satisfactory to the Corporation of his incumbency. If there is no succeeding fiduciary, payment shall be made to the persons beneficially entitled to the insured interest in the crop to the extent of their respective interests, upon proper application and proof of the facts: Provided, however, That the settlement may be made with any one or more of the persons so entitled, and payment may be made to such person or persons in behalf of all the persons so entitled, whether or not the person to whom payment is made has been authorized by the other interested persons to receive such payment.

§ 418.2030 Determination of person to whom indemnity shall be paid. In any case where the insured has transferred his interest in all or a portion of the wheat crop on any insurance unit, or has ceased to act as a fiduciary, or has died, has been judicially declared incompetent or has disappeared, payment in accordance with the provisions of this subpart will be made only after the facts have been established to the satisfaction of the Corporation. The determination of the Corporation as to the existence or nonexistence of a circumstance in the event of which payment may be made and of the person(s) to whom such payment will be made shall be final and conclusive. Payment of any indemnity under this section shall constitute a complete discharge of the Corporation's obligation with respect to the loss for which such indemnity is paid and settled and shall be a bar to recovery by any other person.

REFUNDS OF EXCESS NOTE PAYMENTS

§ 418.2031 Refunds of excess note payments. The Corporation shall not be required to make a refund of any excess payment made on account of a note until the insured acreage of wheat has been determined for all insurance units covered by the contract.

There shall be no refund of an amount less than $1.00 unless written request for such refund is received by the Corporation within one year after the expiration of the contract.

§ 418.2032 Assignment or transfer of claims for refunds not permitted. No claims for a refund, or any part or share thereof, or any interest therein, shall be assignable or transferable, notwithstanding any assignment of the contract or any transfer of interest in any wheat crop covered by the contract. Refund of any excess note payment will be made only to the person who made such payment, except as provided in § 418.2033.

§ 418.2033 Refunds in case of death, incompetence, or disappearance. In any case where a person who is entitled to a refund of a payment has died, has been judicially declared incompetent, or has disappeared, the provisions of § 418.2028 with reference to the payment of indemnities in any such case shall be applicable with respect to the making of any such refund.

ESTABLISHMENT OF COVERAGES PER ACRE AND PREMIUM RATES

§ 418.2034 Establishment of coverages per acre. The Corporation shall establish coverages per acre in dollars, for use as set forth in § 418.2010 (a). Such coverages shall not exceed the average investment per acre in the crop in the area, as determined by the Corporation, taking into consideration recognized farming practices.

§ 418.2035 Establishment of premium rates. The Corporation shall establish premium rates in dollars for all insurance units or parts thereof (except acreage which is designated on the 1948 crop insurance map as non-insurable) for which coverages per acre are established and such rates shall be those deemed adequate to cover claims for 1948 wheat crop losses and to provide a reasonable reserve against unforeseen losses.

GENERAL

§ 418.2036 Records and access to farm. For the purpose of enabling the Corporation to determine the loss, if any, that may have occurred under the contract, the insured shall keep, or cause to be kept, for one year after the time of loss, records of the harvesting, storage, shipment, sale, or other disposition, of all wheat produced on each insurance unit covered by the contract and on the non-insurable acreage in the county in which he has an interest. Such records shall be made available for examination by the Corporation, and as often as may reasonably be required, any person or persons designated by the Corporation shall have access to the farm(s).

§ 418.2037 Review of recommendations of crop insurance advisory committees. Any recommendation by a crop insurance advisory committee shall be subject to review and approval or revision by duly authorized representatives of the Corporation.

§ 418.2038 Applicant's warranties; voidance for fraud. In applying for insurance the applicant warrants that the information, data and representations submitted by him in connection with the contract are true and correct, and are made by him, or by his authority, and shall be taken as his act. The contract may be voided and the premium forfeited to the Corporation without the Corporation's waiving any right or remedy, including its right to collect the amount of the note executed by the insured, whether before or after maturity, if at any time the insured has concealed any material fact or made any false or fraudulent statements relating to the contract, the subject thereof, or his interest in the wheat crop covered thereby, or if the insured shall neglect to use all reasonable means to produce, care for or save the wheat crop covered thereby, whether before or after damage has occurred, or if the insured fails to give any notice, or otherwise fails to comply with the terms of the contract, including the note, at the time and in the manner prescribed.

§ 418.2039 Modification of the contract. No notice to any representative of the Corporation or the knowledge possessed by any such representative or by any other person shall be held to effect a waiver of or change in any part of the contract or to estop the Corporation from asserting any right or power under such contract; nor shall the terms of such contract be waived or changed except as authorized in writing by a duly authorized officer of the Corporation; nor shall any provision or condition of the contract or any forfeiture be held to be waived by any delay or omission by the Corporation in exercising its rights and powers thereunder or by any requirement, act, or proceeding, on the part of the Corporation or of its representatives, relating to appraisal or to any examination herein provided for.

§ 418.2040 Fractional units. Fractions of amounts of insurance and premiums shall be rounded to the nearest cent. Fractions of acres shall be rounded to the nearest tenth of an acre. Computations shall be carried to one digit beyond the digit that is to be rounded. If the extra digit computed is 1, 2, 3, or 4, the rounding shall be downward. If the extra digit computed is 5, 6, 7, 8, or 9, the rounding shall be upward.

§ 418.2041 Closing dates—(a) For winter wheat. The closing dates for submission of applications to cover the winter wheat crop shall be the earlier of (1) the date of the beginning of seeding of the wheat crop on any insurance unit to be covered by the contract, or (2) the applicable calendar date below:

August 30, 1947, for Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Texas.

(b) For spring wheat. The closing dates for submission of applications to cover the spring wheat crop shall be the earlier of (1) the date of the beginning of seeding of the wheat crop on any insurance unit to be covered by the contract, or (2) the applicable calendar date below:

March 13, 1948, for all States.

§ 418.2042 Maturity dates for payment of annual premiums. The maturity dates by States for the payment of annual premiums shall be as follows:

June 30 for Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas.
July 31 for Colorado and Nebraska.

§ 418.2043 Meaning of terms. For the purpose of the wheat crop insurance program under this subpart the term:

(a) "Continuous cropping" means following any farming practice other than summer fallow on dry land wheat acreage.

(b) "Contract" means the contract of insurance entered into between the applicant and the Corporation by virtue of the application for insurance and the regulations in this subpart and any amendments thereto.

(c) "Corporation" means the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

(d) "County association" means the county agricultural conservation association in the county.

(e) "Crop insurance advisory committee" means the committee designated by the Corporation to make recommendations in an advisory capacity relative to the crop insurance program.

(f) "Crop insurance map" means the form (including the actuarial tables and related forms) prescribed by the Corporation for identifying land by areas for coverage and premium rate purposes and for identifying non-insurable land. The crop insurance map when approved by the Corporation is on file in the office of the county association, or other office specified by the Corporation, and may be inspected by any producer whose land is included thereon.

(g) "Crop year" means the period within which the wheat crop is seeded and normally harvested, and shall be designated by reference to the calendar year in which the crop is normally harvested.

(h) "Farm" means all adjacent or nearby farm land under the same ownership which is operated by one person, including also: (1) any other adjacent or nearby farm land which the county committee determines is operated by the same person as part of the same unit with respect to the rotation of crops and with workstock, farm machinery, and labor substantially separate from that for any other land; and (2) any field-rented tract (whether operated by the same or another person) which, together with any other land included in the farm constitutes a unit with respect to the rotation of crops: Provided, however, That where the county line divides a farm, any part of the farm which is included on the crop insurance map for a county shall be considered as one farm and any remainder shall be considered as another farm.

In counties where a crop insurance map is used any land which is not included on the crop insurance map will be considered to be located in the adjoining county.

(i) "Harvest" means any mechanical severance from the land of matured wheat for threshing, where the wheat crop has not been destroyed or substantially destroyed.

(j) "Insurance unit" means all farm land considered for crop insurance purposes to be located in the county, which is under the same ownership and which is operated by one person, in which the insured has an interest as a wheat producer at the time of seeding: Provided, however, That in the case of land rented for cash or a fixed commodity payment, the lessee shall be considered as the owner: Provided, further, That all or any part of such land which is designated on the county crop insurance map as "non-insurable" shall not constitute an insurance unit or any part thereof and shall not be considered in any manner whatsoever under the insurance contract, except as provided in §§ 418.2019 (b) and 418.2036.

(k) "Person" means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate or trust, or other business enterprise or other legal entity and, wherever applicable, a state, a political subdivision of a state, or any agency thereof.

(l) "Premium rate" means the premium rate per acre established by the Corporation as shown on the 1948 table of area coverages and premium rates.

(m) "Regularly tilled acreage" means all cropland which is included in the regular crop rotation but does not include any portion of eroded wasteland, abandoned submarginal cropland, woodland, forest or virgin native pasture land which has been seeded to wheat without approval of the Corporation.

(n) "State director" means the representative of the Corporation in the operation of the crop insurance program in the state.

(o) "Substitute crop" means any crop, except lespedeza, biennial and perennial legumes and perennial grasses, planted on released acreage before harvest of wheat becomes general in the county, as determined by the Corporation. Biennial and perennial legumes and perennial grasses seeded with the wheat or in the growing wheat crop shall not be considered a substitute crop. If other small grains are seeded in the growing wheat crop on released acreage, the crop of mixed wheat and other grains shall be considered a substitute crop.

(p) "Summer fallow" means the practice of seeding land to a crop in alternate years under a practice which requires that the seedbed be worked periodically during the growing season of the idle year with such implements as will sufficiently control weeds, create a good seedbed and conserve moisture.

(q) "Table of area coverages and premium rates" means the form prescribed by the Corporation for listing the coverage per acre and the premium rate per acre applicable for each area identified on the crop insurance map.

(r) "Tenant" means a person who rents land from another person for a share of the wheat crop or proceeds therefrom produced on such land.

(s) "Unmerchantable production" means any wheat produced which cannot be sold for milling or feeding purposes, as determined by the Corporation.

NOTE: The record keeping requirements of the regulations in this subpart have been approved by, and subsequent reporting requirements will be subject to the approval of, the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

TITLE 8—ALIENS AND NATIONALITY

Chapter I—Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice

Subchapter A—Administrative Organization

PART 1—GENERAL INFORMATION REGARDING IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE

ORGANIZATION OF THE IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE

AUGUST 7, 1947.

Part 1, Chapter I, Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations is amended by amending §§ 1.14, 1.15, 1.16, 1.18, and 1.19 as follows and by revoking § 1.20.

§ 1.14 Central office: The Deputy Commissioner. The Deputy Commissioner generally in the performance of the duties of his office and, under the latter's direction, is responsible for the administrative functions of the Service.

§ 1.15 Central office: The Assistant Commissioner for Adjudications; Chief, Exclusion and Expulsion Section. (a) Under the direction of the Commissioner, the Assistant Commissioner for Adjudications considers, and determines or recommends the determination in, numerous types of quasijudicial cases handled by the Service.

(1) The Chief of the Exclusion and Expulsion Section aids the Assistant Commissioner for Adjudications in his consideration of and action in, among others, those cases involving the admission, exclusion and deportation, or arrest and deportation of aliens.

§ 1.16 Control office: The Assistant Commissioner for Alien Control. Under the direction of the Commissioner, the Assistant Commissioner for Alien Control supervises and directs that part of the work of the service relating to the investigative and enforcement functions of field officers, the guarding of the boundaries of the United States, the detention of aliens, and the execution of warrants of deportation.

§ 1.18 Control office: The Assistant Commissioner for Research and Education. Under the direction of the Commissioner, the Assistant Commissioner for Research and Education supervises and directs that part of the work of the Service relating to the citizenship education program provided by section 327 (c) of the Nationality Act of 1940 (54 Stat. 1151; 8 U. TITLE 10—ARMY: WAR DEPARTMENT

Chapter VII—Personnel

PART 703—APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONED OFFICERS, WARRANT OFFICERS, FLIGHT OFFICERS, AND CHAPLAINS

WARRANT OFFICERS

Part 703, Chapter VII, Title 10, Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

1. Add the following subject matter to paragraph (a) of § 703.301 as indicated below:

§ 703.301 Classification. (a) Warrant officers will be examined and appointed in warrant-officer classifications indicated in the following table:

Warrant officer classification		Military occupational specialty
No.	Title	SSN	Title
•	• • •	•	•
39	(Not used.)
40	(Not used—applicable to temporary warrant officers only.)
41	Technical specialist—submarine mine casemate engineering.	7605	Submarine mine casemate engineer.

2. Rescind § 703.303 and substitute the following therefor:

§ 703.303 Appointments. (a) Successful applicants will be reported by commanding generals of service commands to the War Department. From a consolidated report, arranged by classifications and examination scores in both educational and technical tests, the War Department will prepare eligible lists. The scores of both tests will be converted into percentile scores (percentage of cases up to and including a score), and the average of these two percentiles will be the composite score that will determine the order of eligibility within each classification. Appointment will be tendered to successful applicants in such numbers as may be required to fill existing vacancies. An additional number of successful applicants necessary to cover possible vacancies will be carried on eligible lists for appointment until the next succeeding examination for appointment is held. All original permanent appointments as warrant officer, junior grade, will be probationary for a period of 3 years. See § 703.313.

(b) If a successful applicant is serving on active duty as a commissioned officer or chief warrant officer in the Army of the United States and is under age 45 at the time his name is reached on the eligible for appointment as a warrant officer, junior grade, to fill an existing vacancy, such applicant, if found physically qualified at that time, will be tendered a selection letter advising him of his selection for appointment upon honorable termination of active duty. The recipient of a selection letter whose active service as a commissioned officer or chief warrant officer terminates honorably and who applies for such appointment within 6 months after the termination of his active service will, irrespective of physical disqualification incurred or having its inception while on active duty in line of duty, be given such appointment if a vacancy within the authorized allotment of warrant officers, junior grade, Regular Army, exists at the time he applies for such appointment. To insure the existence of such vacancies, a vacancy will be reserved for the recipient of each selection letter until he applies for such appointment or notifies The Adjutant General of his intention not to enter such application, but not longer than 6 months after the termination of his active service. The date of rank upon appointment is the date of the selection letter, except that if an applicant reaches his 45th birthday after his name has been reached on the eligible list, to fill an existing vacancy, but before completion of the administrative procedures incident to issuance of a selection letter, he will, if physically qualified, be tendered a selection letter specifying the date of rank as the day preceding his 45th birthday.

3. Rescind § 703.304 and substitute the following therefor:

§ 703.304 Age. All applicants must have attained their 21st birthday and must not have passed their 45th birthday at the time of their appointment, except that applicants holding selection letters under the provisions of § 703.303 (b), and who pass their 45th birthday subsequent to the effective date of their selection letters, may be appointed. If in active military service, applicants may be permitted to apply for appointment provided they are not less than 20 years and 9 months nor more than 44 years and 9 months of age on the date of final examination.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Civil Air Regs. Amdt. 60-0]

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 8th day of August 1947.

Experience with existing air traffic rules since the last revision on August 1, 1945, indicates that certain modifications and clarification are necessary in the interest of safety and, further, that air traffic rules should be promulgated to provide for increasing helicopter operations, for the operation of aircraft on the surface of the water, and for certain essential minimums for instrument flight.

On October 1, 1946, the Safety Bureau of the Board circulated to the aviation industry for comment Draft Release No. 46-5, Proposed Revision of Part 60, Air Traffic Rules. Comments received concerning that draft release were carefully considered and, on May 27, 1947, a revision of the proposed regulations was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The purpose of this part is to provide certain modifications and clarification of air traffic rules in the interest of safety, to provide appropriate regulations to govern the operation of helicopters, to govern the operation of aircraft on the surface of the water, and to provide for certain essential minimums for instrument flight.

AUTHORITY: §§ 60.0 to 60.929, inclusive, issued under 52 Stat. 984, 1007; 49 U. S. C. 425, 551.

NOTE: The statements contained in the notes are intended as explanation only and shall not be construed as official interpretations of the regulations.

§ 60.00 Scope. The following air traffic rules shall apply to aircraft operated anywhere in the United States, including the several States, the District of Columbia, and the several Territories and possessions of the United States, including the Territorial waters and the overlying airspace thereof, except:

(a) Military aircraft of the United States armed forces when appropriate military authority determines that noncompliance with this part is required and prior notice thereof is given to the Administrator, and

(b) Aircraft engaged in special flight operations, requiring deviation from this part, which are conducted in accordance with the terms and conditions of a certificate of waiver issued by the Administrator.

NOTE: Specific operations which cannot be conducted within the provisions of the regulations in this part, such as air races, air meets, acrobatic flights, or certain pest control or seeding operations require, prior to commencement of the operation, a certificate of waiver which may be obtained from the nearest office of CAA.

§ 60.01 Authority of the pilot. The pilot in command of the aircraft shall be directly responsible for its operation and shall have final authority as to operation of the aircraft. In emergency situations which require immediate decision and action the pilot may deviate from the rules prescribed in this part to the extent required by consideration of safety. When such emergency authority is exercised, the pilot, upon request of the Administrator, shall file a written report of such deviation. In an emergency situation which results in no deviation from the rules prescribed in this part but which requires air traffic control to give priority to an aircraft, the pilot of such aircraft shall make a report within 48 hours of such emergency situation to the nearest regional office of the Administrator.

§ 60.100 Application. Aircraft shall be operated at all times in compliance with the following general flight rules and also in compliance with either the visual flight rules or the instrument flight rules, whichever are applicable.

§ 60.101 Preflight action. Before beginning a flight, the pilot in command of the aircraft shall familiarize himself with all available information appropriate to the intended operation. Preflight action for flights away from the vicinity of an airport, and for all IFR flights, shall include a careful study of available current weather reports and forecasts, taking into consideration fuel requirements, an alternate course of action if the flight cannot be completed as planned, and also any known traffic delays of which he has been advised by air traffic control.

§ 60.102 Careless or reckless operation. No person shall operate an aircraft in a careless or reckless manner so as to endanger the life or property of others.

NOTE: Examples of aircraft operation which may endanger the lives or property of others are:

(a) Any person who "buzzes", dives on, or flies in close proximity to a farm, home, any structure, vehicle, vessel, or group of persons on the ground. In rural districts the flight of aircraft at low altitude often causes injury to livestock. A pilot who engages in careless or reckless flying and who does not own the aircraft which he is flying unduly endangers the aircraft, the property of another.

(b) The operation of aircraft at an insufficient altitude endangers persons or property on the surface or passengers within the aircraft. Such a flight may also constitute a violation of § 60.107.

(c) Lack of vigilance by the pilot to observe and avoid other air traffic. In this respect, the pilot must clear his position prior to starting any maneuver, either on the ground or in flight.

(d) Passing other aircraft too closely.

(e) An operation conducted above a cloud layer in accordance with VFR minimums which results in the pilot becoming involved in instrument flight, unless the pilot possesses a valid instrument rating, the aircraft is properly equipped for instrument flight, and all IFR requirements are observed.

§ 60.103 Airspace restricted areas. The Administrator may designate as a danger area an area within which he has determined that an invisible hazard to aircraft in flight exists. No person shall operate an aircraft within an airspace reservation or danger area unless permission for such operation has been issued by appropriate authority.

NOTE: Airspace restricted areas are established in order to conduct certain essential activities which might endanger air traffic passing over or near the location thereof. Airspace restricted areas are shown on aeronautical charts and in publications of aids to air navigation. Avoidance of such areas is imperative to the safety of flight unless prior permission for flight through the area has been secured from the agency having jurisdiction over the airspace reservation or danger area.

§ 60.104 Right-of-way. An aircraft which is obliged by the following rules to keep out of the way of another shall avoid passing over or under the other, or crossing ahead of it, unless passing well clear;

NOTE: Right-of-way rules do not apply when, for reasons beyond the pilot's control, aircraft cannot be seen due to restrictions of visibility. The aircraft which has the right-of-way will normally maintain its course and speed, but nothing in this part relieves the pilot from the responsibility for taking such action as will best aid to avert collision.

(a) Distress. An aircraft in distress has the right-of-way over all other air traffic;

(b) Converging. Aircraft converging shall give way to other aircraft of a different category in the following order: airplanes and rotorcraft shall give way to airships, gliders, and balloons; airships shall give way to gliders and balloons; gliders shall give way to balloons. When two or more aircraft of the same category are converging at approximately the same altitude, each aircraft shall give way to the other which is on its right. In any event, mechanically driven aircraft shall give way to aircraft which are seen to be towing other aircraft;

NOTE: In effect, an aircraft will give way to another of a different class which is less maneuverable and is unable to take as effective action to avoid collision. For this reason aircraft towing others are given the right-of-way.

(c) Approaching head-on. When two aircraft are approaching head-on, or approximately so, each shall alter its course to the right;

(d) Overtaking. An aircraft that is being overtaken has the right-of-way, and the overtaking aircraft, whether climbing, descending, or in horizontal flight, shall keep out of the way of the other aircraft by altering its course to the right, and no subsequent change in the relative positions of the two aircraft shall absolve the overtaking aircraft from this obligation until it is entirely past and clear;

NOTE: Passing an overtaken aircraft on the right is required because the pilot in side-by-side, dual-control aircraft is seated on the left and has a better view on that side. Further, in narrow traffic lanes, passing on the left of an overtaken aircraft would place the overtaking aircraft in the path of the oncoming traffic.

(e) Landing. Aircraft, while on final approach to land, or while landing, have the right-of-way over other aircraft in flight or operating on the surface. When two or more aircraft are approaching an airport for the purpose of landing, the aircraft at the lower altitude has the right-of-way, but it shall not take advantage of this rule to cut in in front of another which is on final approach to land, or to overtake that aircraft.

NOTE: Pilots must recognize that once committed to a landing in certain aircraft the pilot has little chance to avoid other aircraft which may interfere with that landing and, therefore, careful observance of this rule is important to the safety of all concerned.

§ 60.105 Proximity of aircraft. No person shall operate an aircraft in such proximity to other aircraft as to create a collision hazard. No person shall operate an aircraft in formation flight when passengers are carried for hire. No aircraft shall be operated in formation flight except by prearrangement between the pilots in command of such aircraft.

§ 60.106 Acrobatic flight. No person shall engage in acrobatic flight:

(a) Over congested areas of cities, towns, settlements, or over an open-air assembly of persons, or

(b) Within any civil airway or control zone, or

(c) When the flight visibility is less than 3 miles, or

(d) Below an altitude of 1,500 feet above the surface.

NOTE: Acrobatic maneuvers performed over a congested area or an open assembly of persons, or in areas where considerable air traffic exists, creates an undue hazard to persons or property. Flight visibility of at least 3 miles is believed to be a prerequisite to acrobatic flight in order that the pilot, after scanning the entire vicinity, may be reasonably assured that no other aircraft is within dangerous proximity prior to performing such maneuvers.

§60.107 Minimum safe altitudes. Except when necessary for take-off or landing, no person shall operate an aircraft below the following altitudes:

(a) Anywhere. An altitude which will permit, in the event of the failure of a power unit, an emergency landing without undue hazard to persons or property on the surface;

(b) Over congested areas. Over the congested areas of cities, towns or settlements, or over an open-air assembly of persons, an altitude of 1,000 feet above the highest obstacle within a horizontal radius of 2,000 feet from the aircraft. Helicopters may be flown at less than the minimum prescribed herein if such operations are conducted without hazard to persons or property on the surface and in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section; however, the Administrator, in the interest of safety, may prescribe specific routes and altitudes for such operations, in which event, helicopters shall conform thereto;

NOTE: The rule recognizes the special flight characteristics of the helicopter which can accomplish an emergency landing within a relatively small space. However, if a helicopter is flown over the congested area of a city, town or settlement, at less than 1,000 feet above the highest obstacle, the pilot is required to fly with due regard to places in which an emergency landing can be made with safety and, further, to maintain an altitude along the flight path thus selected from which such an emergency landing can be effected at any time.

(c) Over other than congested areas. An altitude of 500 feet above the surface, except over open water or sparsely populated areas. In such event, the aircraft shall not be operated closer than 500 feet to any person, vessel, vehicle, or structure. Helicopters may be flown at less than the minimums prescribed herein if such operations are conducted without hazard to persons or property on the surface and in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section.

NOTE: When flight is necessary at an altitude of less than 500 feet above the surface, the pilot must avoid creating any hazard to persons or property on the surface which may result from such flight. In no event should the pilot expose his passengers to unnecessary hazard while engaging in flight at low altitude. The maneuverability of the helicopter permits safe flight below the minimums required above, provided good judgment and caution are exercised by the pilot.

(d) IFR operations. The minimum IFR altitude established by the Administrator for that portion of the route over which the operation is conducted. Where the Administrator has not established such a minimum, operations shall be conducted at not less than 1,000 feet above the highest obstacle within a horizontal radius of 5 miles from the aircraft.

NOTE: When minimum altitudes are established by the Administrator for particular routes, such altitudes will be published in the CAA Flight Information Manual, for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 60.108 Operation on and in the vicinity of an airport. Aircraft shall be operated on and in the vicinity of an airport in accordance with the following rules:

(a) When approaching for landing, all turns shall be made to the left unless the airport displays standard visual markings approved by the Administrator and which indicate that all turns are to be made to the right, or unless otherwise authorized by air traffic control;

NOTE: Where right-hand turns and clockwise flow of traffic are desirable in the interest of safety, airport markings visible from the air will inform the transient pilot of the necessity for making turns to the right.

(b) If air traffic control is in operation at the airport, contact shall be maintained with such control, either visually or by radio, to receive any air traffic control instructions which may be issued;

(c) Aircraft operating from an airport shall conform to the traffic patterns prescribed for that airport;

(d) The Administrator may, when necessary in the interest of safety, prescribe traffic patterns for an airport which shall supersede any other traffic patterns previously prescribed;

(e) When light signals are used for the control of air traffic, they shall be of the color and have the meaning prescribed by the Administrator.

NOTE: Light signals and their meanings are published in the CAA Flight Information Manual, for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 60.109 Air traffic control instructions. No person shall operate an aircraft contrary to air traffic control instructions in areas where air traffic control is exercised.

§ 60.110 Notification of arrival. If a flight plan has been filed, the pilot in command of the aircraft, upon landing or completion of the flight, shall file an arrival or completion notice with the nearest Civil Aeronautics Administration communications station or control tower.

§ 60.111 Adherence to air traffic clearances. When an air traffic clearance has been obtained under either the VFR or IFR rules, the pilot in command of the aircraft shall not deviate from the provisions thereof unless an amended clearance is obtained. In case emergency authority is used to deviate from the provision of an air traffic clearance, the pilot in command shall notify air traffic control as soon as possible and, if necessary, obtain an amended clearance. However, nothing in this section shall prevent a pilot, operating on an IFR traffic clearance, from notifying air traffic control that he is cancelling his IFR flight plan and proceeding under VFR: Provided, That he is operating in VFR weather conditions when he takes such action.

§ 60.112 Water operations. An aircraft operated on the water shall, in so far as possible, keep clear of all vessels and avoid impeding their navigation. The following rules shall be observed with respect to other aircraft or vessels operated on the water:

(a) Crossing. The aircraft or vessel which has the other on its right shall give way so as to keep well clear;

(b) Approaching head-on. When aircraft, or an aircraft and vessel, approach head-on, or approximately so, each shall alter its course to the right to keep well clear;

(c) Overtaking. The aircraft or vessel which is being overtaken has the right-of-way, and the one overtaking shall alter its course to keep well clear;

(d) Special circumstances. When two aircraft, or an aircraft and vessel, approach so as to involve risk of collision, each shall proceed with careful regard to existing circumstances and conditions including the limitations of the respective craft.

NOTE: The rules for operating aircraft on the surface of the water conform to marine rules for the operation of vessels. The "Special circumstances" rule is provided for situations wherein it may be impracticable or hazardous for a vessel or another aircraft to bear to the right because of depth of a waterway, wind conditions, or other circumstances.

§ 60.113 Aircraft lights. Aircraft shall display lights in accordance with the following rules:

(a) During hours of darkness all aircraft in flight or operated on the ground shall display position lights;

(b) During the hours of darkness all aircraft parked or moved within or in dangerous proximity to that portion of any airport used for, or available to, night flight operations shall be clearly illuminated or lighted, unless the aircraft is parked or moved in an area marked with obstruction lights;

(c) Between the hours of sunset and sunrise all aircraft under way on the water shall display position lights;

(d) Between the hours of sunset and sunrise all aircraft at anchor shall display an anchor light, or anchor lights, unless in an area within which lights are not required for vessels at anchor.

NOTE: Aircraft must display appropriate lights on the surface of the water between the hours of sunset and sunrise in order to conform to marine rules.

§ 60.2 Visual flight rules (VFR).

§ 60.200 Distance from clouds. Aircraft shall be flown:

(a) Within control zones. Not less than 500 feet vertically and 2,000 feet horizontally from any cloud formation, unless air traffic control has authorized flight clear of clouds; and

(b) Elsewhere. At any altitude more than 700 feet above the surface, not less than 500 feet vertically and 2,000 feet horizontally from any cloud formation; at an altitude of 700 feet or less above the surface, clear of clouds.

NOTE: See Exhibit A.

§ 60.201 Visibility—(a) Ground visibility within control zones. When the ground visibility is less than 3 miles, no person shall take-off or land an aircraft at an airport within a control zone, or enter the traffic pattern of such an airport, unless an air traffic clearance is obtained from air traffic control;

(b) Flight visibility within control zones. When the flight visibility is less than 3 miles, no person shall operate an aircraft in flight within a control zone, unless an air traffic clearance is obtained from air traffic control;

(c) Flight visibility within control areas. When the flight visibility is less than 3 miles, no person shall operate an aircraft within a control area;

NOTE: When the flight visibility is less than 3 miles, operations within control areas are to be conducted in accordance with instrument flight rules. Flight below 700 feet above the surface is not within a control area. See definition of control area.

(d) Flight visibility elsewhere. When outside of control zones and control areas, no person shall operate an aircraft in flight when the flight visibility is less than one mile. However, helicopters may be flown at or below 700 feet above the surface when the flight visibility is less than one mile if operated at a reduced speed which will give the pilot of such helicopter adequate opportunity to see other air traffic or any obstruction in time to avoid hazard of collision.

NOTE: See Exhibit A. When traffic conditions permit, air traffic control will issue an air traffic clearance for flights within, entering, or departing control zones when ground visibility or the flight visibility is less than 3 miles. The operator of any airport within a control zone, other than the airport upon which the control zone is centered, may secure continuing permission from air traffic control to conduct operations when the visibility is less than 3 miles: Provided, That such operations, at all times, remain 2,000 feet horizontally and 500 feet vertically from clouds, and traffic patterns are established and observed which avoid conflict with other operations. When outside of control zones and at an altitude of less than 700 feet above the surface, helicopters are permitted to fly when the flight visibility is less than one mile because of their special flight characteristics which allow them to proceed at low speed with safety.

§ 60.202 Cruising altitudes. When an aircraft is operated in level cruising flight at 3,000 feet or more above the surface, the following cruising altitudes shall be observed:

(a) Within control zones and control areas. At an odd or even thousand-foot altitude appropriate to the direction of flight as specified by the Administrator;

(b) Elsewhere. When the flight visibility is less than 3 miles, at an altitude appropriate to the magnetic course being flown as follows:

(1) 0° to 89° inclusive, at odd thousands (3,000; 5,000; etc.)

(2) 90° to 179° inclusive, at odd thousands plus 500 (3,500; 5,500; etc.).

(3) 180° to 269° inclusive, at even thousands (4,000; 6,000; etc.).

(4) 270° to 359° inclusive, at even thousands plus 500 (4,500; 6,500; etc.).

NOTE: "Odd and even" thousand-foot altitudes specified by the Administrator for civil airways will be published in the CAA Flight Information Manual, for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. See Exhibit B for "quadrantal altitudes" in relation to magnetic course. In view of increasing air traffic and the broad range of speed of aircraft, safety requires observance of the above cruising altitudes.

§ 60.203 VFR flight plan. If a VFR flight plan is filed, it shall contain such of the information listed in § 60.301 as air traffic control may require.

NOTE: Although flight plans are not required for VFR flight, air traffic control will accept such flight plans when desired by the pilot. Flights proceeding over sparsely populated areas or mountainous terrain may thus take advantage of any search and rescue facilities which may be available in emergencies. The information contained in such a flight plan is of importance to search and rescue operations.

§ 60.3 Instrument flight rules (IFR).

§ 60.300 Application. When aircraft are not flown in accordance with the distance-from-cloud and visibility rules prescribed in the visual flight rules, (§ 60.2), aircraft shall be flown in accordance with the following rules.

§ 60.301 IFR flight plan. Prior to take-off from a point within a control zone or prior to entering a control area or control zone, a flight plan shall be filed with air traffic control. Such flight plan shall contain the following information unless otherwise authorized by air traffic control:

(a) Aircraft identification, and if necessary, radio call sign;

(b) Type of aircraft; or, in the case of a formation flight, the types and number of aircraft involved;

(c) Full name, address, and number of pilot certificate of pilot in command of the aircraft, or of the flight commander if a formation flight is involved;

(d) Point of departure;

(e) Cruising altitude, or altitudes, and the route to be followed;

(f) Point of first intended landing;

(g) Proposed true air speed at cruising altitude in miles per hour;

(h) Radio transmitting and receiving frequencies to be used;

(i) Proposed time of departure;

(j) Estimated elapsed time until arrival over the point of first intended landing;

(k) Alternate airport or airports, in accordance with the requirements of § 60.302;

(l) Amount of fuel on board expressed in hours;

(m) Any other information which the pilot in command of the aircraft, or air traffic control, deems necessary for air traffic control purposes.

§ 60.302 Alternate airport. An airport shall not be listed in the flight plan as an alternate airport unless current weather reports and forecasts show a trend indicating that the ceiling and visibility at such airport will be at or above the following minimums at the time of arrival:

(a) Airport served by radio directional facility. Ceiling 1,000 feet, visibility one mile; or, ceiling 900 feet, visibility 1½ miles; or, ceiling 800 feet, visibility 2 miles;

(b) Airport not served by radio directional facility. Ceiling 1,000 feet with broken clouds or better, visibility 2 miles;

(c) Minimums at individual airports. The Administrator may, in the interest of safety, prescribe higher ceiling and visibility minimums at individual airports than required by paragraph (a) or (b) of this section; and for individual operations at particular airports, may specify lower minimums if he shall find that such reduced minimums will not decrease safety.

NOTE: The minimums set forth above are required for clearance prior to take-off and are not intended to limit use of any alternate airport if weather conditions change while en route, in which event the landing minimums published in the CAA Flight Information Manual shall apply. Minimums for particular airports which may be prescribed by the Administrator will be published in the CAA Fight Information Manual, for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 60.303 Air traffic clearance. Prior to take-off from a point within a control zone or prior to entering a control area or control zone, an air traffic clearance shall be obtained from air traffic control.

§ 60.304 Cruising altitudes. Aircraft shall be flown at the following cruising altitudes:

(a) Within control areas and control zones. At altitudes authorized by air traffic control;

(b) Elsewhere. At an altitude appropriate to the magnetic course being flown as follows:

(1) 0° to 89° inclusive, at odd thousands (1,000; 3,000; etc.).

(2) 90° to 179° inclusive, at odd thousands plus 500 (1,500; 3,500; etc).

(3) 180° to 269° inclusive, at even thousands (2,000; 4,000; etc.).

(4) 270° to 359° inclusive, at even thousands plus 500 (2,500; 4,500; etc.).

NOTE: For "quadrantal altitudes" in relation to magnetic course see Exhibit B. The above cruising altitudes are not in conflict with those required for flight under VFR rules.

§ 60.305 Right-side traffic. Aircraft operating along a civil airway shall be flown to the right of the center line of such airway, unless otherwise authorized by air traffic control.

§ 60.306 Instrument approach procedure. When instrument letdown to an airport is necessary, a standard instrument approach procedure prescribed for that airport by the Administrator shall be used, unless:

(a) A different instrument approach procedure specifically authorized by the Administrator is used, or

(b) A different instrument approach procedure is authorized by air traffic control for the particular approach, provided such authorization is issued in accordance with procedures approved by the Administrator.

NOTE: Standard instrument approach procedures prescribed by the Administrator are published in the CAA Flight Information Manual, for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. Such procedures have been carefully investigated with respect to pattern and terrain clearance. Safety would not permit several aircraft to make simultaneous use of more than one instrument approach procedure unless such operations were controlled.

§ 60.307 Radio communications. Within control zones and control areas the pilot in command of the aircraft shall ensure that a continuous watch is maintained on the appropriate radio frequencies and shall report by radio as soon as possible the time and altitude of passing each designated reporting point, or the reporting points specified by air traffic control, together with weather conditions which have not been forecast, and other information pertinent to the safety of flight.

NOTE: Designated reporting points are noted in publications of aids to air navigation. Control of air traffic is predicated on knowledge of the position of aircraft in flight. The reporting of unanticipated weather encountered en route such as icing or extreme turbulence may be of importance to the safety of other aircraft anticipating flight within the area.

§ 60.308 Radio failure. If unable to maintain two-way radio communications, the pilot in command of the aircraft shall:

(a) If operating under VFR conditions, proceed under VFR and land as soon as practicable, or

(b) Proceed according to the latest air traffic clearance to the radio facility serving the airport of intended landing, maintaining the minimum safe altitude or the last acknowledged assigned altitude, whichever is higher. Descent shall start at approach time last authorized or, if not received and acknowledged, at the estimated time of arrival indicated by the elapsed time specified in the flight plan.

NOTE: Detailed procedures to be followed by the pilot are contained in the CAA Flight Information Manual, for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 60.9 Definitions.

§ 60.900 Acrobatic flight. Maneuvers intentionally performed by an aircraft involving an abrupt change in its attitude, an abnormal attitude, or an abnormal acceleration.

NOTE: The term "acrobatic flight" is not intended to include turns or maneuvers necessary to normal flight.

§ 60.901 Aircraft. Any contrivance used or designed for navigation of or flight in the air, except a parachute or other contrivance designed for such navigation but used primarily as safety equipment.

§ 60.902 Airplane. A mechanically propelled aircraft the support of which in flight is derived dynamically from the reaction on surfaces in a fixed position relative to the aircraft but in motion relative to the air.

(a) Airspace reservation. An area established by Executive Order of the President of the United States or by any State of the United States.

(b) Danger area. An area designated by the Administrator within which an invisible hazard to aircraft in flight exists.

§ 60.906 Air traffic. Aircraft in operation anywhere in the airspace and on that area of an airport normally used for the movement of aircraft.

§ 60.908 Air traffic control. A service operated by appropriate authority to promote the safe, orderly, and expeditious flow of air traffic.

§ 60.909 Alternate airport. An airport specified in the flight plan to which a flight may proceed when a landing at the point of first intended landing becomes inadvisable.

§ 60.910 Approach time. The time at which an aircraft is expected to commence its approach procedure preparatory to landing.

§ 60.911 Balloon. An aircraft, excluding moored balloons, without mechanical means of propulsion, the support of which is derived from lighter-than-air gas.

§ 60.913 Control area. An airspace of defined dimensions, designated by the Administrator, extending upwards from an altitude of 700 feet above the surface, within which air traffic control is exercised.

§ 60.914 Control zone. An airspace of defined dimensions, designated by the Administrator, extending upwards from the surface, to include one or more airports, and within which rules additional to those governing flight in control areas apply for the protection of air traffic.

§ 60.915 Cruising altitude. A constant altimeter indication, in relation to sea level, maintained during a flight or portion thereof.

§ 60.916 Flight plan. Specified information filed either verbally or in writing with air traffic control relative to the intended flight of an aircraft.

§ 60.917 Flight visibility. The average horizontal distance that prominent objects may be seen from the cockpit.

§ 60.918 Glider. An aircraft without mechanical means of propulsion, the support of which in flight is derived dynamically from the reaction on surfaces in motion relative to the air.

§ 60.919 Ground visibility. The average range of vision in the vicinity of an airport as reported by the U. S. Weather Bureau or, if unavailable, by an accredited observer.

§ 60.920 Helicopter. A type of rotorcraft the support of which in the air is normally derived from airfoils mechanically rotated about an approximately vertical axis.

§ 60.921 Hours of darkness. The hours between sunset and sunrise during which any unlighted aircraft or other unlighted prominent objects cannot readily be seen beyond a distance of 3 miles. In any case, "hours of darkness" shall extend from 30 minutes after sunset to 30 minutes before sunrise. Within the Territory of Alaska, "hours of darkness" shall constitute those hours specified and published by the Administrator.

§ 60.922 IFR. The symbol used to designate instrument flight rules.

§ 60.923 IFR conditions. Weather conditions below the minimum prescribed for flights under VFR.

§ 60.924 Magnetic course. The true course or track, corrected for magnetic variation, between two points on the surface of the earth.

§ 60.925 Reporting point. A geographical location in relation to which the position of an aircraft is reported.

§ 60.926 Rotorcraft. An aircraft whose support in the air is chiefly derived from the vertical component of the force produced by rotating airfoils.

§ 60.928 VFR. The symbol used to designate visual flight rules.

§ 60.929 VFR conditions. Weather conditions equal to or above the minimum prescribed for flights under VFR.

At altitudes of more than 700 feet above the surface.	Visibility	3 miles [1]	3 miles	1 mile
	Distance from clouds.	500 feet vertically [2] and 2,000 feet horizontally. [2]	500 feet vertically and 2,000 feet horizontally.	500 feet vertically and 2,000 feet horizontally.

(e) Election to sell inventory at lower price. Any person owning cane sugars at 11:59 p. m., September 17, 1946, may, in lieu of making payment to Commodity Credit Corporation, described in paragraph (d) of this section, elect to sell or otherwise dispose of the entire amount of his inventory at or below his maximum prices in effect on September 17, 1946. Such person shall state in the affidavit described in paragraph (c) of this section that he elects to sell his inventory at the lower price. At such time as he has sold an amount equal to his September 17 inventory, he shall file by registered mail with the Commodity Credit Corporation a final affidavit stating that he has fully complied with the requirements of this paragraph (e).

Issued this 13th day of August 1947.

[SEAL] N. E. DODD,
Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

Statement of the Considerations Involved in the Issuance of Amendment 11 to Third Revised Maximum Price Regulation 183

The accompanying amendment increases the maximum price of raw cane and refined granulated sugars for local consumption in Puerto Rico. On August 6, 1947, maximum prices of raw cane sugar were increased on the mainland 13½ cents per hundredweight and of refined sugar 15 cents per hundredweight through Amendment 7 to MPR 16 and Amendment 12 to MPR 60, respectively. Reference to the statement of considerations accompanying these amendments is hereby made. The same increases are made effective in Puerto Rico under this amendment for the same reasons the previous increases granted on the mainland were made applicable to Puerto Rico, as explained in the earlier statements of considerations.

The new prices are calculated to return to distributors no less than the average percentage mark-ups as were in effect on March 31, 1946, and are in accord with and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended and extended.

BROADCAST LICENSEES

NOTICE REGARDING SURRENDER OF RESPONSIBILITIES UNDER ADVERTISING OR OTHER CONTRACTS

AUGUST 11, 1947.

The Commission recently received information concerning certain contracts that were entered into between several licensees and permittees of radio broadcast stations under which broadcast time was sold directly to an advertising agency; the latter in turn sold this broadcast time to participating sponsors, arranged the programs for certain periods, selected the talent when used, and, in some instances, used its own studios for the production of programs which were carried by remote control to the transmitters of the broadcast stations in question; and in at least one case the contract in terms provided that the advertising agency should take over the commercial management of the station. Upon investigation, it appeared that none of the above-mentioned contracts had been filed with the Commission, nor had the stations involved in such contractual arrangements requested the Commission's consent therefor.

In connection with such contracts, or similar arrangements, whether of a formal or informal nature, the attention of all station licensees, permittees, and applicants is invited to section 310 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which prohibits the voluntary or involuntary transfer of a license or of "the frequencies authorized to be used by the licensee, and the rights therein granted," or the transfer of control of a licensee corporation, unless the Commission decides, on the basis of full information, that the transfer is in the public interest and so signifies in writing.

The Commission, in accordance with the foregoing provisions of the act, has repeatedly emphasized that the licensee is responsible for the management and operation of the station in the public interest, and has required that this responsibility shall not be improperly delegated, whether by contract or otherwise, to another. Thus, in Bellingham Broadcasting Company, 8 FCC, 159 (May 16, 1940), it was pointed out that "* * * the licensee of a radio broadcast station must be necessarily held responsible for all program service and may not delegate his ultimate responsibility for such to others." In numerous subsequent cases, the Commission has re-emphasized this principle.

The requirement, therefore, that the station licensee shall exercise full and final responsibility for the operation of his broadcast station, and that he shall not divest himself, directly or indirectly, of the substantial measure of control necessary to fulfill it, is a basic feature of the Communications Act, and, as a matter of administrative practice, the Commission has constantly adhered to such requirement. Arrangements of the nature described above will, therefore, be carefully scrutinized by the Commission to determine whether they involve surrender of the licensee's responsibilities.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

GENERAL MOBILE CLASS 2 EXPERIMENTAL STATIONS

ORDER EXTENDING LICENSE TERM

At a meeting of the Federal Communications Commission at its offices in Washington, D. C., on August 7, 1947;

The Commission having before it a proposal to extend the license term of Class 2 Experimental Stations authorized for the purpose of conducting experimentation in connection with the development and testing of General Mobile Communications Systems which will end on November 1, 1947; and

It appearing that renewals of such licenses which have been issued prior to August 1, 1947, must be requested by September 1, 1947, in accordance with the requirements of § 5.32 of the rules; and

It further appearing that a hearing with respect to the establishment of the General Mobile Service on a regular basis will not be held until October 27, 1947, and that a decision authorizing some types of General Mobile operation on a regular basis may be reached at an early date thereafter; and

It further appearing that in view of the pendency of such proceeding, it would be desirable to extend the term of present licenses:

It is ordered, That the license term of every General Mobile Experimental Class 2 radio station which normally expires November 1, 1947, be extended to November 1, 1948; said licenses to be extended in exact accordance with the terms contained therein; and

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective immediately.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

[F. R. Doc. 47-7712; Filed, Aug. 15, 1947; 8:47 a. m.]

LICENSEES OF EXPERIMENTAL CLASS 2 (GENERAL MOBILE STATIONS)

NOTICE OF EXTENSION OF LICENSE TERM

The Commission today extended to November 1, 1948 the license term of all General Mobile Class 2 Experimental licenses which normally would expire November 1, 1947.

This order[1] relieves the licensees of taxicab radio dispatching systems and other General Mobile Experimental Radiotelephone Systems of the requirement that they apply for renewal of their experimental licenses this year as they would otherwise be required to do prior to September 1, 1947 in accordance with § 5.32 of the Commission's rules.

The Commission, however, requests that the experimental reports which normally accompany each application for renewal of experimental license be submitted prior to September 1, 1947, or, in lieu thereof, that F. C. C. Questionnaire 7560 be filled out and returned to the Commission by the same date. This questionnaire was sent to all General Mobile licensees in the latter part of May, 1947, and in most instances the questionnaire has been received from such licensees.

It is contemplated that the General Mobile hearing set for October 27, 1947 will result in the establishment of a regular service for which many licensees of Experimental General Mobile Systems will be eligible. In this event it will be necessary for eligible experimental licensees to apply for authority to operate in such a service, and the extension will serve to avoid a duplication of work involved in the submission and processing of applications for renewals as well as new licenses.

Those who only hold construction permits are cautioned that such permits do not authorize operation of their radio stations except for ten day equipment tests and thirty day service tests. The latter test may be commenced only after an application for a license to cover the construction permit has been filed. The order does not affect construction permits.

Licenses granted after August 1, 1947 will be issued for a term ending November 1, 1948. Consequently, such licenses will not be affected by the aforementioned order.

In the event a licensee does not intend to operate his system beyond November 1, 1947, the license should be submitted to the Commission for cancellation at the time operation is discontinued.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

P. Nicholson, Jr., and John Wallbrecht, a Partnership, doing business as Pinnacle Broadcasting Company, to Elmer Dennis Smith and Tom Crutchfield, doing business as Smithfield Broadcasting Company. The proposal to assign the permit arises out of a contract of August 1, 1947, pursuant to which the assignee would pay to the assignor actual expenses expended in prosecuting the application totaling $3,206.38. Assignor would assign options which it has upon technical equipment and transmitter site. Further information as to the arrangements may be found with the application and associated papers which are on file at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

Pursuant to § 1.321 the Commission was advised with the filing of the application that notice thereof would be inserted in a local daily newspaper at Middlesboro, Kentucky, twice a week for 3 weeks commencing August 6, 1947, in conformity with the above rule.

In accordance with the procedure set out in said rule, no action will be had upon the application for a period of 60 days from August 6, 1947, within which time other persons desiring to apply for the facilities involved may do so upon the same terms and conditions as set forth in the above described contract.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 59-88, 59-9]

PHILADELPHIA CO. ET AL.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 5th day of August A. D., 1947.

In the matter of Philadelphia Company and certain of its subsidiary companies, Standard Power and Light Corporation, and Standard Gas and Electric Company, respondents; File No. 59-88. Standard Power and Light Corporation, Standard Gas and Electric Company and subsidiary companies thereof, respondents; File No. 59-9.

Simplification of holding company system; practice and procedure; filing of proposed findings and briefs. Upon motion with respect to time and manner of filing proposed findings and briefs made in section 11 proceedings, held, that all parties and interested persons shall exchange proposed findings and briefs simultaneously on or before date designated by the Commission.

Hearings in these consolidated proceedings pursuant to sections 11 (b) and (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act ("the act"),[1] were conducted before a hearing officer and were concluded on July 23, 1947. At the conclusion of the final hearing, the hearing officer discussed with counsel for respondents Philadelphia Company and certain of its subsidiaries[2] and counsel for the Public Utilities Division the time and manner of filing of proposed findings and briefs. The parties were unable to arrive at a mutually satisfactory arrangement, and the hearing officer stated that the matter was one for the Commission to determine.[3] Thereafter, those respondents filed a motion requesting, as they had urged before the hearing officer, that they be granted at least ninety days, or sixty days after the service upon them of proposed findings and brief of the Public Utilities Division, whichever is longer, as the period within which to file their proposed findings and briefs. Standard Gas and Electric Company, also a respondent in this proceeding, filed a separate motion requesting similar relief.

Rule IX (f) of our rules of practice provides that proposed findings and briefs "shall be filed * * * within 5 days after the receipt by the party of a copy of the transcript of the testimony * * * or within such other time as the Commission may specify." We have considered the nature of the issues presented and the extent to which they have been clarified, and the size of the record, and have concluded that it is appropriate to extend until September 16, 1947 the time within which proposed findings and briefs may be filed and until September 30, 1947 the time for filing reply briefs. At this stage of the proceedings the participants should be well acquainted with the issues involved. The ultimate issues to be decided are indicated in section 11 of the act. The detailed allegations contained in the order instituting these proceedings, insofar as they have been controverted by respondents' answers, have raised certain specific issues, and the evidence submitted at the hearings has given further indication of the precise nature of these issues. Furthermore, we find no special circumstances present in this case which justify a departure from the customary practice in section 11 proceedings before this Commission under which participants exchange their proposed findings and briefs simultaneously. Since there has been a focusing of the issues and the various participants should already be cognizant of them, we conclude that it is appropriate that proposed findings and briefs should be exchanged simultaneously. In addition, in the reply briefs which may be submitted after the filing of the main briefs ample opportunity will be afforded to reply to any arguments not previously considered.

[2] The subsidiary companies referred to are Duquesne Light Company, Equitable Gas Company, Pittsburgh and West Virginia Gas Company, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, Allegheny County Steam Heating Company, Cheswick and Hamar Railroad Company, The Consolidated Gas Company of the City of Pittsburgh, Equitable Auto Company, Equitable Real Estate Company, Equitable Sales Company, Finleyville Oil and Gas Company, and Philadelphia Oil Company.

[3] The record before the hearing officer has been closed except for the purpose of determining whether leave to be heard should be granted to a group of security holders in accordance with an opinion rendered by us on July 24, 1947. (Philadelphia Company, --- S. E. C. --- (1947), Holding Company Act Release No. 7590.) Filing of any intermediate decision was waived. The matter is now before us for final decision based upon the record of the proceedings, the proposed findings and briefs which may be filed, and the oral argument, if any be ordered.

On the basis of the foregoing, It is ordered, That proposed findings and supporting briefs shall be filed with the Commission on or before September 16, 1947, and reply briefs shall be filed on or before September 30, 1947; and, It is further ordered, That the motions filed herein, except to the extent hereinbefore provided, be and the same are hereby denied.

By the Commission.

Subchapter D—Nationality Regulations

PART 376—NATURALIZATION PROCEEDINGS FOR PHYSICALLY DISABLED PERSONS PERMITTED AT PLACES OTHER THAN IN THE OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF COURT OR IN OPEN COURT

NATURALIZATION PROCEDURE FOR PHYSICALLY DISABLED PERSONS

JULY 25, 1947.

The following part is added to Title 8, Chapter I, Code of Federal Regulations:

Sec.
376.1 Declarations of intention, petitions, and oaths of physically disabled persons.
376.2 Reports of district directors to clerks of court or to courts.

AUTHORITY: §§ 376.1 and 376.2 issued under sec. 327, 54 Stat. 1150, sec. 37 (a), 54 Stat. 675; 8 U. S. C. 727, 458; 8 CFR 90.1. §§ 376.1 and 376.2 interpret and apply the act of May 31, 1947 (Pub. Law 81, 80th Cong., ch. 87).

§ 376.1 Declarations of intention, petitions, and oaths of physically disabled persons. Notwithstanding the provisions of other parts of this subchapter and pursuant to the provisions of the act of May 31, 1947 (Pub. Law 81, 80th Cong., ch. 87), an applicant for naturalization who is prevented by sickness or other physical disability from appearing in the office of the clerk of court or of his authorized deputy may make a declaration of intention or a petition for naturalization at such other place as may be designated by the clerk of court or his authorized deputy; and a petitioner for naturalization who is prevented by sickness or other physical disability from being in open court for the final hearing upon his petition for naturalization may have his petition heard and take the oath of renunciation and allegiance required by section 335 of the Nationality Act of 1940 at such place as the court may designate.

§ 376.2 Reports of district directors to clerks of court or to courts. Whenever it appears that an applicant for naturalization is unable because of sickness or other disability to present himself in the office of the clerk of the appropriate naturalization court to sign a declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States or to make a petition for naturalization or to be in court for the final hearing upon petition for naturalization, the district director shall report the condition of the applicant or petitioner to the clerk of the court. The report shall give such information as is available to show whether the sickness or other disability is of a permanent nature or of a nature which so incapacitates the person as to prevent him from appearing personally in the office of the clerk of the court or in the court, as the case may be. The report is for the purpose of aiding the court to determine, pursuant to section 5 of the act of May 31, 1947 (Pub. Law 81, 80th Cong.), whether the clerk of the court should designate another place for the person to make a declaration of intention or a petition for naturalization or whether the court should designate another place for the final hearing on the petition for naturalization, as the case may be. Nothing in this section shall prevent the person himself from applying directly to the clerk of the court or the court for the benefits of that act and supporting his application by such evidence as is acceptable to the clerk of the court or the court.

This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The requirements of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. C., Sup., 1003) as to public procedure and delayed effective date are inapplicable for the reason that the rules prescribed by this order pertain to agency procedure.

Acting Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization.

All circumstances in the making of such record, document or writing, as well as the lack of opportunity for cross-examination, shall be considered by the Director or the Hearing Examiner in determining its weight, but shall not affect its admissibility. A copy of such record, document or writing shall be equally admissible as the original, when accompanied by a certificate of the allied authority of occupation having custody thereof, stating that it conforms with the original.

Thereupon, the Director, the Chief Hearing Examiner or the Hearing Examiner, as the case may be, may, in his discretion, issue an order which will name the witness whose deposition is to be taken, state the scope of the testimony to be taken, and specify the time when, the place where, and the Officer before whom the witness is to testify. Such order shall be served upon all parties by the Chief Hearing Examiner a reasonable time in advance of the time fixed for taking testimony.

(b) The testimony shall be reduced to writing by the Officer or under his direction, after which the deposition shall be subscribed by the witness and certified by the Officer. Any part of a deposition not received in evidence shall not constitute a part of the record in such proceeding unless the parties so agree, or the Director so orders.

(c) Depositions may also be taken and submitted on written interrogatories in substantially the same manner as depositions taken by oral examination. When a deposition is taken upon written interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, none of the parties shall be present or represented, and no person, other than the witness, a stenographic reporter and the Officer, shall be present at the examination of the witness, which fact shall be certified by the Officer, who shall propound the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories to the witness in their order and reduce the testimony to writing in the witness's own words.

(d) Where the deposition is taken in a foreign country, it may be taken before a secretary of an embassy or legation, consul general, consul, vice consul, or consular agent of the United States, or before such person or officer as may be designated in the authorization or agreed upon by the parties by stipulation in writing filed with and approved by the Director, Chief Hearing Examiner or the Hearing Examiner.

(e) A witness whose deposition is taken pursuant to these rules and the Officer taking the deposition, unless he be employed by the Office, shall be entitled to the same fee and mileage paid for like service in the Courts of the United States, which fee shall be paid by the party at whose instance the deposition is taken, who may be required to deposit in advance an amount adequate to cover the fees and mileage involved.

Except as otherwise provided in this part, all other motions and requests shall be addressed to and ruled upon by the Director.

§ 504.18 Withdrawal of papers. The granting of a request to dismiss or with-

§504.19 Oral argument and closing of hearing. Any party shall be entitled, upon request, at the close of the hearing to a reasonable period for oral argument before the Hearing Examiner which oral argument may, with the consent of the Hearing Examiner, be included in the stenographic report of the hearing.

Such proposals shall be in writing and shall contain appropriate references to the records. Copies thereof shall be furnished to all parties. Reply briefs may be filed with the permission of the Hearing Examiner within a reasonable time, to be fixed by him. As far as practicable, procedure shall be followed of having claimant's brief filed first, followed by the brief of the Chief of the Claims Branch, with any reply briefs filed in the same order.

(b) At any time prior to the filing of his decision, the Hearing Examiner may, for good cause, re-open the case for the reception of further evidence.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter VII—Sugar Rationing Administration, Department of Agriculture

[Gen. Order 7,[1] Amdt. 1]

EXEMPTIONS FROM PRICE CONTROL OF CERTAIN TRANSACTIONS IN SUGAR

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to the authority conferred upon the Secretary of Agriculture by the Sugar Control Extension Act of 1947; It is ordered, That General Order No. 7 be amended in the following respects:

[1] 12 F. R. 4267.

1. The present text of General Order No. 7 is designated as paragraph (a), and a new paragraph (b) is added to read as follows:

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of any maximum price regulation, contracts to sell and purchase raw sugar produced from sugarcane harvested in offshore areas on and after November 1, 1947, and in the mainland cane sugar area on and after October 1, 1947, provided sugar from the latter area is not delivered until after October 31, 1947, are exempt from price control.

(Pub. Law 30, 80th Cong.)

This amendment shall become effective August 13, 1947.

Issued this 13th day of August 1947

[SEAL] N. E. DODD,
Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

Opinion Accompanying Amendment No. 1 to General Order No. 7

The accompanying amendment adds contracts to sell and purchase raw sugar produced from sugarcane harvested in offshore areas on and after November 1, 1947, and in the mainland cane sugar area on and after October 1, 1947, provided sugar from the latter area is not delivered until after October 31, 1947, to the list of transactions exempt from price control.

The Commodity Credit Corporation heretofore has purchased most of the available offshore raw sugar and resold it to continental refiners. However, the resale contracts also provide that sugar purchased by refiners from other sellers could be included under such contracts upon approval by Commodity Credit Corporation of the contracts to purchase, which was necessary to insure uniformity in prices. The Commodity Credit Corporation has recently modified these contracts, so that continental sugar refiners might contract to purchase raw sugar produced from sugarcane harvested on and after November 1, 1947, which would not be subject to provisions of the resale contracts. Refiners have requested that contracts for the purchase of such sugar be removed from price control to facilitate their purchase of the raw sugar that will be produced from the next sugarcane crops.

The Sugar Control Extension Act authorizes continued price control over sugar only until October 31, 1947. Raw sugar produced from the next sugarcane crops will not be ready for delivery to refiners until after that date, with minor exceptions. It is the opinion of the Secretary of Agriculture that the exemption from price controls of contracts entered into between now and October 31, 1947, for the purchase of such raw sugar will have no appreciable effect on the price, supply, or movement of sugar during the remaining period for which price control over sugar is authorized. Therefore, the Secretary of Agriculture has determined that such contracts should be exempted from price control.

FALL RIVER, MASS., MILK MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING FOR CONSIDERATION OF PROPOSED AMENDED RULES AND REGULATIONS

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to authority contained in Order No. 47, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Fall River, Massachusetts, marketing area, a public meeting will be held at the Market Administrator's Office, 103 Pleasant Street, Fall River, Massachusetts, on August 22, 1947, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., to consider proposed amended rules and regulations to supersede the rules and regulations[1] issued by the market administrator to effectuate the terms and provisions of said order. All persons who desire to submit oral data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed rules and regulations will be given an opportunity to do so at the meeting. All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed amended rules and regulations shall submit them to the market administrator at 103 Pleasant Street, Fall River, Massachusetts, by mail or otherwise, in time to be received not later than 5:15 p. m., e. d. s. t., August 25, 1947.

The market administrator proposes the following amended rules and regulations:

§ 947.101 Scope. These rules and regulations are made by the market administrator pursuant to § 947.2 (b) (3) of Order No. 47, as amended, issued by the Secretary of Agriculture, regulating the handling of milk in the Fall River, Massachusetts, marketing area, hereinafter referred to as the "order". The terms used herein shall have the same definitions as are set forth in § 947.1 of the order.

§ 947.102 Determination of normal supply for a market other than the marketing area. Only milk received from dairy farmers designated for other markets shall be considered as a handler's normal supply for a market other than the marketing area pursuant to § 947.1 (f) (2) of the order. In reporting to the market administrator dairy farmers designated for other markets, such dairy farmers shall be reported individually by name, or, if a handler receives milk from a plant of a person not a handler, all of which milk the handler considers as a normal supply for a market other than the marketing area, all of the dairy farmers delivering to such plant shall be considered as dairy farmers designated for other markets if the handler reports such dairy farmers to the market administrator collectively as dairy farmers designated for other markets.

§ 947.103 Producer - handlers—(a) Qualification of producer-handlers. A producer-handler shall furnish to the market administrator for his verification, subject to review by the Secretary:

(1) Evidence in writing on the form provided by the market administrator that the manner in which such producer-handler produces and distributes his milk is in compliance with § 947.1 (j) of the order.

(2) Evidence in writing on the form provided by the market administrator of any change in the manner in which such producer-handler produces and distributes his milk which would effect his qualifications as a producer-handler pursuant to § 947.1 (j) of the order.

(b) Receipts from producer-handlers. (1) Milk received from a producer-handler for the purpose of being processed and packaged and returned to him shall be considered as a receipt from a handler. However, any excess of receipts in bulk from a producer-handler over the quantity of processed and packaged milk returned to him during the delivery period shall be considered as a receipt from a producer.

(2) Milk received from a producer-handler with respect to which he is not considered a producer shall be considered as received from a handler.

(c) Reports of production. If milk of a producer-handler's production is produced on more than one farm, the amount produced on each farm shall be reported separately.

§ 947.104 Classifications—(a) Milk from a Federal order plant. If a handler receives milk from a Federal order plant at a plant at which no milk is received from producers and transfers during the delivery period an amount of milk not in excess of the amount received from a Federal order plant during the delivery period to another handler's plant at which milk is received from producers, such milk shall be considered, for the purpose of classification, as milk from a Federal order plant.

(b) Milk transferred to a second buyer. Milk transferred from a handler's plant at which milk is received from producers to another handler and subsequently to the plant of a third person not a handler under the order shall be classified as Class I not to exceed the total Class I, during the delivery period at the plant of the person who is not a handler.

(c) Class II milk received from a plant at which no milk is received from producers. Milk received by a handler at a plant at which milk is received from producers, as a Class II receipt from a plant at which no milk is received from producers, shall be considered as other source milk and shall be classified accordingly. In case the amount of Class II remaining after the proration of allowable plant shrinkage is less than the total amount of other source milk, such milk received by such handler as a Class II receipt from a plant at which no milk is received from producers shall be first considered as Class II milk.

(d) Classification of transfers and milk received completely processed and packaged. If the amount of Class II remaining after the proration of allowable plant shrinkage and the classification of other source milk is insufficient to absorb the amount of milk received completely processed and packaged from a Federal order plant and classified as Class II according to actual use established plus the amount of milk transferred from a plant at which milk is received from producers to another handler and classified as Class II pursuant to § 947.5 (c) of the order, such remaining Class II shall be first applied to such milk received completely processed and packaged from a Federal order plant and classified as Class II according to actual use established and then to such milk transferred from a plant at which milk is received from producers to another handler and classified as Class II, and any remaining amount shall be Class I.

(e) Class I utilization. A handler's total Class I utilization in the marketing area during the delivery period cannot exceed the amount of Class I producer milk, including any plant gain, plus milk received from a Federal order plant and classified as Class I plus milk received from plants outside Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New York, and classified as Class I plus Class I pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section received by such handler during the delivery period. If the computations set forth in § 947.5 (d) of the order indicate that a portion of the milk received from dairy farmers who were reported by the handler pursuant to § 947.102 as dairy farmers designated for other markets was disposed of in the marketing area as Class I milk during the delivery period, all such dairy farmers designated for other markets will be considered as producers for the delivery period.

(f) Milk which does not enter a handler's plant. Milk which a handler takes possession of from another handler's plant and transfers directly to a third handler's plant without such milk having entered the transferring handler's plant shall be considered as a transfer from the first handler's plant to the third handler's plant.

(g) Plant Shrinkage. The provisions of this paragraph shall apply in determining the quantity of plant shrinkage to be classified in Class II milk pursuant to § 947.5 (b) (2) (ii) of the order.

(1) Plant shrinkage shall be determined by subtracting the total of specific uses from the volume handler.

(2) Plant shrinkage can be established only if the handler keeps records adequate to establish the total of specific uses and the volume handled. If such records are not maintained or are not made available to the market administrator, or his agent, plant shrinkage cannot be established and the total quantity of milk and milk products not specifically accounted for shall be classified as Class I.

(h) Verification of reports. If a handler fails or refuses to make available to the market administrator or his agent such records and facilities as the market administrator finds necessary for the verification of the information contained in reports submitted by such handler pursuant to § 947.3 of the order, all milk shall be classified as Class I except that, if a quantity of milk is established as having been utilized in Class II, such classification shall be recognized to the extent of established use in Class II.

§ 947.105 Payments to producers.—(a) Samples for butterfat testing. Handlers shall take a representative sample of milk from each delivery of milk received by them from producers or from cooperative associations for butterfat testing.

(b) Deductions. In making payments to producers or cooperative associations pursuant to § 947.8 (a) (1) of the order, handlers shall not make deductions other than those allowed in § 947.8 (b) and (c) of the order unless such deductions are authorized in writing by the individual producer or a properly authorized cooperative association.

§ 947.107 Reports. The following forms provided by the market administrator shall be submitted to the market administrator by handlers. In case the specific form is not available, the equivalent written information shall be submitted.

(a) Stopped Delivery Notice. This form shall be executed and submitted promptly for each producer stopping delivery.

(b) Started Delivery Notice. This form shall be executed and submitted promptly for each producer starting delivery.

(c) Report Form 1047–A showing receipts and disposition of milk, skim milk, and cream. This form shall be executed and submitted on or before the 7th day after the end of each delivery period by each handler.

(d) Notice of Producers Miscellaneous Deductions and Assignments. This form shall be executed and submitted at the same time information required in § 947.3 (a) (4) of the order is submitted if deductions other than those authorized in § 947.8 (b) and (c) of the order are made by the handler.

§ 947.108 Conversion factors. In the absence of specific weights, the weight of milk products received or disposed of in 1-quart or 40-quart containers shall be determined according to the following table, and the weight of such products in any other container shall be determined by multiplying the equivalent number of quarts in such container.

Food and Drug Administration

[21 CFR, Part 27]

[Docket No. FDC 48]

CANNED APRICOTS WITH RUM, CANNED PEACHES WITH RUM, CANNED PEARS WITH RUM; CANNED CHERRIES WITH RUM; DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY; QUALITY AND FILL OF CONTAINER

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

It is proposed that by virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (Secs. 401, 701; 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371); and upon the basis of substantial evidence of record at the public hearing held pursuant to notice issued on March 26, 1947 (12 F. R. 1993, 1994), the following order be made:

Findings of fact.[1] 1. Rum is an alcoholic beverage distilled from fermented cane juice or molasses. It varies in its content of alcohol from 80 proof to 190 proof. Its flavoring properties are due to congeneric substances, and rums vary greatly in their content of such substances. Rums sold for culinary use are usually of about 150 proof. (R. 68–72, 77–78, 107, 109, 113, 118, 196; Ex. 8)

2. If rum is used as a flavoring or seasoning ingredient in canned peaches, canned apricots, canned pears, canned cherries, and canned fruit cocktail, it effects changes in the taste of such foods, in the uses for which consumers consider them suitable, and increases their cost in proportion to the amount of rum used. (R. 17, 135, 140–141, 153, 167–171, 220–222, 236–237, 244–246, 252–255)

3. Approximately one fluid ounce of rum per pound of each finished food is required to give a characteristic taste of rum to canned peaches, canned pears, canned apricots, canned cherries, and canned fruit cocktail. (R. 45, 65, 85, 103; Ex. 4, 5, 6, 7)

4. When one fluid ounce of rum of approximately 150 proof is added per pound to canned peaches, canned apricots, canned pears, canned cherries, and canned fruit cocktail, the alcoholic content by weight of each of these foods is brought to about 4 percent, and their character is so changed that consumers generally would consider them foods distinctly different from canned peaches, canned apricots, canned pears, canned cherries, canned fruit cocktail, even if the labels of each such food carry the explanatory designation "Seasoned with Rum." Due to variations in alcoholic content of rum used for flavoring and to other causes, the alcoholic content of such foods may vary from 3 percent to 5 percent by weight. (R. 135, 140–142, 202–204, 228, 244–247, 252–256, 262)

5. There has been no commercial production of canned peaches, canned apricots, canned cherries, canned pears, and canned fruit cocktail, containing added rum in approximately the proportion of one fluid ounce of rum per pound of such canned fruits, but experiments recently made indicate that desirable foods can be produced by adding rum during the process of canning to peaches, apricots, pears, and cherries. However, the addition of rum to canned fruit cocktail in the stated proportions destroys the blended fruit flavor characteristic which is expected by consumers of this food. (R. 14, 41, 75, 82–83, 134, 149–154, 199–204, 243–245, 251, 254–256; Ex. 4, 5, 6)

6. Definitions and standards of identity for canned peaches, canned apricots, canned pears, and canned cherries which contain approximately one fluid-ounce of rum per pound of finished fruit are necessary to enable the consumer to differentiate between such foods, respectively, and canned peaches, canned apricots, canned pears, and canned cherries which do not contain rum; but the expectancy of consumers of fruit cocktail would be defeated if a food containing the fruit ingredients of canned fruit cocktail with rum added in the stated proportions were to be made the subject of a separate definition and standard of identity under a designation which included the term "fruit cocktail". (R. 141, 143, 149, 153–155, 222, 228–229, 243–248, 253–255)

7. Reasonably accurate and descriptive names which will enable the consumer to distinguish the food with rum from the ordinary canned foods of corresponding names are: "Peaches with Rum", "Apricots with Rum", "Pears with Rum", "Cherries with Rum". (R. 180, 223, 229–232, 253–254, 256–257)

8. A limit on the maximum amount of rum which may be used in these foods is necessary in order that such foods may not be made distinctly alcoholic in character, while a minimum amount must be prescribed so that enough rum is used to justify the name. Limits for these purposes can be fixed satisfactorily based on the alcoholic content of the foods. A lower limit of 3 percent alcohol by weight and an upper limit of 5 percent alcohol by weight will reasonably accomplish these purposes. (R. 45, 65, 86, 103, 129, 219–220, 222–224, 229–230, 261–263; Ex. 4, 5)

9. The requirements of the definitions and standards of identity for canned peaches § 27.0, canned apricots § 27.10, canned pears § 27.20, and canned cherries § 27.30 are properly and reasonably applicable to canned peaches with rum, canned apricots with rum, canned pears with rum, and canned cherries with rum, respectively. The requirements as to densities of packing media based on measurements with the Brix hydrometer should not be changed to compensate for the effect on density caused by the presence of rum. (R. 14, 233–236, 256)

Based on the foregoing findings of fact it is concluded:

(a) That it would not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to amend the definition and standard of identity for canned peaches, canned apricots, canned pears and canned cherries and canned fruit cocktail to make rum an optional ingredient.

(b) That it would not promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to adopt a definition and standard of identity for fruit cocktail with rum added.

(c) That it would promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers to adopt definitions and standards of identity for the foods "Canned Peaches with Rum", "Canned Apricots with Rum", "Canned Pears with Rum", and "Canned Cherries with Rum", as hereinafter set forth.

§ 27.3 Canned peaches with rum; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. Canned peaches with rum conforms to the definition and standard of identity, and is subject to the requirements for label statement of optional ingredients, prescribed for canned peaches by § 27.0, except that it contains added rum in such amount that its alcoholic content is more than 3 percent but less than 5 percent by weight.

§ 27.13 Canned apricots with rum; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. Canned apricots with rum conforms to the definition and standard of identity, and is subject to the requirements for label statement of optional ingredients, prescribed for canned apricots by § 27.10, except that it contains added rum in such amount that its alcoholic content is more than 3 percent but less than 5 percent by weight.

§ 27.23 Canned pears with rum; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. Canned pears with rum conforms to the definition and standard of identity, and is subject to the requirements for label statement of optional ingredients, prescribed for canned pears by § 27.20, except that it contains added rum in such amount that its alcoholic content is more than 3 percent but less than 5 percent by weight.

§ 27.33 Canned cherries with rum; identity; label statement of optional ingredients. Canned cherries with rum conforms to the definition and standard of identity, and is subject to the requirements for label statement of optional ingredients, prescribed for canned cherries by § 27.30, except that it contains added rum in such amount that its alcoholic content is more than 3 percent but less than 5 percent by weight.

Any interested person whose appearance was filed at the hearing may, within 20 days from the date of publication of this proposed order in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file with the Hearing Clerk of the Federal Security Agency, Office of the General Counsel, Room 3255 Federal Security Building, 4th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D. C., written exceptions thereto. Exceptions shall point out with particularity the alleged errors in the proposed order, and shall contain specific references to the pages of the transcript of the testimony or to the exhibits on which each exception is based. Such exceptions may be accompanied with a memorandum or brief in support thereof. Exceptions and accompanying memoranda or briefs should be submitted in quintuplicate.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

AUGUST 13, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on July 30, 1947, United Gas Pipe Line Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation, with its principal place of business at Shreveport, Louisiana, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 5.9 miles of 20-inch natural-gas transmission pipe line, extending from Applicant's Sterlington Compressor Station in the Monroe Field, Louisiana, to Mississippi River Fuel Corporation's Perryville Compressor Station in Louisiana, together with appurtenant facilities.

Applicant recites that under the terms and conditions of Applicant's gas sales contract with Mississippi River Fuel Corporation (Mississippi), said corporation may call upon Applicant to deliver up to 100% of the gas requirements of said corporation, and Applicant is supplying an increasingly larger percentage of said requirements due to the continued decline of deliveries by other suppliers of Mississippi.

Applicant states that the proposed pipeline will loop Applicant's presently existing 16-inch pipe line extending from its Sterlington Compressor Station, which line is serving both Mississippi River Fuel Corporation and Southern Natural Gas Company, and has a maximum daily delivery capacity of approximately 120,000 Mcf. Applicant states that the maximum daily demand of the two companies for 1947-48 is estimated at aproximately 164,800 Mcf. Applicant proposes to construct during 1947 approximately 2.6 miles of transmission pipeline applied for herein, which portion Applicant estimates will have a maximum daily delivery capacity of 51,000 Mcf. The remaining 3.3 miles of pipeline is to be constructed in 1948. The proposed facilities when completed will have an estimated maximum daily capacity of 217,000 Mcf. Applicant states that the proposed facilities will be operated at a pressure of not less than 450 pounds at the point of delivery to Mississippi.

Applicant estimates the total over-all cost of construction will be $330,000, which Applicant proposes to finance out of cash on hand.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Rule 37 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.37) and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with reasons for such request.

The application of United Gas Pipe Line Company is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 15 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of Rule 8 or 10, whichever is applicable, of the rules of practice and procedure (as amended on June 16, 1947) (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10).

[Docket No. G-930]

PANHANDLE EASTERN PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

AUGUST 13, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on August 4, 1947, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Applicant), a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, with its principal place of business at Kansas City, Missouri, filed an application for authority to abandon 1.25 miles of an existing 2-inch lateral pipe line and appurtenance facilities in Calhoun County, Michigan and to replace such facilities by the construction and operation of 1.25 miles of 4-inch lateral pipe line and appurtenant facilities in the same location and on the same right-of-way.

Applicant states that the lateral line proposed to be abandoned is being used to deliver natural gas to The Albion Gas Light Company for distribution in Albion, Michigan and environs and to the Albion Malleable Iron Company located in Albion. The application indicates further that due to its small size and poor condition the existing 2-inch lateral does not permit the transportation of sufficient volumes of gas to meet the requirements of consumers in Albion and environs in a satisfactory manner.

Applicant therefore requests a certificate to replace the 2-inch lateral with a 4-inch lateral to insure more adequate service to Albion and environs and in addition requests authority to sell and deliver natural gas through the proposed 4-inch lateral to the Albion Malleable Iron Company on an interruptible basis. The application recites that Panhandle received a permanent certificate from the Commission to serve The Albion Gas Light Co. for resale in Albion on May 28, 1947.

Applicant infers that the rates under its filed Rate Schedule FPC No. 58 now in force will continue under the proposed facilities.

Applicant states that the total cost of the proposed facilities is estimated at $7,400, which cost will be financed through the use of current funds on hand. Applicant proposes to abandon the existing 2-inch lateral in place because the cost of removal is estimated to be greater than the possible salvage value.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Rule 37 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.37) and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with reasons for such request.

The application of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 15 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of Rule 8 or 10, whichever is applicable, of the rules of practice and procedure (as amended on June 16, 1947) (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10).

MORRIS PLAN CORP. OF AMERICA ET AL.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION, STATEMENT OF ISSUES AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 13th day of August A. D. 1947.

In the matter of the Morris Plan Corporation of America, American General Corporation, and Joseph E. Birnie; File No. 812-507.

Notice is hereby given that the Morris Plan Corporation of America (Morris Plan) has filed an application pursuant to section 17 (b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 for an order exempting from the provisions of section 17 (a) of said act a transaction in which Joseph E. Birnie (Purchaser) proposes to purchase from Morris Plan 100 shares of the capital stock of the Bank of Georgia (Bank) for the sum of $1,829, a purchase price of $18.29 per share.

The proposed Purchaser is the president and a director of the Bank which is a majority-owned subsidiary of Morris Plan. American General Corporation (American), a registered investment company, controls Morris Plan, therefore, the purchaser is an affiliated person of an affiliated person of American and the proposed transaction is prohibited by section 17 (a) (2) of the act.

The proposed purchase price is equal to the book value of $18.29 for the stock as of June 30, 1947. Over the ten-year period 1937-1946 the per share earnings of the Bank fluctuated between $0.96 in 1938 and $2.18 in 1941 and averaged $1.70 per year after taxes. In 1946 the net earnings amounted to $1.68 per share. The purchase price is approximately 10.8 times the average per share net earnings of the Bank over the ten-year period and approximately 10.9 times the per share net earnings for 1946. The stock is not listed on a national securities exchange or traded on an over-the-counter market. Sales of the stock occur infrequently. The most recent quotation available for the stock is $15 Bid and $17 Offered. The purchase contracts provide that upon the demise of the Purchaser, the stock must be offered to Morris Plan for repurchase at the then book value.

All interested persons are referred to said application, which is on file at the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, offices of this Commission, for a more detailed statement of the matters of fact and law therein asserted.

The Corporation Finance Division of the Commission has advised the Commission that upon a preliminary examination of the application, it deems the following issues to be raised thereby without prejudice to the specification of additional issues upon further examination: whether the terms of the proposed transactions, including the consideration to be paid and received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned; whether the proposed transactions are consistent with the policy of American General Corporation as recited in its registration statement and reports filed under the act; and, whether the proposed transactions are consistent with the general purposes of the act.

It appearing to the Commission that a hearing upon the application is necessary and appropriate:

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 40 (a) of said act, that a public hearing on the aforesaid application be held on the 22d day of August, 1947 at 11:00 a. m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, in Room 318 of the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing and any officer or officers so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all of the powers granted to the Commission under sections 41 and 42 (b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 and to trial examiners under the Commission's rules of practice.

Notice of such hearing is hereby given to The Morris Plan Corporation of America, American General Corporation, Joseph E. Birnie and to any other person or persons whose participation in such proceedings may be in the public interest or for the protection of investors. Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in said proceedings should file with the Secretary of the Commission, on or before August 20, 1947, his application therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission setting forth therein any of the above issues of law or fact which he desires to controvert and any additional issues he deems raised by the aforesaid application.

By the Commission.

Assistant to the Secretary.

TITLE 8—ALIENS AND NATIONALITY

Chapter I—Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice

PART 116—CIVIL AIR NAVIGATION

PLACE OF LANDING OF AIRCRAFT

Paragraph (a) of § 6.3, Landing requirements, of Title 19, Code of Federal Regulations, also designated as § 116.3 of Title 8 and § 11.503 of Title 42, is amended by deleting the second sentence and substituting the following:

(a) Place of landing. * * * The first landing shall be at an airport of entry unless permission to land elsewhere shall first be granted by the Commissioner of Customs, in the case of aircraft operated by scheduled air lines, and in all other cases by the collector or deputy collector of customs at the port of entry nearest the intended place of landing. When the Commissioner of Customs grants permission to land elsewhere than at an airport of entry, he shall immediately notify the heads of the Public Health Service, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and of any other agency likely to be concerned with the landing, and, when a collector or deputy collector of customs grants such permission, he shall immediately notify the principal local officer of each such agency.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective upon the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Compliance with the provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238) with respect to notice and public procedure thereon and delayed effective date is found to be unnecessary and contrary to the public interest because the amendment will facilitate air commerce and lessen the requirements and restrictions on affected persons.

TITLE 18—CONSERVATION OF POWER

Chapter I—Federal Power Commission

[Docket No. R-106; Order 139]

PART 03—SUBSTANTIVE RULES, GENERAL POLICY AND INTERPRETATIONS

INDEPENDENT PRODUCTION OR GATHERING OF NATURAL GAS

AUGUST 7, 1947.

In the matter of a rule to make clear the position of the Commission regarding the independent production or gathering of natural gas. Order No. 139 supplementing the Commission's general rules including rules of practice and procedure.

For the reasons stated below, it seems appropriate and desirable at this juncture for the Commission to adopt and promulgate the rule contained herein, which is designed to relieve any existing uncertainty regarding the Commission's position that it will not seek to assert jurisdiction over the sale of natural gas to interstate pipe lines by independent producers or gatherers.

Following the release in March 1947 of the staff report in Docket No. G-580 on this subject, entitled "Section 1 (b) of the Natural Gas Act with Reference to Production and Gathering," the Commission consistently therewith on May 27, 1947, issued a notice of proposed rule making in this matter. At that time, since there were prevalent many expressions of uncertainty as to the Commission's interpretation of section 1 (b) of the act with reference to the status of independent producers and gatherers of natural gas, and as to its intentions with respect thereto, it seemed evident that a formal administrative rule was necessary to affirm our belief that it was the intent of Congress to exempt such independent producers and gatherers when it enacted the Natural Gas Act in 1938.

During the first session of the 80th Congress which adjourned on July 27, 1947, various bills regarding this matter, as well as other important proposals for amending the Natural Gas Act, were introduced and considered by the Congress. At the hearings on these bills before the Senate and House Committees on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, the Commission likewise stated its view that independent operators who produce or gather natural gas and sell it at arm's-length to natural-gas companies subsequently transporting such natural gas in interstate commerce are exempt from the provisions of the Natural Gas Act.

Reference also was made at these hearings to the pending case before the Supreme Court of the United States in "Interstate Natural Gas Company, Inc. v. Federal Power Commission." The subsequent decision of the Court on June 16, 1947, addressed to the particular circumstances of that case which involved the operations of a natural-gas company subject to the act, immediately became the basis for diverse interpretations and agitations by interested parties, as to its implications regarding the jurisdictional status under the act of independent producers and gatherers.

In view of these circumstances, the Commission urged the immediate adoption of H. R. 4099, the specific and sole purpose of which was to make entirely clear the exemption of the independent production and gathering of natural gas from the provisions of the Natural Gas Act. This proposed amendment, however, was not enacted during the closing days of the session of the Congress which has just ended.

This brief review of developments in this matter has been presented so that there may be no basis for misunderstanding or continuing expressions of fear and uncertainty regarding this matter, which is non-controversial. The Commission gives its assurance to independent producers and gatherers of natural gas that they can sell at arm's-length and deliver such gas to interstate pipe lines and can enter into contracts for such sale without apprehension that in so doing they may become subject to assertions of jurisdiction by the Commission under the Natural Gas Act.

The rule herein has this specific purpose and is issued at this time because the Congress has not yet reaffirmed such exemption by amending the act. It is also our intention, in keeping with the position heretofore taken, to continue to recommend to the Congress that it take appropriate clarifying legislative action regarding this matter.

General public notice of the proposed rule in this matter has been given by publication of notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 5, 1947 (12 F. R. 3679), and by mailing copies of such notice to all interested persons including State and Federal regulatory agencies.

All of such persons have been afforded an opportunity to submit written statements or briefs setting forth their comments, views, and suggestions with respect to this proposed rule.

Finding that such action is necessary and appropriate to clarify the meaning of section 1 (b) of the Natural Gas Act, the Commission, pursuant to the authority contained in that Act, particularly section 16 thereof (52 Stat. 821–833; 830; 15 U. S. C. 717–717w; 717o), hereby adopts and promulgates the following rule as a new section of Part 03—Substantive Rules, General Policy and Interpretations, of Subchapter A—General Rules, Chapter I of Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations, such new section to read as follows:

§ 03.79 Jurisdictional status of independent producers and gatherers. The Federal Power Commission is of the opinion that it was the intent of the Congress that the control of production or gathering of natural gas should remain a function of the States and that the Natural Gas Act should not provide for regulation of those subjects.

For the purpose of administering the Natural Gas Act, the Commission will construe the exemption contained in section 1 (b), to the effect that the provisions of the act shall not apply to the "production or gathering" of natural gas, as including arm's-length sales of natural gas, by independent producers and gatherers, made during the course or upon completion of production and gathering. The Commission, consistent with this construction, will not assert jurisdiction over such producers and gatherers who might be subject to jurisdiction solely because of such sales.

The interpretative rule hereby adopted shall become effective August 7, 1947. The Secretary of the Commission shall cause publication of this order to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and further, shall serve copies thereof on all interested parties.

Date of issuance: August 15, 1947.

By the Commission. Commissioner Draper dissenting.[1]

(4) "Small business" means a veteran's own small business and may include any enterprise or group of enterprises under common ownership or control, which by reason of its relative size and position in its industry is determined by War Assets Administration to be a small business.

(5) "Veteran" means any person in the active military or naval service of the United States during the present war, or any person who served in the active military or naval service of the United States on or after September 16, 1940, and prior to the termination of the present war, and who has been discharged or released therefrom under honorable conditions. Veterans released from military or naval service shall include persons on terminal leave or final furlough and those whose status has been changed from active to inactive.

§ 8302.2 Scope. This part shall apply only to disposals made by disposal agencies within the continental United States, its territories and possessions: Provided, That § 8302.10 shall apply only within the continental United States. This part shall not apply to any disposals of real property; nor to personal property appurtenant to, or assigned for disposal in connection with, real property, and disposed of pursuant to Part 8305.[1]

§ 8302.3 Applicability of regulations and directives of other agencies, and disposals which may be exempted from this part. (a) Transfers to the National Housing Administrator pursuant to the provisions of section 502 (b) of the Lanham Act,[2] as amended (Public Law 292, 79th Congress, as amended), transfers pursuant to the provisions of the Greek-Turkish Aid Bill (Public Law 75, 80th Congress), transfers to Federal Works Agency pursuant to the provisions of Public Law 233, 80th Congress, and transfers pursuant to such other laws as by their terms take precedence over the priorities established by the Surplus Property Act, as amended, as well as the laws cited in paragraph (b) of this section may be made without regard for any provisions of this part. Transfers to Federal Works Administrator pursuant to the provisions of section 504 (a) of the Lanham Act, as amended (Public Law 697,[3] 79th Congress), may be made without regard for any provisions of this part except those provisions which govern set-asides for veterans and priorities of Government agencies and veterans.

(b) Except for disposals under paragraph (a) of this section, disposals made hereunder shall be subject to applicable regulations and directives issued under the authority of the Veterans' Emergency Housing Act of 1946,[4] or under the authority of any law referred to in section 34 (b) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, and shall be exempted from the provisions of this part to the extent necessary to comply with the provisions of such regulations and directives.

(c) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (a) and (b) of this section, disposal agencies may dispose of surplus property at the fair value without regard for any provisions of this part:

[2] 59 Stat. 674; 42 U. S. C. Sup. V, 1572.

[4] 60 Stat. 207.

(1) Until peace is concluded to supply the needs of the armed forces;

(2) When, upon a finding by the Secretary of Agriculture that farm production is impaired or threatened to be impaired, the Administrator shall, pursuant to the provisions of Part 8303,[1] direct the disposal of trucks, machinery, or equipment (including farm supplies) to farmers or farmers' cooperatives;

(3) When the property is of such nature or in such situation that its immediate disposal is necessary to prevent its deterioration, spoilage, or serious loss or damage;

(4) When, upon application to the War Assets Administrator by a disposal agency, the Administrator shall find that it is impracticable or uneconomical for the disposal agency to be required to dispose of designated property according to the provisions of this part;

(5) When the nature or condition of any surplus property sold is such that it is not usable or safe for use by the consumer in its existing form without processing, reprocessing, reconditioning, or repackaging;

(6) When the cost (estimated if not known) of all substantially similar items of such property in the possession of the disposal agency at any one location at any one time does not exceed $300; or when the cost (estimated if not known) of any group of identical items normally constituting a single entry on War Assets Administration Form 1001[2] and in the possession of the disposal agency at any one location at any one time, does not exceed one hundred dollars ($100).

§ 8302.4 Set-asides for veterans. (a) Except as to the amounts of any property necessary for the temporary use of any disposal agency to carry out its responsibilities in disposing of surplus property under the Surplus Property Act of 1944, each disposal agency to which there is assigned for disposal any property of the types designated by the Administrator to be set aside for exclusive disposal to veterans shall set aside all, or such percentage as is designated, of such property in its possession for exclusive disposal to veterans upon presentation of their discharge papers or other satisfactory evidence that the person is a veteran. The Administrator has determined that, in the case of set-asides made pursuant to this section as distinguished from the priorities accorded veterans pursuant to § 8302.5 (b), it is considered inappropriate to cause to be set aside quantities and types of any surplus property for the purpose of resale as distinguished from use. Such determination does not apply to acquisitions by veterans as priority claimants who purchase pursuant to the provisions of § 8302.5. Accordingly, disposals hereunder shall be limited to veterans who acquire surplus property:

(1) For their own personal use, or

(2) For use in establishing and maintaining their own small business, professional, or agricultural enterprises: Provided, however, That such use shall not include the acquisition of surplus property for the purpose of resale.

(b) Set-aside property shall be held for disposal at fair value, as provided in § 8302.11, to veterans for a period of not less than fifteen (15) days after public notice of its availability for such disposal, or for such longer period as the Administrator may direct, and any balance remaining undisposed of thereafter may be made available for disposal in accordance with the other provisions of this part.

§ 8302.5 Order of priorities. Except as to property disposed of under § 8302.4, disposal agencies shall, subject to the provisions of § 8302.6, observe the following order of priorities:

(a) Transfers to Government agencies for their own use shall be given priority over disposal to all others.

(b) Disposals to veterans to enable them to establish and maintain their own small business, professional, or agricultural enterprises shall be given priority over disposals to all others except as provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Purchases by Reconstruction Finance Corporation for resale under section 18 (c) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944 shall be given priority over disposal to all others except as provided in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(d) Disposals to State and local governments for their own use shall be given priority over disposals to all others except as provided in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section.

§ 8302.6 Reservations for priority claimants. (a) In giving effect to the provisions of § 8302.5, disposal agencies shall observe the following requirements with respect to the periods of time during which property will be offered to priority claimants:

(1) Government agencies shall in no case be given a period in excess of twenty (20) days after the date of public notice of availability of the property.

(2) Property offered to veterans may not be disposed of to others for a minimum period of fifteen (15) days after the date of public notice to veterans.

(b) Each disposal agency, based upon experience and demonstrated demand, may estimate the quantity of each item of surplus property which it is necessary to hold in reserve in order to provide an adequate supply thereof to satisfy the probable needs of priority claimants for such items. Such quantities shall be reviewed and adjusted periodically by the disposal agency in the light of the changing requirements of priority claimants and the areas in which such requirements exist. There need be no earmarking of specific property, but the quantities of surplus property so estimated shall be reserved for exclusive disposal to priority claimants subject to the periods specified in paragraph (a). Any property in excess of such reserved quantities may, notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a), be disposed of promptly to others.

(c) In order to assist the disposal agencies to reserve quantities of surplus property, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b), adequate to satisfy the needs of priority claimants including Reconstruction Finance Corporation for resale under section 18 (c) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, Reconstruction Finance Corporation may advise the disposal agencies from time to time of the quantities and kinds of surplus property which it needs or may need for such purposes to the end that any reservations established under paragraph (b) of this section may be adequate to supply such anticipated needs.

§ 8302.7 Information about available property—(a) Availability of records of surplus property; Government requirements officers. Disposal agencies shall establish procedures to insure that designated representatives or procurement officers of Government agencies and State and local governments shall have access to the information on the property records of the disposal agencies, and shall upon request from time to time inform such representatives or procurement officers about surplus property for which declarations have been received or are anticipated. Each disposal agency shall appoint in its central office and in each regional office thereof a Government requirements officer or officers, whose duties shall include (1) transmitting to Government agencies and State and local governments information concerning surplus property which is or may become available for disposal; (2) assisting in programming sales or offerings in such a manner as to afford Government agencies and State and local governments an opportunity to purchase any and all kinds of property they desire; (3) ascertaining the probable needs for all kinds of property of Government agencies and State and local governments within the region served by each regional office to the end that any reservations established under § 8302.6 (b) may be adequate to supply the probable needs of Government agencies and State and local governments within the region served by the office; (4) cooperating with such advisory committees as the Administrator may appoint; and (5) taking all other necessary or desirable steps to see that there is compliance with all requirements of this part. It shall be the responsibility of Government agencies, in order to avoid making purchases through commercial channels, and whether or not notified by the disposal agencies, continuously to consult the records of the disposal agencies and to determine whether their requirements for all items of property can be satisfied out of surplus property in the hands of the disposal agencies.

(b) Notice of offering. Disposal agencies shall give, so far as practicable, uniform and wide public notice to all priority claimants of surplus property available or offered for sale within the area in which the offering is made. Government agencies and State and local governments shall have the right upon request to be put on mailing lists for notices in all cases where such lists are used to offer property for disposal, including mailing lists otherwise reserved to special classes of buyers. If paid public advertising is used as the method of offering, no other notice need be given priority claimants, except for Federal agencies and State and local governments to whom public advertising shall not constitute proper notification.

§ 8302.8 Issuance of certificates to veterans. [Deleted August 18, 1947.]

§ 8302.9 Transfers and disposals to priority claimants. (a) A veteran desiring to exercise his priority shall present his discharge papers or other satisfactory evidence that he is a veteran except that veterans applying for aircraft, or industrial equipment of the types set forth by order issued hereunder, shall, in addition, apply for a certification to any office of War Assets Administration and shall furnish such information as may be requested. Any certification so issued may be cancelled for cause. War Assets Administration shall satisfy itself that the property applied for is to enable the veteran to establish or maintain his own small business, professional, or agricultural enterprise as defined in § 8302.1 (b) (4) of this part. No person may purchase on a veteran's priority property to be used in more than one small business, professional, or agricultural enterprise. Special effort shall be made to insure that property available to veterans may be inspected by them.

(b) Except in the case of transfers to Reconstruction Finance Corporation for resale under section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, and disposals to veterans of property to be resold with or without processing or fabrication in the regular course of business, transfers or disposals to priority claimants shall be for their own use only and not for transfer or disposition by them to others, and disposal agencies shall require priority claimants so to certify. Title to property being acquired by priority pursuant to the provisions of this part shall not be transferred by the disposal agency to any person other than the acquiring priority claimant, except in the case of purchases by Reconstruction Finance Corporation under section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, and except in the case of purchases by veterans, who may take title either in their own names or in the names of their own business or professional or agricultural enterprises as defined in § 8302.1 (b) (3). The priorities granted pursuant to the provisions of this part may not be assigned nor transferred nor used for the benefit of any other person.

(c) [Deleted August 18, 1947.]

(d) Disposal agencies shall make such transfers of surplus property to a Government agency without reimbursement or transfer of funds whenever a transfer on such terms by the owning agency (by which such property was declared surplus) would be authorized by any law approved subsequent to June 21, 1944 to be made to the agency desiring such property. The agency desiring such property without reimbursement or transfer of funds shall cite its authority for such transfer and shall pay all transportation charges but not the cost of packing, and shall furnish when necessary a Government bill of lading bearing identification of the appropriation against which such transportation charges are to be charged.

(e) Subject to the provisions of § 8302.10, disposal agencies may establish the maximum and minimum quantities which may be acquired by any one priority claimant at any one time during a given period of time. When the supply of any type of surplus property offered at any time will be insufficient to fill the orders of eligible claimants, equitable distribution among such claimants may be accomplished (1) on a first-come first-served basis in fixed price sales after establishment of maximum quantities or (2) on such other allocation basis as shall be approved by the disposal agency. Maximum quantities shall not be established in a manner which will prevent claimants in a higher priority class from satisfying their legitimate requirements in order to offer a portion of the property to claimants in a lower priority or non-priority class. In giving public notice of availability of any property, disposal agencies shall whenever practicable specify the method by which distribution of such property will be made among claimants. No priority claimant shall be denied the right to priority by reason of location or residence during the period of offering to claimants in the same class.

(f) No property shall be offered to non-priority claimants unless it has first been offered to priority claimants or necessary provision has been made for reservations for priority claimants in accordance with § 8302.6. Orders from priority claimants shall be filled from any available surplus property, subject to the provisions of §§8302.4, 8302.5, and 8302.6. If no property is available or likely to become available, the disposal agency shall promptly notify the claimant and upon the dispatching of such notification the order shall lapse. If there is no definite assurance that property requested will become available, the claimant shall be advised that the order has been cancelled. Unless the advertising otherwise states, property already advertised for public competitive bids or for sale at auction or for immediate purchase at a fixed time and property specifically selected by a prospective purchaser shall not be considered available for priority claimants.

§ 8302.10 Transfers of surplus standard administrative and maintenance property to the Treasury Department and acqisition of such property by Government agencies. (a) In order to facilitate the transfer of surplus property from one Government agency to other Government agencies for their own use and not for transfer or disposition to others outside the Government, the Treasury Department as the central procurement agency of the Government may acquire from the disposal agencies such quantities of surplus standard administrative and maintenance property as it needs to satisfy the requirements for such property of all Government agencies within the continental United States, other than the War Department, Navy Department, and Veterans Administration, and other than each disposal agency for the types of property for which it is designated as such under Part 8301.[1]

Government agencies shall cooperate with the Treasury Department in compiling estimates and shall provide the Treasury Department with such information concerning their requirements as it may need in order to promote the fullest utilization of surplus property.

(b) Disposal agencies shall transfer surplus standard administrative and maintenance property to the Treasury Department in accordance with the provisions of § 8302.9 and at a fair value which reflects the estimated expenses to be incurred by the Treasury Department in making distribution to Government agencies, and the Treasury Department shall promptly upon such transfer take possession and assume responsibility for the care, handling, and disposition of such property.

(c) It shall be the responsibility of all such Government agencies, in order to avoid making purchases of such property through commercial channels when such property is available from surplus, continuously to consult the stock catalogues issued by the Bureau of Federal Supply of the Treasury Department and the inventory records of War Assets Administration.

(d) Except in cases where transfers may be made without reimbursement or transfer of funds, no Government agency other than the War Department, Navy Department, and Veterans' Administration, and other than each disposal agency for the types of property for which it is designated as such under Part 8301, shall within the continental United States acquire by direct transfer from a disposal agency any type of surplus standard administrative or maintenance property which is offered for disposal by the Treasury Department and immediately available for acquisition by such Government agency: Provided, That if none of a desired type of property is immediately available for acquisition by a Government agency, such agency may purchase such desired property directly from the disposal agency: And provided further, That Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall be entitled to acquire any such property from a disposal agency for resale under section 18 (e) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944.

§ 8302.11 Fair value. Disposal agencies shall fix the fair value at which property shall be acquired by priority claimants. Such fair value shall not be greater than the lowest price which is offered to any trade level at the time of acquisition by the priority claimant, or where the fair value is fixed after examining competitive bids from nonpriority claimants, it shall not be greater than the lowest acceptable bid. In competition between claimants within a given priority band, fair value shall be the highest acceptable bid received.

§ 8302.12 Acquisitions by priority claimants without exercising priority. In addition to acquiring property under §§ 8302.5 and 8302.6, Government agencies, except as to standard administrative and maintenance property desired for their own use, and State and local governments shall be entitled to submit offers whenever surplus property is otherwise offered for sale, without regard for the location of the property, except that offers shall not be entitled to priority nor shall offers from Federal agencies to acquire without reimbursement be recognized at competitive bid sales of residual property. Government agencies may under this section acquire any surplus property (including standard administrative and maintenance property) for transfer or disposition to others. Nothing in this part shall prevent veterans from acquiring any property directly from a disposal agency without exercising priority if they are included within the class of buyers to whom the disposal agency is offering such property. Such purchases made by a priority claimant without priority shall be governed by the prices, terms, and conditions of the offering made by the disposal agency and pursuant to any other provisions of this part.

§ 8302.13 Records and reports. Owning and disposal agencies shall prepare and maintain such records as will show full compliance with the provisions of this part and with the applicable provisions of the Act. Reports shall be prepared and filed with the War Assets Administrator in such manner as may be specified by orders issued under this part subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 8302.14 Regulations by disposal agencies to be reported to the War Assets Administrator. Each disposal agency shall file with the War Assets Administrator copies of all regulations, orders, and instructions of general applicability which it may issue in furtherance of the provisions, or any of them, of this part.

This revision of this part shall become effective August 18, 1947.

ROBERT M. LITTLEJOHN, Administrator.

PART 2—VESSEL INSPECTIONS

PART 3—MERCHANT MARINE PERSONNEL

NAVIGATION AND VESSEL INSPECTION LAWS, AND SHIPMENT AND DISCHARGE OF SEAMEN

By virtue of the authority vested in me by section 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946 (11 F. R. 7875); Public Law 404, 79th Congress (60 Stat. 237); Public Law 27, 80th Congress, approved March 31, 1947; and Public Law 293, 80th Congress, approved July 31, 1947, the following amendments to the regulations are prescribed and shall be effective on and after August 1, 1947:

1. Section 2.50-1 (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 2.50-1 Waivers—(a) Authority for and limitations on issuance. Compliance with certain of the navigation and vessel inspection laws may be waived by the Commandant under authority of the act of March 31, 1947 (Pub. Law 27, 80th Cong.) as amended by the act of July 31, 1947 (Pub. Law 293, 80th Cong.), in any case where such waiver is deemed necessary in the orderly reconversion of the merchant marine from wartime to peacetime operations. By the terms of Public Law 27, as amended by Public Law 293, this authority to grant waivers expires April 1, 1948. The Commandant is specifically prohibited from granting waivers for the employment of alien seamen except for those who served between December 7, 1941 and September 2, 1945, aboard vessels operated by the War Shipping Administration, the United States Maritime Commission, or the Army Transport Service. This includes foreign flag vessels operated by these agencies.

2. Section 3.13-25 (b) (2) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.13-25 Crew deficiencies. * * *
(b) Restrictions on substitutions. * * *

(2) This waiver does not permit aliens to serve as watch officers on United States vessels and the procedure set up by the Coast Guard for approving aliens to serve under waiver as watch officers is inoperative and all outstanding lists of approved aliens and individual letters of approval are without force and effect.

3. Part 3 is amended by adding a new section reading as follows:

§ 3.13-26 Employment of aliens as unlicensed crew members—(a) Authority for employment. The order dated July 31, 1947, identified as document CGFR-47-39 (12 F. R. 5342), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER for August 6, 1947, is a conditional waiver of certain navigation and vessel inspection laws and permits the employment of aliens in the unlicensed crew of subsidized United States vessels subject to certain restrictions. Aliens eligible for employment under this waiver are those who served between December 7, 1941, and September 2, 1945, aboard vessels operated by the War Shipping Administration, the United States Maritime Commission, or the Army Transport Service. This waiver is effective on and after August 1, 1947.
(b) Restrictions on employment. (1) The waiver referred to in paragraph (a) of this section is a general waiver and requires no forms or other reports of aliens employed under its provisions. It does, however, limit the number of aliens who may be employed under its provisions to 25 percent of the total unlicensed crew of the particular vessel and provides that aliens may be employed only if citizen seamen with appropriate ratings are not available for employment in the unlicensed crew as determined after reasonable efforts made by the master, or owner, or others concerned with supplying crews. Aliens claiming to have the required service between December 7, 1941 and September 2, 1945 must present to the shipping commissioner or master at the time of employment evidence in the form of certificates of discharge or other properly authenticated record of service showing the name of the vessels and dates served thereon. The employment of aliens to serve as watch officers on United States vessels is not allowed and nothing in this waiver permits such employment.

Pursuant to the authority contained in section 358 (c) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (55 Stat. 89; 7 U. S. CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR, Parts 41, 61]

TAKE-OFF LIMITATIONS TO PROVIDE FOR TEMPERATURE ACCOUNTABILITY

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

AUGUST 14, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration proposed amendments to Parts 41 and 61 of the Civil Air Regulations which will require that temperature deviation from that of standard air shall be taken into account when computing the take-off limitations of airplanes certificated under the transport category.

Deviation of outside air temperature from that of standard air can have an appreciable effect upon the take-off performance of an airplane. At the present time the applicable provisions of Parts 41 and 61 do not adequately take into account such effect. This matter will be the subject of preliminary discussions by the appropriate divisions of the International Civil Aviation Organization in September in Paris, and it is expected permanent international standards will be formulated within the next year. The implementation of such standards will of necessity take some time, and it is doubtful that they will be able to be placed in effect next summer. Accordingly, it appears desirable in the interest of safety that interim measures be adopted to require that temperature deviation be taken into account in the establishment of take-off limitations for all scheduled air carrier aircraft certificated pursuant to the transport category.

It is proposed to amend §§ 41.271 (c) and 61.7122 (c) by adding a new paragraph to read as follows:

In applying the requirement of paragraph (a) account shall be taken of all deviation of the existing ambient air temperature above that of standard air. In applying the requirement of paragraph (b) account shall be taken of ½ the deviation of the existing ambient air temperature above that of standard air. Similar account may be taken in applying the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) for the deviation of the existing ambient air temperature below that of standard air.

These regulations are proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, and would become effective optionally on the date of adoption and will become mandatory on March 1, 1948.

It is the desire of the Board that those interested offer suggestions and comments regarding the proposed amendments. Comments in writing should be addressed to the Secretary, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C., for receipt by August 29, 1947.

(52 Stat. 984, 1007; 49 U. S. C. 425, 551)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Acting Secretary.

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

AUGUST 14, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on July 30, 1947, United Gas Pipe Line Company (applicant), a Delaware Corporation, having its principal place of business at Shreveport, Louisiana, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 5.9 miles of 7-inch natural-gas transmission pipeline extending from applicant's Carthage-Sterlington transmission line, near Mile Post 100, to Applicant's 7-inch Monroe-Hodge transmission pipeline, near Mile Post 34, together with appurtenant facilities, for the purpose of serving the Hodge-Jonesboro area in Louisiana with gas from the Carthage field.

Applicant recites that the proposed facilities will be operated at a maximum pressure of not exceeding 750 pounds at the point of connection with the 7-inch Hodge line and will have an estimated maximum daily delivery capacity of approximately 27,000 Mcf. Applicant's present 7-inch Monroe-Hodge pipeline has a maximum daily delivery capacity of approximately 11,700 Mcf, which is a declining figure because of the decline in the pressure of the wells in the Monroe field. Applicant estimates that the maximum daily demand in the Hodge-Jonesboro area for the 1947-48 season is 12,200 Mcf, and for the 1952-53 season is 13,620 Mcf. Applicant states that it is probable that continued decrease in the delivery capacity in the Monroe field will make it desirable to eventually deliver all of the requirements of the Hodge-Jonesboro area through the proposed facilities, thus making it possible to remove a large portion of the present facilities. Applicant states that its contract of June 3, 1942, as amended, with Louisiana Power and Light Company for resale in the Towns of Hodge and Jonesboro, Louisiana, will be timely filed with the Commission as a rate schedule.

Applicant estimates the total over-all cost of construction at $103,000, which applicant proposes to finance out of cash on hand.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of Rule 37 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR

1.37) and, if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with reasons for such request.

The application of United Gas Pipe Line Company is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 15 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of Rule 8 or 10, whichever is applicable, of the rules of practice and procedure (as amended on June 16, 1947) (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10).

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 812-505]

BANKERS SECURITIES CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 14th day of August A. D. 1947.

Notice is hereby given that Bankers Securities Corporation ("Bankers") has filed an application pursuant to section 6 (c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 for an order exempting from the provisions of section 17 (e) (1) of the act the receipt by Rudolph J. Bushell ("Bushell") of the sum of $5,000 from Bankers for his services in connection with the purchase and sale by Bankers of certain portfolio securities.

Bankers is a closed-end management nondiversified investment company and is registered under the act. Bankers and Albert M. Greenfield & Co. ("Greenfield & Co.") are companies under common control and hence affiliated persons of each other. Bushell is a vice president of Greenfield & Co. and is an affiliated person of an affiliated person (Greenfield & Co.) of Bankers.

Bushell was instrumental in effecting the purchase by Bankers on September 4, 1946 of 1,403 shares of the common stock of The Boardwalk National Bank of Atlantic City ("Boardwalk") at a cost of $259,060. Subsequently on May 13, 1947, Bankers sold the shares of Boardwalk for $350,750 resulting in a profit of $91,690: To compensate Bushell for his services the Board of Directors of Bankers at a meeting held on July 17, 1947 voted to pay Bushell the sum of $5,000.

The receipt of compensation by Bushell for his services as agent in connection with the above mentioned transaction is prohibited by section 17 (e) (1) of the act since Bushell is an affiliated person of an affiliated person of Bankers, unless such payment is exempted by order of the Commission pursuant to section 6 (c) of the act. Bankers represents that payment of such compensation should be exempted from the prohibitions of section 17 (e) (1) of the act since the exemption requested is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policies and provisions of the act.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file at the Philadelphia, Pa. offices of this Commission for a more detailed statement of the matters of fact and law therein asserted.

Notice is further given that an order granting the application may be issued by the Commission at any time after August 26, 1947 unless prior thereto a hearing on the application is ordered by the Commission as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act. Any interested person may, not later than August 22, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., in writing, submit to the Commission his views or any additional facts bearing upon the application or the desirability of a hearing thereon or request the Commission, in writing, that a hearing be held thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, and should state briefly the nature and interest of the person submitting such information or requesting a hearing, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by the application which he desires to controvert.

By the Commission.

Assistant to the Secretary.

NORTHERN NEW ENGLAND CO. AND NEW ENGLAND PUBLIC SERVICE CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER RECONVENING HEARINGS

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 14th day of August A. D. 1947.

Notice is hereby given that New England Public Service Company ("NEPSCO"), a registered holding company, has filed a written notice proposing to adopt Alternative 1 of its amended plan, heretofore filed and approved, subject to certain reservations of jurisdiction by the Commission, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and enforced by the District Court of the United States for the District of Maine (Southern Division), in respect to the retirement of all of its outstanding Prior Lien Preferred Stock (Holding Company Act Release No. 7511).

Reference

All interested persons are referred to said notice which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the action therein proposed to be taken which may be summarized as follows:

The plan as amended provided that each share of Prior Lien stock would be retired by payment to the holder thereof cash in the amount of $171.31 in the case of the $7 Series, and $161.12 in the case of the $6 Series together with, in each case, accrued current dividends to the date of consummation, and by delivery to him of a certificate of contingent interest calling for such additional payment, if any (not exceeding $20 per share for the $7 Series, and $10 per share for the $6 Series), and such compensation for delay in the payment thereof, as might be determined by final order in the proceedings before the Commission. Said plan as amended further provided that at the option of the holders of Prior Lien stock, and in lieu of the above cash payment, they may receive common stock of NEPSCO's subsidiary, Public Service Company of New Hampshire ("New Hampshire"), taken at the initial public offering price per share established by the successful bidder at competitive bidding, with cash adjustments for fractional shares and with the right of NEPSCO to reduce elections to receive stock pro rata, if and insofar as might be necessary for NEPSCO to use the entire $16,500,000 proceeds from the sale of its industrial assets to retire Prior Lien stock. The plan as amended further contained various alternatives, including an alternative hereinafter referred to as "Alternative 1." Alternative 1 provided that NEPSCO might, under certain circumstances, elect to cancel competitive bidding for the common stock of New Hampshire and to fix a price at which Prior Lien stockholders might take such stock.

The Commission having approved said plan as amended, subject to a reservation of jurisdiction with respect to the adoption of certain alternatives, including Alternative 1, and the specific steps to be taken in implementing said alternatives and the same having been approved by the District Court of the United States for the District of Maine, NEPSCO has now filed with this Commission its notice of election to adopt Alternative 1, wherein it proposes to cancel competitive bidding, to assign to the New Hampshire common stock an exchange value of $35 per share and to borrow from banks such amount, if any, but not to exceed $16,000,000, as may be necessary to retire all of NEPSCO's Prior Lien stock. Said exchange offer will not be made until the Commission has approved the adoption of Alternative 1 and thereafter Prior Lien stockholders will be given at least ten days within which to accept or reject said offer.

NEPSCO states that in its judgment under existing market conditions it does not appear possible for the company to net an amount through a sale for cash which will equal the intrinsic worth of the New Hampshire stock and that considering the short time schedule, if tax savings are to be preserved, it is unfair to its junior stockholders to jeopardize the success of the exchange offer and the tax savings by making the exchange offer dependent upon the success of a public offering of the New Hampshire stock for cash.

NEPSCO further states that it has obtained a commitment of five banks and trust companies to lend it up to $16,000,000 for a period of one year with the right to two successive renewals of one year each at an interest rate of 2¼% as may be required to effect the retirement of the Prior Lien Preferred stock and has paid commitment fees aggregating $25,000 therefor.

NEPSCO further states that it has employed a group of security dealers headed by Blyth & Co., Inc. and Kidder, Peabody & Co. to solicit exchanges of NEPSCO Prior Lien Preferred stock for New Hampshire common stock, and has agreed to pay them $2.50 per share of such Prior Lien stock procured by them for exchange, plus a management fee of $10,000, and to reimburse them for out-of-pocket disbursements, including legal fees, not to exceed $3,500.

The Commission deeming it appropriate that the hearings held on said plan be reconvened for the limited purpose of adducing evidence and affording all interested persons an opportunity to be heard with respect to the issues raised by the proposed adoption of Alternative 1 by NEPSCO, but for no other purpose:

It is ordered, That the proceedings with respect to this plan be reopened and that the hearings be reconvened on August 25, 1947, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, in such room as may be designated on that day by the hearing-room clerk in Room 318.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of said notice and that upon the basis thereof the following matters and questions are presented for consideration, without prejudice to its specifying additional matters and questions upon further examination:

1. Whether, under existing circumstances and upon the terms proposed by NEPSCO, the adoption of Alternative 1 is appropriate.

2. Whether the amount of $35 per share assigned to the common stock of New Hampshire, for the purpose of effecting voluntary exchanges is reasonable.

3. Whether the compensation to be paid for the solicitation of exchanges is reasonable and not excessive.

4. Whether the terms and provisions of the proposed bank loan are reasonable.

It is further ordered, That particular attention be directed at said hearing to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That any person not heretofore having appeared in these proceedings and now desiring to be heard or proposing to intervene herein shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before August 22, 1947, his request or application therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the commission.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid reconvened hearing by mailing copies of this order by registered mail to the parties above-named herein, to all persons heretofore granted participation in these proceedings, to the Public Service Commissions of the States of New Hampshire and Vermont, to the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Maine and to the Federal Power Commission, and that notice of said reconvened hearing shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission, which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and that further notice be given to all persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That New England Public Service Company shall give further notice of said reconvened hearing to all of its stockholders of record and to the shareholders of record of Northern New England Company by mailing to each of said persons at his last known address a communication giving notice of the proposed adoption of Alternative 1, of the amount assigned to the New Hampshire stock, and of the date, time and place of the hearing before the Commission, at least six days prior to the date of said hearing.

By the Commission.

Assistant to the Secretary.

[Quarantine No. 75]

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

HAWAIIAN CITRUS NURSERY STOCK QUARANTINE

Introductory note. This quarantine is issued for the purpose of preventing the spread of the citrus canker disease from Hawaii, where it has been found to occur, to the mainland of the United States. Protection from entry of this disease from foreign countries where it occurs is afforded in notice of quarantine No. 19, revised, which prohibits the importation from all foreign countries and localities of all plants or any part thereof, except seeds and fruit, of all genera, species, and varieties of the rutaceous subfamilies Aurantioideae, Rutoideae, and Toddalioideae. The following quarantine similarly proscribes the movement in domestic commerce of this same host material from Hawaii to the mainland.

Transportation, shipment, or movement of fruits of these genera, species, and varieties will continue to be governed by 7 CFR 301.13.

Notice of determination of the Secretary of Agriculture. Information available to the Secretary of Agriculture and presented at a public hearing on December 6, 1946, shows that a dangerous plant disease, known as "citrus canker," occurs in Hawaii. This disease may be spread through the movement of citrus plant material. To prevent the introduction of this disease and other citrus diseases into the United States from foreign countries where they occur, Notice of Quarantine No. 19, revised, prohibits the importation of all plants or any part thereof, except fruit and seeds, of all genera, species, and varieties of the rutaceous subfamilies Aurantioideae, Rutoideae, and Toddalioideae from foreign countries and localities. In order to afford the citrus industry of the continental United States similar protection from spread of the disease from the Territory of Hawaii, the Secretary of Agriculture has determined that it is necessary to quarantine that Territory and to prescribe that the above-mentioned plant material shall not be moved therefrom to any other State or Territory or District of the United States.

§ 301.75 Notice of quarantine. (a) The Secretary of Agriculture, having given the public hearing required by law, quarantines the Territory of Hawaii in order to prevent the spread therefrom of a dangerous plant disease known as citrus canker (Xanthomonas citri (Hasse) Dowson), and other citrus diseases not now known to be widely prevalent or distributed within and throughout the United States.

(b) Hereafter plants or any plant part, except fruits and seeds, of all genera, species, and varieties of the subfamilies Aurantioideae, Rutoideae, and Toddalioideae of the botanical family Rutaceae shall not be shipped, offered for shipment to a common carrier, transported, carried, moved, or allowed to be moved from the Territory of Hawaii into or through any other State or Territory or District of the United States in any manner or by any method, except that this quarantine shall not apply to shipments for experimental or scientific purposes by the United States Department of Agriculture upon such conditions and under such requirements as may be prescribed by the Chief of Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine for such shipments.

(c) This quarantine shall be effective on and after September 15, 1947. (Sec. 8, 37 Stat. 318, 39 Stat. 1165, 44 Stat. 250; 7 U. S. C. 161)

Seeds of prohibited plants may be imported as heretofore under the provisions of Nursery Stock, Plant and Seed Quarantine, No. 37 (7 CFR 319.37). Fruits are prohibited entry under the provisions of Citrus Fruit Quarantine (7 CFR 319.28).

Notice of determination of the Secretary of Agriculture. Information available to the Secretary of Agriculture, and presented on December 5, 1946, at a public hearing, as required by law, discloses that plants of the rutaceous subfamilies Rutoideae and Toddalioideae, as well as those of all genera, species and varieties of the subfamily Aurantioideae, some of which were included in previous revisions of this quarantine, are susceptible to attack by citrus canker, and also other citrus diseases. It has been determined therefore that it is necessary further to revise the citrus nursery stock quarantine to prohibit the entry into the continental United States, Puerto Rico, and Hawaii of these additional genera of plants that have been found to serve as hosts of citrus canker. The quarantine is therefore revised to read as follows:

§ 319.19 Notice of quarantine. (a) The Secretary of Agriculture, having given the public hearing required by law, declares that it is necessary, in order to prevent the introduction into the United States of the citrus canker disease (Xanthomonas citri (Hasse) Dowson), and also other citrus diseases, all of which are new to and not heretofore widely prevalent or distributed within and throughout the United States, to forbid the importation into the continental United States, Puerto Rico, and Hawaii of plants or any plant part, except fruit and seeds, of all genera, species, and varieties of the subfamilies Aurantioideae, Rutoideae and Toddalioideae of the botanical family Rutaceae, from Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, Central America, North America outside of the United States, Australia, and foreign oceanic countries and islands.

(b) Hereafter the importation from the foreign countries and localities named of plants or any plant part, except fruit and seeds, of all genera, species, and varieties of the subfamilies Aurantioideae, Rutoideae, and Toddalioideae of the botanical family Rutaceae, is prohibited.

(c) This prohibition shall not apply to importations for experimental or scientific purposes by the United States Department of Agriculture upon such conditions and under such requirements as may be prescribed by the Chief of Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, for such importations.

(d) This revision of the quarantine shall be effective on and after September 15, 1947, and shall supersede the quarantine revision issued August 17, 1934. (Sec. 7, 37 Stat. 317; 7 U. S. C. 160)

Such payments shall continue only so long as the contract of insurance shall remain in effect. The mortgage should provide that upon payment of the mortgage before maturity, the mortgagor shall pay the adjusted premium charge referred to in § 577.3 (b) Part 577, Title 24, Chapter V, Subchapter H, Code of Federal Regulations, but shall not provide for the payment of any further charge on account of such prepayment.

§ 578.14 Mortgagor's payments to include other charges. The mortgage shall provide for such equal monthly payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee as will amortize the ground rents, if any, and the estimated amount of all taxes, special assessments, if any, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums, within a period ending one month prior to the dates on which the same become delinquent. The mortgage shall further provide that such payments shall be held by the mortgagee in a manner satisfactory to the Commissioner, for the purpose of paying such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums, before the same become delinquent, for the benefit and account of the mortgagor. The mortgage must also make provision for adjustments in case the estimated amount of such taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums shall prove to be more, or less, than the actual amount thereof so paid by the mortgagor.

§ 578.15 Mortgagee's application of payments. All monthly payments to be made by the mortgagor to the mortgagee as hereinabove provided, in §§ 578.11 to 578.14, inclusive, shall be added together and the aggregate amount thereof shall be paid by the mortgagor each month in a single payment. The mortgagee shall apply the same to the following items in the order set forth:

(a) Premium charges under the contract of insurance;

(b) Ground rents, taxes, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums;

(c) Interest on the mortgage; and

(d) Amortization of the principal of the mortgage.

Any deficiency in the amount of any such aggregate monthly payment shall, unless made good by the mortgagor prior to, or on, the due date of the next such payment, constitute an event of default under the mortgage.

§ 578.16 Late charge. The mortgage may provide for a charge by the mortgagee of a "late charge", not to exceed two (2) cents for each dollar of each payment more than fifteen (15) days in arrears, to cover the extra expense involved in handling delinquent payments.

§ 578.17 Mortgagor's payments when mortgage is executed. The mortgagor must pay to the mortgagee, upon the execution of the mortgage, a sum that will be sufficient to pay the ground rents, if any, and the estimated taxes, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums for the period beginning on the date to which such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums were last paid and ending on the date of the first monthly payment under the mortgage and may be required to pay a further sum equal to the first annual mortgage insurance premium, plus an amount sufficient to pay the mortgage insurance premium from the date of closing the loan to the date of the first monthly payment.

§ 578.18 Initial service charge. The mortgagee may charge the mortgagor the amount of the appraisal fee provided for in § 578.5 and an initial service charge to reimburse itself for the cost of closing the transaction. Such service charge shall not exceed one per centum (1%) of the original principal amount of the mortgage or a charge of twenty dollars ($20), whichever is the greater.

§ 578.19 Approval of other charges. In addition to the charges hereinbefore mentioned, the mortgagee may collect from the mortgagor only recording fees and such appraisal fees and cost of title search as are approved by the Commissioner.

§ 578.20 Project must be acceptable risk in view of shortage of housing. The mortgage must be executed with respect to a project which, in the opinion of the Commissioner, is an acceptable risk in view of the shortage of housing.

ELIGIBLE MORTGAGORS

§ 578.21 Mortgage must be only lien upon property. A mortgagor must establish that after the mortgage offered for insurance has been recorded, the mortgaged property will be free and clear of all liens other than such mortgage and that there will not be outstanding any other unpaid obligation contracted in connection with the mortgage transaction or the purchase of the mortgaged property, except obligations which are secured by property or collateral owned by the mortgagor independently of the mortgaged property: Provided, That if the mortgagor is a veteran and obtains a guaranteed loan under Title III of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, as amended, the existence of such loan or any secondary lien upon the mortgaged property to secure such loan shall not render the first mortgage ineligible for insurance.

§ 578.22 Relationship of income to mortgage payments. A mortgagor must establish that the periodic payments required in the mortgage submitted for insurance bear a proper relation to his present and anticipated income and expenses.

§ 578.23 Credit standing of mortgagor. A mortgagor must have a general credit standing satisfactory to the Commissioner.

§ 578.24 Residence of mortgagor. A mortgagor is not restricted as to place of residence and need not be the occupant of the property covered by the mortgage.

§ 578.25 Occupancy priority to veterans of World War II. The mortgagor must establish, prior to insurance, in a manner satisfactory to the Commissioner, that preference or priority of opportunity to purchase or rent will be given to veterans of World War II and their immediate families, except that this requirement does not apply to hardship cases as defined by the Commissioner and approved by him.

§ 578.26 Holding property for rent. The Commissioner may, in his discretion, require the mortgagor to establish that the property will be held for rent in such instances and for such periods of time as the Commissioner may prescribe.

ELIGIBLE PROPERTIES

§ 578.27 Nature of title to the realty. A mortgage to be eligible for insurance must be on real estate held in fee simple, or on leasehold under a lease for not less than ninety-nine (99) years which is renewable, or under a lease with a period of not less than fifty (50) years to run from the date the mortgage is executed.

§ 578.28 Dwelling unit located on property. At the time a mortgage is insured there must be located on the mortgaged property a dwelling unit designed principally for residential use for not more than seven families.

§ 578.29 Standards for buildings. The buildings on the mortgaged property must conform with the standards prescribed by the Commissioner.

§ 578.30 Effective date. The Administrative rules in this part are effective as to all mortgages on which a commitment to insure under section 603 pursuant to section 610 is issued to an approved mortgagee on or after August 19, 1947.

APPROVAL OF MORTGAGEES

§ 583.1 Classification of mortgagees. The following may become the mortgagee of a mortgage insured under section 608 of the National Housing Act, pursuant to section 610:

(a) Any institution or organization which is approved as a mortgagee under sections 203 (b) or 603 (b) of the National Housing Act; and

(b) Any other chartered institution or permanent organization having succession, upon its approval by the Commissioner for a particular transaction.

§ 583.2 Property inspection by mortgagee. As a condition precedent to insurance, the mortgagee must agree that it will ascertain the general physical condition of the mortgaged property at intervals not greater than one (1) year; and that, if at any time it be determined by the mortgagee that, in addition to ordinary wear and tear, the mortgaged property is being subjected to permanent or substantial injury, through unreasonable use, abuse or neglect, the mortgagee will, unless adequate provision satisfactory to a prudent lender is made for the prompt restoration of the mortgaged property, forthwith take such action as may be available to it under the mortgage and appropriate to the particular case, for the protection and preservation of the mortgaged property and the income therefrom, and the submission of an application for insurance shall be evidence of such agreement.

§ 583.3 Non-approval. The Commissioner reserves the right to refuse to approve any institution or organization as the mortgagee of a particular mortgage or to withhold any such approval pending compliance by such institution or organization, with additional conditions which in the discretion of the Commissioner are required in the particular case.

§ 583.4 Withdrawal of approval. Approval of a mortgagee may be withdrawn by notice from the Commissioner upon violation of the agreement mentioned in § 583.2, and such approval may also be withdrawn at any time for other cause sufficient to the Commissioner, but no withdrawal will in any way affect the insurance on mortgages theretofore accepted for insurance.

APPLICATION AND COMMITMENT

§ 583.5 Submission of application. Any approved mortgagee may submit an application for insurance of a mortgage about to be executed or of a mortgage already executed.

§ 583.6 Form of application. The application must be made upon a standard form prescribed by the Commissioner and filed at the local Federal Housing Administration office serving the area in which the property is located.

§ 583.7 Application fee. The application must be accompanied by the mortgagee's check to cover, (a) an "Application Fee" computed at the rate of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per thousand dollars ($1,000) of the original face amount of the mortgage loan for which application is made, to cover the costs of analysis by the Commissioner, and (b) a sum (referred to as "Commitment Fee") which when added to the Application Fee will aggregate three dollars ($3) per thousand of the face amount of the mortgage loan approved for insurance by the Commissioner, and which shall be paid at the time of delivery of the commitment. If the application is refused without an estimate of replacement cost being made by the Commissioner, the fee paid will be returned to the applicant. If, after insurance, the amount of an insured mortgage is increased either by amendment or by the substitution of a new insured mortgage, a further fee shall be paid, based upon the amount of such increase.

§ 583.8 Approval of application. Upon approval of an application, a commitment will be issued upon a form approved by the Commissioner, setting forth the terms and conditions upon which the mortgage will be insured.

ELIGIBLE MORTGAGES

§ 583.9 Eligible mortgages. To be eligible for insurance the mortgage must be executed in connection with the sale by the United States Government, or an agency or official thereof, of housing acquired or constructed under Public Law 849, 76th Congress, as amended; Public Law 781, 76th Congress, as amended; or Public Laws 9, 73 or 353, 77th Congress, as amended.

§ 583.10 Mortgage must be on approved form. The mortgage must be executed upon a form approved by the Commissioner for use in the jurisdiction in which the property covered by the mortgage is situated by a mortgagor with the qualifications hereinafter set forth in §§ 583.23 to 583.26, inclusive; must be a first lien upon property that conforms with the property standards prescribed by the Commissioner, and the mortgagee must be obligated, as a part of the mortgage transaction, to disburse the entire principal amount of the mortgage to, or for the account of, the mortgagor.

§ 583.11 Amount of principal obligation. The mortgage must secure a principal obligation in multiples of one hundred dollars ($100) but not in excess of five million dollars ($5,000,000) and not in excess of ninety per centum (90%) of the appraised value of the property as determined by the Commissioner.

§ 583.12 Maturity. The mortgage must have a maturity satisfactory to the Commissioner not to exceed 25 years from the date of insurance.

§ 583.13 Interest rate. The mortgage may bear interest at such rate as may be agreed upon between the mortgagee and the mortgagor, but in no case shall such interest rate be in excess of four per centum (4%) per annum. Interest shall be payable only on principal outstanding and shall be payable in monthly installments.

§ 583.14 Amortization provisions. The mortgage must contain complete amortization provisions satisfactory to the Commissioner requiring monthly payments on a level annuity or declining annuity basis as agreed upon by the mortgagor and mortgagee. Payments on account of principal must begin not later than the first day of the month next succeeding the expiration date of the commitment.

§ 583.15 Payment requirements. The mortgage may provide for monthly payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee of an amount equal to one-twelfth (1/12) of the annual mortgage insurance premium payable by the mortgagee to the Commissioner. Such payments shall continue only so long as the contract of insurance shall remain in effect. The mortgage shall provide that upon the payment of the mortgage before maturity, the mortgagor shall pay the adjusted premium charge referred to in § 582.4 of this chapter.

§ 583.16 Covenants for fire and hazard insurance. The mortgage shall contain a covenant binding the mortgagor to keep the property insured by a standard policy or policies against fire and such other hazards as the Commissioner, upon the insurance of the mortgage, may stipulate, in an amount which will comply with the co-insurance clause applicable to the location and character of the property, but not less than eighty percent (80%) of the actual cash value of the insurable improvements and equipment of the project. The initial coverage shall be in an amount estimated by the Commissioner at the time of the issuance of the commitment. The policies evidencing such insurance shall have attached thereto a standard mortgagee clause making loss payable to the mortgagee and the Commissioner, as interests may appear.

§ 583.17 Additional payment requirements. (a) The mortgage shall provide for such equal monthly payments by the mortgagor to the mortgagee as will amortize the ground rents, if any, and the estimated amount of all taxes, water rates and special assessments, if any, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums, within a period ending one month prior to the dates on which the same become delinquent. The mortgage shall further provide that such payments shall be held in trust for the benefit and account of the mortgagor by the mortgagee, for the purpose of paying such ground rents, taxes, water rates and assessments, and insurance premiums, before the same become delinquent. The mortgage must also make provision for adjustments in case the estimated amount of such taxes, water rates and assessments, and insurance premiums shall prove to be more, or less, than the actual amount thereof so paid by the mortgagor.

(b) All monthly payments to be made by the mortgagor to the mortgagee as hereinabove provided in §§ 583.13 to 583.17 inclusive, shall be added together and the aggregate amount thereof shall be paid by the mortgagor each month in a single payment. The mortgagee shall apply the same to the following items in the order set forth:

(1) Premium charges under the contract of insurance;
(2) Ground rents, taxes, water rates, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums;
(3) Interest on the mortgage; and
(4) Amortization of the principal of the mortgage.

Any deficiency in the amount of any such aggregate monthly payment shall, unless made good by the mortgagor prior to or on the due date of the next such payment, constitute an event of default under the mortgage.

§ 583.18 Rights and remedies of mortgagee in event of default or foreclosure. The mortgage must contain a provision or provisions, satisfactory to the Commissioner, giving to the mortgagee, in the event of default or foreclosure of the mortgage, such rights and remedies for the protection and preservation of the property covered by the mortgage and the income therefrom, as are available under the law or custom of the jurisdiction.

§ 583.19 Initial service charge. The mortgagee may charge the mortgagor the amount of the application fees provided in § 583.7 of the regulations in this part and an initial service charge to reimburse itself for the cost of closing the transaction. Such initial service charge may be in an amount not in excess of one per centum (1%) of the original principal amount of the mortgage.

§ 583.20 Recording fees, etc. In addition to the charges hereinbefore mentioned, the mortgagee may collect from the mortgagor only recording fees, mortgage and stamp taxes, if any, and such costs of survey and title search as are approved by the Commissioner.

§ 583.21 Additional terms and conditions. The mortgage may contain such other terms, conditions and provisions with respect to release of parts of the mortgaged property from the lien of the mortgage, insurance, repairs, alterations, payment of taxes, default and management reserves, foreclosure proceedings, anticipation of maturity, and other matters as the Commissioner may in his discretion prescribe or approve. The mortgagee may include in the mortgage a provision for such additional charge in the event of prepayment of principal as may be agreed upon between the mortgagor and mortgagee; Provided, however, That the mortgagor must be permitted to prepay up to fifteen per centum (15%) of the original principal amount of the mortgage in any one calendar year without any such additional charge.

§ 583.22 Soundness of project risk. The mortgage must be executed with respect to a project which, in the opinion of the Commissioner, is an acceptable risk in view of the shortage of housing.

ELIGIBLE MORTGAGORS

§ 583.23 Property free of liens and obligations. A mortgagor must establish that upon final disbursement of the loan, the property covered by the mortgage is free and clear of all liens other than such mortgage, and that there will not be outstanding any other unpaid obligation contracted in connection with the mortgage transaction or the purchase of the mortgaged property, except obligations which are secured by property or collateral owned by the mortgagor independently of the mortgaged property.

§ 583.24 Occupancy priority to veterans. The mortgagor must establish, in a manner satisfactory to the Commissioner, that preference or priority of opportunity to occupy will be given to veterans of World War II and their immediate families, except that this requirement does not apply to hardship cases as defined by the Commissioner and approved by him.

§ 583.25 Satisfactory credit standing. A mortgagor must have a general credit standing satisfactory to the Commissioner.

§ 583.26 Requirements regarding form of mortgagor. In addition to meeting the requirements set forth above in this section, the mortgagor may be (a) an individual; or (b) a corporation or trust formed or created for the purpose of providing housing for rent or sale, and possessing powers necessary therefor and incidental thereto. In either case the Commissioner may require that the mortgagor be regulated or restricted by the Commissioner as to rents or sales or charges and methods of operation to such extent as may be deemed advisable by the Commissioner. In the case of a corporation or trust the mortgagor may be regulated by the Commissioner with respect to capital structure. Such regulation or restriction shall remain in effect until such time as the mortgage insurance contract terminates without obligation upon the Commissioner to issue debentures as a result of such termination. So long as the contract of insurance is in effect a corporate mortgagor shall agree not to engage in any business other than the operation of a rental housing project or projects; or (c) a Federal or State instrumentality, a municipal corporate instrumentality of one or more States, or a limited dividend corporation formed under and restricted by Federal or State housing laws as to rents, charges, and methods of operation.

SUPERVISION OF MORTGAGORS

§ 583.27 Assurance of completion, off-site utilities. The Commissioner may require the deposit with the mortgagee or with an acceptable trustee or escrow agent under an appropriate agreement of such cash as may be required for the completion of off-site public utilities and streets.

§ 583.28 Regulation of mortgagor by Commissioner, in general. (a) A corporate mortgagor or trust shall be regulated through the ownership by the Commissioner of certain shares of special stock (or other evidence of beneficial interest in the mortgagor) which stock or interest will acquire majority voting rights in the event of default under the mortgage or violation of provisions of the charter of the mortgagor or the violation of any valid agreement entered into between the mortgagor, the mortgagee and/or the Commissioner, but only for a period coextensive with the duration of such default or violation. The shares of stock or of beneficial interest issued to the Commissioner, his nominee or nominees and/or the Federal Housing Administration shall be in sufficient amount to constitute under the laws of the particular State a valid special class of stock or interest and shall be issued in consideration of the payment by the Commissioner of not exceeding in the aggregate $100. Such stock shall be represented by certificates issued in the name of the Commissioner, and/or in the name of his nominee or nominees and/or in the name of the Federal Housing Administration, as the Commissioner shall require. Upon the termination of all obligations of the Commissioner under his contract of mortgage insurance or any succeeding contract or agreement covering the mortgage obligation, including the obligation upon the Commissioner to issue debentures as a result of such termination, all regulation and restriction of the mortgagor shall cease. When the right of the Commissioner to regulate or restrict the mortgagor shall so terminate, the shares of special stock or other evidence of beneficial interest shall be surrendered by the Commissioner upon reimbursement of his payments therefor plus accrued dividends, if any, thereon. Such regulation and the additional regulation or restriction hereinafter provided in this section shall be made effective by incorporation of appropriate provisions therefor in the charter or other instrument under which the mortgagor is created, or by agreement.

(b) In the case of an individual mortgagor, regulation by the Commissioner may be exercised through a regulatory agreement in form and content satisfactory to the Commissioner.

§ 583.29 Required supervision of mortgagor. The following are the items which will be regulated or restricted in the manner and to the extent hereinbefore indicated:

(a) No charge shall be made by the mortgagor for the accommodations offered by the project in excess of a rental schedule to be filed with the Commissioner and approved by him or his duly constituted representative prior to the opening of the project for rental, which schedule shall be based upon a maximum average rental fixed prior to the insurance of the mortgage, and shall not thereafter be changed except upon application of the mortgagor to, and the written approval of the change by, the Commissioner.

(b) The established maximum rental shall be the maximum authorized charge against any tenant for the accommodations offered and shall include all services except telephone, gas, electric, and refrigeration facilities. Charges permitted in addition to such maximum rental shall be subject to the approval of the Commissioner.

(c) The regulation and restriction provided for in the paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall not apply so long as the maximum rents are regulated by another agency of the United States Government. Such maximum rental as established by such agency of the United States will be accepted by the Commissioner as an approved rent schedule. Upon the expiration of the authority of any such agency to fix maximum rentals, the established maximum rental schedule then in force with respect to the project shall be the established maximum rental schedule within the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, and shall not thereafter be changed except upon approval of the Commissioner.

(d) A reserve for replacement shall be accumulated and maintained with the mortgagee so long as the mortgage insurance is in force, and the amount and types of such reserves and conditions under which they shall be accumulated, replenished and used, shall be specified in the charter or regulatory agreement. Failure to comply with the terms of this requirement may be considered by the Commissioner as a default under the terms of the charter.

(e) The mortgagor shall keep full and complete records of all corporate meetings of directors, stockholders and finance committee, if any, and of the elections and resignations of its officers; and shall keep complete, orderly and accurate books of account and shall also keep copies of all written contracts or other instruments which affect it or any of its property which shall be subject to inspection and examination by the Commissioner or his duly authorized agents at all reasonable times.

(f) The mortgagor shall furnish at the request of the Commissioner, his employees or attorneys, specific answers to questions upon which information is desired from time to time relative to the income, assets, liabilities, contracts, operation, condition of the property and the status of the insured mortgage and any other information with respect to the mortgagor or its property which may reasonably be required. The above enumeration of specific items shall not be deemed in any manner to limit the generality of the preceding sentence. In case the mortgagor is in default either under the insured mortgage or under its charter, or has failed to meet any of the applicable requirements of this section or is in default with respect to any agreement between the mortgagor and the mortgagee or under any contract for the improvement of the mortgaged premises or under any agreement to which the Federal Housing Commissioner is a party, or in case an inspection shows that the property is not being managed or maintained in a manner satisfactory to the Commissioner, the Commissioner may require the mortgagor to furnish at the expense of the latter a complete audit of its books of account duly certified by a public accountant satisfactory to the Commissioner.

§ 583.30 Waiver of requirements. In the event the mortgagor is a Federal or State instrumentality, a municipal corporate instrumentality of one or more States, or a limited dividend corporation formed under and restricted by Federal or State housing laws as to rents, charges and methods of operation, as described in § 583.26 (c), the Commissioner may, in his discretion, waive the requirements set forth in this section, in whole or in part.

ELIGIBLE PROPERTIES

§ 583.31 Eligibility of property. (a) A mortgage to be eligible for insurance must be on real estate held in fee simple, or on the interest of the lessee under a lease for not less than ninety-nine (99) years which is renewable, or under a lease having a period of not less than fifty (50) years to run from the date the mortgage is executed.

(b) At the time the mortgage is insured there shall be housing accommodations on the mortgaged property designed principally for residential use for not less than eight (8) families in the aggregate conforming to standards satisfactory to the Commissioner.

TITLE

§ 583.32 Eligibility of title. In order to be eligible for insurance, the Commissioner must determine that marketable title to the mortgaged property is vested in the mortgagor as of the date the mortgage is filed for record. The Commissioner will examine the title to property covered by a mortgage offered for insurance and in the event a determination of eligibility with respect to title is made as herein provided, such finding shall constitute a part of the contract of insurance evidenced by the insurance endorsement.

§ 583.33 Title evidence. Upon endorsement of the mortgage for insurance, the mortgagee, without expense to the Commissioner, shall furnish to the Commissioner a survey and title evidence satisfactory to him as provided in paragraphs (a), (b), (c), or (d) of this section as the Commissioner may require.

No. 163——2

(a) A policy of title insurance with respect to such mortgage issued by a company satisfactory to the Commissioner. Such policy shall comply with the "L. I. C. Standard Mortgagee Form," or the "A. T. A. Standard Mortgagee Form," or such other form as may be approved by the Commissioner and which offers substantially the same coverage under substantially the same conditions and stipulations. Such policies may contain such "permitted" and other exceptions, restrictions, and limitations as are approved by the Commissioner. The policy shall become effective as of the date the mortgage is filed for record and shall run to the mortgagee and the Commissioner, their successors and assigns, as their respective interests may appear.

(b) An abstract of title satisfactory to the Commissioner, prepared by an abstract company or individual engaged in the business of preparing abstracts of title, accompanied by a legal opinion satisfactory to the Commissioner, as to the quality of such title, signed by an attorney at law experienced in the examination of titles.

(c) A Torrens or similar title certificate.

(d) Evidence of title conforming to the standards of a supervising branch of the Government of the United States of America, or of any State or territory thereof.

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 583.34 Effective date. These Administrative Rules are effective as to all mortgages on which a commitment to insure under section 608, pursuant to section 610, is issued, on or after August 19, 1947.

Issued at Washington, D. C., August 19, 1947.

§ 21.227 Desert Game Range, Nevada; hunting. (a) Until further notice, deer may be taken on certain lands of the United States, hereinafter described, within the Desert Game Range, during such periods of special open season and in such numbers and sex as may be prescribed by the State Fish and Game Commission of Nevada, after a joint annual examination of the range by the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Fish and Game Commission of Nevada, subject to the following special provisions, conditions, restrictions, and requirements.

(1) Area open to hunting. The following described lands of the United States within the Desert Game Range shall be open to the hunting of deer:

Beginning at a point where the Kyle Canyon Road intersects Highway No. 95 near Tule Springs Ranch; thence in a westerly direction along the Kyly Canyon Road approximately 6 miles; thence in a southwesterly direction along the ridge and summit of LaMadre Mountain to the summit of the Spring Mountain Range; thence in a northwesterly direction along the summit of Spring Mountain Range to the boundary of the Nevada National Forest; thence in northerly and westerly directions along the eastern and northern boundaries of the Nevada National Forest to the extreme northwest corner of said Forest; thence in a westerly direction to the Nye and Clark County line; thence north to Highway No. 95; thence in an easterly and southeasterly direction along Highway No. 95 to the point of beginning.

(2) Entry on and use of the Range for any purpose is governed by the regulations of the Secretary dated December 19, 1940 (5 F. R. 5284), as amended, and regulations for the administration of Game Ranges established in conjunction with the organization of Grazing Districts under the Taylor Grazing Act (sec. 1, 48 Stat. 1269, as amended; 43 U. S. C. 315), and strict compliance therewith is required.

(3) Strict compliance with all State laws and regulations is required, and any person who hunts on the Range must have in his possession, and exhibit at the request of any authorized Federal or State officer, a valid State hunting license and a special permit issued by the State authorizing him to hunt on the area. Such State license and permit will serve as a Federal permit for entry on the Range for the purpose of hunting.

(b) State cooperation may be enlisted in the regulation, management, and operation of the public hunting areas, and the State may promulgate such special regulations as may be necessary for such regulation, management, and operation. In the event such State regulations are issued, compliance therewith shall be a requisite to lawful entry for the purpose of hunting. (Sec. 1, 48 Stat. 1269, as amended; 43 U. S. C. 315)

PART 26—EAST CENTRAL REGION NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGES

NECEDAH NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE, WISCONSIN; FISHING

Section 26.678 is revised to read as follows:

§ 26.678 Necedah National Wildlife Refuge, Wisconsin; fishing. (a) Noncommercial fishing in accordance with the State laws of Wisconsin is permitted during the months of January and February, and during the period from May 30 to Labor Day, both inclusive, in all of the waters of the Refuge that are designated by suitable posting by the officer in charge, in accordance with the following conditions and restrictions:

(b) Entry on and use of the refuge for any purpose is governed by the regulations for the administration of national wildlife refuges dated December 19, 1940 (5 F. R. 5284), as amended, and strict compliance therewith is required. All persons fishing on the refuge must comply with the State fishing laws and regulations, and must have on their person and exhibit at the request of any authorized Federal or State officer whatever license or licenses may be required by such laws and regulations, which said license shall serve as a Federal permit for fishing on the refuge.

(c) Persons fishing on the refuge may use boats (other than motor boats or floated craft) for the purpose of fishing, but may place such boats or craft on the waters of the refuge only at such points as may be designated by suitable posting by the officer in charge. The use of motor boats, either inboard or outboard, is prohibited on all waters of the refuge except for official purposes.

(d) During periods of waterfowl concentrations, or other wildlife concentrations, fishing may be closed on such areas of the refuge, as in the judgment of the officer in charge, such limitations or restrictions are necessary in order to provide adequate protection for wildlife. Such limitations or restrictions are to be clearly designated by posting.

(e) State cooperation may be enlisted in the regulation, management, and operation of the public fishing areas, and the State may promulgate such special regulations as may be necessary for such regulation, management, and operation. In the event such State regulations are issued, compliance therewith shall be a requisite to lawful entry for the purpose of fishing. (Sec. 10, 45 Stat. 1224, as amended; 16 U. S. C. 715 i)

HANDLING OF MILK IN CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ORDER

Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933) as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Supps., 901.1 et seq.; 11 F. R. 7737; 12 F. R. 1159, 4904) a public hearing was held at Chicago, Illinois, on March 5–8 and 10–12, 1947, inclusive, pursuant to the notice thereof which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 27, 1947 (12 F. R. 1394), upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, the Acting Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on July 11, 1947, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in this proceeding. The notice of the filing of such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER July 16, 1947 (12 F. R. 4722).

The material issues presented on the record of the hearing were whether:

1. The "handler" definition should be revised to provide that it shall not apply to any person selling a larger percentage of his Class I milk as a handler under a marketing agreement or order effective in another fluid milk marketing area;

2. The defined area known as "surplus milk manufacturing area" should be expanded;

3. All frozen cream, other cream frozen, plastic cream, and similar cream products disposed of beyond the limits of the surplus milk manufacturing area should be classified as Class II milk;

4. The accounting for milk and cream transferred from approved to unapproved plants should be on a daily basis;

5. Flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, and buttermilk should be reclassified from Class I milk to Class II milk;

6. The maximum amount of plant shrinkage allowed as Class IV milk should be increased;

7. The price structure for Class I milk and Class II milk should be revised as to level and seasonality;

8. The basic formula price provisions should be revised as to the (i) "evaporated-pay-price" formula, (ii) "butter-nonfat dry milk solids" formula (revision of the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula therein would affect also the level of the Class IV milk price), and (iii) application of the alternate formulas set forth therein;

9. The plant location adjustment credits to handlers applicable to (i) fluid milk, fluid skim milk, and certain Class I milk, and (ii) Class II milk, should be increased;

10. The butterfat differential applicable to producer milk testing above or below 3.5 percent of butterfat should be revised;

11. A change should be made in the level and method of determining the prices to be paid for Class I milk disposed of in markets outside the marketing area;

12. The price formula for Class II milk should include a storage allowance for frozen cream stored;

13. The "approved plant" definition should be revised and whether there should be included new provisions (i) establishing additional requirements for plants desiring to participate in the "market-wide pool," and (ii) providing for the suspension as a "pool plant" of any plant not meeting such requirements;

14. The pool treatment of the classified value of frozen cream, based on the inventory character of this product, should be revised for the purpose of implementing a wider seasonal variation in producer prices;

15. The location adjustments applicable to the announced uniform "70 mile zone" price to producers should be changed; and

16. Several revisions of language should be made to obtain further clarity and to simplify administrative problems with respect to:

(i) The determination of tests of chocolate milk drinks;

(ii) Precision of language in pool computation provisions;

(iii) Classification of butterfat remaining in skim milk separated;

(iv) Assessments for expenses of administration; and

(v) Assessments for marketing services.

Rulings on exceptions. No specific exceptions were filed to the findings, conclusions and amendment action recommended in the Acting Assistant Administrator's recommended decision with respect to issues numbered 1, 2, 13, and 16. The findings, conclusions and amendment action so recommended have been adopted in this decision without substantive change. One set of exceptions requested oral argument thereof. No supporting reasons were given for the request and it is denied.

Exceptions were filed by the following parties to the findings, conclusions and amendment action recommended by the Acting Assistant Administrator with respect to certain issues, as follows:

1. Associated Milk Dealers, Inc.: Issues 5–11, inclusive.

2. Certain organizations who designate themselves as the "Northern Cooperatives": Issues 3–9, inclusive, 12 and 15.

3. The Borden Company: Issues 5–10, inclusive, 14 and 15.

4. Ice Cream Manufacturers Association of Cook County, Inc.: Issues 7, 11 and 12.

5. Hydrox Corporation: Issues 7, 11, and 12.

6. Pure Milk Products Cooperative: Issue 15.

In arriving at the findings, conclusions and amendment action decided upon in this decision each of these exceptions was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. The findings, conclusions and amendment action recommended by the Assistant Adminsitrator with respect to issues 5 and 10 have been adopted herein without change and the exceptions with respect thereto are overruled. To the extent that the findings, conclusions and amendment action decided upon herein with respect to the remaining issues are at variance with the exceptions pertaining thereto, such exceptions are overruled.

General exceptions also were filed by the Northern Cooperatives and by the Hydrox Corporation. Such exceptions did not specify in what respect the recommendations of the Acting Assistant Administrator should not be adopted and these are overruled.

It was contended with respect to the actions recommended by the Acting Assistant Administrator on issues 4, 7, 8 (iii) and 15 that they were not proposed by the hearing notice. The action on issue 8 (ii) recommended by the Acting Assistant Administrator was excepted to on the ground that it was not supported by a proposal in the record. In each such case the action recommended by the Acting Assistant Administrator and adopted herein is within the reasonable scope of an issue raised by the hearing notice and record. These exceptions are overruled.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based upon the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof:

(1) The proposed addition of language to the definition of "handler" to exclude "any person who sells a larger percentage of Class I milk handled by him in a marketing area under any other milk marketing agreement or order issued under the act where such person is a handler subject to such other milk marketing agreement or order" should not be adopted at this time.

The primary purpose of this proposal is to change the basis of determining under which order a handler is subject to regulation in case Class I milk is sold in both the Chicago marketing area under Order 41 and the Suburban Chicago marketing area under Order 69. Under the current provisions of these orders a handler becomes subject to regulation under Order 41 when his plant is approved for the shipment of milk to the Chicago marketing area for use as Class I milk even though any or all of his Class I milk may be sold in the Suburban Chicago (or other) marketing area.

The proposal would make it possible for some handlers to shift constantly from one order to another in different delivery periods depending on seasonal advantages. Such shifting would not be conducive to the orderly marketing of milk in the Chicago marketing area and might provide some undue competitive advantages to these handlers. The proposal also could prevent beneficial transfers of milk between regulated markets if the transferring handler preferred to retain status under one order but the transfer resulted in the loss of that status. The question and problems raised by this proposal are closely related also to the proper phrasing and content of other provisions of each of the orders, such as the type of pool, the limits of the marketing area, and other definitions. These matters were not fully considered at this hearing, and there is a consequent lack of adequate evidence in solution of the various problems which would result from the adoption of this proposal. In addition, application of the particular proposal offered would be administratively burdensome.

(2) The "surplus milk manufacturing area" should be expanded to include the counties of Stark, Marshall, Woodford, Livingston, Ford, and Iroquois, in the State of Illinois, the counties of Benton, White, Cass, Miami, Howard, Carroll, Tippecanoe, Tipton, Clinton, Fountain, Warren, Parke, Vermillion, Vigo, and Sullivan, in the State of Indiana, and the county of Van Wert, in the State of Ohio.

Plant facilities operated by or readily available to handlers exist in these counties for the disposal of surplus milk from the Chicago marketing area. The inclusion of these counties will facilitate the handling of such surplus milk.

(3) The classification provisions should be revised to specify the final classification as Class II milk of frozen cream, other cream frozen, plastic cream and any similar cream product disposed of outside the surplus milk manufacturing area.

The surplus milk manufacturing area has been defined broadly enough to furnish under present conditions adequate facilities for the disposal for manufacturing purposes (as Class III milk or Class IV milk) of frozen cream, other cream frozen, plastic cream, and any similar cream product in surplus supply. Therefore, it is reasonable to assume that when such items are moved outside such surplus milk manufacturing area they will be employed in their customary uses as ice cream or as other milk products defined as Class II milk under the Chicago order.

This will provide a uniform method of verifying and classifying all Class I and Class II milk item moved beyond the limits of the surplus milk manufacturing area and readily susceptible of reuse in the form of other milk products.

(4) The classification provisions covering fluid milk or fluid cream transferred from approved plants to unapproved plants located within the "surplus milk manufacturing area" should be amended so as to be more specific in regard to an allocation plan to be followed in classifying such approved fluid milk or fluid cream taking into account types of supporting utilization records.

Fluid milk and fluid cream are transferred from approved plants to unapproved plants in the "surplus milk manufacturing area." It has been the practice of the market administrator to accept daily utilization records in support of claimed classification of milk at such unapproved plants. It was proposed that this established market practice be formalized and no objections were raised thereto. Therefore, this proposal is adopted.

In some unapproved plants approved fluid milk or fluid cream is segregated from receipts of unapproved sources. In other unapproved plants approved fluid milk or fluid cream is commingled with receipts from other sources. Classification problems are more complicated where approved milk is commingled with unapproved receipts. In the classification of approved fluid milk or fluid cream which is commingled with unapproved receipts in a plant having diversified uses it is necessary to allocate the use of such approved milk and cream since its specific utilization cannot be shown.

In most instances the quality of Chicago fluid milk is higher than that of unapproved milk. Fluid milk from approved plants is frequently used for selected manufacturing purposes in preference to that from unapproved sources. Unapproved, or "Grade B," milk is disposed of from unapproved plants in many different forms, including fluid milk and fluid cream, to markets not requiring milk of approved Chicago quality. Unapproved plants may engage for part of the month in the processing of a milk product such as evaporated milk or in the sale of fluid milk and fluid cream, while for the remainder of the month it may engage in the manufacture of other milk products such as butter and nonfat dry milk solids.

Under the adopted provision approved Chicago fluid milk received at the plant which commingles milk would be allocated first to the highest valued manufacturing use (Class III milk) then to the other manufacturing uses (Class IV milk) followed by use as Class II milk and Class I milk, respectively. Because of the relative importance of butterfat in cream, the allocation of approved fluid cream would be first to Class IV milk then to Class III milk, Class II milk, and Class I milk, in that sequence. Also approved fluid milk and fluid cream should not take precedence over unapproved or Grade B milk where the latter type of milk is disposed of for outside markets from such plants in the form of fluid milk or fluid cream. If monthly utilization records only are made available, approved fluid milk or fluid cream would be allocated in sequence beginning with Class I milk and Class II milk, respectively, to prevent approved fluid milk and fluid cream being reported in classes of lower value than the actual class of disposition, which would result in decreased returns to all producers. This is deemed necessary to protect the classification of producer milk.

An exception was filed to the effect that the proposed amendment was ambiguous and did not conform to the evidence. Certain changes in the text of the amendment have been made to clarify its meaning. It is concluded that the amendment as so modified reflects the pertinent evidence.

(5) Flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, and buttermilk should not be moved from Class I milk to Class II milk. The classification of these products was changed from Class II milk to Class I milk by an amendment to the order effective September 1, 1946. In support of the proposal to change the classification of these products from Class I milk to Class II milk, it was claimed (i) that sales of these items decreased during the 4 months following reclassification to Class I milk as compared with the same period in 1945 and if continued producers' returns might thereby be reduced, and (ii) that the cost of flavoring ingredients has increased.

To be sold in the main segments of the Chicago marketing area these milk drinks must be made from inspected milk. They are disposed of in fluid form through the same retail and wholesale channels as bottled fluid milk and are used principally as a beverage. The physical characteristics, purposes, values, and uses of these items are more nearly similar to those of fluid milk than of items covered by the definition of Class II milk.

It was not shown that the decrease in sales following the amendment of September 1, 1946, was due to the reclassification of these products, since the trend had already started prior to reclassification and a general retail price increase embracing many other factors took place during the same period. Under the circumstances shown a decrease in sales of these products is not in itself an adequate reason for the reclassification proposed. The alleged cost increase of flavored ingredients (no specific information of these increased costs was shown) might be an element to be considered by the handler in the establishment of his margin but should not be charged against the price to the producer.

(6) The plant shrinkage provisions (§ 941.4 (b) (4) (iii) and § 941.4 (c) (6) (vi)) should be revised only relative to shrinkage on transfers of milk to unapproved plants by deleting the references to unapproved plants.

Proposals made were designed to (i) increase the over-all plant shrinkage allowance in Class IV milk, and (ii) alter the application of the plant shrinkage provisions to milk transferred to unapproved plants. It was proposed that the shrinkage allowance on butterfat received at an approved plant in the form of bulk fluid milk, bulk fluid skim milk, or bulk fluid cream be increased from 1.5 percent to 2 percent. This allowance would be in addition to the 0.5 percent allowance under the present order on butterfat in milk received directly from producers and would permit a total allowance up to 2.5 percent to the first handler. Also a second handler would be allowed by the proposal a maximum of 2 percent butterfat shrinkage in Class IV milk in addition to the shrinkage allowed in such class to the first handler. Under the proposal a maximum allowance in Class IV milk up to 4.5 percent of butterfat shrinkage would be possible if milk were handled by two or more handlers. In support of these increases it was pointed out that shrinkage may be enhanced by errors in butterfat testing or by the techniques used in such testing. A second proposal would revise language with respect to transfers of approved milk to unapproved plants to allow shrinkage in Class IV milk on such transfers.

The average shrinkage of butterfat, expressed as a percent of total butterfat pounds in producer receipts plus butterfat overrun (including that portion classified in Class I milk as "excess shrinkage" or "unaccounted for milk"), was stated to be 1.75 percent in 1943, 1.91 percent in 1944, 2.03 percent in 1945, and 2.18 percent in the first seven months and 1946. The average for this entire period was said to be 1.97 percent, or slightly less than the present maximum allowance. Such percentages have been computed by dividing total "shrinkage" pounds by the sum of producer receipts plus "over-run". According to the testimony this type of "over-run" results from the underreading of butterfat tests to producers or from the overreading of butterfat tests to purchasers. If such over-run is instead subtracted from these shrinkage figures, and the difference divided by total producer receipts, the net monthly average shrinkage for 1945 is 1.87 percent instead of 2.03 percent and the average for the first seven months of 1946 is 2.01 percent instead of 2.18 percent.

The "shrinkage" figures set forth above reflect butterfat unaccounted for for various reasons other than the loss of butterfat normally expected from the passage of milk through a plant. In view of the fact that the highest average percentage figure (2.18) presented is only slightly higher than the present allowance of 2 percent, it cannot be concluded that representative plant operations alone result in shrinkage which averages above 2 percent.

It was argued in the exceptions that because the average "shrinkage" of butterfat allegedly has increased from 1.75 percent in 1943 to 2.18 percent for the first seven months of 1946 the shrinkage allowance is inadequate in the light of actual market experience. To carry this argument to its logical conclusion could result in shrinkage allowances without limit as the volume of unaccounted for milk may increase for any reason. An increase in the shrinkage allowance on such a basis would enhance the possibilities of not accounting for all milk that should be accounted for, and any such allowance as proposed would increase the possibilities for inequities to arise among handlers. Therefore, an increase in the maximum shrinkage allowed in Class IV milk is not warranted.

Shrinkage for a system of plants operated by a single handler is computed as a net amount after accounting for utilization at all such plants. The first stated proposal would permit a greater shrinkage on milk moved from the plant of one handler to the plant of another handler as compared with interplant movements within a system operated by a single handler.

In light of these data and the inequities inherent in the first stated proposal, such proposal should not be adopted.

In support of the second proposal it was pointed out that in many instances handlers make sales of milk to unapproved plants. These sales to unapproved plants are not segregated in all instances from other route sales. To simplify the accounting for shrinkage with respect to milk moved to unapproved plants, the second proposal described under (ii) above should be adopted.

(7) The price differentials above the basic price for Class I and Class II milk should be revised to provide for (i) a wider seasonal variation in the uniform price to be paid to producers and (ii) an increase in the average level of price differentials above the basic price for Class I and Class II milk.

Under the present pricing provisions of the order, the Class I differential is 70 cents per hundredweight of milk, except during May and June when it is 50 cents. The Class II differential is 32 cents, except during May and June when it is 20 cents for such milk as is used for frozen cream. During the war years, the seasonal decline in the Class I differential for May and June was suspended but became effective again in 1947.

Three proposals were made to change the differentials for Class I and Class II milk. The first proposal provided for an increase in the average level of such differentials and a substantial increase in their seasonal variation, emphasizing both the shortage and surplus aspects of the problems of seasonal production. The second proposal limited the problem to the surplus aspects and favored a slight decline in the average level of such differentials. The third proposal provided for no change from the present order except that the seasonal decline in the Class I differential for May and June be eliminated.

The seasonal pattern of production is significantly different than is the pattern of demand for Class I and Class II milk, and during recent years the problems associated with these differences have become more acute than formerly. For the market as a whole, the average production per producer in 1940 was 42 percent greater during the month of peak production than during the month of low production; in 1946, it was 53 percent greater, which was the highest variation during the 1940–1946 period. The seasonal variation in production is much more pronounced in the far-out zones than in the close-in zones, with the intermediate zones showing an intermediate seasonal variation. In 1946, for example, Zones 1 and 2 produced 42 percent more milk per farm per day in the high month than in the low month, as compared with 54 percent for Zones 3 to 5, 70 percent for Zones 6 to 10, and 100 percent for Zones 11 to 21. In contrast, the market demand for Class I milk is relatively uniform throughout the year with the greatest strength generally exhibited during the autumn months. The demand for Class II milk, excluding the freezing and storing aspects of cream, is less uniform than for Class I, but is nevertheless much more uniform than the production of milk. One important feature of the seasonal problem in Class II milk is the freezing of cream during the months of peak production and its use during the months of lowest milk production. Frozen cream appears to be used principally in the manufacture of ice cream and its related products; it represents, therefore, at least a partial solution to the problem of bringing the supply and demand for milk into a better balance seasonally.

Beyond the relief obtained by freezing and storing cream, the seasonal supply and demand problem is subject to improvement through price incentives and educational influences. The role of education in correcting the problem of uneven production has been dealt with by agencies such as producer associations and agricultural colleges; but education alone has not been sufficient and a price incentive is required in addition thereto.

The proponents of the second proposal advocated a decrease of differentials in Class I and Class II milk during the flush production season and proposed that this season be extended by 1 month over that provided in the present order. In support it was said that the problem was principally one of milk surpluses during the spring months and that "there is an ample supply of milk in the fall months to satisfy the Class I and Class II requirements of the Chicago market if provision is made to channel the milk into the marketing area." The limitations of channeling milk into the marketing area are several. The amount of milk in excess of Class I and Class II milk is very small. Although outside sales represent a much more important volume of milk than is represented by such excess, the record does not adequately show how such milk could be channeled to the marketing area. Furthermore, the amount of milk being moved to other markets is not unrelated to the price structure for milk in the Chicago market; because such sales indicate that other markets can afford to compete with the Chicago market on a favorable basis. In further support it was shown that milk production during the low month of 1946 was 26 percent above the low month of 1940 and that the peak month of 1946 was 36 percent above that of 1940. It was contended that these data supported the statement that the problem of seasonal variation is not caused by insufficient fall production, but rather by too great a supply in the spring. This can hardly be accepted as a valid reason for a decrease in price differentials without considering the influence on price and production throughout the year. These same data demonstrate chiefly that the seasonal variation in production has become wider. While a lower price in the spring months may be expected to reduce the production of milk during such months, it does not follow that fall production will thereby become increased without further price incentives.

During the fall months of 1945 and 1946 the volume of milk in excess of Class I and Class II uses was substantially less than in previous years. The average amount of such excess for the 3-month period, September through November 1946, is less than 1.5 percent of total market uses and for 1945 slightly over 2 percent. In previous years this percentage ranged from about 7 to 19 percent, except for 1942 when it was 2 3 percent.

In general, a wide seasonal variation in production aggravates the problem of surpluses in the spring months and shortages in the fall months. Unit marketing costs tend to be lower with uniform milk production than with a wide seasonal variation in production. The increase in seasonal variation in milk production during recent years was attributed to the small variation in prices during the war years. A relatively high level of prices, such as now prevails, compared with a low level requires a relatively wider seasonal variation in prices as an incentive to producers to even out production.

The market needs for Class I and Class II milk have increased from an average of 138 million pounds per month in 1940 to 205 million pounds in 1946—an increase of 48 percent. Class I milk showed an increase of 50 percent and Class II milk an increase of 47 percent for that period. Total milk production for the market during this same period increased approximately 29 percent. This increase resulted from an increase in the average monthly number of producers by 1.6 percent and an increased production of milk per farm of 27 percent.

It was contended that the general level of prices should not be increased in view of the fact that the number of producers (based on preliminary data) increased especially during the latter part of 1946 and the first two months of 1947. In February, 1947, the preliminary number of producers was 18,118—the highest number on record; but this number is only approximately 2 percent higher than the number for February of 1941 or March, 1944, when there were, respectively, 17,726 and 17,767 producers on the market.

The amount of milk in surplus classes during the fall months must be considered as dangerously low in the light of data already indicated; actual deficits are indicated in the record which were apparently offset through the use of frozen cream. Adverse weather and crop conditions could easily place the market in a serious position of milk shortage.

Practically all costs incurred by producers in the production of milk such as feeds, supplies, labor, and equipment have increased during the past year. Prevailing prices for hogs, beef cattle, and other alternative enterprises open to most producers of inspected milk are at relatively high levels.

Although some producers may not have shared therein, premiums paid in the first two zones when applied against monthly deliveries from those zones averaged 4.8 to 6.5 cents per hundredweight of milk during the latter months of 1946. Premiums are shown to have been paid in greater and lesser amounts during the past three years in other zones.

Class differentials above the basic or manufacturing level of milk prices, in addition to meeting the cost of stricter sanitary requirements of inspected milk, should reflect also the competitive and other economic conditions affecting the supply of and demand for milk in the Chicago marketing area.

The Class I and Class II price differentials over the basic formula price, as set forth below, together with the Class III and the modified Class IV prices, will result in such prices as will reflect the price of feeds, the available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk or its products in the marketing area, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest.

The Class I and Class II price differentials should be as follows:

Period	Class I	Class II
May and June	$0.50	$0.30
August, September, October, and November	.90	.50
All other months	.70	.40

The above schedule of prices substantially increases the seasonal variation of price differentials and may be expected to establish a better relationship between the supply of and demand for milk. It establishes larger and more definite incentives for producers to shift some of their milk production from spring to fall, and it may also influence the seasonal demand if these differentials are reflected in consumer prices. It may also be expected that the future development of new supplies will be somewhat responsive to the seasonal aspects of price regardless of location and result in a more even seasonal production for the market than now prevails.

The general level of Class I milk price differentials is increased by approximately 3 cents over the differential prevailing during the war years, and by about 7 cents over the average level now in the order.

The general level of Class II price differentials is increased by approximately 10 cents over the differentials now in the order. The difference between the Class I and Class II price differentials has been reduced from approximately 38 cents to approximately 31 cents; this reduction will have the effect of placing the price of Class II milk closer to the uniform price and therefore will relieve somewhat the burden placed upon the price of Class I milk in maintaining or developing a desirable uniform price. Both classes of milk require the same standard of health regulation.

The effect of the recommended price schedule, when related to handler and producer location adjustments, is such that at the 21st zone the average annual price of Class I milk will be about 40 cents per hundredweight above the basic price as compared with a Class II average price of about 37–38 cents per hundredweight of milk above the basic price. This places the most distant zone in which milk is received from producers in the position of being in an almost neutral price position on Class I and II milk but with a slightly higher average price on Class I than on Class II milk.

The Class II milk price differentials as recommended above, provide for 30 cents in May and June as compared with 50 cents for August–November; this allows a 20 cent minimum margin for the storing and freezing of cream. This is an increase of 8 cents above the present order and slightly more than the alleged costs of freezing and storing. It should therefore provide considerable incentive toward freezing cream and help to alleviate seasonal problems.

It may be estimated that the increased differentials on Class I and II milk together with the recommended reduction in the Class IV price will result in an increase of about 4.5 to 6 cents in the uniform price depending upon the percentage of milk in each of the several classes.

(8) The basic formula price provisions should be revised.

(i) One proposal for revision of the Class III formula price provision (alternate basic formula price) would add to the list of manufacturing plants set forth in § 941.5 (a) (1) the names and locations of 5 additional plants. The expressed intent of this proposal is to make such plant list more representative in providing prices for the computation of the basic formula price. Another proposal suggested the addition of 12 more plants in addition to such 5 plants.

The proponents of the proposal to add the group of 5 plants to the list indicated an objection to the elimination of the Michigan plants now in the list, although their testimony indicated also that to follow the logic behind the proposal to add the 5 Illinois plants would call for the deletion of the 5 Michigan plants. Appraisal of the testimony leads to the conclusion that the single action of adding the 5 Illinois plants would do little to improve the present Class III price formula and that there are a number of factors involved which should be considered before any revision of this formula is made. Although no direct challenge to the group of 5 plants was made by others, the proponents have not presented convincing evidence that an improvement in the formula as an index of evaporated milk plant prices would result from their inclusion.

The record does not disclose the effects which the 12 other plants suggested would have upon the present Class III price and there is practically no information in the record concerning their operations as to whether they are primarily manufacturing plants. The evidence is not sufficient to support the inclusion of the 12 latter plants. It is recommended that the suggested revision of the list not be made until there is an opportunity to make a more complete analysis of the effect of these or similar changes.

(ii) The butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula price (hereinafter referred to as the Class IV milk price) should be revised.

The proposal to revise the Class IV milk price formula would reduce the price by about 15–16 cents per hundredweight of milk. The revision would be accomplished by reducing in the formula the market price of 92-score butter by 1 cent and the net average price of nonfat dry milk solids by 1½ cents per pound. The argument for a reduction in the Class IV price is based upon two points: (1) That the price of surplus milk under an order "should be at a level which would permit the handler to recover his normal costs of operations but upon which he shall not be given an undue margin of profit"; and (2) that the present formula price is too high to enable handlers to recover their costs on Class IV milk.

Costs of manufacturing whole milk into butter and nonfat dry milk solids, as testified to at the hearing, ranged from 43 cents to 70 cents per hundredweight of milk. The proponents of the lower Class IV price claimed average costs of 57.7 cents per hundredweight of milk, based on a survey of 4 plants, two of which were said to operate at 50–51 cents and the other two at 60.4 and 69.5 cents. Manufacturing costs assigned to butter and nonfat dry milk solids appear to vary widely, depending on individual plant efficiency and on cost accounting practices. Although not referred to at the hearing, cheese, as well as butter and nonfat dry milk solids, is included in the definition of Class IV milk.

It was contended, in substance, that under the present Class IV milk pricing formula handlers receive a "manufacturing" allowance of 37.5 cents per hundredweight of milk, this being computed on the basis of a yield factor of 7.5 pounds of nonfat dry milk solids multiplied by the five cent factor in the formula. Actually handlers of Class IV milk realize a working margin of something more than that amount. Under the existing formula no positive value is given to skim milk until the price of nonfat dry milk solids reaches a full ½ cent over 5 cents per pound. The handler is thus allowed up to 5.49 cents rather than 5 cents per pound of powder. This amounts to as much as an additional 3.5 cents per hundredweight of milk. The record shows that actual butter "overrun" approximates 21–22 percent rather than the 20 percent factor used in the butter part of the Class IV formula. This would amount to another 2 to 4 cents margin to the handler on the basis of the current butter market. The record also shows that the actual yield of nonfat dry milk solids are in excess of the 7.5 pound factor referred to above by at least ½ pound per hundredweight of whole milk. Under prevailing market conditions this provides an additional margin to the handler of not less than 4.5 cents per hundredweight of milk. When these factors are taken into account the actual operating margin on Class IV milk used for butter and powder appears to be approximately 48 cents per hundredweight of milk rather than 37.5 cents.

It was claimed further that the present formula fails to recognize the cost of transporting butter between a country plant and the Chicago market. However, it was shown that butter manufactured from Class IV milk under the Chicago order is premium butter both as to price and quality.

In establishing a proper price for Class IV milk the handler's costs and the element of profit to the handler may not be considered as controlling to the exclusion of other important considerations. The pricing of Class IV milk, as well as of the other classes, must take into account seasonal variations in production and the need for adequate supplies of milk and cream in fluid form for the market at various times of the year. The pricing of Class IV milk should not encourage the use of milk for manufacturing purposes during periods when it can and should be used for purposes which better serve the interests of the producer and of the consumer in the Chicago marketing area. In this connection the supply problems presented by proponents of the "pool plant" proposal (Issue 13) would be accentuated and rendered more serious if handlers received an even greater price incentive to use milk for Class IV purposes during periods when the milk is needed to meet fluid milk and cream requirements. However, the pricing of Class IV milk should permit the use of milk for manufacturing uses during those months of the year (March, April, May, and June) when the disposition of surplus milk in this market can be expected to present problems for individual plants and when a serious marketing situation may occur unless the surplus milk is effectively disposed of in an orderly manner. To price Class IV milk without due regard to these factors would be contrary to the basic principle that milk prices under a marketing order should be so adjusted as to "insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest."

Taking all of the above considerations into account, it is concluded that the Class IV price should not be modified except for the months of March, April, May and June. As to those four months the Class IV price formula should be modified by increasing the present five-cent factor on nonfat dry milk solids to six cents. During those four months, when the volume of milk in Class IV uses normally may be expected to be greatest, the margin to handlers using milk to make butter and nonfat dry milk solids will thereby increase to about 55–56 cents per hundredweight of milk. Any further revision of the Class IV price formula would appear to require additional inquiry and supporting evidence.

The fact that the Class IV price formula has been modified to recognize only two periods, or seasons, during the year for pricing purposes is not deemed to be inconsistent with the Class I and Class II price formulas which contain three periods, or seasons, during the year. Sufficient differences exist in the volume of milk among classes and in the purposes served by the different classes and by their prices to warrant the distinction thus made.

(iii) In the order currently effective, the basic formula price is the highest price computed from three manufacturing milk price formulas based, respectively, on the "paying" prices of several evaporated milk concerns, open market prices of butter and cheese, and open market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids for the current delivery period. Two proposals to change the application of these formulas have been made. Under the first, the highest prices resulting from the respective formulas for the current delivery period and that next preceding would be averaged and used as the current basic formula price. Under the second such proposal, the highest price resulting from these manufacturing milk formulas for the delivery period next preceding (formerly the basic formula price for such delivery period) would be used as the basic formula price for the current delivery period. The first proposal was suggested for the purpose of reducing somewhat the monthly variations in Class I milk and Class II milk prices and to enable handlers to estimate more closely in advance the level of such prices which they would be required to pay in the current delivery period. The second appears to be designed to enable handlers to know with certainty their purchase prices for Class I milk and Class II milk by the fifth day of the delivery period during which the milk is received.

Under the present order, class prices are not known until approximately the fifth day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk is received. Handlers complain that they are disadvantaged by not knowing the Class I and Class II milk prices they will have to pay for milk received from producers until after that milk has been disposed of by them.

More orderly marketing of fluid milk and fluid cream may be encouraged by the announcement of the Class I and Class II prices early in the delivery period during which milk covered by such classes is disposed of by handlers. For this reason the proposal to base such class prices upon the manufacturing milk formula prices for the next preceding delivery period is adopted with the conditions that the basic formula price effective for July shall not be less than that for the preceding month of June, and the basic formula price for December shall not be higher than that for the preceding November. The latter conditions are considered necessary to assure the proper seasonal trend of prices.

Substantial quantities of Chicago approved milk are disposed of in the form of manufactured milk products covered by the Class III milk and Class IV milk definitions under the order. The latter products, although made from Chicago approved milk, are in open market competition with similar products from milk not meeting any formal health inspection. Because of competitive character of the markets for the products covered by Class III milk and Class IV milk, the prices for the latter classes should continue to be based upon the manufacturing milk formula prices for the current delivery period rather than for the next preceding delivery period.

(9) The rates of location adjustment credits to handlers for fluid milk or fluid skim milk shipped from country plants to the marketing area and on certain Class I milk not so shipped should be increased; the rates on fluid cream should not be increased.

(l) No zone adjustments on fluid milk and fluid skim milk were proposed for Zone 1, and none are allowed under the present order. It was proposed that the present rate of 1½ cents per hundred-weight of milk be increased to 2½ cents for each 15-mile zone beyond the 70-mile zone (Zone 1). This proposed rate was determined by subtracting a claimed 13-cent rail rate for Zone 1 from a claimed 62-cent rate for Zone 21, and dividing the result by 20, the number of zones involved. This resulted in a rate of 2.45 cents per hundredweight of milk. Only one location within the 79-mile zone (Zone 1) was shown to have a rail rate of 13 cents. The average of several locations in Zone 1 was shown as 28 cents, and in Zone 2 as 29 cents. All truck and rail tariffs shown apply between zones or points of origin and the City of Chicago. Rail tariffs approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission have been increased at least 15 percent since September 1, 1946, the date on which the last amendments to zone rates to handlers were made effective under Order 41.

Most fluid milk and fluid skim milk are hauled by truck. Trucking tariffs to the marketing area appear to be higher than rail tariffs on long hauls, but lower on short hauls. Hauling tariffs by truck were shown to be 16 cents per hundredweight in Zone 1, 18 cents for Zone 2, with rather uniform increases at 2 cents for each zone thereafter. However, beyond Zone 14 rail tariffs are somewhat lower than trucking tariffs, and should receive consideration since it appears that not all milk moves by truck. It is economically desirable to secure the necessary fluid milk from the nearest possible sources. Location adjustment credits should enable the movement of the necessary quantities of milk for Class I use but should not be high enough to encourage the uneconomic movement of fluid milk or to place an undue burden on the returns to producers. It is concluded that a rate of 2 cents per hundredweight per zone between 70 and 265 miles from the marketing area and a rate of 1 cent per hundredweight per additional zone beyond will assist in this objective.

It was requested in the exceptions that official notice be taken of certain percentage increases in rail tariffs relating to the transportation of milk which were alleged to have become effective about March 27, 1947, and that allowance for such increases be made in the establishment of location adjustment credits in the order. Inquiry into such increases based upon the information supplied fails to disclose their existence. Therefore, this request is denied.

(ii) Two proposals were submitted to change the current method of arriving at location adjustment credits to handlers on fluid cream. One proposal would adopt LCL rail tariffs from country plant locations beyond Zone 1 to the perimeter of Zone 1. The second would apply the "effective tariff rates" from the point of origin to the marketing area. Neither proposal contemplates any change in the present provision under which no location adjustment credit is allowed on fluid cream originating within the 70-mile zone.

It does not appear that LCL railroad tariffs from plant locations beyond Zone 1 to the perimeter of Zone 1 are or will be regularly established in connection with shipments of cream to destinations within the marketing area. The first proposal to change the present method of arriving at location adjustment credits on cream, therefore, would appear to be infeasible and is not warranted on the basis of this record.

The second proposal provides for a zone rate of ¾ cent per hundredweight of milk shipped to the perimeter of the 70-mile zone in the form of fluid cream. However, this proposal was modified by a request that the rates "shall be the effective tariff rates applicable on shipments of cream in cans from the zone and the point of origin to the Chicago marketing area and that such rates be secured and published by the market administrator." The basis for the ¾-cent rate was not indicated, nor was the meaning or application of "effective tariff rates" satisfactorily developed in the record. Although the record indicates that LCL rates from country plants to points within the marketing area, as referred to in the exceptions, are available, it would not be equitable to utilize such rates for locations outside the 70-mile zone, since plants within the 70-mile zone have no similar allowances for the transportation of the cream to the marketing area.

The application of rates in this second proposal to shipments of fluid cream from beyond the 70-mile zone to the marketing area instead of to the 70-mile perimeter would permit serious inequities. For the above reasons, neither feature of the second proposal should be adopted.

(10) The proposed 4-cent butterfat differential applicable to fluid milk sold as Class I milk testing above or below 3.5 percent of butterfat should not be adopted.

This proposal would have the effect of placing a price on butterfat which is in excess of 3.5 percent in fluid milk sold as Class I milk of 4 cents per point. This is substantially lower than the current price of butterfat for any use including butter, the lowest-valued use under the order. Under the proposal the market pool would subsidize the butterfat in excess of 3.5 percent disposed of in Class I fluid milk. No adequate reasons have been presented to show why these results should prevail.

The exceptions filed to these findings and the conclusions also argue that some of the marketing orders for other areas provide fixed butterfat differentials. The provisions of other orders which are based on conditions in the respective markets and on other hearing records can carry little weight in arriving at a proper butterfat differential for the Chicago market, particularly when, as here, no showing of similarity of conditions in the markets was made.

(11) The method of pricing Class I milk disposed of in markets outside the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area should not be changed.

It was proposed that the price of Class I milk disposed of in any market outside the marketing area should be the "price as ascertained by the market administrator which is being paid for milk of equal grade and of equivalent use in the market where such milk is disposed of." Another proposal would limit such "ascertained prices" to the months of January through July, inclusive, with a fixed minimum of 45 cents over the basic formula price, and would apply a similar pricing principle to Class II milk disposed of outside the marketing area.

Milk approved for Chicago distribution is sold in several markets outside the marketing area. Some of this milk is sold under resale price levels lower than those in the marketing area. A portion of such milk is sold in markets having Grade A health standards similar to the City of Chicago, while some is sold in markets having less stringent health standards.

The price effective under the Chicago order should be such as to induce a supply adequate to meet the demand of the Chicago marketing area but not to fulfill the requirements of outside markets where milk of lesser quality may be used. The Chicago market does not have an excessive supply of milk except for a certain amount of seasonal surplus, which is not uncommon to the market. If Chicago approved milk is permitted to be sold in outside markets at less than the price prevailing in the marketing area, the result is a subsidizing of the outside sale. The proposal that the outside sale of Class I milk and Class II milk be permitted at a lower price only during the months of January through July, inclusive, when milk is relatively plentiful on the Chicago market, as a convenient method of disposing of seasonal surpluses which might otherwise fall into even lower-priced uses, should not be adopted because of the resulting "dumping" effect on the outside market. In addition, the fixing of the proposed lower prices for Chicago milk sold in other markets could have a depressing effect on the prices paid farmers by competing unregulated distributors in such markets, which lower prices in turn might further depress the "ascertained prices" to be used under the Chicago order.

Moreover, prices paid by individual distributors within a single outside market often vary greatly and the standards and methods by which the market administrator would ascertain the price being paid in the outside market for milk of equal grade and of equivalent use were not outlined. From the administrative viewpoint, it is considered undesirable to burden the market administrator with the responsibility of determining outside market price levels in such circumstances.

The discussion of the pricing of milk used in making ice cream (Class II milk) brought forth a proposal for placing an "out-of-area" price on such milk. The above reasoning is applicable to such proposal also. However, other pertinent findings in this connection are discussed under conclusion (12).

(12) A special storage allowance for storing frozen cream should not be included.

It was proposed that the price formula for Class II milk should include a storage allowance for frozen cream stored. In connection with the discussion of this proposal the proponents made a further proposal to place an "out-of-area" price on milk used in making ice cream to be sold outside the marketing area which would be lower than the price of Class II milk disposed of in the marketing area.

Cream is frozen by Chicago handlers in the months of relatively heavy milk production as supply insurance for months of relatively light milk production. Order No. 41 currently allows an automatic decrease of 12 cents per hundredweight on frozen cream in May and June, but cream for fluid use is not subject to a lower seasonal price differential in May and June. Costs incurred in freezing and storing cream are alleged to approach 20 cents per hundredweight of milk.

It has been determined under conclusion (7) that a seasonal price plan should be established for both Class I milk and Class II milk. The total amount of the seasonal change in the price differential from the May and June level would be 20 cents per hundredweight for Class II milk. The increase in July from the June level would be 10 cents per hundredweight and an additional increase of 10 cents per hundredweight would be effective for the months of August to November, inclusive. In addition it is usual to expect a somewhat higher basic formula price in the fall months than prevails in the months of May and June. Since the expense of freezing and storing cream does not exceed 20 cents per hundredweight of the milk used to produce such frozen cream it would appear that the person incurring such costs would take, under this seasonal price plan, little, if any, risk in protecting his fall supply of cream for ice cream manufacture. This price plan permits him to buy cream for later use at a relatively low price in the summer months and should give an adequate incentive to cream storage rather than to discourage it. An additional allowance of 17 cents per hundredweight is unnecessary in view of the seasonal price plan proposed.

Cream for disposition in the form of ice cream in the City of Chicago must be made from Chicago inspected milk. Ice cream for disposition outside the City of Chicago may be made from cream produced under less rigid health inspection requirements. Chicago ice cream manufacturers sell ice cream both in the City of Chicago and in outside markets, some of which are beyond the limits of the marketing area. Chicago handlers selling in markets adjacent to the marketing area consider that they are in an unfavorable competitive situation in such markets with ice cream makers not regulated by Order No. 41.

Chicago ice cream manufacturers may compete for business in markets where ice cream makers do not maintain Chicago inspection, but such outside ice cream makers may not compete for ice cream business in the City of Chicago. The Chicago ice cream maker operates with respect to the bulk of his ice cream sales on a market protected against outside competitors not handling Chicago approved ice cream. Chicago producers are producing primarily for this inspected market and have pointed out the need for additional supplies of milk on the Chicago market at certain times of the year. Prices for Chicago milk should be designed to bring forth a sufficient supply of milk to meet the demands for which inspected milk is required, but not to create undue surpluses of high quality milk or to provide supplies for milk products to be sold in other markets where different price and supply conditions call for different purchase prices.

Although exceptions were taken to the above stated conclusion and to the omission of an "out-of-area" price for milk used in ice cream for sale beyond the marketing area, no change in such conclusion appears warranted. Concerning the omission of an "out-of-area" price on milk used in ice cream the general basis for denying an "out-of-area" price for Class I milk, set forth under conclusion (11), supplements the pertinent findings above.

(13) The "approved plant" definition should not be changed; and new provisions for (i) establishing additional requirements for continued pool participation by plants now eligible for inclusion in the market-wide pool and (ii) the suspension of pool plants under certain conditions, should not be adopted at this time.

Producer proponents of the proposal for establishing more stringent requirements on plants with respect to pool participation support their proposal by alleging the failure of certain pool participating plants to ship fluid milk and fluid cream in the months of short production when substantially all available supplies of approved milk are needed in the Chicago market. It was pointed out that plants desiring to receive the year around benefit of a uniform price, which includes in all months the total value of Class I and Class II milk sold on the market as well as the values of the other classes, should recognize an obligation to furnish the market with fluid milk and fluid cream whenever it is needed even though in most months of the year such plants may be engaged primarily in manufacturing operations such as the processing of evaporated milk, butter, powder, or cheese. The particular proposal offered attempts to establish standards of performance with respect to the shipment of milk and cream to be made by each and every handler to remain in the market pool.

Plants commonly considered as "Stand-by plants" which are primarily engaged in manufacturing operations but which have entry into the pool at all times of the year do carry at least a moral obligation to furnish their total pool supply to meet the higher-valued uses if and when it is necessary. This obligation accrues from the benefit which such plants receive throughout the year in the form of price equalization which enables them to pay producer prices equal to those paid by strictly fluid milk plants similarly located. The problem proposed can admittedly become serious and irksome in a fluid milk market. However, it has not reached the stage in the Chicago market where the suggested type of remedy or one of equal force is imperative. In addition, the proposal at hand does not cover the problem completely and leaves many questions to be answered, especially regarding its administrative practicality. Because of these considerations, it is concluded that the suggested pool plant provisions should not be adopted at this time.

(14) The pool treatment of the classified value of frozen cream should not be revised (§ 941.7 (b) (3)).

Under the proposal there would be set aside from the pool the difference between the value of frozen cream at the Class II price and its value at the Class IV price for the delivery period in which such cream is frozen, such difference to be returned to the pool during the delivery period in which the frozen cream is utilized.

The proposal seeks to implement seasonal pricing. It must be recognized that it is but one method which may be employed for this purpose. The proposal was not developed sufficiently at the hearing as to (i) its adaptability for this purpose in preference to other methods, and (ii) administrative problems involved in making the proposal operative, such as whether a special reserve fund would be necessary and how it should function, the relation of this proposal to the inventory aspects of classification and pricing, and the reconciliation of volumes of frozen cream when placed in storage with volumes moved from storage at a later date.

An exception was taken to the conclusion reached on the proposal, but in view of the above considerations the adoption of the plan suggested by the proposal is not warranted on the basis of this record.

(15) The location adjustments applicable to the producers' uniform price should be revised.

The order provides for the announcement of the uniform price per hundredweight of milk received from producers at plants located not more than 70 miles (Zone 1) from Chicago. Beyond this distance the uniform price is subject to location adjustments. These deductions are 2 cents per hundredweight of milk for each subsequent 15 mile zone up to 175 miles and ½ cent for each 15 mile zone thereafter. Since the order was first made effective in September 1939, no changes have been made in these rates. The only interim change with any bearing on location allowances was the adoption, by amendment, of road and rail miles instead of air miles in determining the zone location of plants. Under the present structure, the location adjustment rate to producers parallels, up to a distance of 175 miles from the market, the transportation rate allowed handlers for shipping fluid milk; thereafter the rate of adjustment approximates that allowed for transporting fluid cream.

It was contended on behalf of certain organizations that the present location adjustment rates discriminate against the far-out producer and favor the close-in producer. In support it was shown, for example, that in 1944 location adjustments to handlers for milk received beyond the 70 mile zone totaled about $350,000, whereas location adjustments for producers in the same zones totaled about $650,000. The difference of about $300,000 was described as a "tribute" paid by distant producers to close-in producers. It was proposed on these facts that the producer location adjustments should be equivalent to the present rate of adjustment to handlers for fluid milk shipments, or 1½ cents per hundredweight, for each 15 mile zone beyond the 70 mile zone up to a distance of 130 miles from the marketing area and beyond that at a cream rate of ¼ cent per hundredweight per zone. It was proposed further that the 1½ cent rate should drop to 1 cent whenever the accumulated excess of total handler adjustments over total producer adjustments exceed $50,000 and should be restored again to the 1½ cent rate when such excess drops below $25,000. The effect of these proposed rates on producers' uniform prices per hundredweight at the extreme outside and the extreme inside zones would be (i) an increase in the 21st zone (355–370 miles from Chicago) by 10 to 12 cents in relation to the uniform price for the 70-mile zone, and (ii) a decrease in the uniform price in the 70-mile zone of approximately 2 to 3 cents, with proportionate effects on the intermediate zones.

The basing point for class and uniform prices is the 70-mile zone. Handler location adjustment credits are made primarily in recognition of differences among handlers as to sources of supply of milk and cream and should provide, within reasonable limits, uniformity in prices at the basing point. The application of such credits depends entirely upon the disposition of milk received. Much milk received in zones beyond Zone 1 does not become eligible for such credits. However, producer location adjustments are applicable to all milk received in all zones beyond Zone 1.

A comparison of dollar differences between the total of such handler credits and total of producer adjustments, therefore, has little significance in dealing with the problem of fixing appropriate rates of location adjustments to producers. The principle employed by the proponents of the changed rates to producers when carried to its logical conclusion, means that when no location adjustment credits are allowed to handlers, there shall be no location adjustments made to the uniform price paid to producers. In other words, producers located beyond the 70-mile zone would receive the highest uniform prices, relative to the prices received by producers in the 70-mile zone, when the former group ships no fluid milk or fluid cream to the marketing area. Conversely, as shipments of fluid milk or fluid cream made from distant points increase, with accompanying increases in the dollar value of handler location adjustment credits, the uniform prices received by distant producers would become relatively lower than the prices received by close-in producers. Such a result would certainly be inequitable.

Moreover, producer location adjustments affect the uniform price in each zone. The claim of discrimination against far-out producers deserves analysis in this respect also. Zone 21 is the most distant zone from the market in which approved plants are located at present. A comparison of the uniform prices with class prices in Zone 21, 1940–46, inclusive, discloses that if Zone 21 had sold all of its milk for Class I use in Chicago or elsewhere during each month of that period such milk would have drawn money from the pool during 31 out of 84 months because the Class I price in the 21st zone was lower than the uniform price. It may be noted in addition that Class II milk, which is the principal type of milk furnished to the market by most far-out plants, was priced below the uniform price in Zone 21 during 49 months out of 84. During the year 1946, Class II milk in such zone was priced under the uniform price during every month, and the Class I price in that zone was lower than the uniform price during the 7 months of the year. Actually, most of the Class I milk for the market came from close-in zones causing these zones to pay into the pool and thereby enabling Zone 21 and other far-out zones to draw even more out of the pool than would result under the above illustration. Under the proposed rate structure described above, the relationship between the Class I and Class II prices and the uniform prices in the outer zones would be further aggravated.

The assertion of discrimination made does not withstand the above considerations.

It was proposed by one producer organization that the rate of location adjustment to producers should be closely related to the cost to the individual producer of moving his milk to the marketing area independently of other producers and that this cost should be uniform amount for each zone. This proposal was restated to the effect that producer location adjustments should have the same rate that applies to fluid milk shipped by handlers. It was contended also that the proposal for lower location adjustments to producers might result in a uniform price to producers in a distant zone which is higher than the Class I price for that zone. In reply to this statement, the proponents of the lower rates of location adjustments to producers argued that "there is no way under Order 41, if the proposed amendment (for a lower rate) were adopted, by which producers in distant zones could secure higher than Class I prices." However, the latter statement may not be sustained since it has been shown above that even under the rate structure in the present order the Class I price in the 21st zone at times actually has been below the uniform price for such zone and that a lower rate of location adjustment to producers in such zone and other far-out zones would aggravate this situation.

Because of the relationships of prices indicated above, it is desirable to revise rates of location adjustment to producers in a manner which will establish improved price relationships throughout the milkshed. Milk for use as both Class I milk and Class II milk must conform to the same health standards and must be produced on farms meeting the same minimum health standards. Because of transportation costs, efficient marketing is promoted by securing milk for fluid use as near to the market as possible. The present rate structure provides a strong incentive for uneconomic development of the supply area. Although it is recognized that from the practical standpoint the entire requirements of milk for fluid use cannot be produced in the most compact and close-in areas, advantages from location which naturally accrue to nearby producers should not be removed to the extent that an uneconomic development of the supply area for fluid milk results.

Because the availability of approved milk in fluid form is a major element in determining its utility in relation to the needs of the marketing area, the cost of transporting such milk in fluid form from the particular zone must be given substantial weight in arriving at a proper zone price relative to prices of milk of other producers closer to or farther away from the marketing area. It is recognized that it is not necessary for producers to move milk individually to the market and that transportation economies are effected by the assembly and movement of milk by truck or rail either at the instance of the handler or of producers acting jointly. Under present conditions the rates of location adjustment to producers should be established on the basis of the cost of moving milk in fluid form to the market.

This would result in a rate structure of 2 cents per hundredweight per zone for zones 2–14, and an additional 1 cent for each zone thereafter. It is estimated that this proposed rate structure would affect the average annual uniform prices to producers as follows: (i) in the first 8 zones such prices would be increased approximately 1 cent per hundredweight compared with the present rate structure, (ii) in the 9th zone a net decrease in such prices of ½ cent per hundredweight, (iii) net decreases of 2, 3½, 5, 6½, and 8 cents per hundredweight for zones 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14, respectively, and (iv) from the 15th zone to the 21st zone net decreases from 8½ cents to 11½ cents per hundredweight.

Exceptions filed to the economic considerations presented appear to be based upon theories and argument which are at variance with the need for the establishment of more equitable price relationships to producers based upon the cost of moving milk to the marketing area from the relative locations of their farms and for this reason cannot be accepted on the basis of the existing facts.

One exception carried with it the suggestion that a "floor" be placed under the maximum uniform price to producers in the far-off zones. It does not appear that this proposal would provide as equitable a method of establishing prices in such zones in relation to those effective for the nearer zones as for the plan contained in the amendment included in this decision.

Exceptions also argued that the proposed action is unlawful under section 8c (5) (G) of the act. There is nothing in this amendment which purports to prohibit or to in any manner limit in the case of the products of milk, the marketing in the Chicago marketing area of any milk or product thereof produced in any production area in the United States. As stated previously the amendment merely revises location adjustments to producers so as to provide more equitable price relationships among producers throughout the milkshed.

(16) Several revisions of language should be made to obtain further clarity and to simplify administrative problems.

(i) In determining the butterfat test of flavored milk and flavored milk drinks the average fat test of these products, including the fat test of chocolate ingredients, should be used as their butterfat test in all cases where a handler's production records do not show the amount of butterfat going into the product (§ 941.4 (e) (3) (iii)).

The order now provides that in determining the pounds of butterfat in flavored milk and flavored milk drinks the weight of these products is multiplied by their average butterfat test. It has been contended in some instances that a variation exists between the total fat test of the finished product and the butterfat test thereof. A representative study by the market administrator showed that the difference between the butterfat test of the milk ingredients and the total fat test of the finished product was insignificant. The procedure presently being followed by the market administrator is to use the total fat test of flavored drinks as their butterfat test in the absence of adequate records showing a different butterfat test. The proposal will specifically spell out this method in the order. Where a handler's records show the amount of butterfat going into these products, such records have been accepted and will continue to be accepted under the proposal.

(ii) In computing the net class volumes of milk to be priced currently, the milk equivalent of any frozen cream, or other intermediate product, carried over from a previous delivery period and used in making another milk product should be deducted (§ 941.4 (f)).

Milk products which are not end products in themselves are classified and priced during the delivery period when made. It is necessary to deduct the milk equivalent of butterfat in such products from the appropriate uses for the delivery period when such products are finally used to make other products in order that a handler will not be charged twice for the same milk. This procedure is administratively necessary and has been followed in the past by administrative application of the classification provisions.

(iii) A butterfat allowance of .06 percent should be provided to handlers who are not able to show specific tests as to butterfat content of skim milk.

There has been an administrative problem with respect to the determination of the butterfat content of skim milk. Some handlers do not have testing equipment adequate to ascertain with reasonable accuracy the butterfat content remaining in skim milk after separation. Handlers with adequate records have been permitted to claim butterfat in skim milk. A study by the market administrator indicates an average butterfat content of approximately .06 percent for skim milk used by handlers in manufacturing dairy products. It appears that .06 percent is a reasonable factor for use in the absence of adequate tests or records. Butterfat in skim milk may be a substantial factor in the shrinkage experienced by a plant engaged primarily in receiving and separating milk and shipping cream to the marketing area.

The proposed amendment would relieve an administrative problem and would tend to bring about a greater degree of equity among handlers in determining the butterfat content of skim milk.

(iv) The section providing for an assessment on handlers covering administrative expenses should be revised to (a) provide that changes in the administrative assessment rate below the maximum fixed in such section shall be determined by the Secretary rather than by the market administrator subject to review by the Secretary, and (b) eliminate suits by the market administrator to collect such assessments.

Procedure for making changes in such rates will be less complicated if such ratemaking is a direct function of the Secretary rather than a review function. This revision will simplify the establishment of appropriate rates of assessment at any time the assessment rate should be changed.

Section 941.9 (b) is unnecessary because the Secretary currently assumes responsibility for enforcement of the payment of such assessments.

(v) The section providing for the marketing services deductions should be revised to provide that changes in the rate of marketing services deductions below the rate specified in such section shall be determined by the Secretary rather than by the market administrator subject to review by the Secretary.

The fixing of the rate of marketing services deductions by the Secretary (who now reviews the rate established by the market administrator) will simplify the procedure for establishing such rate of assessment below that specified in the order when a change in the rate is necessary.

(17) General findings and conclusions. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The proposed marketing agreement and order, as amended and hereby proposed to be further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the said tentatively approved marketing agreement upon which the hearing has been held; and

(c) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the said marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8 (e) of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area" and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the appropriate and detailed means of effecting the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the attached order, amending the order, as amended, which will be published with the decision.

§ 941.0 Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure covering the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR, Supps. 900.1 et seq., 11 F. R. 7737, 12 F. R. 1159, 4904), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(a) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended,[1] and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in said marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8 (e) of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held.

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

The foregoing findings are supplementary and in addition to the findings made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and the findings made in connection with the issuance of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings may be in conflict with the findings set forth herein.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

HANDLING OF MILK IN CLEVELAND, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER

Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended, and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") and the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and order (7 CFR Supps., 900.1 et seq.; 10 F. R. 11791; 11 F. R. 7737; 12 F. R. 1159, 4904) a public hearing was held at Cleveland, Ohio, June 30–July 3, 1947, inclusive, pursuant to the notice thereof which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 26, 1947 (12 F. R. 4153), upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area.

Preliminary statement. The proposed amendments upon which the hearing was held were submitted by the Milk Producers Federation of Cleveland, the Milk Market Survey Committee, the Elm Farm Dairy, the Wooster Farm Dairies, the Orville Milk Condensing Company, the Ohio Guernsey Breeders Association, Inc., and the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration.

The material issues presented on the record of the hearing were whether:

1. An emergency exists which warrants immediate effectuation of revisions in the order;

2. The definition of the term "route" should be revised;

3. The list of pool plants set forth in § 975.3 (a) (2) (i) should be revised to include additional plants;

4. Ice cream operations should be excluded entirely from coverage by the pool plant provisions of the order or whether the application of the reporting and classification provisions to such operations should be modified;

5. The classification provisions should be revised with respect to milk and cream moved in fluid form to points between 100 and 160 miles from a pool plant;

6. The provisions for the allocation of milk classified should be revised;

7. Milk utilized as fluid cream should be (i) reclassified from Class I milk to Class II milk, or (ii) repriced although retained in Class I milk;

8. Unspecified milk uses and shrinkage in excess of 2 percent of receipts should be reclassified from Class I milk to Class III milk;

9. Milk utilized in products now in Class II milk should be (i) reclassified from Class II milk to Class III milk, or (ii) repriced although retained in Class II milk;

10. The pricing of butterfat shrinkage in Class III milk should be revised;

11. Skim milk or butterfat classified in one class should be reclassified when used or reused by a handler in another class;

12. The application of the basic formula price provisions should be revised;

13. The Class I and Class II price provisions should be revised to (i) change the differentials over the basic formula price during certain months, and (ii) provide "floor" prices for Class I milk;

14. The Class III price provisions should be revised as to the pricing of certain milk products and shrinkage of butterfat;

15. The application of the provision establishing the obligations of "non-pool plants" should be modified;

16. The application of the location adjustments to handlers should be modified;

17. Administrative assessments applicable to other source milk used in ice cream should be eliminated;

18. Special price consideration should be given to milk of high butterfat content, particularly "Golden Guernsey" milk; and

19. A change should be made in the method of allowing shrinkage on producer milk transferred to a second handler without being physically received in the first handler's pool plant.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based upon the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. An emergency exists which requires that action be taken promptly to incorporate into the Cleveland order the findings and conclusions hereinafter set forth without allowing time for a recommended decision by the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, and the filing of exceptions thereto. The due and timely execution of the functions of the Secretary of Agriculture under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires the omission of such recommended decision and the filing of exceptions thereto.

Evidence was introduced at the hearing showing that a series of unavoidable delays had occurred prior to the hearing each of which served to postpone calling a hearing to consider proposals to revise various provisions of the order, to correct pending emergency conditions.

Ample evidence was presented at the hearing to show conclusively that surrounding markets, some of which are Federally regulated, are short of milk and have already revised producer paying prices upwards as a means of obtaining greater milk supplies. Handlers in these competing markets have already begun to solicit producers currently supplying milk to the Cleveland market.

It was generally agreed by both handlers and producers that the Cleveland market will be seriously short of milk during the coming months if present prices continue and that action should be taken as soon as possible to recognize competitive conditions and ease the emergency which will otherwise reach an acute stage very shortly. At this time of year when production is generally declining seasonally, alternative markets are exceptionally short of milk and will be in a position to encourage diversion of producers to such markets where prices are higher. Experience has shown that when prices in other markets have remained substantially above Cleveland prices for any length of time there has been a wholesale shifting of milk away from the Cleveland market.

Any further delay in effectuating needed changes in the order would seriously threaten an adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk for the Cleveland market, would disrupt orderly marketing, and would be contrary to the public interest.

2. The definition of the term "route" should be revised with respect to deliveries to eating places where milk is disposed of for consumption on or off the premises.

Administrative questions have arisen concerning the intended meaning of the term "route" as now defined in the order. Specifically, it has been questioned whether or not milk delivered from a point of origin outside the marketing area to one stop or delivery point within the marketing area for the purpose of supplying an eating place would constitute a "route" within the meaning of the definition. Likewise, questions have arisen as to whether or not the type of conveyance to the marketing area in any way affects the meaning of the term. The recommended change in the language of the definition should clarify the intended meaning of the term to avoid confusion regarding its application without changing the meaning currently being applied.

3. The list of pool plants now contained in the order should be revised to include the surplus handling plant of a producers' cooperative association.

The order as presently in effect lists certain pool plants under the order and also provides methods by which additional plants may become listed pool plants. The methods by which plants not listed may acquire listed pool plant status involve both the quantity and length of delivery of milk.

A surplus handling plant was established by the Milk Producers Federation of Cleveland, a cooperative association of producers, in 1941 to assist in the orderly marketing of milk. It receives surplus milk nearly every year, usually beginning about April 1, cools it and ships it to manufacturing plants for processing. It is operated solely to service the Cleveland fluid milk market by handling and removing surplus milk in the flush months. As a surplus receiving plant its operations are seasonal and there is no assurance that milk will continue to be received in quantity or for sufficiently long periods during any one year to enable it to qualify as a listed pool plant, or once qualified to maintain a listed status under the present requirements of the order. Although milk which is received at the association plant is taken in without having been first received in the plant of a handler, it is with the understanding that the producers of such milk are to deliver their milk to the handler who had previously received it as soon as such handler is in a position to take it again. Payment for any such milk received by the association is made at present direct to the handler and the handler continues to be responsible for payment to the individual producers.

Membership in the producer association guarantees members a market for their milk. Loss of their market would force the association to take member milk and pay the equivalent of pool prices for it. Producers whose milk is delivered to the plant of the association, for which the association assumes responsibility for payment to the individual producer, are not eligible under prevailing conditions to receive payments out of the pool. If such milk had to be disposed of at prices below the uniform price under the order, the cooperative association would be placed at a distinct disadvantage since it would have to make up to the producer the difference in price. The cooperative association operating the subject plant should not be placed in such a position of disadvantage. Because of the seasonal and market servicing nature of its plant operations, it should not have to conform to the same requirements for listed pool plant status as plants operated by handlers. Past operations indicate the importance of its functions to the market and therefore it should be listed as a pool plant.

At the hearing a request was made to add to the list of named pool plants in § 975.3 (a) (2) (i) a plant operated by the Pet Milk Company at Freemont, Ohio. However, no special circumstances were shown which would warrant deviation from the normal procedures provided in § 975.3 (a) (2) (ii) for such listing.

4. The reporting and classification provisions of the order should be revised so as to cover milk and milk products received by handlers at plants located in the marketing area where ice cream is manufactured.

Proposals were received which would (i) exclude all ice cream operations from coverage by the pool plant provisions of the order, and (ii) extend the coverage of the reporting and classification provisions of the order to ice cream operations by handlers in nonpool plants located in the marketing area.

As the order now stands, an ice cream plant operated at the same location and in conjunction with a handler's pool plant is subject to the reporting and classification provisions of the order. On the other hand, an ice cream plant of a handler operated as a separate establishment from his pool plant is now outside the scope of such provisions even though such ice cream plant is located in the marketing area.

Accordingly, the order now affects handlers making ice cream differently depending only upon the physical location of their ice cream plants. Handlers whose ice cream manufacturing operations are conducted at their pool plants receive all their milk and cream through one intake and receipts become completely commingled so that there is no basis for distinguishing which producer's milk is to be used for each purpose. In making the pool computations, such milk cannot be segregated.

It also was contended that under section 8c (5) (B) of the act the Secretary "cannot legally place under the terms of the order those manufacturers who are solely engaged in the production of ice cream." This question of law does not appear to be a material issue since such action is not now to be taken. The alleged inequity in cost of materials between operators of such plants and handlers which was referred to in connection with this contention is considered more fully under conclusion (9).

All handlers under the order who operate ice cream plants are in competition with one another for their raw material supplies including cream and skim milk. Likewise, they compete with one another in the sale of their finished products.

Handlers whose ice cream manufacturing operations are within the scope of the order are required to pay minimum class prices for skim milk and butterfat in producer milk used in ice cream while ice cream makers operating outside the order are not. The former are required also to pay the administrative assessments on such skim milk and butterfat.

It is essential that all handlers be treated equitably in the classification of milk and that utilization costs of milk received from producers be determined on a uniform basis for all handlers. These purposes can best be advanced by extending the coverage of the reporting and classification provisions of the order to all nonpool plants of handlers located in the marketing area where ice cream is manufactured.

5. The classification provisions should be revised with respect to milk moved in fluid form to points between 100 miles and 160 miles from a pool plant so as to permit its classification according to ultimate use.

Under the terms of the current order, milk which is moved in fluid form to points more than 100 miles distant from the pool plant of the handler is classified as Class I milk. The proposal would increase to 160 miles the distance which milk in fluid form may be shipped to a nonpool plant without automatically being considered as Class I milk. Experience indicates that this distance should be increased to assure that adequate manufacturing facilities will be included within the radius within which milk in such form is likely to move for manufacture.

It was contended that § 975.5 (b) (1) (ii) of the order as now in effect, and as proposed to be amended, is in violation of section 8c (5) of the act in that it allegedly classifies milk according to distance instead of according to form or use. This contention is without merit because the section actually classifies milk according to its form at a specified place, i. e. in fluid form more than 160 miles from the pool plant where received.

6. § 975.5 (g) (2) (i) should be revised to include milk transferred from other pool plants as well as milk received from producers, and to exclude reconstituted skim milk from the handler's total Class I sales, for the purposes of the 105 percent computation therein.

Under the present order it is provided in § 975.5 (g) (2) (i) that in determining the pounds of producer milk to be allocated to each class, there shall be deducted from the pounds of butterfat in Class I milk either the pounds by which butterfat in milk received from producers is less than 105 percent of the pounds of butterfat in the handler's fluid Class I sales (except cream) or the pounds of butterfat in other source milk received, whichever is smaller. In such computation there should be added to the amount of butterfat in milk received from producers that quantity of butterfat in milk received by the handler from other pool plants. Pool plants customarily receive the bulk of their milk from producers. It is usual that such milk is not transferred from one pool plant to another unless the first plant's Class I milk needs already have been met. By transferring such milk from one pool plant to another it is readily available for Class I milk purposes, and should be in the same category so far as the second plant is concerned as milk received directly from producers.

In determining the amount of Class I milk disposed of by a handler for the purposes of § 975.5 (g) (2) (i) reconstituted skim milk should not be included in the Class I milk total. Reconstituted skim milk is not permitted under existing local health requirements for sale as fluid milk in Cleveland, the major segment of the marketing area, and accordingly should not displace producers' milk in determining the allocation of Class I milk.

Under § 975.5 (h) the foregoing also applies to the allocation of skim milk. It was proposed that producers be required to deliver milk equal in quantity to at least 115 percent of the handler's Class I fluid milk requirements in order that greater quantity of Class I milk might be allocated to other source milk; Evidence was submitted to show that in certain periods and for some handlers the 105 percent minimum was not adequate to cover Class I sales. Market statistics show, however, that for the entire market there has been no month in which deliveries by producers were not at least equal to 105 percent of the Class I milk disposed of in the market and that the real problem is one of distributing the supply of milk among plants for greater use as Class I milk. For this reason, it appears that no change in percentage is warranted.

7. Cream should be repriced but retained in Class I milk rather than reclassified from Class I milk to Class II milk.

Proposals submitted by handlers would require the reclassification of cream from Class I milk to Class II milk. The apparent basis for the request was to establish class prices for skim milk and butterfat used as cream in line with the prices of cream purchased on the outside. It was indicated that the supply area for cream meeting the applicable health standards for sale as fluid cream is slightly broader than the area from which fluid milk is obtained.

Evidence introduced at the hearing shows prices of cream purchased on the open market to average $35.03 for ten gallons of 40 percent cream for the nine month period of operation of the order. Thus, the price of the fat in cream purchased on the open market averaged about $1.04 per pound as compared with an average Class I price of fat of $0.98 under the order. The difference of about 6 cents represented the amount by which the price of butterfat in Class I milk under the order was below the price of butterfat in open market purchased cream. In terms of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content the difference is equivalent to about 21 cents per hundredweight. Evidence introduced alleged costs of receiving and processing milk through the separating stage to average about 36 cents per hundredweight of milk. The net difference in cost between purchasing cream on the open market and the cost of purchasing order-priced milk to obtain cream, is about 15 cents per hundredweight. On the basis of the evidence in the record it appears that on the average a reduction in the price of milk used for cream of about 15 cents per hundredweight would bring the cost of cream made from producer milk under the order well in line with alternative market prices for cream.

8. Unspecified milk uses and shrinkage in excess of 2 percent of receipts should not be reclassified from Class I milk to Class III milk.

It was proposed to reclassify from Class I milk to Class III any milk product or use now unspecified. The record does not contain any specific information concerning this proposal which would provide an adequate basis for considering any change.

Handlers proposed that all shrinkage be given credit as a Class III obligation. Under the current order actual shrinkage not in excess of 2 percent is considered as Class III milk. Any plant shrinkage in excess of 2 percent is considered as Class I milk.

Data for the representative months of October 1946 and January and April 1947 indicate a net shrinkage for the market to be 1.25 percent, 1.77 percent, and 1.76 percent, respectively, of receipts. To permit a substantially greater shrinkage allowance in Class III milk than is needed to cover the shrinkage experience from plant operations for the market as a whole would penalize the more efficient handlers to the benefit of the less efficient handlers. In order to maintain a high degree of equity among handlers it does not appear desirable to make any change in this respect.

9. Milk used in products now in Class II milk should not be reclassified from Class II milk to Class III milk but should be retained as Class II milk and repriced; the price of butterfat in Class II milk should not be permitted to be lower than the price of butterfat in Class III milk.

A proposal submitted by handlers would require the reclassification of milk used in ice cream and other Class II milk products from Class II milk to Class III milk. The primary basis for proposing such reclassification was to establish lower prices for milk used in ice cream. Evidence was submitted concerning the relative costs of purchasing cream and condensed skim milk on the open market for use in making ice cream and of purchasing milk under the order from producers and processing it for use as ice cream.

Considerable evidence was introduced to indicate that ice cream manufacturers selling in the marketing area but operating outside the scope of the order have been in a position to purchase raw material supplies somewhat cheaper than handlers operating under the order.

A comparison of locally quoted prices for cream and condensed skim milk with order prices for milk used for ice cream indicates that for each of the months of September 1946 through April 1947 prices were somewhat in favor of buying cream and condensed skim milk outside when processing costs of order-priced milk were taken into account. This purchase advantage varied from a high of 33.6 cents per hundredweight of 3.5 percent milk in January 1947 to a low of 15.6 cents in December 1946. Data for May 1947 indicate a slight disadvantage of 1.4 cents per hundredweight of 3.5 percent milk in buying cream and condensed skim in the open market as against order-priced milk. The average advantage in favor of open market purchases for the nine months of order operation was about 20 cents per hundredweight. Other items now covered by Class II milk customarily are utilized in making ice cream. On the basis of these data milk for the uses now covered by Class II milk should be repriced as Class II milk rather than reclassified from Class II milk to Class III milk.

Evidence was introduced to show also that as formulas in the order now operate the price of butterfat in Class II milk has been from time to time less than the price for butterfat in Class III milk. The price of butterfat in Class II milk should not be permitted to fall below the price of butterfat in uses generally regarded as being among the lowest-valued uses for butterfat.

10. The basis for pricing butterfat shrinkage in Class III milk should be revised to provide for the pricing of such shrinkage (not in excess of 2 percent of producer receipts) at the lower of the Class III prices provided in the order.

Under the present order butterfat shrinkage not in excess of 2 percent of receipts is charged handlers on the basis of the higher of the alternative Class III prices. Skim milk shrinkage not in excess of 2 percent of producer receipts is charged at the lower of the alternative Class III prices. It is estimated that the proposed revision would have a negligible effect on the Class III price. The proposed revision would permit a uniform pool treatment of the shrinkage both of skim milk and butterfat and accordingly would simplify the pool computation. No objections were offered to this change.

11. The present order provisions whereby skim milk or butterfat classified in one class is reclassified when used or reused by a handler in another class should not be changed.

Under the present terms of the order, milk classified in one class and later used or reused is subject to reclassification in accordance with its ultimate class use by a handler. A proposed amendment would, if adopted, require that once classified skim milk or butterfat later used or reused in a different use class could not be reclassified in accordance with its ultimate use by a handler.

The question at issue is particularly significant with respect to cream and condensed skim milk which are stored during the flush season of production for later use, primarily in ice cream or ice cream mix manufacture. When stored, these products are classified in Class II and Class III, respectively. If used later in the manufacture of ice cream, they are reclassified as Class II milk and appropriate adjustments are made in the pool value on the basis of the class prices in effect during the delivery period when the products were stored. Seasonally higher class prices during the fall and winter months tend to offset package, storage, risks of loss in quality which, it was argued, are incurred if milk is processed and stored. Handlers have the option to dispose of skim milk and butterfat at the time of receipt in the most advantageous outlet and acquire supplies needed for manufacturing purposes during the fall months in the open market. Adoption of the proposed change also would tend to reduce returns to producers and tend to discourage needed production. A fundamental aim of the provision now in effect is to assure equity of cost to handlers taking their different situations into account as to ability to process and store products during the flush period of production. In view of the above it is concluded that such provision as now in effect should not be changed.

12. The application of the basic formula price provisions should be revised.

In the present order, the basic formula price is the highest of three manufacturing milk price formulas based, respectively, on the "paying" prices of several evaporated milk concerns, open market prices of butter and cheese and open market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids, for the current delivery period. Under the proposal, the highest price resulting from these manufacturing milk formulas for the delivery period next preceding (now the basic formula for such delivery period) would be the basic formula price for the current delivery period. The proposal is designed to enable handlers to know with certainty their purchase prices for Class I milk and Class II milk by the fifth day of the delivery period during which the milk so utilized is received.

Currently, class prices are not known until approximately the fifth day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk is received and after the Class I milk and Class II milk has been disposed of by handlers. Analysis of past price relationships indicate that this proposal would have a very minor effect over a period of time upon the price levels of such classes of milk. More orderly marketing will be encouraged by the announcement of the Class I and Class II prices early in the delivery period during which milk in such classes is disposed of by handlers. Handlers will be in a position to reflect changes in producer prices in their prices to consumers much more rapidly. For these reasons the proposal to base such class prices upon the manufactured formula prices for the next preceding delivery should be adopted with the condition that the basic formula price effective for July shall be not less than that for the preceding month of June. The latter proviso will tend to preserve the proper seasonal trend of prices as the short production season is approached.

Substantial quantities of the milk supply for the marketing area are disposed of from time to time in the form of manufactured milk products covered by the Class III milk definition. The latter products are in open competition with similar products not meeting any formal health inspection. Because of the highly competitive character of the markets for the products covered by Class III milk, the prices for the latter class should continue to be based upon market prices for manufactured milk products for the current delivery period rather than for the next preceding delivery period.

13. Class I and Class II milk price provisions should be revised to establish higher seasonal differentials over the basic formula price during the months of September, January, and February; and Class I prices should be revised also to establish temporary "floor" prices.

A short supply of milk from producers in relation to milk for Class I and Class II milk needs is evident beginning in September and continuing through February. Substantial quantities of other source milk have been required during each month, with particularly large quantities being required during the period of smallest production.

Available evidence indicates that feed supplies can be expected to be exceptionally short and high priced this fall and winter. The planting season was delayed three to four weeks due to unseasonable wet weather. Crop experts testified that the corn and oat crops in Ohio might be as much as 50 percent below normal. Feeding values of hay are expected to suffer seriously as a result of late harvests caused by the wet weather. Current costs of concentrate feeds are appreciably above those of a few months ago and are expected to rise further. Experience indicates that producers, in order to supply greater milk production during the fall and winter months, must feed more liberally than those producing for manufacturing purposes and accordingly are more seriously affected by high feed prices. Costs of capital equipment, labor, transportation and supplies have increased substantially during recent months. In addition, indices of increases in the relative profitableness of alternative uses of land, labor, and capital by producers such as for the production of livestock, poultry and eggs, as compared with milk, indicates a threat to an adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk for use in the Cleveland marketing area. The failure of prices in other nearby competing markets to drop in line with the decrease in Cleveland prices under the formula is having and will continue to have serious effects on the Cleveland supply if permitted to continue for an extended period without adjustment of the price at Cleveland.

If producers are to be induced to continue to supply milk to Cleveland they must have some assurance of adequate minimum prices during the coming months of short supply. Under the present order, Class I and Class II prices are determined on the basis of the higher of specified manufacturing plant "pay" prices. In order to meet heavy war requirements for manufactured milk products these prices increased substantially. With the termination of the war milk product manufacturers readjusted their prices rapidly. The readjustment resulted in serious declines in producer prices considerably in excess of a normal seasonal change. The result has been to reduces such prices in relation to other markets competing for supply.

As a basis for demonstrating demand factors for milk and its products in Cleveland, evidence was submitted concerning numbers of wage earners, pay rolls; retail sales, construction and steel operations. All of these indices show substantial increases as compared with a year earlier and show no weakening in consumer spending power. From these indices effective demand for milk and its products seems likely to continue high for some time to come.

In order to encourage a more even flow of production by establishing a more desirable seasonal pattern of pricing, which will tend to encourage greater milk production during the fall and winter months when production is particularly short, it is desirable to include September, January, and February with the months when highest differential over the base price is paid for Class I and Class II milk.

In view of the evidence of increasingly short supplies of milk, the likelihood that producers will be enticed by price levels in competing markets, increasing costs of labor, feed, supplies and equipment, and the evidence of continuing high demand it is imperative that if producers are to be encouraged to supply the needs of the market consideration should be given to "forward" pricing at some minimum level during the next few months of exceptionally short supply while the prices established by the basic formulas are being readjusted. Considering all of the foregoing it appears that temporary floor prices for Class I milk at the following levels will give the needed minimum assurance to producers.

The floor prices to be effective are as follows: September to December 1947, inclusive, $4.79; January—a price not less than 44 cents per hundredweight of 3.5 percent milk below the effective Class I price for December; and February—a price not less than 44 cents per hundredweight of 3.5 percent milk below the effective Class I price for January.

It does not appear desirable at this time to consider extending floor prices into the spring flush production period when demand, supply, and basic price relationships may be considerably different than at present and also different from what may be anticipated during the next six months.

14. The formula for determining the price of Class III skim milk utilized in evaporated milk, bulk condensed skim or whole milk, powdered malted milk, and cottage cheese should be revised.

As the order now operates, prices for skim milk and butterfat are computed on the basis of the market prices for butter and roller process nonfat dry milk solids. These prices apply in all instances except when either the price per hundredweight of 3.5 percent milk produced by the condensery "pay price" formula or the butter-cheese formula (alternative basic price formulas) is higher than the price resulting from the "butter-nonfat dry milk solids" formula. Under the latter circumstance skim milk utilized in evaporated milk, bulk condensed skim and whole milk, powdered malted milk, and cottage cheese is priced on the basis of the higher of the condensery price or butter-cheese price formulas.

The latter formulas, particularly the condensery pay formula (average of prices paid by 18 Wisconsin and Michigan plants) used, have operated to produce a higher price for the skim milk for such named uses than could be realized readily from the disposition of milk or skim milk to nearby manufacturing plant outlets. Because of this, some difficulty has been encountered by certain handlers in disposing of milk in excess of Class I and Class II needs during some of the months of increasing seasonal production. Action was taken earlier this year suspending § 975.6 (d) (3) of the order to effect a lower price for skim milk in such indicated uses in order that all surplus might be disposed of without hardship to those handlers having excess supplies.

In order to facilitate the orderly marketing of individual plant surpluses it does not appear necessary or desirable to continue to price skim milk in such uses at a level as low as that brought about by the suspension order. However, some adjustment in price seems appropriate on the basis of the prices which manufacturing plants in Ohio have paid in relation to the prices resulting from the condensery "pay" or butter-cheese price formulas provided in the order.

A factor of 25 cents deducted from the condensery, or butter-cheese, formula price in the computation of the price for skim milk used in such products, as specified in the order, as amended, will result under present conditions in a more representative price of skim milk for such uses.

15. The application of the provision establishing the obligations of "nonpool handlers" should be modified so as to require that nonpool plants which deliver skim milk or butterfat to pool plants that receive less than 50 percent of their skim milk and butterfat from producers or other pool plants shall be obligated to the producer-settlement fund for the difference between the Class I and Class III prices on any milk sold as Class I by the receiving pool handler.

The present order provides that a nonpool plant furnishing milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk or flavored milk drink to a pool plant which receives less than 10 percent of its total skim and butterfat from producers or from other pool plants shall pay to the producer-settlement fund the difference between the order price applicable to such Class I milk uses and the Class III milk prices on such deliveries which are classified as Class I milk at the receiving pool plant. It was proposed that such obligation of nonpool plants to the producer-settlement fund be applied in all cases where the receiving pool plant is supplied with less than 50 percent (rather than 10 percent) of its receipts of skim milk and butterfat from producers or from other pool plants.

An administrative problem has arisen in this connection which is not adequately covered by the present order provisions. It is possible for the nonpool plants to transfer or divert milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk or flavored milk drink to a pool plant without obligation to the producer-settlement fund if the pool plant receives more than 10 percent of its total supply from producers or from other pool plants. Unless an emergency supply situation exists, this can create an unequitable situation in the cost of milk to handlers and should not be permitted. The percentage figure to be used should tie in appropriately with other provisions regarding the minimum qualifications of plants desiring to become pool plants.

16. Location adjustments now applicable to milk received at the country plant of a handler and delivered to the marketing area should be revised so as to permit handlers to obtain the benefit of the location adjustment on Class I and Class II milk sold outside the marketing area.

Presently, location adjustment credits are allowed only on items of Class I and Class II milk actually moved from the country plant to the marketing area. No such adjustments have been allowed on such items disposed of from the plant to any point not in the marketing area. As proposed, such credits would be permitted with respect to all Class I and Class II milk received at a country plant regardless of the point of disposition, to cottage cheese, a product covered by Class III milk, and to milk moved for Class III milk purposes from the country plant where originally received to a manufacturing plant also in the country.

Certain pool plants in the country regularly sell substantial amounts of milk outside the marketing area as bottled fluid milk or cream. The net cost f. o. b. country plant has been greater to the handler by the amount of the adjustment for the particular zone location of the country plant when the item was disposed of outside the marketing area rather than in the marketing area. The proposed change will result in a cost of milk to handlers received at a country plant and used outside of the marketing area as Class I or Class II milk which is equivalent f. o. b. the country plant to the cost of items of Class I and Class II milk moved to the marketing area for disposition there. A better alignment of prices throughout the milkshed should result by extending the application of the handler location adjustments by zones to such Class I and Class II milk as a handler may dispose of from a country plant to points outside the marketing area.

The application of zone location adjustments to cottage cheese moved to the marketing area or to manufacturing milk moved from a country plant to a manufacturing plant also in the country do not appear warranted. Milk utilized for Class III or manufactured milk products and for cottage cheese is in strong and open competition with other manufactured milk not regulated by the order and which is not subject to similar location adjustments. Competitive pricing for Class III uses would be thrown out of alignment by the application of location adjustments to milk under the order utilized by handlers for manufactured milk products and cottage cheese. For similar reasons handler location adjustment credits should not be applied to all producer milk moved from a pool plant at a country location.

17. The administrative assessment applicable to other source milk used in ice cream should be eliminated.

The health requirements applicable to milk for use as ice cream in the marketing area are not as stringent as those governing milk for use either as fluid milk or fluid cream. A substantial percentage of ice cream is manufactured and distributed in the marketing area by concerns which are not handlers. Such concerns utilize large quantities of milk, cream and condensed skim milk which are not derived from producer's milk. Such concerns are in close competition with handlers who manufacture and distribute ice cream. Handlers making ice cream often find it necessary to purchase outside cream and condensed skim milk for ice cream disposition. In order to give handlers the opportunity of securing other source milk for making ice cream on an equivalent basis with competitors who are not regulated, the assessment on other source milk utilized for ice cream should be eliminated.

18. The rate of producer butterfat differential should be calculated as the weighted average price of butterfat in all classes minus the weighted average price of skim milk in all classes.

Changes in the order were proposed which if adopted would have distinguished between Golden Guernsey milk and other "special" milks as compared with regular milk on the basis of alleged special qualities. In the alternative it was proposed that a revision be made with the butterfat differential designed to increase the rate of butterfat differential to all producers of high testing milk.

The record indicates that the Cleveland market is short of both butterfat and "serium solids" but is particularly short of butterfat. A great deal of fluid cream and bulk condensed skim milk is received from sources other than producer milk for disposition as fluid cream and in ice cream in the marketing area. The average test of milk sold in fluid form is approximately 3.74 percent. However, the butterfat test of milk as received from producers is considerably lower than the average test of all Class I products sold. The value of milk varies with its butterfat content and the order now provides a butterfat differential to producers for milk having a butterfat test above or below 3.5 percent.

The producers of "Golden Guernsey milk" represent about 0.6 percent of all producers of qualified milk. No testimony was given with respect to any other "special milks" in support of preferential treatment. In view of the small percentage of Golden Guernsey producers shipping to the marketing area it does not appear that milk of the higher butterfat content (4.5 percent and over) claimed by such producers for their milk is a substantial element in fulfilling the regular requirements for the sale of fresh fluid milk and cream. Testimony relating to the qualities of Golden Guernsey milk as compared with regular milk does not disclose that such milk differs materially in quality from other milk of comparable butterfat content. Producers of high butterfat content milk including Golden Guernsey milk do not have a fluid milk outlet for all the milk they produce. Some of such milk including the butterfat component is disposed of in other uses including manufacturer milk products.

On the basis of the above the principal issue is whether the butterfat differential to producers is commensurate with its use value.

The general shortage of butterfat indicates the need for a higher butterfat differential than is now reflected by the differential based on Class II values. It appears that a better alignment of butterfat values would result by applying a butterfat differential in line with the overall market utilization value of butterfat. In order to compensate for the value of skim milk which is replaced by the additional fat in high test milk the weighted average price of skim milk is deducted from the weighted average price of butterfat in all classes to distinguish such differential to a value of one-tenth of one percent variation from 3.5 milk.

19. The method of allowing shrinkage in Class IV milk on producer milk transferred to a second handler without being physically received in the pool plant of the first handler should be revised to permit the handler actually receiving the milk to obtain the shrinkage allowance.

Under the present order, allowance in Class IV milk for shrinkage (not to exceed 2 percent of receipts) on milk transferred from one handler to another accrues to the first handler even though he does not physically receive the milk. Since the second handler actually incurs the shrinkage it appears more feasible that the allowance should be given to the second handler rather than to the first handler.

This change will have no appreciable effect on the minimum prices received by producers or on the total cost of milk to handlers but will merely change the point of application of the shrinkage allowance. The change should facilitate transfers of milk between handlers.

It was also contended by the Milk Market Survey Committee, a group of handlers, at the hearing, and in their brief, that a proposal to "amend" the order by terminating it, which was not contained in the notice of hearing, should have been considered at the hearing and that the presiding officer erred in refusing to receive evidence thereon at the hearing. An offer of proof was made thereon by these handlers and received in the record as such. The Assistant Administrator properly limited the hearing notice to proposals to modify the order by the amendment process specified in the promulgation regulation, as amended, (7 CFR Supps. 901 et seq., 11 F. R. 7737, 12 F. R. 1159, 4904). The presiding officer correctly ruled that the alleged issue was not to be considered at the hearing because it was not presented by the notice of hearing. Even if the alleged issue had properly been before the hearing the offer of proof did not show that producers in the number and milk volume required under section 8c (16) (B) of the act favor termination of the order. The offer of proof also did not indicate the existence of circumstances warranting termination pursuant to section 8c (16) (A) of the act. Accordingly, the request or application of the milk market survey committee for a reopening of the hearing because of such alleged errors of law is denied.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of the producer associations and various handlers subject to Order No. 75. The briefs contain statements of fact, conclusions, and arguments with respect to all of the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered, along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. Although all of the briefs do not contain specific requests to make proposed findings, it is assumed that the statements, conclusions, and arguments submitted were for this purpose and are treated accordingly. To the extent that such proposed findings and conclusions differ from the findings and conclusions contained herein, the requests to make such findings or to reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled "Marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area" and "Order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area," which have been decided upon as the appropriate and detailed means of effecting the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered that all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the attached order, as amended, which will be published with the decision.

This decision filed at Washington D. C., this 15th day of August 1947.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

§ 975.0 Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure covering the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR, Supps. 900.1 et seq., 11 F. R. 7737, 12 F. R. 1159, 4904), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(a) The said order as hereby amended,[1] and all of its terms and conditions, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in said marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8 (e) of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the said order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The said order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

The foregoing findings are supplementary and in addition to the findings made in connection with the original issuance of the aforesaid order; and all of said previous findings are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings may be in conflict with the findings set forth herein.

Order Relative to Handling

It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended; and the aforesaid order is hereby amended to read as follows:

(b) Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, skim milk and butterfat described in paragraph (a) of this section shall be classified by the market administrator on the basis of the following classes of utilization:

(1) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat:

(i) Disposed of in fluid form as milk; skim milk or buttermilk, except for livestock feed; flavored milk or flavored milk drink; sweet or sour cream; any mixture of cream and milk (or skim milk); or eggnog;

(ii) Transferred as any item included in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph from a pool plant to the plant of a producer-handler, or transferred as any such item, except cream, to a nonpool plant located more than 160 miles from such pool plant by shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator;

(iii) Accounted for as any item not listed under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph or as Class II milk or Class III milk; or

(2) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat used to produce ice cream, imitation ice cream, and other frozen desserts and mixes for similar products (liquid or powdered); or storage cream (cream placed in a licensed cold storage warehouse to remain for a period of not less than 30 days, and which is subject at all times, while in such warehouse to inspection by the market administrator to determine the physical presence of such cream).

(3) Class III milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(i) Used to produce butter; butter oil; cheese (including cottage cheese); bulk condensed skim milk or whole milk (sweetened or unsweetened); evaporated or condensed milk (or skim milk) in hermetically sealed cans; casein; nonfat dry milk solids; dry whole milk; condensed or dry buttermilk; whey; powdered malted milk; lactose; and skim milk or buttermilk disposed of for livestock feed;

(iii) In actual shrinkage of other source milk computed pursuant to paragraph (c) (4) of this section.

(c) Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in milk received from producers and in other source milk received in the following manner: Provided, That milk of producers transferred by a handler to another handler and received at the latter's (1) pool plant, or (2) nonpool plant engaged in the manufacture of ice cream or ice cream mix and located within the marketing area, without first having been received for purposes of weighing and testing in the transferring handler's pool plant shall be included in the receipts at such plant of the second handler for the purpose of computing his plant shrinkage and shall be excluded from the receipts at the pool plant of the transferring handler in computing his plant shrinkage.

(1) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, by (i) combining the shrinkage thereof for all pool plants operated by the handler, and (ii) combining in a separate sum the shrinkage thereof for all nonpool plants operated by him to which any skim milk or butterfat has been transferred from any of his pool plants;

(2) Prorate the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) (ii) of this paragraph, in such nonpool plants between (i) skim milk or butterfat, respectively, transferred from any of his pool plants, and (ii) skim milk or butterfat, respectively, received from all other sources;

(3) Add to the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph, the shrinkage on skim milk or butterfat, respectively, transferred from the handler's pool plant(s) to his nonpool plant(s) computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph; and

(4) Prorate the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph between that in milk received from producers and in other source milk at his pool plants, after deducting from the total receipts therein the receipts from pool plants other than his own.

(d) Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat transferred as any item listed in paragraph (b) (1) (i) of this section from a pool plant in a manner described in subparagraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this paragraph, shall be classified as follows:

(1) As Class I milk, if transferred to another pool plant unless utilization in another class is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 8th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transfer was made: Provided, That skim milk or butterfat assigned to a particular class shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the pool plant of the transferee handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to paragraphs (g) (4) and (h) of this section, and any excess of such transferred skim milk or butterfat, respectively, shall be assigned in series beginning with the next lowest-priced available class; or

(2) As Class I milk, if transferred to a nonpool plant (except to a plant described in paragraph (b) (1) (ii) of this section) unless (i) other utilization is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both the buyer and seller on or before the 8th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transfer was made, (ii) the buyer maintains books and records showing utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at his plant which are made available to the market administrator for audit, and (iii) such buyer's plant had actually used not less than an equivalent amount of skim milk or butterfat in the use indicated in such statement: Provided, That if such nonpool plant had not actually used an equivalent amount of skim milk or butterfat in such indicated use, the remaining pounds shall be classified in the next lowest-priced available class of utilization as if the classes of utilization set forth in paragraph (b) of this section were applicable to such nonpool plant; or

(3) As Class I milk if transferred in bulk form to (i) a manufacturer of soup, candy, or bakery products for use in such manufacturing operations, or (ii) any retail establishment which disposes of milk in fluid form.

(e) Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (1) All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk unless the handler who first received such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(2) Any skim milk or butterfat classified (except that classified pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) (ii) of this section) in one class shall be reclassified if used or reused by such handler or by another handler in another class.

(f) Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the delivery period report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk for such handler.

(g) Allocation of butterfat classified. The pounds of butterfat remaining after making the following computations shall be the pounds in each class allocated to milk received from producers:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of butterfat in Class III milk (other than butterfat in butter), the pounds of butterfat shrinkage allowed pursuant to paragraph (b) (3) (ii) of this section;

(2) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat in Class I milk, the smaller of the following:

(i) The pounds, if any, by which the butterfat in milk received from producers and pool plants is less than 105 percent of the pounds of butterfat in such handler's milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk and flavored milk drink classified as Class I milk (exclusive of any reconstituted skim milk) pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) (i) of this section, not including such Class I milk transferred to pool plants or to nonpool plants; or

(ii) The pounds of butterfat in other source milk received;

(3) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat in other source milk, the pounds deducted pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph;

(4) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, after making the deduction pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization, the pounds of butterfat remaining in other source milk after making the deduction pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph;

(5) Subtract from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class the pounds of butterfat received from other handlers in such classes pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section; and

(6) Add to the remaining pounds of butterfat in Class III milk (other than butterfat in butter), the pounds subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; or if the remaining pounds of butterfat in all classes exceed the pounds of butterfat in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization.

(h) Allocation of skim milk classified. Allocate the pounds of skim milk in each class to milk received from producers in a manner similar to that prescribed for butterfat in paragraph (g) of this section.

§ 975.6 Minimum prices—(a) Basic formula price to be used in determining prices of Class I milk and Class II milk. The basic formula price per hundredweight of milk to be used in determining the Class I milk and Class II milk prices for each delivery period, pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, shall be the highest of the prices per hundredweight of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content computed by the market administrator pursuant to subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph.

(1) The average of the basic (or field) prices ascertained to have been paid per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the next preceding delivery period at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture by the companies indicated below:

(2) The price of butterfat shall be the amount obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, multiplied by 20.

(3) The price of skim milk shall be computed by (i) multiplying the price for butterfat pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph by 0.035; (ii) subtracting such amount from the amount obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; (iii) dividing such net amount by 0.965; and (iv) rounding off to the nearest full cent.

(c) Class II milk prices. The respective minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. the marketing area, for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers or from a pool plant of a cooperative association, during the delivery period, which is classified as Class II milk, shall be as follows, as computed by the market administrator:

(3) The price of skim milk shall be computed by (i) multiplying the price for butterfat pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph prior to the application of the proviso by 0.035; (ii) subtracting such amount from the amount obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; (iii) dividing such net amount by 0.965; and (iv) rounding off to the nearest full cent.

(d) Class III milk prices. The respective minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his plant, for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers or from a pool plant of a cooperative association, which is classified as Class III milk shall be as follows, as computed by the market administrator:

(1) The price per hundredweight of butterfat shall be the average price per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market, as reported by the Department of Agriculture for the delivery period, multiplied by 120: Provided, That the price per hundredweight of butterfat used to produce butter or contained in shrinkage pursuant to § 975.5 (b) (3) (ii) shall be such price less $3.60;

(2) Except as set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, the price per hundredweight of skim milk (calculated to the nearest full cent) shall be the average carlot price per pound of nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption, roller process, f. o. b. manufacturing plants, as published for the Chicago area for the delivery period by the Department of Agriculture, less 5.5 cents and then multiplied by 8.5; and

(3) When the higher of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1) or (a) (2) of this section is higher than the price of 100 pounds of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content computed by adding the value of 3.5 pounds of butterfat pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, prior to the application of the proviso therein, to the value of 96.5 pounds of skim milk pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the price per hundredweight of skim milk used to produce bulk condensed skim milk or whole milk (sweetened or unsweetened), evaporated or condensed milk (or skim milk) in hermetically sealed cans, cottage cheese, and powdered malted milk shall be computed as follows and used in lieu of the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph:

(i) From the higher of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1) or (a) (2) of this section deduct 25 cents;

(ii) Multiply the result by .7;

(iii) Subtract such result from the figure obtained in (i) of this subparagraph; and

(iv) Divide the result by 0.965, and round off to the nearest full cent.

(e) Emergency price provisions. Whenever the provisions hereof require the market administrator to use a specific price (or prices) for milk or any milk product for the purpose of determining minimum class prices or for any other purpose, the market administrator shall add to the specified price the amount of any subsidy, or other similar payment, being made by any Federal agency in connection with the milk, or product, associated with the price specified: Provided, That if for any reason the price specified is not reported or published as indicated, the market administrator shall use the applicable maximum price established by regulations of any Federal agency plus the amount of any such subsidy or other similar payment: Provided further, That if the specified price is not reported or published and there is no applicable maximum uniform price, or if the specified price is not reported or published and the Secretary determines that the market price is below the applicable maximum uniform price, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to or comparable with the price specified.

§ 975.7 Determination of uniform price to producers—(a) Computation of pool value for each handler operating a pool plant. Subject to the location adjustment provided by paragraph (b) of this section, the pool value for each delivery period for each handler operating a pool plant shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the applicable prices for skim milk and butterfat in each class pursuant to § 975.6, the skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers according to their classification pursuant to paragraphs (g) and (h) of § 975.5, and adding together the resulting amounts: Provided, That if such handler, after subtracting all receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively other than in milk received from producers, has a utilization of skim milk or butterfat greater than has been accounted for in milk received from producers, there shall be added a further amount equal to the quantity of such excess of skim milk or butterfat multiplied by the applicable prices.

(b) With respect to the actual weight of (1) milk, cream, or any other item named in Class I milk and Class II milk which is moved directly to the marketing area from a pool plant located outside the marketing area, and (2) Class I milk and Class II milk disposed of outside the marketing area from a pool plant so located, there shall be deducted, in the computation of the handler's pool value, the following amount per hundredweight thereof applicable for the location of such plant by shortest highway distance from the Public Square in Cleveland, Ohio, such distance to be determined by the market administrator:

Mileage zone	Cents per hundredweight
Not more than 30 miles	0
More than 30 miles but not more than 45 miles	15
More than 45 miles but not more than 60 miles	17
More than 60 miles but not more than 75 miles	19
More than 75 miles but not more than 90 miles	21
Within each 15 mile zone thereafter—an additional 1 cent.

Provided, That such adjustment shall be limited to an amount of milk, cream, or other item so moved which could be derived from the milk received from producers at such plant.

(c) Computation of obligation to the producer-settlement fund for certain handlers operating nonpool plants. (1) For each delivery period the obligation to the producer-settlement fund for each handler (except a producer-handler) who operates a nonpool plant out of which a route is operated which extends into the marketing area, shall be computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the respective prices for skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat disposed of as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, or flavored milk drink within such delivery period on each such route, and subtracting therefrom an amount computed by multiplying such volumes of skim milk and butterfat by the higher of the prices for skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class III milk.

(2) For each delivery period, the obligation to the producer-settlement fund for each handler who operates a nonpool plant and supplies milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, or flavored milk drink to a plant designated as a pool plant pursuant to § 975.3 (a) (1), which latter plant received within such delivery period less than 50 percent of its total receipts of skim milk and butterfat from producers or from other pool plants, shall be computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the difference between the respective prices for skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk and Class III milk, the amount of such receipts from such nonpool plant which are Class I milk at the receiving pool plant.

(d) Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute the "uniform price" per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content, f. o. b. the marketing area, received from producers by:

(1) Combining into one total the pool values computed under (a) of this section for all handlers who reported pursuant to § 975.4 (a) for such delivery period, except those in default in payments required pursuant to § 975.8 (c) for the preceding delivery period;

(2) Adding an amount representing the monies received in payment of obligations computed under paragraph (c) of this section;

(3) Adding the aggregate of the values of all allowable location adjustments computed at the maximum rates for the appropriate zones as set forth in § 975.8 (b);

(4) Adding an amount representing not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(5) Subtracting, if the weighted average butterfat test of all milk received from producers represented by the values included in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is greater than 3.5 percent, or adding, if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total hundredweight of butterfat represented by the variance of such weighted average butterfat test from 3.5 percent, by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 975.8 (c) multiplied by 1.000;

(6) Dividing by the hundredweight of milk received from producers represented by the values included in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

(7) Subtracting not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents.

(e) Notification. The market administrator shall notify:

(1) On or before the 14th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler who operates a pool plant of:

(i) The amounts and pool values of his skim milk and butterfat in each class and the totals of such amounts and values;

(ii) The uniform price;

(iii) The amount due such handler from the producer-settlement fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-settlement fund, as the case may be; and

(iv) The totals of the minimum amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 975.8, 975.9, 975.10, and 975.11.

(2) On or before the 14th day after the end of each delivery period each handler described in § 975.1 (g) (2) of:

(i) The pounds of his skim milk and butterfat in milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, and flavored milk drink subject to the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section; and

(ii) The amount due the producer-settlement fund from each such handler.

§ 975.8 Payment for milk—(a) Time and method of payment. (1) Except as provided by subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, on or before the 20th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler (except a cooperative association) shall pay each producer for milk received from him within such delivery period, not less than an amount of money computed by multiplying the total pounds of such milk by the uniform price, less the location adjustment pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section and adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such delivery period pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, he may reduce such payments uniformly per hundredweight for all producers, by an amount not in excess of the per hundredweight reduction in payment from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

(2) On or before the 19th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler shall pay a cooperative association not a handler, with respect to milk of producers for which it has received written authorization to collect payment, a total amount not less than the sum of the individual amounts otherwise payable to such producers pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) On or before the 15th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler shall pay a cooperative association which is a handler, with respect to skim milk and butterfat received by him from a pool plant operated by such cooperative association, not less than an amount computed by multiplying the minimum prices for skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in each class, subject to the applicable location adjustment provided by § 975.7 (b), by the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in each class pursuant to § 975.5.

(b) Location adjustments to producers. In making payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1) and (a) (2) of this section a handler may deduct, with respect to all milk received from producers at a plant located outside the marketing area, not more than the following respective amount per hundredweight of milk applicable for the location of such plant by shortest highway distance from the Public Square in Cleveland, Ohio, such distance to be determined by the market administrator:

Mileage zone	Cents per hundredweight
Not more than 30 miles	0
More than 30 miles but not more than 45 miles	15
More than 45 miles but not more than 60 miles	17
More than 60 miles but not more than 75 miles	19
More than 75 miles but not more than 90 miles	21
Within each 15 mile zone thereafter—an additional 1 cent.

(c) Butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1) or (a) (2) of this section there shall be added to or subtracted from, the uniform price per hundredweight, for each one-tenth of 1 percent of such butterfat content in milk above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, a butterfat differential computed by the market administrator as follows:

(1) Multiply the hundredweight of butterfat in each class computed pursuant to § 975.5 (g) by the applicable minimum price for butterfat in such class computed pursuant to § 975.6;

(2) Add into one total the butterfat values obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and divide such total by the total hundredweight of butterfat in all classes computed pursuant to § 975.5 (g) to determine a weighted average price for butterfat;

(3) Subtract from the weighted average price per hundredweight of butterfat computed in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, a weighted average price per hundredweight of skim milk computed as follows:

(i) Multiply the hundredweight of skim milk computed in each class pursuant to § 975.5 (h) by the respective minimum price for skim milk in such class computed pursuant to § 975.6; and

(ii) Add into one total the skim milk values so obtained for all classes and divide such total by the total hundredweight of skim milk in all classes computed pursuant to § 975.5 (h); and

(4) Divide by 1,000 the price of butterfat resulting pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, and round off to the nearest tenth of a cent.

(d) Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section.

(e) Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 16th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler:

(1) Whose pool value is required to be computed pursuant to § 975.7 (a), shall pay to the market administrator the amount by which such pool value for such delivery period is greater than the total minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1) and (a) (2) of this section; and

(2) Whose obligation is required to be computed pursuant to § 975.7 (c), shall pay to the market administrator such obligation for such delivery period.

(f) Payment out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 18th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall pay to each handler the amount by which such handler's pool value pursuant to § 975.7 (a) is less than the total minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1) or (a) (2) of this section, less any unpaid obligations of such handler to the market administrator pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section, §§ 975.9, 975.10, or 975.11: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments to all such handlers pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds become available.

§ 975.9 Expense of administration. As his prorata share of the expense incurred pursuant to § 975.2 (c) (4), each handler shall pay the market administrator on or before the 16th day after the end of each delivery period, three cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, to be announced by the market administrator on or before the 14th day after the end of such delivery period, with respect to all receipts within the delivery period, of milk from producers at pool plants (including such handler's own production), of other source milk at pool plants, except that used in the manufacture of ice cream or ice cream mix, and of other source milk on which payment is required pursuant to § 975.5 (c).

§ 975.10 Marketing Services—(a) Deductions for marketing services. Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1) and (a) (2) of § 975.8, with respect to all milk received from each producer (except milk of such handler's own production) at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct four cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, to be announced by the market administrator on or before the 14th day after the end of each delivery period; and, on or before the 16th day after the end of such delivery period shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such monies shall be expended by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of the milk of such producers and to provide such producers with market information; such services to be performed in whole or in part by the market administrator, or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) Cooperative associations. In the case of producers whose milk is received at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producers are members, and for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the market administrator, each handler shall make in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from payments required pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1), and (a) (2) of § 975.8 as may be authorized by such producers, and pay such deductions on or before the 16th day after the end of each delivery period to the cooperative association rendering such services of which such producers are members.

§ 975.11 Adjustment of accounts—(a) Payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses adjustments to be made, for any reason, which result in monies due (1) the market administrator from such handler, (2) such handler from the market administrator, or (3) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice.

(b) Overdue accounts. Any unpaid obligation of a handler or of the market administrator pursuant to §§ 975.8, 975.9, 975.10 or (a) of this section shall be increased one-half of one percent on the first day of the calendar month next following the due date of such obligation and on the first day of each calendar month thereafter until such obligation is paid.

§ 975.12 Application of provisions—(a) Exempt milk. Milk received at a plant of a handler, the handling of which the Secretary determines to be subject to the pricing and payment provisions of any other Federal milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act for any fluid milk marketing area shall not be subject to the pricing and payment provisions hereof.

(b) Milk caused to be delivered by cooperative associations. Milk referred to herein as received from producers by a handler shall include milk of producers caused to be delivered to such handler by a cooperative association which is not a handler and which is authorized to collect payment for such milk.

§ 975.13 Effective time. The provisions hereof, or of any amendment hereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 975.14 Suspension or termination—(a) When suspended or terminated. The Secretary shall, whenever he finds that this order, or any provision thereof, obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of this order or any such provision thereof.

(b) Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this order, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

(c) Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions hereof, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

§ 975.15 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions hereof.

§ 975.16 Separability of provisions. If any provision hereof, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions hereof, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

POTOMAC ELECTRIC POWER CO. AND WASHINGTON RAILWAY AND ELECTRIC CO.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER RELEASING JURISDICTION AND PERMITTING APPLICATION-DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 14th day of August 1947.

Potomac Electric Power Company ("Pepco"), a subsidiary of Washington Railway and Electric Company ("Washington Railway"), a registered holding company, and Washington Railway, having filed a joint application-declaration, and amendments thereto, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder regarding, among other things, the proposed issuance and sale by Pepco under the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 of 140,000 shares of its new --% Preferred Stock (New Preferred Stock) of the par value of $50 per share, subject to an offer, for a period of ten days to the holders of its presently outstanding 5½% Cumulative Preferred Stock, par $100 per share, and 6% Cumulative Preferred Stock, par $100 per share, of the right to such holders to exchange their shares for shares of the New Preferred Stock, on the basis of 2 shares of New Preferred Stock for one share of Old Preferred Stock, plus a cash adjustment. Pepco proposed to invite sealed written bids for services in obtaining exchanges of shares of Old Preferred Stock and for the purchase of such of the 140,000 shares of New Preferred Stock as are not required to effect exchanges.

The Commission having by order dated July 29th, 1947 granted said amended application and permitted said amended declaration to become effective, subject to the following conditions (a) that the proposed issue and sale of the New Preferred Stock shall not be consummated until the results of the competitive bidding have been supplied by a further amendment and a further order shall have been entered in connection therewith and (b) that jurisdiction be reserved over all legal fees and expenses in connection with the proposed transactions; and

Pepco having filed a further amendment to its application-declaration, as amended, in which it is stated that, in accordance with the permission granted by said order of the Commission dated July 29th, 1947, it has offered such New Preferred Stock for sale pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 and has received the following bids:

Bidder	Dividend rate	Gross price to company per share [1] (public offering price)	Compensation to bidder per share	Net price to company per share	Annual cost to company
	Percent				Percent
Dillon, Read & Co., Inc.	3.60	$51.75	$0.95	$50.80	3.54
Kidder, Peabody & Co.	3.60	51.50	1.441	50.059	3.59
Blyth & Co., Inc.-Smith, Barney & Co.	3.70	51.00	.95	50.05	3.69
The First Boston Corp.	3.75	51.37	1.044	50.326	3.72
Drexel & Co.-Hemphill, Noyes & Co.	3.80	51.35	1.00	50.35	3.77

[1] Plus accrued dividends from July 1, 1947.

Said amendment having further set forth that Pepco has accepted the bid of Dillon, Read & Co., Inc., and that it is the present intention of the successful bidder, upon termination of the exchange offer, to offer any unexchanged shares of 3.60% Preferred Stock for sale to the public at an initial price of $51.75 per share to yield 3.478%; and

The Commission having examined the record in the light of said amendment, and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be paid for said 3.60% Preferred Stock, the dividend rate thereon or the bidder's compensation; and

It appearing that the legal fee in the amount of $8,000 and expenses of $350 of the firm of Cahill, Gordon, Zachry & Reindel, New York, as independent counsel for the underwriters and the estimated fees and expenses of Pepco in the amount of $73,770 (excluding $15,000 fee of Sullivan & Cromwell, New York, counsel for Pepco) and of Washington Railway in the amount of $22,712 are for necessary services and are not unreasonable; and it further appearing that the record is not complete with respect to the services performed by Sullivan & Cromwell, New York, counsel for Pepco;

It is estimated that the total cost of such construction program for the period from May 31, 1947, to December 31, 1947, will be approximately $115,000. It is stated that no expenses are to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions.

Notice of this filing was duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to the act. The Commission has not received a request for hearing with respect thereto within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and has not ordered a hearing thereon.

The Commission finding with respect to this declaration that there is no basis for any adverse findings under the applicable provisions of the act and rules thereunder; deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration be permitted to become effective; and further deeming it appropriate to grant the request of declarants that this order be effective upon issuance;

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to said Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, that this declaration be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith.

It is represented that no expenses are to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions.

Notice of this filing was duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to the act. The Commission has not received a request for a hearing with respect thereto within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and has not ordered a hearing thereon.

BROCKTON EDISON CO. ET AL

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Philadelphia, Pa. on the 14th day of August 1947.

In the matter of Brockton Edison Company, Blackstone Valley Gas and Electric Company, Fall River Electric Light Company, Montaup Electric Company, File No. 70-1590.

Notice is hereby given that an application has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Brockton Edison Company (Brockton), an electric utility company, Blackstone Valley Gas and Electric Company (Blackstone), also an electric utility company, both subsidiaries of Eastern Utilities Associates, a registered holding company, Fall River Electric Light Company (Fall River) an electric utility company and a subsidiary of New England Electric System, also a registered holding company, and Montaup Electric Company (Montaup), an electric (generating) utility company, and a wholly owned subsidiary of Brockton, Blackstone and Fall River. Applicants designate sections 6 (b) and 10 of the act and Rule U-43 as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 2, 1947 at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application proposed to be controverted, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time thereafter, such application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to said act, or the Commission may exempt such transaction as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the office of the Commissibn, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized below:

Montaup proposes to issue and sell, and Brockton proposes to acquire 3,576 shares of Montaup Common Stock at par ($100 per share) or an aggregate consideration of $357,600. The proceeds thereof will be used by Montaup, together with other funds, for expenditures presently being made for capital additions. Additional funds will come from cash resulting from depreciation charges and certain short-term bank loans to be repaid out of future accruals for depreciation.

A certain existing contract between Brockton, Blackstone and Fall River provides that each of said companies shall keep its respective common stock investment in Montaup equal (as nearly as possible) to its proportionate load demands on Montaup or make an annual payment of 2% on any such deficiency in its respective investment; and that any company with any such deficiency in investment shall, in any new financing, be given the right to make up such deficiency. The proposed acquisition by Brockton of 3,576 shares of Montaup Common Stock is intended to make up such presently existing deficiency.

The application further states that Massachusetts law requires the proposed Montaup Common Stock to be offered pro rata to its present stockholders. To comply with such Massachusetts law, warrants for shares will initially be issued to the following stockholders in the amounts shown: Brockton 770.31 shares, Blackstone 1,598.58 shares and Fall River 1,207.11 shares. Thereafter, it is proposed that Brockton will acquire, without consideration, such warrants which are to be issued to Blackstone and Fall River.

The application states that such transactions have been expressly authorized by the Department of Public Utilities of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts where Montaup and Brockton are organized and doing business.

The applicants request that the Commission's order be issued herein on or before September 5, 1947 and become effective forthwith.

By the Commission.

Assistant to the Secretary.

MONONGAHELA POWER CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 14th day of August A. D. 1947.

Notice is hereby given that Monongahela Power Company ("Monongahela"), a direct subsidiary of the West Penn Electric Company ("Electric") and West Penn Power Company ("Power"), all three of these companies being subsidiaries of American Water Works and Electric Company, Incorporated ("American"), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

All interested persons are referred to said document, which is on file in the offices of the Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which may be summarized as follows:

Monongahela proposes to issue and sell at competitive bidding, pursuant to the provisions of Rule U-50 promulgated under the act, $7,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds due 1977 and 40,000 shares of Cumulative Preferred Stock, par value $100 per share. The price and interest rate of the bonds and the price and dividend rate of the preferred stock are to be determined at competitive bidding. The bonds are to be dated September 1, 1947, are to mature on September 1, 1977, interest thereon to be paid semi-annually on March 1 and September 1. The preferred stock dividends are to be cumulative from September 1, 1947, and payable on the first days of February, May, August, and November. The filing indicates that the sale of the bonds and preferred stock are not interdependent, either or both being subject to sale without the sale of the other.

It is represented that the entire proceeds from the sale of the bonds and preferred stock are to be used for necessary extensions, additions and improvements to the properties of Monongahela.

The filing has designated sections 6 and 7 of the act and Rule U-50 as being applicable to the proposed transactions.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters and that the declaration should not be permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission;

It is ordered, That a hearing on said matters under the applicable sections of the act and rules and regulations promulgated thereunder be held at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., on the 28th day of August 1947, at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before August 22, 1947, his request or application therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That Richard Townsend, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a Trial Examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the declaration, upon the basis thereof the following matters and questions are presented for consideration by the Commission without prejudice as to the presentation of additional matters and questions upon further examination:

(1) Whether the securities proposed to be issued and sold by Monongahela are reasonably adapted to the earning power of Monongahela and to the security structure of Monongahela and other companies in the American holding company system, and whether financing by the issue and sale of such securities, in the respective amounts proposed, is necessary or appropriate to the economical and efficient operation of the businesses in which Monongahela is engaged;

(2) Whether the fees, commissions and other remunerations to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions are for necessary services and are reasonable in amount;

(3) Whether the accounting entries proposed to be recorded in connection with the proposed transactions are proper, conform to sound accounting principles and meet the standards of the act and rules and regulations thereunder;

(4) Whether the terms and provisions of the new preferred stock, to be issued and sold by Monongahela meet the applicable standards of the act and are not otherwise detrimental to the public interest or the interests of investors or consumers;

(5) Whether the proposed use by Monongahela of the proceeds from the proposed sale of its securities is appropriate and in conformity with the requirements of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder;

(6) Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder and, if not, whether and what modifications or terms and conditions should be required or imposed to meet the standards of the act.

It is further ordered, That notice of said hearing is hereby given to American, Monongahela, Electric, Power and all interested persons, said notice to be given to American, Monongahela, Electric and Power by registered mail and to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by a general release of the Commission distributed to the press and mailed to the persons on the mailing list for releases under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

By the Commission.

PART 20—RETENTION PREFERENCE REGULATIONS FOR USE IN REDUCTIONS IN FORCE

ACTIONS

Effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, paragraphs (a), (c), (d), and (e) of § 20.9 (12 F. R. 2851, 4287, 6777) are amended to read as follows:

§ 20.9 Actions • • •

(a) Exceptions; furloughs. Where the reduction in force is the result of a temporary condition which is not expected to continue for more than one year, employees reached for action may, in lieu of being separated, be furloughed for a period not to exceed the unexpired portion of the period of appointment and in no case shall it exceed one year: Provided, That notice of furlough to employees in subgroups A–1 and A–2 with competitive status shall conform to the one-year notice rule under § 20.10. In the event that vacancies are to be filled in positions in the competitive level and competitive area from which such employees have been furloughed, such employees shall be given the opportunity to return to duty before any original appointments are made to such positions: Provided, however, That since no position in the agency may be filled by original appointment of a person, or by the promotion, reassignment, or transfer of a retention group B or C employee if the agency has employees in subgroup A–1 or A–2 with competitive status on leave or furlough due to reduction in force who are available and qualified to fill the position, such status employees in subgroup A–1 or A–2 shall be considered for such positions. Offer of recall to duty in positions of the competitive level and competitive area from which furloughed shall be made in the order of retention preference of furloughed employees.

• • • • •

(c) Exceptions; status employees. No employee in retention group A–2, A–3, or A–4 with competitive status and serving in a position in the competitive service may be separated or furloughed in a reduction in force if there is a position in the competitive service in the department in any other competitive area or competitive level within the geographic area, which may reasonably be expected to continue for 3 months or more, not filled by a retention group A employee, which he is qualified to fill, unless he refuses a reasonable offer of transfer to a position meeting these requirements, including reduction in pay if necessary. Moreover, such employee in subgroup A–2 may not be separated or furloughed by reduction in force if there is a position which may reasonably be expected to continue for 3 months or more in the department in the same geographic area in a line of work similar to the work from which he has been promoted in which an employee in subgroup A–2 with fewer retention credits or any employee in subgroup A–3 or A–4 is retained unless he declines a reasonable offer of reassignment to a continuing position. Subject to the other requirements set forth above, agencies shall consider such group A–2 employee with competitive status who is reached in a reduction and who has had five or more years of Federal Government service, including active military service, for reassignment to a position either vacant or occupied by a war service or a temporary employee in the agency at another geographic area where reassignment within his present geographic area cannot be made and the employee desires to be considered for a position in such other area. Offers of reassignment of status employees in subgroup A–2 shall be made prior to the expiration of the first sixty days of nonduty status.

(d) Exceptions; veterans preference employees. No employee in subgroup A–1 with competitive status and serving in a position in the competitive service may be separated or furloughed in a reduction in force if there is a position in the competitive service in the department in any other competitive area or competitive level within the geographic area which may reasonably be expected to continue for 3 months or more not filled by an employee in subgroup A–1, which he is qualified to fill, unless he refuses a reasonable offer of transfer to a position meeting these requirements, including reduction in pay if necessary. SUBPART A—GENERAL STATEMENT

§ 202.1 General statement. By virtue of the authority vested in it by the National Labor Relations Act, 49 Stat. 449, as amended by the Labor Management Relations Act, 1947, Public Law 101, 80th Congress, the National Labor Relations Board has issued and caused to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER simultaneously herewith, Part 203 of this chapter (rules and regulations, series 5), which it has found necessary, as provided in section 6 of the National Labor Relations Act, to carry out the provisions of that act. These rules and regulations state the general rules of procedure followed by the Board in administering its functions. The following statements of the general course and method by which the Board's functions are channeled and determined, issued and published as provided in section 3 (a) (2) of the Administrative Procedure Act, amplify and supplement these rules of procedure.

SUBPART B—UNFAIR LABOR PRACTICE CASES UNDER SECTION 10 (a) TO (i) OF THE ACT AND TELEGRAPH MERGER ACT CASES

§ 202.2 Initiation of Unfair Labor Practice and Telegraph Merger Act cases. The investigation of an alleged violation of the National Labor Relations Act or section 222 (f) of the Telegraph Merger Act is initiated by the filing of a charge by any person. The charge, which must be in writing and under oath, is filed with the Regional Director for the Region in which the alleged violations have occurred or are occurring. A blank form for filing such charges is supplied by the Regional Office upon request. The charge contains the name and address of the person against whom the charge is made and a statement of the facts constituting the alleged unfair labor practices or unlawful conduct.

§ 202.3 Compliance with section 9 (f), (g), and (h) of the act. If the charge is filed by a labor organization, that labor organization must present either with the charge or within a reasonable period not to exceed 10 days thereafter, a letter from the U. S. Department of Labor showing that it and every national or international labor organization of which it is an affiliate or constituent unit have complied with section 9 (f) and (g) of the act requiring the filing of certain reports with the United States Department of Labor. In addition the labor organization and every national or international labor organization of which it is an affiliate or constituent unit must have complied with section 9 (h) of the act by filing with the General Counsel of the Board in Washington, D. C., either with the charge or within a reasonable period not to exceed 10 days thereafter, an affidavit by an authorized agent executed contemporaneously or within the preceding twelve-month period listing the titles of all offices of the organization and stating the names of the incumbents, if any, in each such office and the date of expiration of each incumbent's term, and affidavits from each such officer, executed contemporaneously or within the preceding twelve-month period, stating that he is not a member of the Communist Party or affiliated with such party and that he does not believe in, and is not a member of or supports any organization that believes in or teaches, the overthrow of the United States Government by force or by any illegal or unconstitutional methods. No investigation is made or complaint issued on any charge filed by a labor organization unless that labor organization and every national or international labor organization of which it is an affiliate or constituent unit have complied herewith.

§ 202.4 Investigation of charges. When the charge is received in the Regional Office it is filed, docketed, and assigned a case number. The Regional Director will, on request of the charging party, and may in any case cause a copy of the charge to be served upon the person against whom the charge is made, but timely service of a copy of the charge within the meaning of the proviso to section 10 (b) of the act is the exclusive responsibility of the charging party and not of the General Counsel or his agents. The Regional Director requests the person filing the charge to submit evidence in its support. The person against whom the charge is filed, hereinafter called the respondent, is asked to submit a written statement of his position in respect to the allegations. The case is then assigned to a member of the field staff for investigation, who interviews representatives of all parties and those persons who have knowledge as to the charges. In the investigation and in all other stages of the proceedings, charges alleging violation of section 8 (b) (4) (A), (B), and (C) are given priority over all other cases in the office in which they are pending except cases of like character and charges alleging violation of Section 8 (b) (4) (D) are given priority over all cases except section 8 (b) (4) (A), (B), and (C) cases and other cases alleging violation of section 8 (b) (4) (D). After full investigation, the case may be disposed of through informal methods such as withdrawal, dismissal, and settlement; or, the case may necessitate formal methods of disposition. Some of the informal methods of handling unfair labor practice cases will be stated first.

§ 202.5 Withdrawal of charges. If investigation reveals that there has been no violation of the National Labor Relations or Telegraph Merger Acts or the evidence is insufficient to substantiate the charge, the Regional Director recommends withdrawal of the charge by the person who filed. The complainant may also, on its own initiative, request withdrawal. If the complainant accepts the recommendation of the Director or requests withdrawal on its own initiative, the respondent is immediatley notified of the withdrawal of the charge.

§ 202.6 Dismissal of charges and appeals to Board. If the complainant refuses to withdraw the charge as recommended, the Regional Director dismisses the charge. The Regional Director thereupon informs the parties of his action, together with a simple statement of the grounds therefor, and the complainant of his right of appeal to the General Counsel in Washington within 10 days. If the complainant appeals to the General Counsel, the entire file in the case is sent to Washington where the case is fully reviewed by the General Counsel with the assistance of his staff. Following such review, the General Counsel may sustain the Regional Director's dismissal, stating the grounds of his affirmance, or may direct the Regional Director to take further action.

§ 202.7 Settlements. Before any complaint is issued or other formal action taken, the Regional Director affords an opportunity to all parties for the submission and consideration of facts, argument, offers of settlement or proposals of adjustment, except where time, the nature of the proceeding, and the public interest do not permit. Normally prehearing conferences are held, the principal purpose of which is to discuss and explore such submissions and proposals of adjustment. The Regional Office provides Board-prepared forms for such settlement agreements, as well as printed notices for posting by the respondent. These agreements, which are subject to the approval of the Regional Director, provide for the withdrawal of the charge by the complainant at such time as the respondent has complied with the terms of the settlement agreement. Proof of such compliance is obtained by the Regional Director before the case is closed. If the respondent fails to perform his obligations under the informal agreement, the Regional Director may determine to institute formal proceedings.

§ 202.8 Complaints. If the charge appears to have merit and efforts to dispose of it by informal adjustment are unsuccessful, the Regional Director institutes formal action by issuance of a complaint and notice of hearing. In certain types of cases, involving novel and complex issues, the Regional Director, at the discretion of the General Counsel, must, submit the case for advice from the General Counsel before issuing complaint. The complaint, which is served on all parties, sets forth the facts upon which the Board bases its jurisdiction and the facts relating to the alleged violations of law by the respondent. The respondent must file an answer to the complaint within 10 days of its receipt, setting forth a statement of its defense.

§ 202.9 Settlement after issuance of complaint. (a) Even though formal proceedings have begun, the parties again have full opportunity at every stage to dispose of the case by amicable adjustment and in compliance with the law. Thus, after the complaint has been issued and a hearing scheduled or even begun, the attorney in charge of the case and the Regional Director afford all parties every opportunity for the submission and consideration of facts, arguments, offers of settlement or proposals of adjustment, except where time, the nature of the proceeding and the public interest do not permit.

(b) All settlement stipulations made after the issuance of a complaint are subject to the approval of the Regional Director and of the Board in Washington. If the settlement provides for the entry of an order by the Board, the parties agree to waive their right to hearing and agree further that the Board may issue an order requiring the respondent to take action appropriate to the terms of the adjustment. Usually the settlement stipulation also contains the respondent's consent to the Board's application for the entry of a decree by the appropriate Circuit Court of Appeals enforcing the Board's order.

(c) In the event the respondent fails to comply with the terms of a settlement stipulation, upon which a Board order and court decree are based, the Board may petition that court to adjudge the respondent in contempt. If the respondent refuses to comply with the terms of a stipulation settlement providing solely for the entry of a Board order, the Board may petition the court for enforcement of its order, pursuant to section 10 of the National Labor Relations Act.

§ 202.10 Hearings. Except in extraordinary situations the hearing is open to the public and usually conducted in the Region where the charge originated. A trial examiner, designated by the Chief Trial Examiner and sent from the Washington staff, presides over the hearing. The Government's case is conducted by an attorney attached to the Board's Regional Office, who has the responsibility of presenting the evidence in support of the complaint. The rules of evidence applicable in the District Courts of the United States under the Rules of Civil Procedure adopted by the Supreme Court are, so far as practicable, controlling. Counsel for the Board, all parties to the proceeding, and the trial examiner have the power to call, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to introduce evidence into the record. They may also submit briefs, engage in oral argument, and submit proposed findings and conclusions to the trial examiner. The attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of evidence material to any matter under investigation may be compelled by subpena.

The functions of all trial examiners and other Board agents or employees participating in decisions in conformity with section 8 of the Administrative Procedure Act, are conducted in an impartial manner and any such trial examiner, agent or employee may at any time withdraw if he deems himself disqualified because of bias or prejudice. The Board's attorney has the burden of proof of violations of section 8 of the National Labor Relations Act and section 222 (f) of the Telegraph Merger Act. In connection with hearings subject to the provisions of section 7 of the Administrative Procedure Act:

(a) No sanction is imposed or rule or order issued except upon consideration of the whole record or such portions thereof as may be cited by any party and as supported by and in accordance with the preponderance of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence;

(b) Every party has the right to present his case or defense by oral or documentary evidence, to submit rebuttal evidence, and to conduct such cross-examination as may be required for a full and true disclosure of the facts; and

(c) Where any decision rests on official notice of a material fact not appearing in the evidence in the record, any party is on timely request afforded a reasonable opportunity to show the contrary.

§ 202.11 Intermediate report (recommended decision). (a) At the conclusion of the hearing the trial examiner prepares an intermediate report (recommended decision) stating findings of fact and conclusions, as well as the reasons for his determinations on all material issues, and making recommendations as to action which should be taken in the case. The trial examiner may recommend dismissal or sustain the complaint, in whole or in part, and recommend that the respondent cease and desist from the unlawful acts found and take action to remedy their effects.

(b) The intermediate report is filed with the Board in Washington and copies are simultaneously served on each of the parties. At the same time the Board, through its Executive Secretary, issues and serves on each of the parties an order transferring the case to the Board. The parties may accept and comply with the recommendations of the trial examiner, and thus normally conclude the entire proceedings at this point. Or, the parties or counsel for the Board may file exceptions to the intermediate report with the Board and may also request permission to appear and argue orally before the Board in Washington. They may also submit proposed findings and conclusions to the Board. Oral argument is very frequently granted.

§ 202.12 Board decision and order. (a) If any party files exceptions to the intermediate report, the Board, with the assistance of the legal assistants to each Board member who function in much the same manner as law clerks do for judges, reviews the entire record, including the trial examiner's report and recommendations, the exceptions thereto, the complete transcript of evidence and the exhibits, briefs, and arguments. The Board does not consult with members of the trial examining staff or with any agent of the general counsel in its deliberations. It then issues its decision and order in which it may adopt, modify, or reject the findings and recommendations of the trial examiner. The decision and order contains detailed findings of fact, conclusions of law, the basic reasons for decision on all material issues raised, and an order either dismissing the complaint in whole or in part or requiring the respondent to cease and desist from its unlawful practices and to take appropriate affirmative action.

(b) If no exceptions are filed to the intermediate report, and the respondent does not comply with its recommendations, the Board adopts the report and recommendations of the trial examiner. All objections and exceptions, whether or not previously made during or after the hearing, are deemed waived for all purposes.

(c) If no exceptions are filed to the intermediate report and its recommendations and the respondent complies therewith, the case is normally closed but the Board may, if it deems necessary in order to effectuate the policies of the act, adopt the report and recommendations of the trial examiner.

§ 202.13 Compliance with Board decision and order. (a) Shortly after the Board's decision and order is issued the Director of the Regional Office in which the charge was filed communicates with the respondent for the purpose of obtaining compliance. Conferences may be held to arrange the details necessary for compliance with the terms of the order.

(b) The Regional Director submits to the Board a report on compliance when compliance is obtained. This report must meet the approval of the Board before the case may be closed. Despite compliance, however, the Board's order is a continuing one; therefore, the closing of a case on compliance is necessarily conditioned upon the continued observance of that order; and in some cases it is deemed desirable, notwithstanding compliance, to implement the order with an enforcing decree. Subsequent violations of the order may become the basis of further proceedings.

§ 202.14 Judicial review of Board decisions and orders. If the respondent does not comply with the Board's order, or the Board deems it desirable to implement the order with a court decree, the Board may petition the appropriate federal court for enforcement. Or, the respondent may petition the circuit court of appeals to review and set aside the Board's order. Upon such review or enforcement proceedings, the court reviews the record and the Board's findings and order and sustains them if they are in accordance with the requirements of law. The court may enforce, modify, or set aside in whole or in part the Board's findings and order, or it may remand the case to the Board for further proceedings as directed by the court. Following the court's decree, either the government or the private party may petition the Supreme Court for review upon writ of certiorari. Such applications for review to the Supreme Court are handled by the Board through the Solicitor General of the United States.

§ 202.15 Compliance with court decree. After a Board order has been enforced by a court decree, the Board has the responsibility of obtaining compliance with that decree. Investigation is made by the Regional Office of the respondent's efforts to comply. If it finds that the respondent has failed to live up to the terms of the court's decree, the General Counsel may, on behalf of the Board, petition the court to hold him in contempt of court. The court may order immediate remedial action and impose sanctions and penalties.

SUBPART C—REPRESENTATION CASES UNDER SECTION 9 (c) OF THE ACT

§ 202.16 Initiation of representation case. The investigation of the question as to whether a union represents a majority of an appropriate grouping of employees is initiated by the filing of a petition by any person or labor organization acting on behalf of a substantial number of employees or by an employer when one or more individuals or labor organizations present to him a claim to be recognized as the exclusive bargaining representative. If there is a certified or currently recognized representative, any employee or group of employees or any individual or labor organization acting in their behalf may also file decertification proceedings to test the question of whether the certified or recognized agent is still the representative of the employees. All petitions must be notarized and are filed with the Regional Director for the Region in which the proposed or actual bargaining unit exists. The petition forms, which are supplied by the Regional Office upon request, provide, among other things, for a description of the contemplated or existing appropriate bargaining unit, the approximate number of employees involved, the names of other labor organizations which also claim to represent the same employees, and, if filed by a labor organization, a statement as to whether it has complied with section 9 (f), (g), and (h) of the act (see § 202.3, supra). Petitions will be accepted for docketing even though there has not yet been compliance with section 9 (f), (g), and (h) but such petitions will not be processed until there has been full compliance as required by the statute and they will be dismissed unless such compliance is forthcoming within a reasonable period, not to exceed 10 days, after the filing of the petition. If a petition is filed by a labor organization or in the case of a petition to decertify a certified or recognized bargaining agent, the petitioner must supply with the petition, or within 48 hours after filing, evidence of representation. Such evidence is usually in the form of cards authorizing the labor organization to represent the employees or authorizing the petitioner to file a decertification proceeding.

§ 202.17 Investigation of petition. (a) Upon receipt of the petition in the Regional Office, it is docketed and assigned to a member of the staff, usually a field examiner, for investigation. He conducts an investigation to ascertain (1) whether the employer's operations affect commerce within the meaning of the act, (2) the appropriateness of the unit of employees for the purposes of collective bargaining and the existence of a bona fide question concerning representation within the meaning of the act, (3) whether the election would effectuate the policies of the act and reflect the free choice of employees in the appropriate unit, and (4) whether, if the petitioner is a labor organization seeking recognition, there is a sufficient probability, based on the evidence of representation of the petitioner, that the employees have selected it to represent them. The evidence of representation submitted by the petitioning labor organization or by the person seeking decertification is ordinarily checked to determine the number or proportion of employees who have designated the petitioner, it being the Board's administrative experience that in the absence of special factors the conduct of an election serves no purpose under the statute unless the petitioner has been designated by at least 30 percent of the employees. However, in the case of a petition by an employer, no proof of representation on the part of the labor organization claiming a majority is required and the Regional Director proceeds with the case if other factors require it unless the labor organization withdraws its claim to majority representation. The field examiner, or other member of the staff, attempts to ascertain from all interested parties whether or not the grouping or unit of employees described in the petition constitutes an appropriate bargaining unit.

(b) The petitioner may on its own initiative request the withdrawal of the petition if the investigation discloses that no question of representation exists within the meaning of the statute, because, among other possible reasons, the unit is not appropriate, or a written contract precludes further investigation at that time, or where the petitioner is a labor organization or a person seeking decertification, the showing of representation among the employees is insufficient to warrant an election under the 30 percent principle stated in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) For the same or similar reasons the Regional Director may request the petitioner to withdraw its petition. If, despite the Regional Director's recommendation, the petitioner refuses to withdraw the petition, the Regional Director then dismisses the petition stating the grounds for his dismissal and informing the petitioner of his right of appeal to the Board in Washington, D. C. The petitioner may within 10 days appeal from the Regional Director's dismissal by filing such request with the Board in Washington. After a full review of the file with the assistance of its staff, the Board may sustain the dismissal, stating the grounds of its affirmance, or may direct the Regional Director to take further action.

§ 202.18 Consent adjustments before formal hearing. The Board has devised and makes available to the parties two types of informal consent procedures through which representation issues can be resolved without recourse to formal procedures. These informal arrangements are commonly referred to as (a) consent election agreement, followed by Regional Director's determination, and (b) consent election agreement, followed by Board certification. Forms for use in these informal procedures are available in the Regional Offices.

(a) (1) The consent election agreement followed by the Regional Director's determination of representatives is the most frequently used method of informal adjustment of representation cases. The terms of the agreement providing for this form of adjustment are set forth in printed forms, which are available upon request at the Board's Regional Offices. Under these terms the parties agree with respect to the appropriate unit, the pay roll to be used as the basis of eligibility to vote in an election, and the place, date, and hours of balloting. A Board agent arranges the details incident to the mechanics and conduct of the election. For example, he usually arranges preelection conferences in which the parties check the list of voters and attempt to resolve any questions of eligibility. Also, prior to the date of election, official notices of election are, whenever possible, posted conspicuously in the plant. These notices reproduce a sample ballot and outline such election details as location of polls, time of voting, and eligibility rules.

(2) The actual polling is always conducted and supervised by Board agents. Appropriate representatives of each party may assist them and observe the election. As to the mechanics of the election, a ballot is given to each eligible voter by the Board's agents. The ballots are marked in the secrecy of a voting booth. The Board agents and authorized observers have the privilege of challenging for reasonable cause employees who apply for ballots.

(3) Customarily the Board agents, in the presence and with the assistance of the authorized observers, count and tabulate the ballots, immediately after the closing of the polls. A complete tally of the ballots is served upon the parties upon the conclusion of the count.

(4) If challenged ballots are sufficient in number to affect the results of the count, the Regional Director conducts an investigation and rules on the challenges. Similarly, if objections to the conduct of the election are filed within 5 days of the issuance of the tally of ballots, the Regional Director likewise conducts an investigation and rules upon the objections. If, after investigation, the objections are found to have merit, the Regional Director may void the election results and conduct a new election.

(5) This form of agreement provides that the rulings of the Regional Director on all questions relating to the election (for example, eligibility to vote and the validiy of challenges and objections) are final and binding. Also, the agreement provides for the conduct of a run-off election, in accordance with the provisions of the Board's rules and regulations, if two or more labor organizations appear on the ballot and no one choice receives the majority of the valid votes cast.

(b) The consent election agreement followed by a Board certification provides that the agreed-upon election shall be the basis of a formal decision by the Board instead of an informal determination by the Regional Director. In this agreement also it is provided that the Board, rather than the Regional Director, makes the final determination of questions raised concerning eligibility, challenged votes and objections to the conduct of the election. Thus, if challenged ballots are sufficient in number to affect the results of the count, the Regional Director conducts an investigation and issues a report on the challenges instead of ruling thereon. Similarly, if objections to the conduct of the election are filed within 5 days after issuance of the tally of ballots, the Regional Director likewise conducts an investigation and issues a report instead of ruling upon the validity of the objections. In either event, the Regional Director's report is served upon the parties, who may file exceptions thereto within 5 days with the Board in Washington. The Board then reviews the entire record made and may, if a substantial issue is raised, direct a hearing on the challenged ballots or the objections to the conduct of the election. Or, the Board may, if no substantial issues are raised, affirm the Regional Director's report and take appropriate action in termination of the proceedings. If a hearing is held upon the challenged ballots or objections, all parties are heard and the record made on the hearing is reviewed by the Board with the assistance of its legal assistants and a final determination made thereon. If the objections are found to have merit, the election results may be voided and a new election conducted under the supervision of the Regional Director. If the union has been selected as the representative, the Board issues its certification and the proceeding is terminated. If upon a decertification or employer petition the union loses the election the Board certifies that the union is not the chosen representative.

§ 202.19 Formal hearing. If no informal adjustment of the question concerning representation has been effected and it appears to the Regional Director that formal action is necessary, the Regional Director will institute formal proceedings by issuance of a notice of hearing on the issues, which is followed by Board decision and direction of election or dismissal of the case. In certain types of cases, involving novel or complex issues, the Regional Director may submit the case for advice from the General Counsel before issuing notice of hearing.

§ 202.20 Hearing; procedure after hearing. (a) The notice of hearing, together with a copy of the petition, is served upon the unions and employer filing or named in the petition and upon other known persons or labor organizations claiming to have been designated by employees involved in the proceeding.

(b) The hearing, usually open to the public, is held before a hearing officer who normally is an attorney or field examiner attached to the Regional Office but may be another qualified official. The hearing, which is non-adversary in character, is part of the investigation in which the primary interest of the Board's agents is to insure that the record contains as full a statement of the pertinent facts as may be necessary for determination of the case by the Board. The parties are afforded full opportunity to present their respective positions and to produce the significant facts in support of their contentions. In most cases a substantial number of the relevant facts are undisputed and stipulated. The parties are permitted to argue orally on the record before the hearing officer.

(c) Upon the close of the hearing, the entire record in the case is forwarded to the Board in Washington. The hearing officer also transmits an analysis of the issues and the evidence, but makes no recommendations in regard to resolution of the dispute. All parties may file briefs with the Board within 7 days after the close of the hearing and may also request to be heard orally by the Board. Because of the nature of the proceedings, however, permission to argue orally is rarely granted. After review of the entire case, the Board issues its decision either dismissing the petition or directing that an election be held. In the latter event, the election is conducted under the supervision of the Regional Director in the manner already described in § 202.18 above.

(d) The parties have the same rights, and the same procedure is followed, with respect to objections to the conduct of the election and challenged ballots, as has already been described in connection with the post-election procedures in cases involving consent elections to be followed by Board certifications.

(e) If the election involves two or more labor organizations and if the election results are inconclusive because no choice on the ballot received the majority of valid votes cast, a run-off election is held as provided in the Board's rules and regulations.

SUBPART D—REFERENDUM CASES UNDER SECTION 9 (e) (1) AND (2) OF THE ACT

§ 202.21 Initiation of authorization cases. The investigation of the question as to whether a labor organization which is the representative of employees as provided in section 9 (a) of the act is authorized by a majority of the eligible employees within the appropriate unit to enter into an agreement with the employer requiring union membership of such employees as a condition of employment is initiated by the filing of a petition by such labor organization. The petition, which must be notarized, is filed with the Regional Director for the Region in which the appropriate bargaining unit exists. The blank petition form, which is supplied by the Regional Office upon request, provides, among other things, for a description of the bargaining unit to be covered by the agreement if made, the approximate number of employees involved, the date of certification or recognition by the employer of the petitioner if there is no certification, the approximate number of employees within the unit who have authorized petitioner to make such an agreement, the names of other labor organizations which claim to represent the employees, and if filed by a labor organization, a statement as to whether it has complied with section 9 (f), (g), and (h) of the act. No petition will be accepted for filing unless the petitioning labor organization is in compliance with section 9 (f), (g), and (h) of the act as provided in § 202.3. Petitioner must supply with the petition, or within 48 hours after filing, its evidence of authorization from the employees to seek an election.

§ 202.22 Investigation of petition. (a) Upon receipt of the petition in the Regional Office, it is filed, docketed, and assigned to a member of the staff, usually a field examiner, for investigation. He conducts an investigation to ascertain (1) whether the employer's operations affect commerce within the meaning of the act, (2) whether a question concerning representation exists within the meaning of the act which requires resolution by a section 9 (c) proceedings, (3) whether an election would effectuate the policies of the act by providing for a free expression of choice by the employees, and (4) whether the petitioner has been authorized by at least 30 percent of the employees to make such an agreement. The evidence of authorization submitted by the petitioner is usually in the form of cards signed by individual employees authorizing or expressing a desire for petitioner to enter into such an agreement and is checked to determine the proportion of employees who desire to authorize the petitioner.

(b) The petitioner may on its own initiative request the withdrawal of the petition if the investigation discloses that an election is inappropriate, because, among other possible reasons, a question of representation exists which requires resolution by a section 9 (c) proceedings or the petitioner's card showing of authorization by the employees is insufficient to meet the 30 percent statutory requirement referred to in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) For the same or similar reasons the Regional Director may request the petitioner to withdraw its petition. If petitioner, despite the Regional Director's recommendation, refuses to withdraw the petition, the Regional Director then dismisses the petition, stating the grounds for his dismissal and informing petitioner of his right of appeal to the Board in Washington, D. C. The petitioner may within 10 days appeal from the Regional Director's dismissal by filing such request with the Board in Washington. The request shall contain a complete statement setting forth the facts and reasons upon which the request is made. After a full review of the file with the assistance of its staff, the Board may sustain the dismisssal, stating the grounds of its affirmance, or may direct the Regional Director to take further action.

§ 202.23 Consent agreements providing for election. The Board makes available to the parties two types of informal consent procedures through which authorization issues can be resolved without resort to formal procedures. These informal agreements are commonly referred to as (a) consent election agreement, followed by Regional Director's determination, and (b) consent election agreement, followed by Board certification. Forms for use in these informal procedures are available in Regional Offices.

The procedures to be used in connection with a consent election agreement providing for Regional Director's determination and a consent election agreement providing for Board certification are the same as those already described in Subpart C in connection with representation cases under section 9 (c) of the act, except that no provision is made for run-off elections.

§ 202.24 Procedure respecting election conducted without hearing. (a) If the Regional Director determines that the case is an appropriate one for election without formal hearing, an election is conducted as quickly as possible among the employees and upon the conclusion of the election the Regional Director furnishes to the parties a tally of the ballots. The parties, however, have an opportunity to make appropriate challenges and objections to the conduct of the election and they have the same rights, and the same procedure is followed, with respect to objections to the conduct of the election and challenged ballots, as has already been described in Subpart C in connection with the post election procedures in representation cases under section 9 (c) of the act, except that no provision is made for a run-off election. If no such objections are filed within 5 days, and if the challenged ballots are insufficient in number to affect the results of the election, the Regional Director forwards to the Board the tally of the ballots and the Board thereupon makes appropriate disposition of the case.

§ 202.25 Formal hearing and procedure respecting elections conducted after hearing. (a) If the preliminary investigation indicates that there are substantial issues which require Board determination before an appropriate election may be held, the Regional Director will institute formal proceedings by issuance of a notice of hearing on the issues which, after hearing, is followed by Board decisions and direction of election or dismissal. The notice of hearing, together with a copy of the petition is served upon petitioner, the employer, and upon any other known persons or labor organizations claiming to have been designated by employees involved in the proceeding.

(b) The hearing, usually open to the public, is held before a hearing officer who normally is an attorney or field examiner attached to the Regional Office but may be another qualified official. The hearing, which is nonadversary in character, is part of the investigation in which the primary interest of the Board's agents is to insure that the record contains as full a statement of the pertinent facts as may be necessary for determination of the case by the Board. The parties are afforded full opportunity to present their respective positions and to produce the significant facts in support of their contentions. In most cases a substantial number of the relevant facts are undisputed and stipulated. The parties are permitted to argue orally on the record before the hearing officer.

(c) Upon the close of the hearing, the entire record in the case is then forwarded to the Board in Washington, together with an informal analysis by the hearing officer of the issues and the evidence but without recommendations. All parties may file briefs with the Board within 7 days after the close of the hearing and may also request to be heard orally by the Board. Because of the nature of the proceedings, however, permission to argue orally is rarely granted. After review of the entire case, the Board issues its decision either dismissing the petition or directing that an election be held. In the latter event, the election is conducted under the supervision of the Regional Director in the manner already described in § 202.18.

(d) The parties have the same rights, and the same procedure is followed, with respect to objections to the conduct of the election, and challenged ballots, as has already been described in connection with the post-election procedures in cases involving consent elections to be followed by Board certifications.

§ 202.26 Initiation of rescission of authority cases. The investigation of the question as to whether the authority of a labor organization to make an agreement requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment is rescinded is initiated by the filing of a petition by any employee or group of employees on behalf of 30 percent or more of the employees in a bargaining unit for which the labor organization has been authorized to make such an agreement. The petition, which must be notarized, is filed with the Regional Director for the area in which the alleged appropriate bargaining unit exists. The blank petition form, which is supplied by the Regional Office upon request, provides, among other things, for a description of the bargaining unit involved, the name and address of the labor organization whose authority is in issue, the approximate number of employees involved, and the approximate number of employees within the unit who have authorized petitioner to file the petition. Petitioner must supply, with the petition, or within 48 hours after filing, its evidence of authorization from the employees to seek an election.

§ 202.27 Investigation of petition; withdrawals and dismissals. (a) Upon receipt of the petition in the Regional Office, it is filed, docketed, and assigned to a member of the staff, usually a field examiner, for investigation. He conducts an investigation to ascertain (1) whether the employer's operations affect commerce within the meaning of the act, (2) whether the time as appropriate for holding such an election, (3) whether an election would effectuate the policies of the act by providing for a free expression of choice by the employees, and (4) whether petitioner has been authorized by at least 30 percent of the employees to file such a petition. The evidence of designation submitted by petitioner, usually in the form of cards signed by individual employees authorizing the filing of such a petition, is checked to determine the proportion of employees who desire rescission.

(b) Petitioner may on its own initiative request the withdrawal of the petition if the investigation discloses that an election is inappropriate, because, among other possible reasons, a written contract held by the labor organization whose authority petitioner desires to rescind precludes further investigation at that time, or petitioner's card showing is insufficient to meet the 30 percent statutory requirement referred to in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) The same procedure is followed with respect to the Regional Director's request for withdrawal or dismissal, as has already been described in § 202.22.

§ 202.28 Consent agreements; elections conducted without hearings; formal hearings and elections conducted after hearings; post election procedures. The same procedure is followed with respect to consent agreements providing for election, elections conducted without hearings, formal hearings and elections conducted after hearings and subsequent procedures as has already been described in §§ 202.23 to 202.25, inclusive.

SUBPART E—JURISDICTIONAL DISPUTE CASES UNDER SECTION 10 (k) OF THE ACT

§ 202.29 Initiation of proceedings to hear and determine jurisdictional disputes under section 10 (k). The investigation of a jurisdictional dispute under section 10 (k) is initiated by the filing of a charge, as described in § 202.2, by any person alleging a violation of paragraph (4) (D) of section 8 (b).

§ 202.30 Investigation of charges; withdrawal of charges; dismissal of charges and appeals to Board. These matters are handled as described in §§ 202.3 to 202.7, inclusive. Cases involving violation of paragraph (4) (D) of section 8 (b) are given priority over all other cases in the office except cases under paragraphs (4) (A), (4) (B) and (4) (C) of section 8 (b).

§ 202.31 Initiation of formal action; settlement. If, after investigation, it appears to the Regional Director that further proceedings should be instituted, he issues a notice of filing of the charge together with a notice of hearing which includes a simple statement of issues involved in the jurisdictional dispute and which is served on all parties to the dispute out of which the unfair labor practice is alleged to have arisen. The hearing is scheduled for not less than 10 days after service of the notice of hearing. If within 10 days after service of the notice of hearing, the parties present to the Regional Director satisfactory evidence that they have adjusted or agreed upon methods of voluntary adjustment of the dispute, the Regional Director withdraws the notice of hearing and either permits the withdrawal of the charge or dismisses the charge. The parties may agree on an arbitrator, a proceedings under section 9 (c) of the act, or any other satisfactory method to resolve the dispute.

§ 202.32 Hearing. If the parties have not adjusted the dispute or agreed upon methods of voluntary adjustment, a hearing, usually open to the public, is held before a hearing officer. The hearing is non-adversary in character, and the primary interest of the hearing officer is to insure that the record contains as full a statement of the pertinent facts as may be necessary for a determination of the issues by the Board. All parties are afforded full opportunity to present their respective positions and to produce evidence in support of their contentions. The parties are permitted to argue orally on the record before the hearing officer. At the close of the hearing, the case is transmitted to the Board for decision. The hearing officer prepares an analysis of the issues and the evidence but makes no recommendations in regard to resolution of the dispute.

§ 202.33 Procedure before the Board. The parties have 7 days after the close of the hearing to file briefs with the Board and to request oral argument which the Board may or may not grant. The Board then considers the evidence taken at the hearing and the hearing officer's analysis together with any briefs that may be filed and the oral argument, if any, and issues its certification of the labor organization or the particular trade, craft, or class of employees which shall perform the particular work tasks in issue.

§ 202.34 Compliance with certification; further proceedings. After the issuance of certification by the Board, the Regional Director in the region in which the proceeding arose communicates with the parties for the purpose of ascertaining their intentions in regard to compliance. Conferences may be held for the purpose of working out details. If the Regional Director is satisfied that parties are complying with the certification, he dismisses the charge. If the Regional Director is not satisfied that the parties are complying, he issues a complaint and notice of hearing, charging violation of section 8 (b), (4) (D) of the act, and the proceeding follows the procedure outlined in §§ 202.8 to 202.15.

SUBPART F—PROCEDURE UNDER SECTION 10 (j) AND (l) OF THE ACT

§ 202.35 Application for temporary relief or restraining orders. Whenever the Regional Director deems it advisable to seek temporary injunctive relief under section 10 (j), or whenever he determines that complaint should issue alleging violation of section 8 (b) (4) (A) (B) or (C), or whenever he deems it appropriate to seek temporary injunctive relief for a violation of section 8 (b) (4) (D), the officer or Regional Attorney to whom the matter has been referred will make application for appropriate temporary relief or restraining order in the District Court of the United States within which the unfair labor practice is alleged to have occurred or within which the party sought to be enjoined resides or transacts business.

§ 202.36 Change of circumstances. Whenever a temporary injunction has been obtained pursuant to section 10 (j) and thereafter the trial examiner hearing the complaint, upon which the determination to seek such injunction was predicated, recommends dismissal of such complaint, in whole or in part, the officer or Regional Attorney handling the case for the Board suggests to the District Court which issued the temporary injunction the possible change in circumstances arising out of the findings and recommendations of the trial examiner.

The trial examiner may, before the hearing, rule on motions filed prior to the hearing, and shall cause copies of his ruling to be served upon all the parties. All motions filed subsequent to the hearing, but before the transfer of the case to the Board pursuant to § 203.45, shall be filed with the trial examiner, care of the Chief Trial Examiner, in Washington, D. C., and a copy thereof shall be served on each of the parties. Rulings by the trial examiner on motions, and any orders in connection therewith, if announced at the hearing, shall be stated orally on the record; in all other cases such rulings and orders shall be issued in writing. C., stating the grounds for review, and immediately on such filing shall serve a copy thereof on the Regional Director and the other parties. Unless such request for review is filed within 10 days from the date of the order of dismissal, the case shall be closed.

§ 202.28 Filing of answer or other participation in proceedings not a waiver of rights. The right to make motions or to make objections to rulings upon motions shall not be deemed waived by the filing of an answer or by other participation in the proceedings before the trial examiner or the Board.

Intervention

§ 203.29 Intervention; requisites; rulings on motions to intervene. Any person desiring to intervene in any proceeding shall file a motion in writing or, if made at the hearing, may move orally on the record, stating the grounds upon which such person claims an interest. Prior to the hearing, such motion shall be filed with the Regional Director issuing the complaint; during the hearing such motion shall be made to the trial examiner. An original and four copies of written motions shall be filed. Immediately upon filing such motion, the moving party shall serve a copy thereof upon each of the other parties. orally under oath, except that for good cause shown after the issuance of a complaint, testimony may be taken by deposition.

(a) Applications to take depositions shall be in writing setting forth the reasons why such depositions should be taken, the name and post-office address of the witness, the matters concerning which it is expected the witness will testify, and the time and place proposed for the taking of the deposition, together with the name and address of the person before whom it is desired that the deposition be taken (for the purposes of this section hereinafter referred to as the "officer"). Such application shall be made to the Regional Director prior to the hearing, and to the trial examiner during and subsequent to the hearing but before transfer of the case to the Board pursuant to § 203.45 or § 203.50. Such application shall be served upon the Regional Director or the trial examiner, as the case may be, and upon all other parties, not less than 7 days (when the deposition is to be taken within the continental United States) and 15 days (if the deposition is to be taken elsewhere) prior to the time when it is desired that the deposition be taken. The Regional Director or trial examiner, as the case may be, shall upon receipt of the application, if in his discretion good cause has been shown, make and serve upon the parties an order which will specify the name of the witness whose deposition is to be taken and the time, the place, and the designation of the officer before whom the witness is to testify, who may or may not be the same officer as that specified in the application. Such order shall be served upon all the other parties by the Regional Director or upon all parties by the trial examiner.

(b) Such deposition may be taken before any officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States or of the place where the examination is held, including any agent of the Board authorized to administer oaths. If the examination is held in a foreign country, it may be taken before any Secretary or Embassy or Legation, Consul General, Consul, Vice Consul, or Consular Agent of the United States.

(c) At the time and place specified in said order the officer designated to take such deposition shall permit the witness to be examined and cross-examined under oath by all the parties appearing, and his testimony shall be reduced to typewriting by the officer or under his direction. All objections to questions or evidence shall be deemed waived unless made at the examination. The officer shall not have power to rule upon any objections but he shall note them upon the deposition. The testimony shall be subscribed by the witness in the presence of the officer who shall attach his certificate stating that the witness was duly sworn by him, that the deposition is a true record of the testimony and exhibits given by the witness and that said officer is not of counsel or attorney to any of the parties nor interested in the event of the proceeding or investigation. If the deposition is not signed by the witness because he is ill, dead, cannot be found, or refuses to sign it, such fact shall be included in the certificate of the officer and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed. The officer shall immediately deliver an original and two copies of said transcript, together with his certificate, in person or by registered mail to the Regional Director or the trial examiner, care of the Chief Trial Examiner, in Washington, D. C., as the case may be.

(d) The trial examiner shall rule upon the admissibility of the deposition or any part thereof.

(e) All errors or irregularities in compliance with the provisions of this section shall be deemed waived unless a motion to suppress the deposition or some part thereof is made with reasonable promptness after such defect is or, with due diligence, might have been ascertained.

(f) If the parties so stipulate in writing, depositions may be taken before any person at any time or place, upon any notice and in any manner, and when so taken may be used like other depositions.

§ 203.31 Issuance of subpenas; petitions to revoke subpenas; right to inspect or copy data. (a) Any member of the Board shall, on the written application of any party, forthwith issue subpenas requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of any evidence, including books, records, correspondence, or documents, in their possession or under their control. Applications for subpenas, if filed prior to the hearing, shall be filed with the Regional Director. Applications for subpenas filed during the hearing shall be filed with the trial examiner. Applications for subpenas may be made ex parte. The subpena shall show on its face the name and address of the party at whose request the subpena was issued.

(b) Any person subpenaed, if he does not intend to comply with the subpena, shall, within 5 days after the date of service of the subpena upon him, petition in writing to revoke the subpena. All petitions to revoke subpenas shall be served upon the party at whose request the subpena was issued. Such petition to revoke, if made prior to the hearing, shall be filed with the Regional Director and the Regional Director shall refer the petition to the trial examiner or the Board for ruling. Petitions to revoke subpenas filed during the hearing shall be filed with the trial examiner. Notice of the filing of petitions to revoke shall be promptly given by the Regional Director or the trial examiner, as the case may be, to the party at whose request the subpena was issued. The trial examiner or the Board, as the case may be, shall revoke the subpena if in its opinion the evidence whose production is required does not relate to any matter under investigation or in question in the proceedings or the subpena does not describe with sufficient particularity the evidence whose production is required. The trial examiner or the Board, as the case may be, shall make a simple statement of procedural or other grounds for the ruling on the petition to revoke. The petition to revoke, any answer filed thereto, and any ruling thereon, shall not become part of the official record except upon the request of the party aggrieved by the ruling.

(c) Persons compelled to submit data or evidence at a public proceeding are entitled to retain or, on payment of lawfully prescribed costs, to procure, copies or transcripts of the data or evidence submitted by them. Persons compelled to submit data or evidence in the nonpublic investigative stages of proceedings may, for good cause, be limited by the Regional Director to inspection of the official transcript of their testimony, but shall be entitled to make copies of documentary evidence or exhibits which they have produced.

(d) Upon the failure of any person to comply with a subpena issued upon the request of a private party, the General Counsel shall in the name of the Board but on relation of such private party, institute proceedings in the appropriate District Court for the enforcement of such subpena, but neither the General Counsel nor the Board shall be deemed thereby to have assumed responsibility for the effective prosecution of the same before the Court.

§ 203.32 Payment of witness fees and mileage; fees of persons taking depositions. Witnesses summoned before the trial examiner shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States, and witnesses whose depositions are taken and the persons taking the same shall severally be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States. Witness fees and mileage shall be paid by the party at whose instance the witnesses appear and the person taking the deposition shall be paid by the party at whose instance the deposition is taken.

Transfer, Consolidation and Severance

§ 203.33 Transfer of charge and proceeding from region to region; consolidation of proceedings in same region: severance. Whenever the General Counsel deems it necessary in order to effectuate the purposes of the act or to avoid unnecessary costs or delay, he may permit a charge to be filed with him in Washington, D. C., or may, at any time after a charge has been filed with a Regional Director pursuant to § 203.10, order that such charge and any proceeding which may have been initiated with respect thereto:

(a) Be transferred to and continued before him for the purpose of investigation or consolidation with any other proceeding which may have been instituted in a Regional Office or with him; or

(b) Be consolidated with any other proceeding which may have been instituted in the same region; or

(c) Be transferred to and continued in any other region for the purpose of investigation or consolidation with any proceeding which may have been instituted in or transferred to such other region.

The provisions of §§ 203.9 to 203.32, inclusive, shall, insofar as applicable, govern proceedings before the General Counsel pursuant to this section, and the powers granted to Regional Directors in such provisions shall, for the purpose of this section, be reserved to and exercised by the General Counsel. After the transfer of any charge and any proceeding which may have been instituted with respect thereto from one region to another pursuant to this section, the provisions of this sub-part shall, insofar as applicable, govern such charge and such proceeding as if the charge had originally been filed in the region to which the transfer is made.

Motions to sever proceedings may be filed before hearing, with the Regional Director, and during the hearing, with the trial examiner. The Regional Director shall refer all such motions filed with him to the trial examiner for ruling. Rulings by the Trial Examiner on motions to sever may be appealed to the Board in accordance with § 203.26.

Hearings

§ 203.34 Who shall conduct; to be public unless otherwise ordered. The hearing for the purpose of taking evidence upon a complaint shall be conducted by a trial examiner designated by the Chief Trial Examiner, unless the Board or any member thereof presides. At any time a trial examiner may be designated to take the place of the trial examiner previously designated to conduct the hearing. Such hearings shall be public unless otherwise ordered by the Board or the trial examiner.

§ 203.35 Duties and powers of trial examiners. It shall be the duty of the trial examiner to inquire fully into the facts as to whether the respondent has engaged in or is engaging in an unfair labor practice affecting commerce as set forth in the complaint or amended complaint. The trial examiner shall have authority, with respect to cases assigned to him, between the time he is designated and transfer of the case to the Board, subject to the rules and regulations of the Board and within its powers:

(a) To administer oaths and affirmations;

(b) To grant applications for subpenas;

(c) To rule upon petitions to revoke subpenas;

(d) To rule upon offers of proof and receive relevant evidence;

(e) To take or cause depositions to be taken whenever the ends of justice would be served thereby;

(f) To regulate the course of the hearing and, if appropriate or necessary, to exclude persons or counsel from the hearing for contemptuous conduct and to strike all related testimony of witnesses refusing to answer any proper question;

(g) To hold conferences for the settlement or simplification of the issues by consent of the parties, but not to adjust cases;

(h) To dispose of procedural requests or similar matters, including motions referred to the trial examiner by the Regional Director and motions to amend pleadings; also to dismiss complaints or portions thereof, and to order hearings reopened prior to issuance of intermediate reports (recommended decisions);

(i) To make and file intermediate reports in conformity with section 8 of the Administrative Procedure Act;

(j) To call, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to introduce into the record documentary or other evidence;

(k) To take any other action necessary under the foregoing and authorized by the published rules and regulations of the Board.

§ 203.36 Unavailability of trial examiners. In the event the trial examiner designated to conduct the hearing becomes unavailable to the Board after the hearing has been concluded and before the filing of his intermediate report, the Board may transfer the case to itself for purposes of further hearing or issuance of an intermediate report or both on the record as made, or may request the Chief Trial Examiner to designate another trial examiner for such purposes.

§ 203.37 Disqualification of trial examiners. A trial examiner may withdraw from a proceeding whenever he deems himself disqualified. Any party may request the trial examiner, at any time following his designation by the Chief Trial Examiner and before filing of his intermediate report, to withdraw on grounds of personal bias or disqualification, by filing with him promptly upon the discovery of the alleged facts a timely affidavit setting forth in detail the matters alleged to constitute grounds for disqualification. If, in the opinion of the trial examiner, such affidavit is filed with due diligence and is sufficient on its face, he shall forthwith disqualify himself and withdraw from the proceeding. If the trial examiner does not disqualify himself and withdraw from the proceeding, he shall so rule upon the record, stating the grounds for his ruling and proceed with the hearing, or if the hearing has closed, he shall proceed with issuance of his intermediate report, and the provisions of § 203.26, with respect to review of rulings of trial examiners, shall thereupon apply.

§ 203.38 Rights of parties. Any party shall have the right to appear at such hearing in person, by counsel, or by other representative, to call, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to introduce into the record documentary or other evidence, except that the participation of any party shall be limited to the extent permitted by the trial examiner.

§ 203.39 Rules of evidence controlling so far as practicable. Any such proceeding shall, so far as practicable, be conducted in accordance with the rules of evidence applicable in the district courts of the United States under the rules of civil procedure for the district courts of the United States, adopted by the Supreme Court of the United States pursuant to the act of June 19, 1934 (U. S. C., Title 28, secs. 723–B, 723–C).

§ 203.40 Stipulations of fact admissible. In any such proceeding stipulations of fact may be introduced in evidence with respect to any issue.

§ 203.41 Objection to conduct of hearing; how made; objections not waived by further participation. Any objection with respect to the conduct of the hearing, including any objection to the introduction of evidence, may be stated orally or in writing, accompanied by a short statement of the grounds of such objection, and included in the record. No such objection shall be deemed waived by further participation in the hearing.

§ 203.42 Filing of briefs and proposed findings with the Trial Examiner and oral argument at the hearing. Any party shall be entitled, upon request, to a reasonable period at the close of the hearing for oral argument, which shall be included in the stenographic report of the hearing. Any party shall be entitled, upon request made before the close of the hearing, to file a brief or proposed findings and conclusions, or both, with the trial examiner who may fix a reasonable time for such filing, but not in excess of fifteen days from the close of the hearing. Requests for further extensions of time shall be made to the Chief Trial Examiner in Washington, D. C.

§ 203.43 Continuance and adjournment. In the discretion of the trial examiner, the hearing may be continued from day to day, or adjourned to a later date or to a different place, by announcement thereof at the hearing by the trial examiner, or by other appropriate notice.

§ 203.44 Contemptuous conduct; refusal of witness to answer questions. Contemptuous conduct at any hearing before a trial examiner or before the Board shall be ground for exclusion from the hearing. The refusal of a witness at any such hearing to answer any question which has been ruled to be proper shall, in the discretion of the trial examiner, be ground for striking all testimony previously given by such witness on related matters.

Intermediate Report and Transfer of Case to the Board

§ 203.45 Intermediate report and recommended order; contents; service; transfer of the case to the Board; contents of record in case. After hearing for the purpose of taking evidence upon a complaint, the trial examiner shall prepare an intermediate report and recommended order, but the initial decision shall be made by the Board. Such report shall contain findings of fact, conclusions, and the reasons or basis therefor, upon all material issues of fact, law or discretion presented on the record, and the recommended order shall contain recommendations as to what disposition of the case should be made, which may include, if it be found that the respondent has engaged in or is engaging in the alleged unfair labor practices, a recommendation for such affirmative action by the respondent as will effectuate the policies of the act. The trial examiner shall file the original of the intermediate report and recommended order with the Board and cause a copy thereof to be served upon each of the parties. Upon the filing of the report and recommended order, the Board shall enter an order transferring the case to the Board and shall serve copies of the order, setting forth the date of such transfer, upon all the parties.

The charge upon which the complaint was issued and any amendments thereto, the complaint and any amendments thereto, notice of hearing, answer and any amendments thereto, motions, rulings, orders, the stenographic report of the hearing, stipulations, exhibits, documentary evidence, and depositions, together with the intermediate report and recommended order and exceptions, shall constitute the record in the case.

Exceptions to the Record and Proceeding

§ 203.46 Exceptions or supporting briefs; time for filing; where to file; service on parties; extension of time; effect of failure to include matter in exceptions; oral arguments. (a) Within twenty days or within such further period as the Board may allow from the date of service of the order transferring the case to the Board, pursuant to § 203.45, any party may file with the Board in Washington, D. C., an original and six copies of a statement in writing setting forth such exceptions to the intermediate report and recommended order or to any other part of the record or proceedings (including rulings upon all motions or objections) as he relies upon, together with the original and six copies of a brief in support thereof, and immediately upon such filing copies shall be served on each of the other parties; and any party may, within the same period, file an original and six copies of a brief in support of the intermediate report and recommended order, copies of which shall be immediately served on each of the other parties. Upon special leave of the Board, any party may file a reply brief upon such terms as the Board may impose.

(b) No matter not included in a statement of exceptions may thereafter be urged before the Board, or in any further proceedings.

(c) Should any party desire permission to argue orally before the Board, request therefor must be made in writing to the Board within 10 days after the date of service of the order transferring the case to the Board pursuant to § 203.45. The Board shall notify the parties of the time and place of oral argument, if such permission is granted.

(d) Oral arguments are limited to 30 minutes for each party entitled to participate. No request for additional time will be granted unless timely application is made in advance of oral argument.

(e) Briefs shall be in legible typewritten or printed form and shall contain references to the portions of the record relied upon and which it is desired that the Board examine.

§ 203.47 Filing of motion after transfer of case to Board. All motions filed after the case has been transferred to the Board pursuant to § 203.45 shall be filed with the Board in Washington, D. PART 95—CAR SERVICE

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 18th day of August A. D. 1947

It appearing, that there is a shortage of railway cars for transporting coal and coke to north Atlantic ports for transshipment by vessels; that at certain times such carriers are unable to transport coal over billed routes and it must be diverted via other routes to the same or other facilities within the original destination port area; that at certain times coal must be embargoed because of port congestion; in the opinion of the Commission an emergency exists requiring immediate action in the eastern section of the country. It is ordered, that:

(a) Appointment of agent to control movement of tidewater coal. W. R. Godber, Joint Manager of the Anthracite Tidewater Emergency Bureau and Northern Tidewater Bituminous Emergency Bureau, 143 Liberty Street, New York, N. Y., is hereby designated and appointed agent of the Interstate Commerce Commission and, subject to the direction and supervision of the Director, Bureau of Service, vested with authority to control the use of railroad cars for transporting coal and coke, all kinds, to be transshipped by vessels at New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Maryland ports or to be stored in yards shown in Trunk Line Tariff Bureau Tariff No. 139–C, I. C. C. No. A–751, or in Trunk Line Tariff Bureau Tariff No. 138–B, I. C. C. No. 750, supplements thereto or reissues thereof.

(3) Reroute and divert cars loaded with coal and coke, all kinds, moving to or through the ports or storage yards, named in paragraph (a) of this order, from the line or piers of any railroad which in the Agent's opinion cannot currently accept and move such traffic, over the lines or piers of any other railroad or railroads less congested. Such diversion shall be made at any intermediate point en route, or at point of origin. The diversion shall be made without regard to the routing shown on the bill of lading or whether designated by shipper or carrier.

(c) Rates to be applied. When commodities subject to this order are diverted or rerouted pursuant to this order, it is deemed to be due to carriers' disability; rates applicable to traffic so forwarded shall be those which would have applied to the shipments if such shipments had moved as originally routed.

(d) Division of rates. In executing the orders and directions of the Commission provided for in this order the common carriers involved shall proceed without reference to contracts, agreements, or arrangements now existing between them with reference to the divisions of the rates of transportation applicable to said traffic; such divisions shall be, during the time this order remains in force, voluntarily agreed upon by and between said carriers; or upon failure of the carriers to so agree, said divisions shall be hereafter fixed by the Commission in accordance with pertinent authority conferred upon it by the Interstate Commerce Act.

(e) Rules, regulations and practices suspended. The operation of all rules, regulations and practices insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this order is hereby suspended.

(f) Interstate-intrastate application. The provisions of this order shall apply to intrastate as well as interstate and foreign traffic.

4. The regulations in 46 CFR 31.3–3, 31.3–4, 46.024, 52.1–2, 63.5, 63.8, 63.15, 79.5, 79.8, 79.21, 97.5, 97.8, 97.19, 116.5, 116.8, 116.19, and 144.05 are being revised in accordance with a request received from representatives of the merchant marine industry so that each group of regulations published by the Coast Guard will contain a definite listing of the vessel plans which are required to be submitted for approval. While all the plans listed will not be applicable to every type of vessel, it is intended that only such plans be submitted as will show clearly the vessel's arrangement, construction, and equipment. The proposed regulations also set forth the procedure for plan approval. The applicable sections appear in the Tank Vessel Regulations, Load Line Regulations, Marine Engineering Regulations, Ocean and Coastwise General Rules and Regulations, Great Lakes General Rules and Regulations, Bays, Sounds, and Lakes Other Than the Great Lakes General Rules and Regulations, Rivers General Rules and Regulations, and the Regulations Regarding Construction or Material Alteration of Passenger Vessels of the United States of 100 Gross Tons and Over Propelled by Machinery.

5. The authority for regulations regarding submission of vessel plans and specifications is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4418, 4426, 4433, 4434, 4488, 4491, as amended, 45 Stat. 1493, 49 Stat. 888, 1384, 1544, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1028, sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244; 46 U. S. C. 85a, 88a, 367, 369, 375, 391a, 392, 404, 411, 412, 463a, 481, 489, 50 U. S. C. 1275; and sec. 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

LOAD LINE SURVEY REPORT

6. At an International Conference of Classification Societies in Rome in 1939 an agreement was reached whereby a copy of the original load line survey made for a vessel would be placed on board such vessel. This record was to be available for the information of inspectors and surveyors when carrying out further load line surveys. Because of the war this agreement was never put into practice. After a discussion of the matter with the American Bureau of Shipping, it was proposed that copies of the original load line surveys would be placed only on new vessels receiving their first load line certificates after January 1, 1948, and that it was impracticable to place a copy of the original load line survey on board all existing vessels. Accordingly, it is proposed to amend 46 CFR 43.09, 45.07, and 46.018 to require that each vessel receiving its first load line certificate after January 1, 1948, shall be furnished a copy of its load line survey report. This report is to be retained on board the vessel and made available for the information of inspectors and surveyors when carrying out subsequent load line surveys.

7. The authority for the new regulations on load line survey reports is in sec. 2, 45 Stat. 1493 and sec. 2, 49 Stat. 888; 46 U. S. C. 85a, 88a; and sec. 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

DISTRESS SIGNALS

8. It is proposed to amend the present regulations prescribing the distress signals to be carried in lifeboats and life rafts and in pilothouses of Great Lakes vessels by 46 CFR 33.3–1, 33.3–2, 33.3–6, 33.8–1, 59.11, 59.52, 60.9, 60.45, 76.14, 76.48, and 76.60. The applicable sections appear in the Tank Vessel Regulations, Ocean and Coastwise General Rules and Regulations, and Great Lakes General Rules and Regulations. The proposed amendments delete specification requirements now contained in certain regulations, as well as to alter general requirements for distress signals. It is proposed to allow the hand combination flare and smoke distress signals as a substitute for either or both of the hand distress signals and daytime distress signals, require all distress signals to bear a date of manufacture, limit service time use of distress signals to a period of three years from date of manufacture and any signals not bearing date of manufacture shall not be carried on vessels on and after January 1, 1949.

9. The specifications to be followed by manufacturers for hand red flare distress signals, floating orange smoke distress signals, and hand combination flare and smoke distress signals will also be considered. It is proposed to place them in 46 CFR, Chapter I, as §§ 160.021, 160.022, and 160.023, respectively, in Subchapter Q—Specifications. The specifications cover materials, workmanship, construction, performance requirements, inspections, samples, tests, labeling, marking, and procedure for approval. Distress signals for merchant vessels will be approved only by the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard.

10. The authority for regulations on distress signals is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4488, 4491, as amended, 49 Stat. 1544, sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 481, 489, 50 U. S. C. 1275, and sec. 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

ELECTRIC VENTILATION SYSTEMS AND WIRE-INSERTED GLASS (PASSENGER VESSELS)

11. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 144.15 (c) and 144.17 (b) to allow the installation of wire-inserted glass in certain doors and windows. This is a relaxation from the present requirements.

12. The requirements for electrical ventilation systems in 46 CFR 144.25 (j) are also to be revised. The proposed changes require the system to be of the undervoltage protection type and the placing of emergency controls in glass covered boxes properly marked and identified.

13. The authority for the regulations on passenger vessels is contained in R. S. 4405, as amended, 49 Stat. 1384 and 54 Stat. 1028; 46 U. S. C. 369, 375, 463a; and sec. 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

MARINE ENGINEERING REGULATIONS; BOILERS, PIPING, AND VALVES

14. It is proposed to amend 46 CFR 54.18–3 and 54.18–4 covering tests and inspection of boilers in service by requiring water-tube boilers to be subjected to a hydrostatic test at least once in every four years instead of annually. This is a relaxation from present requirements.

15. The requirements for piping in 46 CFR 55.19–3 (n) and 55.19–5 (h) are to be revised. The proposed changes will require that valves exceeding two inches nominal pipe size diameter and used for class I piping shall have bolted or pressure seal bonnets and flanged or welding ends instead of flanged ends and bolted bonnets; and the piping which may be run through deep tanks or fuel tanks for bilge and ballast piping are not required to have a pipe tunnel if the piping is extra heavy, expansion bends are fitted, and all joints within the tanks are welded.

16. The authority for the regulations covering boilers, valves, and piping is in R. S. 4405, 4417a, 4418, 4426, 4429–4434, as amended, 49 Stat. 1544, sec. 2, 54 Stat. 1026, and sec. 5 (e), 55 Stat. 244; 46 U. S. C. 367, 375, 391a, 392, 404, 407–412, 463a, 50 U. S. C. 1275; and sec. 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

BOUNDARY LINES BETWEEN HIGH SEAS AND INLAND WATERS

17. It is proposed to revise the boundary lines for certain inland waters along the Atlantic Coast, Gulf Coast, and Pacific Coast as set forth in 33 CFR 302.5, 302.10, 302.15, 302.25, 302.30, 302.35, 302.40, 302.55, 302.65, 302.80, 302.89, 302.90, 302.95, 302.100, 302.105, 302.110, 302.115, and 302.135. The proposed changes are for the most part editorial in nature and correct the names or characteristics of certain aids to navigation used to describe the lines separating inland waters from the high seas. These changes are necessary since either the names or characteristics of certain aids to navigation have changed or were discontinued. The changes apply to all harbors on the coast of Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts between West Quoddy Head, Maine, and Cape Ann Lighthouse, Massachusetts; Massachusetts Bay; Nantucket Sound, Vineyard Sound, Buzzards Bay, Narragansett Bay, Block Island Sound, and Easterly Entrance to Long Island Sound; Delaware Bay and tributaries; Charleston Harbor; Savannah Harbor; Florida Reefs and Keys from Miami to Marquesas Keys, San Carlos Bay and tributaries; Tampa Bay and tributaries; Apalachee Bay, Florida, Carrabelle River and Apalachicola River, Florida; sounds, lakes, and harbors on the coast of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana from Mobile Bay, Alabama, to Barataria Bay, Louisiana, including the Delta of the Mississippi River; Mobile and Mississippi Rivers, Sabine Pass, Texas; Galveston Harbor; Brazos River, Texas; and San Pedro Bay.

18. Proposed regulations will be considered for the establishment of boundary lines separating inland waters from the high seas in the principal harbors of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. At present the general rule for the lines dividing inland waters from the high seas has been followed. The proposed regulations will apply to the harbors at San Juan, Arecibo, Mayaguez, Guanica, Guayanilla, Ponce, Jobos, St. Thomas, and Christiansted. It is proposed to establish lines around Vieques Sound. It is proposed to number these regulations as 33 CFR 302.200, 302.205, 302.210, 302.215, 302.220, 302.225, 302.230, 302.235, 302.240, and 302.245, respectively. The Commander, 10th Coast Guard District, will also hold a public hearing on these proposed regulations and all comments and suggestions made at that hearing will form a part of the record and be considered as a part of this hearing.

19. The authority for regulations establishing boundary lines of inland waters is in section 2, 28 Stat. 672; 33 U. S. C. 151; and section 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

LIGHTS AND PASSING SIGNALS

20. It is proposed to amend the regulations in 33 CFR 312.18 to 312.31, inclusive, in order that these regulations will be the same as similar regulations to be prescribed by the War Department. Under present statutory authority the Commandant of the Coast Guard prescribes the lights and day signals for vessels, dredges of all types, and vessels working on wrecks and obstructions, while navigating certain inland waters along the Atlantic Coast, Gulf Coast, and Pacific Coast, while the War Department prescribes similar lights and signals for vessels navigating on the Great Lakes and Mississippi River and its tributaries. At a conference of representatives of the War Department and the Coast Guard it was proposed to have all the regulations on these lights and passing signals to be identical. It is proposed to change the regulations regarding signals to be displayed by towing vessels when towing a submerged or partly submerged object upon a hawser when no signals are displayed upon the object which is towed; steamers, derrick boats, lighters, or other types of vessels when made fast along the side of a wreck, or moored over a wreck which is on the bottom or partly submerged, or which may be drifting; self-propelling suction dredges under way with their suction on the bottom; vessels moored or anchored and engaged in laying by or operating on submarine construction or excavation; vessels moored or at anchor; passing signals; aids to navigation marking floating-plant moorings; and clearing of channels. Numerous editorial changes which do not materially affect present requirements are proposed as well as a new requirement for vessels moored or anchored and engaged in mat sinking, bank grading, dike construction, revetment or other bank protection operations; and floodlights or headlights which may interfere with the proper navigation of an approaching vessel shall be so shielded that the lights will not blind the pilot of such vessel.

21. The authority for the revised regulations is in section 2, 30 Stat. 102, as amended by 38 Stat. 381; and R. S. 4405, as amended; 33 U. S. C. 157, 46 U. S. C. 375; and section 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

MANNING OF SEAGOING BARGES

22. It is proposed to amend the regulations in 46 CFR 31.4–2 and 35.1–4 (b). The proposed amendments to the Tank Vessel Regulations relax present manning requirements for seagoing barges to the extent that such barges need not be manned unless in the judgment of the Officer in Charge, Marine Inspection, such manning is necessary for the protection of life and property and for the safe operation of the vessel.

23. It is proposed to add two new sections as 46 CFR 62.19a and 141.3 to provide that the Officer in Charge, Marine Inspection, shall determine whether or not a seagoing barge shall be manned and to allow such barges to be operated without a crew when conditions warrant the belief that the vessel may be used in navigation with safety to life.

24. The authority for the proposed regulations for manning of tank barges and seagoing barges is set forth in R. S. 4405, 4417a, as amended, sec. 10, 35 Stat. 428, sec. 5 (c), 55 Stat. 244, 46 U. S. C. 375, 391a, 395; 50 U. S. C. 1275; and sec. 101, Reorganization Plan No. 3 of 1946, 11 F. R. 7875.

APPROVALS AND TERMINATION OF APPROVALS OF EQUIPMENT

25. The Merchant Marine Council will consider appeals submitted in accordance with the procedures for promulgation of approvals and termination of approvals as set forth in 46 CFR 2.75–1 to 2.75–50, inclusive, 11 F. R. 177A–83.

26. The notice of approvals and termination of approvals of equipment, dated July 24, 1947, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER July 31, 1947, 12 F. R. 5185, provides that the holder of an approval which is to be terminated November 1, 1947, may appeal such action and shall submit supporting data showing that the item complies with the applicable requirements now in effect. The Merchant Marine Council will consider appeals submitted and any holder of an approval which is to be terminated may also appear in person and give additional reasons why the approval should not be terminated. Recommendations will be submitted to the Commandant on all appeals submitted before November 1, 1947.

Dated: August 18, 1947.

Admiral, U. S. Coast Guard Commandant.

[Docket No. AO 29-A6]

DUBUQUE, IOWA, MILK MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON HANDLING OF MILK

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and in accordance with the applicable rules of practice and procedure, (7 CFR, Supps. 900.1 et seq.; 11 F. R. 7737, 12 F. R. 1159, 4909), as amended, notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held in the District Court Room, Federal Building, Dubuque, Iowa, beginning at 10:00 a. m., c. s. t., August 28, 1947, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area. Such proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The following proposals have been submitted by the Dubuque Cooperative Dairy Marketing Association, Inc.:

1. Delete from § 912.6 (a) (1) the figure and word "70 cents" and substitute therefor the figure "$1.20."

2. Delete from § 912.6 (a) (2) the figure "23" and substitute therefor the figure "73."

4. Add to § 912.8 the following paragraph:

(e) In the case of any handler who the Secretary determines disposes of a greater portion of his milk as Class I and Class II milk in another marketing area regulated by another milk marketing order issued pursuant to the act, the provisions of this order shall not apply except as follows:

(1) The handler shall, with respect to his total receipts and utilization of milk, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator in accordance with the provisions of § 912.7 (e) hereof.

(2) If the prices which such handler is required to pay under the other order to which he is subject for milk which would be classified as Class I or Class II milk under this order, are less than the respective prices provided pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (3) of § 912.6 (a) of this order, such handler shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all milk disposed of as Class I milk or Class II milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such milk as computed pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (3) of § 912.6 (a) of this order, and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject.

5. Make such other changes as may be required to make the entire tentatively approved marketing agreement and the marketing order, as amended, conform with any amendments thereto which may result from this hearing.

Copies of this notice of hearing may be procured from Mr. E. H. McGuire, Market Administrator, 335 Federal Building, 16th St. and 2d Avenue, Rock Island, Illinois, or from the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 0306, South Building, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

Dated: August 15, 1947.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR, Parts 2, 3]

[Docket No. 8487]

SHARING OF TELEVISION CHANNELS AND ASSIGNMENT OF FREQUENCIES TO TELEVISION AND NON-GOVERNMENT FIXED AND MOBILE SERVICES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. In May and June 1945 the Commission issued its Allocation Report providing in part for 13 television channels and specifying that 12 of those channels be shared with other radio services on a mutually non-interference basis. Since that time the Commission has conducted a comprehensive study of various sharing arrangements. The problems inherent in sharing were also discussed at length at an informal engineering conference held on June 10 and 11, 1947. As a result of these studies the Commission is of the opinion that there is no practicable sharing arrangement which will not cause serious interference to television reception.

3. The Commission, therefore, proposes the changes set forth in the attached appendixes as follows:

Appendix B—Table of proposed frequency service allocations in the 44-50 mc band.

Appendix C—Revised table of proposed allocation of television channels to metropolitan districts.

4. The salient provisions and objectives of the proposed changes may be summarized as follows:

(a) All provision for sharing of television channels (except channels 7 and 8) is abolished.

(b) In order to accommodate the non-government fixed and mobile radio services for which provision was formerly made on a shared basis on television channels 1 through 5 and 9 through 13, the assignment of the band 44 to 50 mc is changed from television to non-government fixed and mobile. At the present time there is no television station operating on this channel and there is only one construction permit outstanding.

(c) The band 72–76 mc is to be limited to use by the 75 mc aeronautical marker beacons and to fixed circuits on an engineered basis with the view to avoiding adjacent channel interference to television broadcasting. Radio stations presently authorized in the 72–76 mc band will be permitted to continue for a five year period.

(d) Possibilities of interference to television from such sources as harmonic radiations, television receiver response to stations on intermediate or image frequencies and television receiver oscillator radiations are engineering equipment problems which the Commission expects can more properly be solved by equipment development rather than further revisions of frequency allocations.

5. The proposed changes are issued under the authority of sections 303 (c), (d), (e), (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed changes should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, may file with the Commission, on or before September 15, 1947, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. If any comments are received which appear to warrant the Commission in holding an oral argument before final action is taken, notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given at a subsequent date.

Adopted: August 14, 1947.

[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

Stenger, Jr. (WBAX), Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, Docket No. 7852, File No. BP-5212; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 14th day of August 1947;

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed July 31, 1947 by Union Broadcasting Company, (WARM), Scranton, Pennsylvania, requesting the Commission en banc to review the action of the Presiding Officer of the Motions Docket (Mr. Plotkin) taken July 28, 1947 enlarging issues in the proceeding upon the applications of Union Broadcasting Company (WARM), Scranton, Pennsylvania (Docket No. 6884), WHP, Inc., Harrisburg, Pennsylvania (Docket No. 7115) and John H. Stenger, Jr. (WBAX), Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania (Docket No. 7852) so as to include the following issue:

To determine whether the proposed operation of Union Broadcasting Company (WARM), Scranton, Pennsylvania, and John H. Stenger, Jr. (WBAX), Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, would involve objectionable interference with the service of a proposed station at Lynchburg, Virginia, to be operated by the Lynchburg Broadcasting Corporation on 590 kc, with a power of 1 kw, DA-2, unlimited time, as set forth in the proposed decision, released July 1, 1947, in Docket 6866 et al., and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

or, in the alternative, requesting that the Commission continue the further hearing in the above-mentioned proceeding to a date thirty days after the filing of an application for modification of construction permit to specify 590 kc by Lynchburg Broadcasting Corporation and;

It appearing that on July 1, 1947, the Commission issued a proposed decision looking to a grant of the application of Lynchburg Broadcasting Corporation (WLVA), Lynchburg, Virginia (File No. BP-4096, Docket No. 6870) with the use of the frequency 590 kc; that the above-entitled applications of Union Broadcasting Company (WARM), and John H. Stenger, Jr. (WBAX), both request the use of the frequency 590 kc; that the Commission on July 28, 1947, on its own motion, enlarged the issues upon which the above-entitled applications are to be heard so as to determine whether the proposed operation of Union Broadcasting Company (WARM), or John H. Stenger, Jr. (WBAX) would involve objectionable interference with the service of a proposed station at Lynchburg, Virginia; and

It appearing that insofar as petitioner's objections to the action of the Presiding Officer of the Motions Docket in enlarging the issues in the above-entitled proceeding are based upon the alleged invalidity of the Commission's action on July 1, 1947, proposing to grant the application of Lynchburg Broadcasting Company (WLVA) with the use of the frequency 590 kc, said objections are without merit; and that insofar as the instant petition seeks reversal of the order enlarging the issues, the petition should be denied; and

It further appearing that insofar as the petition requests a continuance in the further hearing in the above-entitled proceeding, presently scheduled for August 19, 1947, so as to permit a study by petitioner of the application for modification of construction permit to be filed by Lynchburg Broadcasting Company, the petition is justified; and that a continuance of the said further hearing to Thursday, September 11, 1947, would be in the public interest.

It is further ordered, That insofar as the petition requests a continuance in the further hearing presently scheduled for August 19, 1947, the petition be, and it is hereby granted in part; and the further hearing in the above-entitled proceeding be, and it is hereby continued to 10:00 a. m. PLYMOUTH COUNTY ELECTRIC CO. AND NEW ENGLAND GAS AND ELECTRIC ASSN.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 15th day of August 1947.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by New England Gas and Electric Association ("New England"), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary Plymouth County Electric Company ("Plymouth"). Applicants have designated sections 6 (b) and 10 of the act as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 21, 1947, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application proposed to be controverted, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. At any time after August 21, 1947, said application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transaction as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said application, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

New England presently owns all of the outstanding common stock of Plymouth. Plymouth proposes to issue and sell to New England 1,800 additional shares of its common stock, of the par value of $25 per share, at a price of $35 per share, or an aggregate of $63,000. The proceeds from the sale of this stock are to be applied in partial payment of Plymouth's floating indebtedness incurred for additions and improvements to its plant and properties and represented by outstanding bank notes in the aggregate amount of $82,750, all of such notes maturing August 28, 1947.

Plymouth further proposes, in order to provide itself with funds as the same may be required from time to time to enable it to pay for necessary additions and betterments to its plant and property, to issue promissory notes to The First National Bank of Boston in amounts not to exceed in the aggregate $700,000, all of such notes to be issued and dated prior to December 31, 1949, and to mature not later than June 30, 1952. All of such notes issued during the remainder of 1947 and during 1948 will bear interest at the rate of 2¼% per annum, and those issued during 1949 will bear interest at the rate of 2½% per annum.

The application states that the issue and sale of the proposed securities are solely for the purpose of financing the business of Plymouth and have been expressly authorized by the Department of Public Utilities of Massachusetts by order dated July 24, 1947.

By the Commission.

TITLE 3—THE PRESIDENT

PROCLAMATION 2744

AMENDMENT OF REGULATIONS RELATING TO MIGRATORY BIRDS AND GAME MAMMALS

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the Acting Secretary of the Interior has adopted and has submitted to me for approval the following amendment of the regulations approved by Proclamation No. 2739 of July 31, 1947, relating to migratory birds and game mammals included in the terms of the Convention between the United States and Great Britain for the protection of migratory birds concluded August 16, 1916, and the Convention between the United States and the United Mexican States for the protection of migratory birds and certain game mammals concluded February 7, 1936:

AMENDMENT OF MIGRATORY BIRD TREATY ACT REGULATIONS ADOPTED BY THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR

By virtue of and pursuant to the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of July 3, 1918 (40 Stat. 755), and Reorganization Plan II (53 Stat. 1431), and having determined, in accordance with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act of June 11, 1946 (Pub. Law No. 404—79th Congress), that the amendment adopted herein is corrective and that further notice and public procedure thereon are impracticable and unnecessary, I, Oscar L. Chapman, Acting Secretary of the Interior, having due regard to the zones of temperature and to the distribution, abundance, economic value, breeding habits, and times and lines of migratory flight of migratory birds included in the terms of the Convention between the United States and Great Britain for the protection of migratory birds, concluded August 16, 1916, and the Convention between the United States and the United Mexican States for the protection of migratory birds and game mammals, concluded February 7, 1936, have determined when, to what extent, and by what means it is compatible with the terms of the said Act and conventions to allow the hunting, taking, capture, killing, possession, sale, purchase, shipment, transportation, carriage, exportation, and importation of such birds and parts thereof and their nests and eggs, and in accordance with such determinations, do hereby amend the regulations approved by Proclamation No. 2739 of July 31, 1947, by deleting from Regulation 4 thereof that portion establishing an open season on mourning, or turtle, dove in the State of Florida and in lieu of such deleted portion, do hereby adopt the following:

"Florida in Broward, Dade, and Monroe Counties, October 1 to October 31; in remainder of State, December 3 to January 31."

In view of the fact that the portion of Regulation 4 deleted hereby was adopted by me under a mistake of fact, and in view of the further fact that the present amendment is corrective of regulations which are effective August 31, 1947, it has been determined that this amendment shall become effective August 31, 1947.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the Department of the Interior to be affixed, this 7th day of August 1947.

[SEAL] OSCAR L. CHAPMAN,
Acting Secretary of the Interior.

AND WHEREAS upon consideration it appears that approval of the foregoing amendment will effectuate the purposes of the aforesaid Migratory Bird Treaty Act:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by section 3 of the said Migratory Bird Treaty Act of July 3, 1918, do hereby approve and proclaim the foregoing amendment.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 21st day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-second.

[SEAL] HARRY S. TRUMAN

Chapter XIV—Production and Marketing Administration (School Lunch Program)

PART 1800—REGULATIONS AND PROCEDURES

MINIMUM NUTRITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR PUERTO RICO AND VIRGIN ISLANDS

Section 1800.3, Type A Lunch, and § 1800.4, Type B Lunch, are amended by adding at the end of each the following new paragraph: [1]

In participating schools in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands (including certified child care centers in Puerto Rico), variations from the requirements prescribed for this type of lunch will be permitted as follows: the milk requirement may be met by serving as a beverage either whole fluid, whole evaporated, or reconstituted whole or nonfat dry milk, which meets the minimum sanitation requirements of local laws; a serving of rice or a starchy vegetable, such as tanniers, yams, plantains, or sweet potatoes, may be substituted for the bread required; and the minimum amount of butter or fortified margarine required in the lunch may be reduced by one-half of the prescribed amount.

Section 1800.5, Type C Lunch, is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

In Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands (including certified child care centers in Puerto Rico), the Type C lunch may consist of one-half pint of whole fluid, whole evaporated, or reconstituted whole or nonfat dry milk, which meets the minimum sanitation requirements of local laws, as a beverage.

[1] These amendments are issued because of the shortage in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands of fresh fluid milk, butter, and fortified margarine, and because of the natural restrictions upon the variety of food that may be served. The high vitamin A content of green and yellow vegetables consumed in the usual diet of school children in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands is a satisfactory substitute for the vitamin A provided by whole fluid milk and by butter or fortified margarine. It has been determined, on the basis of tested nutritional research, that the nutritional objectives of the act will be furthered by these amendments.

(60 Stat. 230)

The foregoing amendments shall be effective as of July 1, 1947.

Dated: August 19, 1947.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

(4) Grading or drainage shall divert water away from buildings and off the site.

(5) The structure shall be limited in design to single family occupancy.

(6) The structure shall have a living room which may contain space for cooking and dining, and at least one separate room designed for sleeping purposes. The total floor area shall not be less than 360 square feet.

(7) All rooms, including bathrooms, if any, shall be provided with one or more windows to permit adequate natural light and ventilation.

(8) Where winter house heating by means other than electricity is the established custom, a safe means of disposing of the products of combustion to the outside air shall be provided.

(9) Each single family unit shall be provided with an on-site supply of safe and palatable water. Where public or community water service is available to the subject property, it shall be connected with the structure and with the fixtures required in subparagraph (12) of this paragraph.

(10) Each single family unit shall be provided with a sanitary means of sewage disposal. Where public or community sewerage is available to the property, connection shall be made thereto and to the fixtures required in subparagraph (12) of this paragraph.

(11) Where individual water supply and sewerage systems are used, the installations shall conform with local sanitary regulations for such individual systems. Where on-site well or cistern supply equipped with a pump and an on-site sanitary pit privy are used when this conforms with the established custom of the neighborhood, the installation shall comply with the recommendations of the local Department of Health or in the absence of such recommendations with the U. S. Public Health Service publications "Rural Water Supply Sanitation" or "Individual Sewage Disposal Systems." Evidence of compliance shall be secured from the health authority having jurisdiction and the insured may rely upon such evidence as establishing compliance with this subparagraph.

(12) Where connection with a public or community water and sewage disposal system is made as required in subparagraphs (9) and (10) of this paragraph, a kitchen sink and bathroom with bathtub or shower, water closet and lavatory shall be provided. This requirement also applies when an individual water-carriage sewage disposal system is installed on the property. When disposal is by sanitary pit privy, the water closet and lavatory may be omitted and the other fixtures shall be connected with a dry well. When water is provided by a well or cistern supply and a privy is used, all bathroom fixtures may be omitted.

(14) In the case of a loan which is for the purpose of financing the building of a Class 3 structure for sale or for rent, the borrower shall certify to the insured that the footings, foundations, columns, and structural elements of load bearing sections of the structure, including exterior walls, interior partitions, floors, ceilings, roofs and, when included, heating, plumbing and electrical installations comply with the Federal Housing Administration minimum construction requirements contained in the "Minimum Property Requirements for Properties of One or Two Living Units" for the area in which the property is located.

(15) The above conditions may be varied under special circumstances and in certain areas upon prior approval of the Commissioner.

(b) Unfinished structures. The proceeds of a loan shall not be used to finance the cost of completing an unfinished structure, unless the unfinished structure was begun under a Class 3 Loan, in which case the total of all such loans shall not exceed $3,000.

(c) Architectural services. The proceeds of a loan may be used to pay for architectural and engineering services and builders' profit in connection with the building of new structures financed in accordance with the regulations in this part.

(d) Refinancing existing obligations prohibited. The proceeds of a loan shall not be used for the purpose of refinancing existing obligations not previously made or reported for insurance pursuant to the regulations in this part.

§ 502.5 Credits—(a) Credit application. Prior to making a loan the insured shall obtain a dated credit application executed by the borrower on a form approved by the Commissioner. A separate credit application is required for each loan made or mortgage purchased.

(b) Credit investigation. The credit application, supplemented by such other information as the insured deems necessary, must, in the judgment of the insured, clearly show the borrower to be solvent, with reasonable ability to pay the obligation and in other respects a reasonable credit risk. If, after the loan is made, an insured who acted in good faith discovers any material misstatements or misuse of the proceeds of the loan by the borrower, dealer, or others, the eligibility of the mortgage for insurance will not be affected. However, the insured shall promptly report such discovery to the Commissioner.

(c) Reliance on credit application. An insured acting in good faith may, in the absence of information to the contrary, rely upon all statements of fact made by the borrower which are called for by the borrower's credit application.

(d) Outstanding FHA and direct Federal obligations. The proceeds of a loan shall not be disbursed if the insured has knowledge that the borrower is past due more than fifteen (15) days as to either principal or interest with respect to an obligation owing to, or insured by, any department or agency of the Federal Government, Provided, That nothing contained herein shall prevent the making of a loan otherwise eligible, even though the borrower is in default under such an obligation by reason of his military service and the approval of the Commissioner is obtained.

(e) Past due Title I mortgages at time of purchase. A mortgage shall not be purchased when any instalment thereon is past due more than fifteen (15) days at the date of purchase except purchases of mortgages under the provisions of § 502.12.

(f) Collections. The insured is required to service loans in accordance with acceptable practices of prudent lending institutions. In the event of default, the insured should have adequate facilities for contacting the borrower and otherwise exercise diligence in collecting the amount due. The insured is responsible to the Commissioner for proper collection efforts even though actual collection may be performed by an agent.

§ 502.6 Eligible interest bearing loans—(a) Mortgage provisions. In order to be eligible for insurance a loan shall be secured by collateral security in the form of a duly recorded first mortgage, first deed of trust, or similar instrument which constitutes a first lien upon a fee simple or leasehold interest in the land and buildings, appurtenances, and improvements thereon and which:

(1) Is in a form approved by the Commissioner for use in the jurisdiction in which the property covered by the mortgage, deed of trust, or similar instrument is situated and involves a principal amount not in excess of $3,000.

(2) Shall provide for interest at such rate as may be agreed upon between the borrower and the insured but in no case shall such interest be in excess of 4½% per annum on the outstanding principal. Interest and principal shall be payable in monthly instalments (or other periodic instalments as provided in subparagraph (11) of this paragraph. In the event interest is payable in instalments corresponding to the income periods shown on the credit application, such interest payments may be required in advance for each instalment period.)

(3) May provide for payments by the borrower to the insured on each instalment payment date of an amount equal to the annual insurance charge payable by the insured to the Commissioner, divided by the number of instalment payment dates to elapse prior to the date such charge is due and payable to the Commissioner.

(4) Shall provide for such equal payments by the borrower to the insured on each instalment payment date as will amortize the ground rents, if any, and the estimated amount of all taxes, special assessments, if any, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums, within a period ending one month prior to the date on which same become delinquent. Such payments shall be held by the insured in a manner satisfactory to the Commissioner for the purpose of paying such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums before the same become delinquent for the benefit and account of the borrower. The mortgage shall also make provision for adjustments in case the estimated amount of such taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums should prove to be more or less than the actual amount thereof so paid by the insured.

(5) Shall contain a privilege of prepayment in full or in amounts equal to one or more instalment payments on the principal that are next due on the mortgage at any interest payment date upon thirty (30) days' prior notice and without premium or penalty.

(6) Shall provide that all instalment payments to be made by the borrower to the insured shall be added together and the aggregate amount thereof shall be applied to the following items in the order set forth:

(i) Insurance charges due the Federal Housing Commissioner.

(ii) Ground rents, taxes, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums.

(iii) Interest on the loan.

(iv) Amortization of the principal of the loan.

(7) May provide for a late charge to be paid by the borrower, not to exceed two cents (2¢) for each dollar for each instalment payment more than fifteen (15) days in arrears. No late charge may be accrued in excess of $5.00. The borrower must be billed for the penalties collected as such, and evidence of such billings must be in the file if claim is made under the contract of insurance.

(8) Shall contain a provision for acceleration of maturity at the option of the holder in the event of default.

(9) Shall not have a final maturity in excess of twenty (20) years and five (5) calendar months.

(10) Shall provide for not more than two hundred and forty (240) monthly payments which shall fall due on the first day of a month and the first such payment shall fall due not less than six (6) days nor more than six (6) calendar months from the date of the mortgage, except as provided in subparagraph (11) of this paragraph.

(11) In instances in which the credit application of the borrower indicates that not less than fifty-one per centum (51%) of the income of the borrower is derived directly from the sale of agricultural crops, commodities or livestock produced by him, the mortgage may provide, in lieu of monthly instalments, for substantially equal instalment payments corresponding to the income periods shown on the credit application; Provided, however, That the first payment must be within twelve (12) months of the date of the mortgage and that at least one payment must be made during each calendar year thereafter.

(b) Borrowers payments. The borrower must pay to the insured, upon the execution of the mortgage, a sum that will be sufficient to pay premiums on fire and other insurance required by the insured pursuant to the terms of the mortgage, and ground rents, if any, and estimated taxes, special assessments, drainage, and irrigation charges applicable to the period beginning on the date to which such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and charges were last paid and ending on the date of the first periodic payment under the mortgage. The borrower, at such time, may also be required to pay a sum equal to the first annual insurance charge plus an amount equal to one-twelfth (1/12) of the annual insurance charge multiplied by the number of months to elapse from the date of the closing of the loan to the date of the first periodic payment, and if the mortgage provides for payment of interest in advance, interest to the due date of the first periodic payment thereunder. The insured may charge the borrower any fees paid to the Administration and an initial service charge in an amount sufficient to reimburse the insured for the cost of closing the transaction, including appraisal and construction inspection fees but in no case shall the amount of such service charge be in excess of 2% of the original principal amount of the loan.

(c) Recording fees and title costs. In addition to the charges hereinbefore mentioned the insured may collect from the borrower only recording fees and such costs of title search as are customary in the community.

§ 502.7 Eligible "discount" loans. (a) A "discount" loan shall be secured by collateral security in the form of a duly recorded first mortgage, first deed of trust or other similar instrument, which is approved as to form by the Commissioner and which constitutes a first lien upon a fee simple or leasehold interest in the land and buildings, appurtenances, and improvements thereon and:

(1) Shall not be in excess of $3,000 exclusive of financing charges to the borrower.

(2) Shall not have a maturity in excess of twenty (20) years and five (5) calendar months.

(3) May provide for a maximum financing charge to be paid by the borrower for interest, discount, and fees of all kinds, other than those referred to in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph and paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, in connection with the transaction not in excess of an amount based on tables of calculations issued by the Federal Housing Commissioner, and intended to provide a financing charge equivalent to that permitted by the regulations in this part as to interest-bearing loans. The acceptance of a voluntary payment of one or more instalments prior to due date shall not be construed as increasing the maximum permissible financing charge as provided in this subparagraph. However, if the entire loan is paid in advance, the insured shall make a rebate of the entire unearned financing charge.

(4) Shall provide for such equal monthly payments by the borrower to the insured institution as will amortize the ground rents, if any, and the estimated amount of all taxes, special assessments, if any, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums within a period ending one month prior to the date on which same become delinquent. In such event the note shall further provide that such payments shall be held by the insured institution in a manner satisfactory to the Commissioner for the purpose of paying such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums before the same become delinquent for the benefit and account of the borrower and shall also make provision for adjustments in case the estimated amount of such taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums shall prove to be more or less than the actual amount thereof so paid by the borrower. If the income of the borrower is derived from the sale of agricultural crops, commodities, or livestock, payments may be seasonal as provided in subparagraph (7) of this paragraph.

(5) May provide for a late charge, to be paid by the maker, not to exceed two cents (2¢) for each dollar of each instalment more than fifteen (15) days in arrears. In lieu of late charges, notes may provide for interest on past due instalments at a rate not in excess of the contract rate in the jurisdiction in which the note is drawn. No late charge or interest on a past due instalment may be accrued in excess of five dollars ($5.00). The borrower must be billed for the penalties collected as such, and evidence of such billing must be in the file if claim is made under the contract of insurance.

(6) May not provide for a first payment less than six (6) days nor more than six (6) calendar months from the date of the note except as provided in subparagraph (7) of this paragraph and in no case shall provide for more than two hundred and forty (240) payments.

(7) May be made payable in instalments corresponding to the income periods shown on the credit application if fifty-one per centum (51%) or more of the income of the borrower is derived directly from the sale of agricultural crops, commodities, or livestock produced by him. In such cases, the first payment must be made within twelve (12) months of the date of the note and at least one (1) payment must be made during each calendar year thereafter and the proportion of total principal to be paid in later years must not exceed the proportion of total principal payment in earlier years.

(8) Shall contain a provision for acceleration of maturity, either automatic or at the option of the holder, in the event of default in the payment of any instalment.

(b) In addition to the maximum permissible financing charge which may be paid by the borrower in connection with a Class 3 loan as provided in paragraph (a) (3) of this section, the following allowable costs or expenses if incurred by the insured institution in connection with the transaction may be collected from the borrower, provided such costs or expenses are not paid from the net proceeds advanced to the borrower:

(1) Recording fees.

(2) Title examination fees.

(3) Fire and other hazard insurance premiums.

(4) An initial service charge in an amount sufficient to reimburse the insured institution for the cost of closing the transaction, Provided, That, no such service charge shall exceed two per centum (2%) of the net proceeds of the loan.

(c) The borrower may be required to pay the insured institution upon the closing of the loan a sum that will be sufficient to pay the ground rents, if any, and the estimated taxes, special assessments, and fire and other hazard insurance premiums for the period beginning on the date to which such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums were last paid and ending on the date of the first monthly payment under the loan to be held by the insured institution for the purpose of paying such ground rents, taxes, assessments, and insurance premiums before the same become delinquent for the benefit and account of the borrower.

§ 502.8 Loan procedure—(a) Property approval. Prior to beginning construction and to the disbursement of any portion of the proceeds of the loan, the borrower shall submit to the insured a description of the property and such plans and specifications as the insured may require in order for the insured to certify to the Commissioner that in its opinion the site is suitable for a home and the proposed structure when completed will not adversely affect surrounding properties. Such property description, plans and specifications shall remain a permanent part of the loan file.

(b) Appraisal. Prior to beginning construction and to the disbursement of any portion of the proceeds of the loan, the insured shall make an estimate of the value of the property, assuming completion of the proposed improvements, and determine that the requirements of § 502.3 (b) will be complied with.

(c) Commissioner's approval on properties for sale or rent. Prior to beginning construction and to the disbursement of any portion of the proceeds of the loan for any property which is intended for sale or rent, the insured shall submit to the Commissioner a request for preliminary approval of the transaction on a form prescribed by the Commissioner. The approval of the Commissioner provided for in this section shall not relieve the insured from compliance with any regulation.

(d) Progress payments. Prior to disbursing the proceeds of the loan or any portion thereof to the borrower or to a creditor for his account, the insured shall satisfy itself that the value of the work done and materials on site at the time of any progress payment, is equal to at least one hundred and ten per centum (110%) of such payment, plus all such progress payments theretofore made. The insured shall not make a disbursement or progress payment to the borrower or to a creditor for his account which would increase the total amount disbursed to a sum in excess of 80 per centum (80%) of the proceeds of the loan until it has made a final inspection of the property and has approved the work. Whenever it appears to the satisfaction of the insured that completion of the work will be temporarily delayed due to inclement weather, non-availability of material, or other reason beyond the control of the builder, it may disburse the entire balance remaining of the loan proceeds after deducting and retaining therefrom one and one-half (1½) times the amount deemed necessary to complete the work. This retained balance shall not be disbursed until after the work has been inspected and approved by the insured.

(e) Completion certificate. Prior to the final disbursement of the proceeds of the loan, the insured shall obtain a completion certificate on a form prescribed by the Commissioner which form shall bear the genuine signature of the borrower certifying that the house is complete and ready for occupancy and that the work has been performed in compliance with the requirements of § 502.4. If, after the loan is made, an insured who acted in good faith discovers any material misstatements or misuse of the proceeds of the loan by the borrower, dealer, or others, the eligibility of the note for insurance will not be affected. However, the insured shall, in all cases where the insured discovered a material misstatement in the Credit Application, or misuse of the funds, promptly report such a discovery to the Commissioner. A separate certificate shall be executed by the insured certifying that it has made a final inspection of the completed property and that the statements contained in the borrower's completion certificate are correct to the best of its knowledge and belief and that in its opinion the property improved is suitable as a residence and does not adversely affect surrounding properties.

(f) Substitution of borrowers. In the event that property covered by a loan is sold to an eligible borrower who assumes and agrees to pay the debt and whose credit is satisfactory to the insured, the seller may be released by the insured from his obligation upon notice thereof to the Commissioner, Provided, That, if the loan was secured by a first lien upon a fee simple estate, the loan, after assumption, shall be secured by a first lien on a fee simple interest in the land and building, appurtenances and improvements thereon.

(g) Loan reports. Loans shall be reported on the proper form to the Federal Housing Administration at Washington, D. C., within thirty-one (31) days of the first disbursement of any of the proceeds of the loan or the date upon which it was purchased. Any loan refinanced in accordance with § 502.9 shall be reported on the proper form within thirty-one (31) days from the date of refinancing. In any case, the Commissioner may in his discretion accept a late report.

§ 502.9 Refinancing. New obligations to liquidate loans previously reported for insurance pursuant to Title I of the act made after August 19, 1947, which may or may not include an additional amount advanced will be covered by insurance, Provided, That:

(a) They meet the requirements of all applicable regulations;

(b) They are reported to the Commissioner on the proper form within thirty-one (31) days from date of execution;

(c) They have a maturity not in excess of the maximum permitted under the regulations in this part from the date of the refinancing obligation, but not to exceed thirty (30) years from the date of the original mortgage;

(d) If the refinanced obligation was secured by a first lien upon a fee simple estate, the new obligation shall be secured by a first lien upon a fee simple interest in the land and building, appurtenances and improvements thereon.

§ 502.10 Claims. Claim for reimbursement for loss on a qualified loan shall be made as provided in this section.

(a) Default reports. If the borrower fails to make any payment or to perform any other covenant or obligation under the mortgage and such failure continues for a period of thirty (30) days, the mortgage shall be considered in default and the insured shall within sixty (60) days thereafter give notice in writing to the Commissioner of such default, and similar notices each sixty (60) days until such default is cured and notice thereof is given to the Commissioner.

(b) Foreclosure or acquisition. At any time within one year from the date of default the insured, at its election, shall either:

(1) Acquire by means other than foreclosure of the mortgage, possession of, and title to, the mortgaged property; or

(2) Commence foreclosure of the mortgage: Provided, That if the laws of the State in which the mortgaged property is situated do not permit the commencement of such foreclosure within such period of time, the insured shall commence such foreclosure within sixty (60) days after the expiration of the time during which such foreclosure is prohibited by such laws.

(3) Nothing herein contained shall be construed so as to prevent the insured, with the written consent of the Commissioner, from taking action at a later date than herein specified.

(c) Reinstatement. If after default and prior to the completion of foreclosure proceedings the borrower shall pay to the insured all monthly payments in default and such expenses as the insured shall have incurred in connection with the foreclosure proceedings, no claim for reimbursement under the Contract of Insurance can be made and the insurance shall continue as if such default had not occurred.

(d) Filing claim. If the default is not cured as aforesaid, and if the insured has otherwise complied with the provisions of this section, it may at any time within seven (7) months or such further time as may be approved by the Commissioner, after acquiring title to and possession of the mortgaged property, tender to the Commissioner possession thereof, and a deed containing a covenant which warrants against the acts of the insured and all claiming by, through, or under it, conveying good merchantable title to such property undamaged by fire, earthquake, flood, or tornado. The Commissioner shall promptly accept conveyance of such property and, subject to § 502.12, make payment of loss sustained by the insured:

(1) The net unpaid balance of advance actually made;

(2) Uncollected earned interest to the date of default and interest at the rate of three per centum (3%) per annum from the date of default to the date of the application for reimbursement of loss sustained.

(3) An amount on account of the cost of foreclosure or of acquiring the property by other means actually paid by the insured and approved by the Commissioner not in excess of two-thirds (⅔) of such cost or seventy-five (75) dollars, whichever is the greater.

(4) The amount of all payments which have been made by the insured for taxes, ground rents, special assessments, and water rates which are liens prior to the mortgage, and fire and hazard insurance premiums.

Any amount received by the insured from any source relating to the property on account of rent or other income, after deducting reasonable expenses incurred in handling the property, shall be deducted from the sum of the foregoing.

(e) Evidence of title. Evidence of title of the following types will be satisfactory to the Commissioner.

(1) A fee or owner's policy of title insurance, a guaranty or guarantee of title, or a certificate of title, issued by a title company, duly authorized by law and qualified by experience to issue such; or

(2) An abstract of title prepared by an abstract company or individual engaged in the business of preparing abstracts of title and accompanied by a legal opinion as to the quality of such title signed by an attorney at law experienced in examination of titles; or

(3) A Torrens or similar title certificate; or

(4) Evidence of title conforming to the standards of a supervising branch of the Government of the United States or of any State or Territory thereof.

Such evidence of title shall be furnished without cost to the Commissioner and shall be executed as of a date to include the recordation of the deed to the Commissioner, and shall show that, according to the public records, there are not, at such date, any outstanding prior liens, except for ground rents and taxes not due and payable and special assessments not in arrears. If the title and title evidence are such as to be acceptable to prudent lending institutions and leading attorneys generally in the community in which the property is situated, such title and title evidence will be satisfactory to the Commissioner and will be considered by him as good and merchantable.

(f) Waiver of title objections. The Commissioner will not object to the title by reason of the following matters, provided they are not such as to impair the value of the property for residence purposes:

(1) Customary easements for public utilities, party walls, driveways and other purposes; customary building or use restrictions for breach of which there is no reversion and which have not been violated to a material extent;

(2) Such restrictions when coupled with a reversionary clause, provided there has been no violation prior to the date of the deed to the Commissioner;

(3) Slight encroachments by adjoining improvements;

(4) Outstanding oil, water, or mineral rights, which do not impair the value of the property for residence purposes, or which are customarily waived by prudent lending institutions and leading attorneys generally in the community.

(g) Sale and claim for deficiency. In lieu of the procedure provided for in paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section, the insured, after acquiring title to the property as provided in this section, may at its option and with the approval of the Commissioner, sell the same in the open market to a bona fide third party at any time within six (6) months from the date of such acquisition of the property, or within such further time as may be approved by the Commissioner. The net amount received at such sale, whether in cash or deferred payments, shall be credited on the obligation and claim may be filed with the Commissioner for the balance. Payment of loss sustained by the insured shall be made as follows:

(1) The net unpaid balance of the advance actually made. In calculating the net unpaid amount, the net sale price must be included as a credit.

(2) Uncollected earned interest to the date of default and interest at the rate of three per centum (3%) per annum from the date of default to the date of the application for reimbursement of loss sustained.

(3) An amount on account of the cost of foreclosure or of acquiring the property by other means actually paid by the insured and approved by the Commissioner not in excess of two-thirds (⅔) of such cost or seventy-five (75) dollars, whichever is the greater.

(4) The amount of all payments which have been made by the insured for taxes, ground rents, special assessments, water rates which are liens prior to the mortgage, fire and hazard insurance premiums, and cost of maintenance and repair of the property. (Claim for the cost of maintenance and repair shall not exceed ten per centum (10%) of the net unpaid balance of the advance actually made unless prior approval of the Commissioner has been obtained.) Any amount received by the insured from any source relating to the property on account of rent or other income shall be deducted from the sum of the items referred to in this paragraph.

§ 502.11 Insurance charge — (a) Rate. The insured shall pay to the Administration an annual insurance charge equal to one-half of one per centum of the original principal amount of any loans reported for insurance.

(b) When payable. The first annual insurance charge so calculated shall be paid by check or draft to the order of the Federal Housing Administration within twenty-five (25) days after the date the Administration acknowledges receipt to the insured of the report of any such loan and the next and each succeeding annual insurance charge shall be paid in advance upon the anniversary of the first day of the month following the date of the mortgage until the loan is paid in full or claim is filed with the Commissioner under the Contract of insurance.

(c) Mortgages paid in full. In the event the loan is paid in full prior to maturity or is foreclosed or the possession of and title to the property is otherwise acquired by the insured, the insured shall within thirty (30) days thereafter notify the Commissioner of the date of prepayment, foreclosure, or acquisition, after which its obligation to pay future annual insurance charges in connection therewith shall cease but it shall not be entitled to a refund of any portion of an annual insurance charge previously paid or a reduction in the amount of any insurance charge, which fell due prior to such prepayment, foreclosure, or acquisition of the property.

(d) Refinancing. When the proceeds of any loan are used to liquidate a loan previously reported for insurance, there shall be deducted from the amount of the insurance charge payable the first year the prorata share of the annual insurance charge paid on the original obligation.

(e) Transfer of mortgages. An insured who purchases a mortgage previously reported for insurance shall pay each succeeding annual insurance charge as provided in paragraph (b) of this section. Any adjustment of the insurance charge paid in advance by the seller shall be made between the purchaser and the seller.

(f) Payment of insurance charge. Subject to the other provisions of the regulations in this part, the insurance granted under Title I of the National Housing Act, as amended, shall be effective with respect to any loan from the date of the report thereof to the Commissioner Provided, That the insurance charge with respect to such loan is paid as required by this section.

§ 502.12 Insurance reserve—(a) Legal limit. Subject to the limitation on the total liability which may be outstanding at any time as stipulated in section 2 of Title I of the act, the Commissioner, in accordance with § 502.10 (d) and (g), will reimburse any insured for losses sustained by it up to a total aggregate amount equal to ten per centum (10%) of the total amount advanced on all eligible loans made by it on and after July 1, 1947, and prior to July 1, 1949, and reported for insurance during the time its contract of insurance is in force.

(b) General insurance reserve. There shall be established for each insured a general insurance reserve equal to ten per centum (10%) of the aggregate amount advanced on all loans originated by it on and after July 1, 1947, and prior to July 1, 1949, pursuant to the provisions of both Part 501 and Part 502.

(c) Transfer of loans reported for insurance. The insured shall not assign or otherwise transfer any loan reported for insurance to a transferee not holding a Contract of Insurance under Title I of the National Housing Act, Provided, That nothing contained herein shall be construed to prevent the pledging of such loans as collateral security under a trust agreement, or otherwise, in connection with a bona fide loan transaction.

(d) Transfer of insurance reserve. Insurance reserve of more than $5,000 shall not be transferred to or from the reserve account of any insured during any fiscal year (July 1 through June 30) without the prior approval of the Commissioner. Except in cases involving the transfer of loans sold with recourse or under a guaranty, guarantee, or repurchase agreement, the reports required by § 502.8 shall be submitted, indicating the intent of the parties with respect to the transfer of the insurance reserve and unless the approval of the Commissioner is obtained, the insurance reserve shall be transferred as follows:

(1) In cases involving the transfer of notes purchased without recourse, guaranty, guarantee, or repurchase agreement, provided no instalment payment is past due more than one (1) calendar month at the time of purchase, the insurance reserve shall be transferred to the general insurance reserve of the purchasing institution on the basis of ten per centum (10%) of the actual purchase price or net unpaid original advance, whichever is the lesser.

(2) In cases involving the transfer of notes sold with recourse or under a guaranty, guarantee, or repurchase agreement, no insurance reserve will be transferred and no reports will be required.

(e) FHA recovery shall not affect reserve. Amounts which may be salvaged by the Commissioner with respect to a loan in connection with which an insured has been reimbursed under its contract of insurance shall not be added to the insurance reserve remaining to the credit of such insured.

(f) Conversion of mortgages. If at any time a Class 3 loan previously reported for insurance is converted into an insured mortgage under the provisions of another title of the act, upon report of the conversion to the Commissioner, there shall be deducted from the insurance reserve outstanding to the credit of the insured an amount equal to ten per centum (10%) of the net unpaid principal of the loan as of the date of the conversion.

§ 502.13 Administrative reports and examination. The Commissioner, in his discretion, may at any time or from time to time call for a report from any institution on the delinquency status of the obligations held by such institution and reported for insurance, or call for such reports as he may deem to be necessary in connection with the regulations in this part, or he or his authorized representative may inspect the books or accounts of the lending institution as they pertain to the loans reported for insurance.

NOTE: The amendments contained herein are effective as to all loans made on or after August 19, 1947, and shall have the same force and effect as if included in and made a part of each contract of insurance.

Issued at Washington, D. C., August 19, 1947.

FRANKLIN D. RICHARDS,
Federal Housing Commissioner.

Chapter VIII—Office of Housing Expediter

PART 825—RENT REGULATIONS UNDER THE HOUSING AND RENT ACT OF 1947

CONTROLLED HOUSING RENT REGULATIONS [1]

1. Section 1 is amended by adding the following definition after the definition of "Rent Director":

In addition such foreign air carriers shall comply with the certification and operation rules for scheduled air carrier operations outside the continental limits of the United States, and the general operations rules governing the operation of civil aircraft in the United States, as such rules may be amended from time to time: Provided, however, That nothing in this section is intended or shall operate to modify either § 5.32 (12 F. R. 900), relative to aircraft registration and airworthiness, or §§ 5.33 to 5.35 (idem), relative to the competency and qualification of airmen.

§ 5.305 Dispatchers: requirement. Each air carrier and foreign air carrier operating aircraft into, within, or from the Canal Zone Military Airspace Reservation shall provide at least one aircraft dispatcher for service in the Canal Zone.

§ 5.306 Same: hours of duty. The following rules shall govern the hours of duty for authorized dispatchers of aircraft within the Canal Zone:

(a) No dispatcher shall be on duty as such for more than ten consecutive hours.

(b) If a dispatcher is scheduled to be on duty as such for more than ten hours in a period of twenty-four consecutive hours, he shall be given a rest period of not less than eight hours at or before the termination of ten hours of dispatcher duty except in emergencies due to illness or unavoidable absence of a dispatcher due to weather during a qualification trip or other circumstances beyond the control of the air carrier or foreign air carrier.

(c) Relief from all duty with the air carrier or foreign air carrier for not less than twenty-four hours shall be provided for and given each dispatcher at least once during any consecutive seven days, or equivalent thereto within one calendar month.

§ 5.307 Clearances and load manifest. A clearance form shall be properly prepared and signed by the first pilot and an authorized dispatcher for each scheduled air carrier and foreign air carrier flight made from the Canal Zone Military Airspace Reservation. Such form shall be signed only when the first pilot and the dispatcher both believe the flight may be made with safety. A load manifest form shall be properly prepared and signed for each flight by the personnel of the air carrier or foreign air carrier who are charged with the duty of supervising the loading of the aircraft and the preparation of the load manifest forms. The aircraft when loaded as shown on the load manifest form shall not exceed the center of gravity limits or maximum allowable weight limits set forth in the aircraft certificate for the particular aircraft. The original copies of both forms shall be given to the first pilot and duplicate copies shall be kept in the station file for a period of at least thirty days.

The clearance shall contain or have attached thereto all current weather reports over the airway or on-call weather reports considered necessary or desirable by the pilot or dispatcher to insure the safety of the flight. It shall also contain, when available, the latest terminal and airway forecasts and shall be considered by the dispatcher responsible and first pilot before clearance. The dispatcher shall attach or enter all current reports or information pertaining to weather and irregularities of navigational aids, radio facilities, aircraft instruments and radio equipment affecting the flight. He shall also inform the pilot, during flight, of any additional or different irregularities and the flight shall be controlled accordingly.

MODEL AIRCRAFT

VIOLATIONS AND ENFORCEMENT

§ 5.501 Waiver of regulations. The Governor may, in his discretion, waive any of the requirements of the regulations in this subpart when special circumstances exist which are deemed to justify such waiver.

§ 5.502 Punishment of violations. Any person who shall, within the Canal Zone or the Canal Zone Military Airspace Reservation, violate any of the provisions of this subpart, shall be punishable as provided in section 14 of Title 2 of the Canal Zone Code, as added by section 1 of the act of July 9, 1937, 50 Stat. 486 (48 U. PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Immigration and Naturalization Service

[8 CFR, Part 116; 19 CFR, Part 6; 42 CFR, Part 11]

EXAMINATION IN HAWAII OF AIRCRAFT PASSENGERS AND CREW MEMBERS PROCEEDING TO THE MAINLAND

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

AUGUST 21, 1947.

Pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. C., Sup., 1003), notice is hereby given of the proposed issuance by the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Commissioner of Customs, the Surgeon General, and the Federal Security Administrator of the following rule. In accordance with paragraph (b) of the said section 4, interested persons may submit to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Room 1806, Franklin Trust Building, Philadelphia 2, Pennsylvania, written data, views, or arguments relative to the substantive provisions of the proposed rule. Such representations may not be presented orally in any manner. All relevant material received within 20 days following the day of publication of this notice will be considered.

It is proposed to amend Titles 8, 19, and 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations as follows:

1. Section 116.9, Documents for clearance, of Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, also designated as § 6.9 of Title 19 and § 11.509 of Title 42, is amended by adding paragraph (f) as follows:

(f) If the aircraft is to proceed from Hawaii directly to the mainland, the immigration examination of passengers and crew and final determination of their admissibility to the mainland shall be completed before they depart for the mainland. With respect to passengers who are found to be United States citizens through primary inspection, by boards of special inquiry, or through appeal proceedings from the decisions of such boards, or who are by any such procedures found to be aliens admissible to the mainland, the special procedure shall be as follows:

(1) The general declaration and the air passenger manifests, as required by this section for immigration purposes, shall be in triplicate and shall be delivered by the aircraft commander to the immigration officer in charge in Hawaii.

(2) Each copy of the air passenger manifest shall be endorsed and signed by such officer in Hawaii to show which passengers are admissible as citizens of the United States and which passengers are admissible as aliens.

(3) One copy of the general declaration and of each air passenger manifest shall be returned by the immigration officer in Hawaii to the aircraft commander with the signed endorsement that the passengers who are departing on the aircraft for the mainland are correctly listed. The immigration officer in Hawaii shall verify that the passengers, as listed on the manifest, depart on the aircraft.

(4) One copy of the general declaration and one copy of each air passenger manifest shall be forwarded by the immigration officer in Hawaii by mail to the district director of immigration and naturalization of the district which embraces the airport to which the manifest states the aircraft is destined in the mainland.

(5) One copy of the general declaration and of each air passenger manifest shall be retained by such immigration officer in Hawaii.

(6) Upon arrival in the mainland, the copy of the general declaration and of each air passenger manifest that was returned to the commander by the immigration officer in Hawaii shall be endorsed and signed by the commander to show the place and date of arrival on the mainland. Such copies shall then be transmitted immediately by him to the district director of immigration and naturalization of the district which embraces the place at which the aircraft first lands in the mainland. Such copies and the copies sent by the immigration officer in Hawaii shall be compared to verify that they are in agreement. The place and date of arrival on the mainland shall be the record port and date of arrival for immigration purposes in the cases of aliens not admitted to the mainland for permanent residence. In the cases of all other aliens admitted at Hawaii, the place and date of arrival there shall be the record port and date of arrival for immigration purposes.

(7) No alien shall be brought from Hawaii to the mainland unless found by the immigration authorities in Hawaii to be admissible to the United States (the mainland). Where a passenger makes a substantial claim to United States citizenship which it is impracticable to determine in Hawaii, and the passenger desires to proceed by air to the mainland he may be permitted by the immigration officer in charge in Hawaii to do so, subject to inspection and decision as to his status upon arrival in the mainland. In such case, copies of the general declaration and passenger manifest shall be furnished as prescribed in paragraph (e) of this section. In the case of such passengers, the aircraft commander shall notify the immigration officer at or nearest the place of intended first landing on the mainland sufficiently in advance of arrival there for an immigrant inspector to meet the aircraft for the purpose of inspecting the passengers upon arrival there.

(8) Airmen serving on aircraft arriving from outside the United States and intending to proceed from Hawaii to the mainland will be inspected in Hawaii by the immigration authorities there, and any period of airport leave granted there to alien airmen will apply also to the mainland. Airmen serving on an aircraft arriving in the mainland directly from Hawaii will be presumed to have been found in Hawaii to be United States citizens or alien airmen entitled to usual airport leave, except in such cases as the district director of immigration and naturalization for the district embracing the place to which the aircraft is destined to the mainland is informed to the contrary by the immigration officer in charge in Hawaii. The information shall be furnished sufficiently in advance of the arrival of the aircraft in the mainland for an immigrant inspector to meet the aircraft. The place and date of arrival in Hawaii of an alien admitted there as an airman shall be the record port and date of arrival for immigration purposes.

(9) On Sundays and legal holidays and between 5 p. m. on any day and 8 a. m. on the following day, the immigration of inspection of passengers beginning a trip in Hawaii by aircraft to the mainland shall be paid for at the extra rates of compensation, respectively, prescribed by the act of March 2, 1931, as amended (8 U. S. C. 109a, 109b). The extra compensation shall be borne by the owner, operator, or agent of the aircraft and be paid in accordance with the regulations now in force under that act as amended or hereafter promulgated thereunder. For the purposes of this paragraph, verifying the departure of passengers by aircraft from Hawaii to the mainland is immigration inspection.

[7 CFR, Ch. IX]

[Docket No. AO-185]

HANDLING OF IRISH POTATOES IN EASTERN SOUTH DAKOTA PRODUCTION AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR, Supp., 900.1 et seq.; 11 F. R. 7737; 12 F. R. 1159), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed marketing order regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the Eastern South Dakota production area, to be made effective pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). Interested parties may file exceptions to this recommended decision with the Hearing Clerk, Room 0308, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business on the tenth day after publication of this recommended decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the proposed marketing agreement and marketing order were formulated, was held at Watertown, South Dakota, on June 19 and June 20, 1947, pursuant to notice thereof, containing a proposed marketing agreement and order sponsored by the South Dakota Potato Growers' Association with changes, additions, and substitutions proposed by the Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 4, 1947 (12 F. R. 3632). The presiding officer at the hearing permitted the filing of written arguments and briefs on the evidence until July 1, 1947. The proposed marketing agreement and order were designed with the objectives of accomplishing the declared purposes of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

The material issues presented on the record of the hearing were:

(1) The desirability of an economic justification for entering into an agreement and the issuing of an order for the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the Eastern South Dakota production area.

(2) The necessity to define and the equitable scope of definitions for "Secretary", "act", "persons", "production area", "potatoes", "handler", "ship", "producer", "fiscal year", "committee", "varieties", "seed potatoes", and "table stock potatoes".

(3) The necessity for administering the marketing agreement and order through an administrative committee and the equitable nature of provisions pertaining to its (a) establishment and membership, (b) initial committee, (c) term of office, (d) nominations, (e) voting, (f) districts, (g) selection and qualification of members, (h) vacancies, (i) obligations, (j) alternate members, (k) procedure, (l) members' expenses and compensation, (m) powers, and (n) duties.

(4) Necessity for the authorization of the committee to incur expenses necessary for its operation and the necessity for provision to raise funds to defray such expenses through levying of assessments, by equitable distribution of such levies on handlers.

(5) Necessity to account for funds received from assessments, with distribution of excess receipts among handlers on the basis of their equitable interest therein, and necessity for provisions permitting the committee to maintain suits for collection of assessments.

(6) The necessity for the regulation of Irish potato shipments and the necessity of and equitable nature of provisions providing that (a) the committee shall prepare and submit to the Secretary a report outlining its proposed marketing policy at the beginning of each fiscal year; (b) the committee shall have the duty to investigate supply and demand conditions for grade, size, and quality of Irish potatoes of all varieties and whenever it finds that such conditions make it advisable to regulate the shipments of particular grade, size, and quality of potatoes of any or all varieties during any period, it shall recommend to the Secretary the particular grade, size, and quality of any or all varieties of potatoes deemed advisable to be shipped during such period; (c) the committee shall consider certain relevant factors, including potato prices by grade, size, and quality, supplies from the producing area, competing supplies, demand for potatoes, and other relevant factors; (d) the Secretary shall limit the shipment of potatoes from the production area whenever he finds, from the recommendations and data submitted by the committee or from other information, that to do so would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended; (e) whenever shipments are regulated under the agreement or order each handler shall cause such shipment or shipments to be inspected by an authorized representative of the Federal-State Inspection Service and, further, shall cause a copy of the inspection certificate to be submitted to the committee; (f) exemption of shipments shall be provided, through appropriate procedural rules, whereby any producer who is unable to ship as large a proportion of his potatoes, by reason of a regulation, as the average of all producers in the production area so that such producer will be permitted to ship as large a proportion of his potatoes as the average of all producers; appeals from the action of the committee in handling applications by producers for exemption are allowed, subject to the right of the Secretary to modify, change, alter, or rescind any procedural rules or any exemptions granted pursuant thereto; records shall be maintained by the committee and a weekly report furnished to the Secretary showing the applications for exemptions received, exemptions granted, exceptions denied, and shipments made under exemption.

(7) The necessity for the regulation of surplus Irish potatoes and the necessity for the equitable nature of provisions providing that (a) the committee, whenever it finds that a surplus of Irish potatoes exists, shall determine the extent of such surplus and recommend to the Secretary the control and disposition of such surplus and, (b), whenever the Secretary finds from recommendations and information supplied by the committee or from other information that the control and disposition of surplus will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall control and dispose of such surplus potatoes and shall further provide for equalizing the burden of such surplus elimination and control among producers and handlers and, (c), the committee is authorized to enter into contracts or agreements with any person, agency, or organization, for the purpose of facilitating the disposition of surplus potatoes and, (d), the Secretary may designate the committee to assist in carrying out any program of surplus regulation.

(8) The necessity for and equitable nature of provisions providing for exemption from regulation of: (a) Potatoes shipped for consumption by charitable institutions or for distribution by relief agencies, (b) potatoes shipped for manufacturing or conversion into by-products, and, (c), upon the recommendation of the committee, potatoes shipped for livestock feed or for other specified purposes.

(9) The necessity for and equitable nature of the provisions of sections 7 through 19, inclusive, as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 4, 1947 (12 FR 3632), which are common to marketing agreements and orders, and which sections provide for: 7. Reports; 8. Compliance; 9. Right of the Secretary; 10. Effective time and termination; 11. Effect of termination or amendment; 12. Duration of immunities; 13. Agents; 14. Derogation; 15. Personal liability; 16. Separability; 17. Amendment; 18. Counterparts; 19. Order with marketing agreement.

Findings and conclusions. (a) Certain terms, applying to specific individuals, agencies, legislation, concepts, or things, are used throughout the proposed marketing agreement and order. These terms should be defined for the purpose of specifically designating their applicability and establishing appropriate limitations to their meaning wherever they are used in the proposal and to preclude the burdensome necessity of redefining them when they are later used in the proposed marketing agreement and order. These definitions are necessary and incidental to the operation of the marketing agreement (hereinafter called the agreement) and order and for the effectuation of the declared purposes of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter called "act".) The definitions, "Secretary", "act", "persons", "potatoes", "producer", "fiscal year", and "varieties", as contained in the Growers' proposal set forth in the notice of hearing, were not in controversy at the hearing and are similar to or identical with definitions used in other similar marketing agreements and orders. Evidence at the hearing shows that these definitions are self evident, due to their source, or they are commonly accepted by growers, shippers, and other interested parties in the potato industry of Eastern South Dakota. They should be defined as they are shown in the notice of hearing.

(b) The "Production area" should be defined to include the counties of Codington, Clark, Hamlin, Deuel, Brown, Day, and Kingsbury in the State of South Dakota, as proposed by the South Dakota Potato Growers' Association. These counties include the bulk of commercial Irish potato production in Eastern South Dakota, and production conditions therein are relatively homogeneous. Commercial production in other counties in South Dakota east of the Missouri River, is relatively small or non-existent, as compared with production in these seven counties. It would be impractical to attempt regulation of shipments of Irish potatoes grown in such other counties due to the excessive cost of adequate inspection and other administrative expenses. The seven counties named comprise the smallest practical production area in Eastern South Dakota, and the "production area" should, therefore, be defined to include only such counties. The definition is necessary to and must be incorporated in the marketing agreement and order for the general reasons set forth under (a) above, and because it it necessary to delineate the area from which the handling of Irish potatoes is to be regulated.

(c) A definition of "handler" should be incorporated in the marketing agreement and order because the burden of regulation falls on handlers. Such definition is necessary for the general reasons set forth in (a) above, and it should include terminology bringing all persons, otherwise defined in the marketing agreement and order, shipping Irish potatoes in the form in which they are extracted from the soil, except persons acting as more transporting agents of handlers, within the ambit of the definition. Such exception in the production area should be limited to contract and common carriers because they perform such transportation function at either a "flat job rate" or on the basis of a "rate per ton-mile" and neither of such carriers have a proprietary interest in the commodity moved. The definition should be linked with shipment of Irish potatoes because the program is predicated on the regulation of shipments in interstate commerce or shipments directly burdening, obstructing, or affecting such commerce. Producers who ship potatoes of their own production should be handlers under the definition because they have a proprietary interest in the commodity moved and because they are performing a marketing function in effecting such shipments. Handler should, therefore, be defined as set forth in the notice of hearing with an additional exception to cover contract carriers.

(d) A definition of "ship" and "handle" is incorporated in the marketing agreement and order for the general reasons set forth in (a) above, and to indicate the activity of handlers which will be regulated. Evidence introduced at the hearing indicated that all shipment or handling of Irish potatoes grown in the production area either entered the current of interstate or foreign commerce or that such shipment or handling directly burdened, obstructed or affected such commerce, and that regulation of all shipment or handling, which terms are synonymous for the purposes of the definition, of such potatoes will simplify enforcement problems under the marketing agreement and order. The incorporation of this definition in the marketing agreement and order is necessary and incidental to accomplish the declared purposes of the act. The definition set forth in the notice of hearing should, therefore, be amended as herein indicated and as hereinafter set forth.

(e) The South Dakota Potato Committee means the administrative body which acts as the agent of the Secretary and represents producers in the operation of the marketing agreement and order. Such committees are authorized by the act and they are necessary and incidental to operation of the marketing agreement and order and to effectuate the declared purposes of such act. The designation "South Dakota Potato Committee" is sufficiently distinctive to prevent confusion with other existing or possible administrative bodies. This definition is incorporated in the marketing agreement and order for the general reasons enumerated in (a) above, as well as for the reasons herein set forth. The definition should, therefore, be as set forth in the notice of hearing after deletion of the superfluous words "North Eastern".

(f) "Seed potatoes" and "table stock potatoes" should be defined in the marketing agreement and order because the marketing agreement and order proposes to regulate, under certain circumstances, differently for each type. Seed potatoes achieve their identity in South Dakota, upon being certified, tagged, marked or otherwise appropriately identified by the State Seed Certification Board of South Dakota, or its legal successors. Special regulation of seed potatoes is justified because of extra production cost attaching thereto, because of general superiority of product, because of limited production, and because they may be and frequently are consumed as table stock potatoes. Table stock potatoes involve the antithesis of the factors justifying different regulation for seed potatoes, and the definition of table stock potatoes should include all Irish potatoes not certified as seed potatoes. The definition of seed potatoes in the marketing agreement and order should be as set forth in the notice of hearing, as modified to correctly identify the State seed certifying agency. The definition of table stock potatoes should be incorporated in the marketing agreement and order to include all potatoes not covered by the definition of seed potatoes.

(g) The "South Dakota Potato Committee" (hereinafter called "committee"), consisting of seven producer members, should be established to act as the agent of the Secretary and as an agency representing producers in the operation of the marketing agreement and order to effectuate the declared purposes of the act. There should be an alternate member for each member of the committee in order to provide continuity of operation in case of vacancies. Seven members will provide adequate and fair representation on both a geographic and a production basis.

Initial members of the committee should be selected by the Secretary for a term of office ending June 30, 1948, and until their successors are selected and qualified. Selections of initial members of the committee may be made from lists of nominees supplied by producer groups or associations operating in and representative of producers in the producing area. If successors have not been selected, or if selectees have not qualified by the end of the current fiscal period, the initial members should continue to function until their successors have been selected and have qualified in order to provide continuity of operations.

The term of office of members and alternates of the committee, except for the initial members, should be on the basis of fiscal periods, i. e., beginning on the first day of July and continuing until the following June 30.

Nominations for committee membership, except for initial members and their alternates, should be determined by producers' elections at assembled meetings in each district or by producers voting by mail in each district. The committee should determine the most desirable and convenient method, aforesaid, of electing nominees for each district. The committee should appoint appropriate officials to conduct such elections. The committee should provide ample notice of their determinations as to manner of voting in each district by using newspapers, mail, and other means of communication. The committee should provide forms by June 10 of each year on which producers may list their choices. Lists of nominees, certified by appropriate election officials, should be forwarded via the committee to the Secretary by June 15 of each year. Election by assembled meeting of producers is considered the preferable form for naming nominees but mail voting for nominees is also necessary and incidental to proper operation of the marketing agreement or order under circumstances which preclude the possibility of producers conveniently attending assembled meetings. Producers' assembled meetings in each district should be conducted under the supervision of a chairman and a secretary designated by the committee and in accordance with Roberts' Rules of Order. When mail voting is used, the committee should check voters, identified by name and address on envelopes containing ballots against a producers eligibility registry.

Each producer should be eligible to cast one vote for each of the designated number of nominees in the district in which he qualifies as a producer. Votes should not be cumulated for any one nominee. A person qualifying as a producer in more than one district should elect the district in which he chooses to exercise his voting rights.

The production area, as proposed by the South Dakota Potato Growers' Association, is divided into four geographic districts for election and administrative purposes. Respective districts are comprised of the following counties: District No. 1—Codington and Deuel Counties; District No. 2—Clark County; District No. 3—Hamlin and Kingsbury Counties; and District No. 4—Brown and Day Counties. A fifth district, as proposed by the Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, and comprising an additional 37 counties or the remainder of the State of South Dakota east of the Missouri River, is not considered a desirable and practical addition to the growers' proposal. As such 37 counties are not included in the production area for the reasons set forth in (b) above, there is no necessity for establishment of such fifth district.

Representation on the committee is apportioned according to districts. Two members shall be from District No. 1, three members from District No. 2, and one member each from Districts 3 and 4. This committee representation, with respective alternates, will provide adequate and equitable representation on a geographic and production basis. Seven committee members, with representation from each district and with procedural rules requiring that four members must be present to constitute a quorum and that four members must concur in their voting to validate any committee action, provides a committee of sufficient size to give adequate representation to producers, to maintain a committee of practical workable size, and to provide assurance that committee actions reflect the will of at least a majority of the producers' representatives. Two nominees should be presented by producers for each position as committee member and for each position as alternate member, in order for the Secretary to have a choice in exercising his selection of representatives. If nominations for committee members and alternates are not supplied to the Secretary by June 15 of each year, the Secretary should be allowed to select members without regard to nominations and such selections should be on the basis of the aforesaid representation from each district. Any person who is selected by the Secretary as a member or as an alternate member of the committee should qualify by filing a written acceptance with the Secretary within ten days after being notified of such selection.

Authority to fill any vacancy in the committee membership, or among alternates, should be retained by the Secretary in order to maintain continuity of operation which are necessary and incidental to the administration of the marketing agreement and order and for the effectuation of the declared purposes of the act.

Any person, who is either a member or alternate committee member, who vacates his membership or alternate membership for any reason, should account for all receipts and disbursements which have come into his possession as such member or alternate and such vacating member or alternate should deliver all property, including funds, books, records, etc., to his successor or to a trustee designated by the Secretary. Such vacating member should execute an assignment and other instruments as may be necessary or appropriate to vest in such successor or trustee full title to all of the property, funds, and claims vested in such vacating member.

An alternate member should be authorized to act in the place and stead of the member for whom he is alternate during such member's temporary absence. Continuity of operation of the marketing agreement and order on a representative basis is better assured by such authorization. Similarly, an alternate should be authorized to act in a member's absence when such absence is due to death, removal, resignation, or disqualification of the member. Such authorization should provide that the alternate can act in place and stead of the member for whom he was alternate until a successor for the member has been selected and has qualified.

It is necessary and incidental to the operation of the marketing agreement and order and the effectuation of the purposes of the act that the committee should be authorized to provide for meetings by telephone, telegraph, or other means of communication. Any vote by members at such disassembled meetings should be promptly confirmed in writing. In any assembled meeting all votes should be cast in person.

The necessary expenses of committee members should be provided when they are acting on committee business. A per diem compensation of not to exceed $5.00 for each day spent in attendance at committee meetings should be allowed.

The powers of the committee, as authorized by the act, namely, to administer the marketing agreement and order, to make necessary rules and regulations to effectuate the terms and provisions of the marketing agreement and order, to receive, investigate, and report to the Secretary complaints of violations of the provisions of the marketing agreement or order, and to recommend amendments should be granted to the South Dakota Potato Committee.

Duties, as outlined in the notice of hearing, should be given to the committee. These duties, namely: (1) To act as intermediary between the Secretary and any producer or handler; (2) to keep minutes, books, and records reflecting all acts and transactions of the committee, which shall be subject to examination at any time by the Secretary; (3) to investigate the growing, shipping, and marketing conditions for potatoes and to assemble data thereon; (4) to furnish the Secretary such available information as he may request; (5) to select a chairman and such other officer as may be necessary, and to adopt such rules and regulations for conduct of its business as it may deem advisable; (6) to submit a budget of its expenses, with report thereon, at the beginning of each fiscal year; (7) to have the committee's books audited at least each year and to furnish a copy of such audit to the Secretary; (8) to appoint such employees, agents, and representatives as it may deem necessary, and to determine the salary and define the duties of each such person, and (9) to confer with other marketing agreement and order committees in other states and areas, are necessary and incidental to the operation of the committee under the marketing agreement and order and for the effectuation of the declared purposes of the act.

All of the findings hereinbefore set forth under (g), are predicated on evidence introduced at the hearing on proposals contained in the notice of hearing and proposed by the Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, and the South Dakota Potato Growers Association. No evidence was introduced in favor of a portion of the administrative body proposal of the association and witnesses testified that the substitute proposals of the Fruit and Vegetable Branch were more complete and adequate to attain the desired objectives, than the portion of the association's administrative body proposal on which no evidence was presented at the hearing. Marketing agreement and order provisions hereinafter set forth will provide for expeditious establishment of, orderly and continuous operation of, and equitable representation of producers on the administrative body which will be the agency through which the Secretary will perform his administrative duties under the act in connection with such marketing agreement and order, all of which objectives are contemplated by the aforesaid evidence and the act. Handler representation on the administrative body is accomplished, despite the absence of reference thereto or specific provision therefor, through the fact that all handlers in the production area are also producers. Marketing agreement and order provisions to establish and provide for the continuous operation of an administrative body in an orderly, efficient and equitable manner should be as hereinafter set forth.

(h) The operation of the committee and of the marketing agreement and order necessitates funds for payment of necessary administrative expenses. It is necessary and appropriate that such expenses should be incurred under direction of the committee and that assessments should be levied against the movement of Irish potatoes to market in order to meet such expenses. Assessments should be levied against the first handler of potatoes. Assessments should be based on each handler's pro rata share of the expenses incurred by the committee. Pro rata shares should be determined by the proportion of the total crop which each handler ships. In making such pro rata shares of expenses effective on handlers, the budget of expense and revenue should recommend a rate of assessment against shipments which the Secretary can consider and, if he approves, fix as the rate per given unit of shipment which handlers must pay. The Secretary should be authorized to increase the rate of assessments which handlers should pay for a season if it is found during the course of a given season that the then current rate of assessments is insufficient to cover expenses. Handlers should be authorized to make advance payments to the committee if they wish to accommodate the committee in such manner.

If revenues collected through assessments are in excess of expenses at the end of any fiscal year, such proportionate excess shall be credited to individual handlers in accordance with the payments they have made on assessments. If any handler who has a proportionate refund due him so demands, such refund should be effected.

The committee should be authorized to maintain, with the approval of the Secretary, suits in its own name, or in the name of its members, against any handler for collection of such handler's pro rata share of the committee's expense.

Assessment provisions of the marketing agreement and order should be as hereinafter set forth to conform with the evidence introduced at the hearing, to provide necessary funds to defray the costs of administering the marketing agreement and order, to equitably distribute operating costs of the program against all handlers regulated, and to prevent any possible abuse of assessment prerogatives.

(i) Regulation of shipments of Irish potatoes grown in the production area should provide a method to limit such shipments by grade, size and quality of any or all varieties of both table stock and seed potatoes during any marketing season for South Dakota Irish potatoes when the prices to farmers therefor give such potatoes a purchasing power with respect to articles that farmers buy equal to or less than the purchasing power of such potatoes during the base period provided by the act. Evidence introduced at the hearing delineated marketing agreement and order provisions, to provide a method of accomplishing such regulation under the aforesaid circumstances, which provisions should be as hereinafter set forth.

Irish seed potato regulation should be and is authorized on a different basis under particular circumstances than table stock Irish potato regulation because the former can be and is frequently substituted for the latter by the consumer and because of different factors entering into the production and marketing of the former. Such different regulation should be and is predicated on an annual marketing policy or an amended marketing policy adopted by the committee, published and thereafter submitted to the Secretary. The method provided for the institution of such different regulations requires the committee to submit specific recommendations and information to the Secretary to justify the proposed action, and specific regulations will thereafter be issued by the Secretary on the basis of the recommendations and information submitted or on the basis of other information available to the Secretary, providing that such regulations will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

The committee, in arriving at a basis for its recommendations to the Secretary with respect to regulations, should give consideration to various relevant marketing and production factors, such as market prices of Irish potatoes, including prices by grade, size, and quality of any and all varieties recommended for regulation; Irish potato supplies on hand in markets, supplies en route to markets, and supplies on track in markets; available supply, quality, and condition of Irish potatoes in the production area; supplies of Irish potatoes from competing areas and regions; the trend and level of consumer income, and other relevant factors.

Authority should be and is established in the marketing agreement and order, hereinafter set forth, for applying any specific regulation to any variety or varieties of potatoes, and for applying different regulations for different varieties during any period, and for applying different regulations during any period to table stock, on the one hand, and to seed potatoes, on the other hand, and for applying regulations to any variety or varieties of table stock or seed potatoes without applying it to any other specific variety or varieties of seed potatoes or of table stock potatoes as facts warrant. The Secretary should notify the committee of any regulations issued under this general provision and the committee should give adequate notice thereof to producers and handlers.

It is necessary for the operation of regulations under the marketing agreement and order for the committee and for the Secretary to have evidence which will show either compliance or noncompliance by handlers with the terms of the regulations. Evidence may be readily supplied by means of Federal-State Inspection Certificates. Inspections which representatives of the Federal-State Inspection Service offer and the certificates of inspection which they issue are commonly recognized throughout the production area, and in all domestic markets, as authoritative evidence of the subject product's definitive characteristics. Handlers should be required to have their shipments of Irish potatoes inspected before they are shipped so that authoritative evidence relating to characteristics of potatoes in such shipment will be available to the committee and to the Secretary. Each handler should be required to submit to the committee a copy of the inspection certificate issued upon such handlers' Irish potato shipments grown in the production area during any period of regulation. Reasonably prompt Federal-State Inspection can be accomplished at all points in the production area for reasonable fees.

The committee should provide rules and regulations for the issuance of exemption certificates to producers. In order to provide equity among growers in so far as the effects of any given regulation or set of regulations are concerned, it may be necessary to allow some producer or producers to ship some Irish potatoes which are otherwise prohibited by the regulations. The committee should be empowered to issue, with the approval of the Secretary, rules and regulations pursuant to which exemption certificates shall be issued. The committee should issue certificates of exemption whenever a producer, because of regulation, is unable to ship as large a portion of his crop as the average of all producers. If any producer is dissatisfied with the action of the committee in handling his application for exemption, he should have the right of appeal to the committee for a re-examination of his application. The committee should be empowered to ask the producer for additional information upon which he based his appeal. The committee should be required to re-examine the application for an exemption certificate and to make a final determination with respect thereto. The committee should be required to promptly notify the appellant and should be required also to promptly furnish a copy of the appeal, with a copy of the final determination, to the Secretary. As an equitable matter, the Secretary should have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any procedural rules and regulations relating to exemptions and any exemption certificates granted or denied. The committee should be required to maintain current records with respect to applications for exemptions from the regulations and it should be required to furnish the Secretary with a weekly report showing the number of applications received, the disposition of such applications, and the shipments made under exemption certificates.

(j) One of the duties which should be and is required of the committee under the marketing agreement and order is to investigate supply of and demand for Irish potatoes in the production area and in the area in which Irish potatoes from the production area are marketed. Whenever the committee finds that the relationship of the supply of Irish potatoes to the demand for such potatoes, as reflected by producers' prices, is such that some of the supply may be considered surplus, then the committee should determine the extent of such surplus or the composition of such surplus by grade, size, and quality. If the committee deems advisable under such circumstances, it should recommend to the Secretary the control and disposition of surplus Irish potatoes and plans for equalizing the burden of surplus elimination and control among producers and handlers.

The Secretary, if he finds from recommendations of the committee, or from other information available to him, that the control and disposition of surplus Irish potatoes will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, should control and dispose of such surplus Irish potatoes and should provide for equalizing the burden of control and disposition among producers and handlers thereof.

The committee should be authorized, whenever the Secretary provides for control and disposition of surplus Irish potatoes, to enter into contracts or agreements with any person, agency, or organization, for the purpose of facilitating the disposal of such surplus. It is necessary and incidental to efficient local administration of any surplus control or disposal program that the local committee should be empowered to assist in such program. It is also necessary and appropriate that the Secretary should be authorized to designate the committee as an agency to assist in the operation of any governmental program for the elimination or control of surplus.

The method for controlling and disposing of surplus Irish potatoes, hereinbefore set forth, is in accord with the testimony introduced at the hearing and should, therefore, be established as hereinafter set forth.

(k) The shipment of Irish potatoes for consumption by charitable institutions or for distribution by relief agencies does not appreciably effect the market price for table stock or seed potatoes. Shipments which are made for these specific purposes might not otherwise take place because of the inability of the consuming agencies to buy in normal markets, hence it is desirable that such outlets should be provided with Irish potatoes that are fit for consumption but which might otherwise not be consumed unless they are not subjected to regulations under the marketing agreement and order. Shipment of Irish potatoes for consumption by charitable institutions or for distribution by relief agencies should not be subject to regulation under the marketing agreement and order. Also, Irish potatoes shipped for manufacture or for conversion into by-products, except for shipments for manufacturing into specified products the shipment of which is recommended for regulation by the committee, and approved by the Secretary, should not be subject to regulation. Evidence shows that shipments of Irish potatoes for manufacturing into products which shipments might be specified for regulation by the committee, with the approval of the Secretary, are potato chips and possibly starch, both of which are used for human consumption in virtually the original form of the raw material. If shipments for manufacturing into other products should be regulated in the consensus of the committee, it may so recommend. It is also desirable and necessary that shipments for conversion into by-products, which can use off-grade or undesirable sizes as well as the preferred types, should not be subject to regulation. Shipments of Irish potatoes for manufacturing or conversion, as hereinbefore indicated, should not be subject to regulation because they do not affect adversely marketing in that the use of the poorest grade of Irish potatoes would otherwise go to waste.

Irish potatoes transported from the producer's farm to the customary grading, storage, or loading station should not be subject to regulation. Any and all of these actions are commonly construed as occurring prior to the act of shipping. Such is the intent of the present proponents of the marketing agreement and order.

The committee should be authorized to recommend that Irish potatoes shipped for livestock feed, or for other specified purposes, should not be subject to regulation for reasons comparable to those set forth above for manufacturing and conversion. Livestock feed is an outlet which does not compete with markets for table stock or seed potatoes. Whenever conditions warrant that this market outlet should be used, there is no good reason why Irish potatoes for such purposes should be required to meet market standards imposed upon table stock or seed potatoes. Also, Irish potatoes which may be discarded for table stock or seed potatoes because of regulations may find an outlet as livestock feed, hence their exemption from regulations will tend to promote objectives sought under regulations in accordance with previous sections.

It is necessary and incidental to the operation of the marketing agreement and order and to effectuate the objectives of the act that the committee should be authorized to provide adequate safeguards to prevent Irish potatoes which are relieved of regulation from entering the current of interstate or foreign commerce to compete with Irish potatoes which have been regulated. Such safeguards, among others, should include Federal-State inspection in order that distinguishing characteristics of specific or particular shipments may be readily determined in accordance with commonly recognized authority.

Irish potatoes which are not subject to regulation under other sections, but for which producers receive some return (which is the position of the non-regulated Irish potatoes considered herein), should bear their equitable share of the expense of operating the marketing agreement and order.

In order to maintain appropriate identification for shipments which are not subject to regulation, the committee should be authorized to issue Certificates of Privilege to producers or handlers shipping such Irish potatoes. It is necessary in the interests of efficient operation of the marketing agreement and order that such identification should be maintained in this manner. In order that the Secretary may be properly advised concerning the movement of Irish potatoes from the production area, it is necessary and incidental to the operation of the marketing agreement and order that records of such shipments should be maintained and that weekly reports should be forwarded by the committee to the Secretary showing the disposition and number of shipments which were exempt from regulation. The Secretary should have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any safeguards prescribed or Certificates of Privilege issued by the committee.

(l) For the proper and efficient administration of the marketing agreement and order, the committee needs information on Irish potatoes with respect to supplies, movement, prices, and sundry other relevant factors which are best obtainable from handlers. The committee should be authorized to request, and every handler should be required to furnish to the committee, any information which is required for reasonable operation of the marketing agreement and order. The Secretary should retain the right to modify, change, or rescind any request by the committee for information in order to protect handlers from unreasonable requests for reports.

(m) The provisions of sections 8 through 19, as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 4, 1947 (12 F. R. 3632), are common to marketing agreements and orders now operating. These provisions are incidental to, and not inconsistent with section 8c (5), (6), and (7) of the act, and necessary to effectuate the other provisions of the marketing agreement and order, and to effectuate the declared purposes of the act. Testimony at the hearing supports the inclusion of each of these provisions as published in the notice of hearing. These provisions, identified by section numbers and title, are as follows: Section 8. Compliance; Section 9. Right of the Secretary; Section 10. Effective time and termination; Section 11. Effect of termination or amendment; Section 12. Duration of immunities; Section 13. Agent; Section 14. Derogation; Section 15. Personal liability; Section 16. Separability; Section 17. Amendments; Section 18. Counterparts; and Section 19. Order with marketing agreement.

(n) The seasonal average farm price per bushel for Irish potatoes in South Dakota varies from year to year depending upon a variety of factors, among which the size of the South Dakota crop, the size of the crop in the surplus late states, and the current level of consumer income are important. The average farm price for Irish potatoes in South Dakota during the base period, August 1919–July 1929, is $1.04 per bushel, although annual variations within that period range from $0.48 to $2.14 per bushel. Seasonal average farm prices for Irish potatoes in South Dakota during the period 1929–1946, inclusive, have ranged annually from $0.27 to $1.60 per bushel. The seasonal average farm price for Irish potatoes in South Dakota was below parity during ten of the eighteen seasons, 1929 to 1946, inclusive, and above parity during the other eight seasons. Preliminary reports indicate a seasonal average price per bushel received by farmers for Irish potatoes in South Dakota during the 1946 crop year of $1.52 per bushel. Parity price for Irish potatoes in South Dakota during the 1946 crop year averaged $1.50 per bushel, although farm prices for Irish potatoes in South Dakota were below parity during the fall months.

Within each season farm prices for Irish potatoes also vary from month to month in South Dakota usually reaching a seasonal low during the months of September through December. Last year, 1946, during this fall period, farm prices of Irish potatoes in South Dakota were 97 percent of parity. The prospect of farm prices for Irish potatoes in South Dakota being below parity is greater during this period than during any other portion of the Irish potato crop year. Sub-parity farm prices for Irish potatoes in South Dakota during the fall months of each production year are and have continued to be for a long period of time, an annual phenomenon which can reasonably be anticipated to obtain during the fall months of the 1947 production year.

Production of certified Irish seed potatoes in South Dakota increased rapidly during recent years. Concurrently heavy monthly Irish potato marketings in South Dakota have shifted to considerable extent from late fall and early winter, i. e., September through December, to the late winter and early spring, i. e., January through March, reflecting increased movement of Irish seed potatoes for late crop plantings. Farm prices for Irish potatoes in South Dakota usually are higher during the late winter and early spring period when movement of Irish seed potatoes is heavier than during the fall and early winter period when movement of Irish table stock predominates. Therefore, the need for regulation by grade, size, and quality is greater during the period of table Irish stock movement than during the period of heaviest Irish seed potato movement. In addition, the fall and early winter period is one in which South Dakota Irish potato prices usually are lowest.

The proposed marketing agreement and order and all the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act with respect to Irish potatoes produced in said production area, specified in this proposed marketing agreement and order, by establishing and maintaining such orderly marketing conditions therefor as will tend to establish prices to the producers thereof at a level that will give such Irish potatoes a purchasing power, with respect to the articles that the producers thereof buy, equivalent to the purchasing power of such Irish potatoes in the base period, August 1919–July 1929, and by protecting the interest of the consumer by (1) approaching the level of prices which it is declared in the act to be the policy of Congress to establish by a gradual correction of the current level of prices at as rapid a rate as the Secretary deems to be in the public interest and feasible in view of the current consumptive demand in domestic and foreign markets, and (2) by authorizing no action which has for its purpose the maintenance of prices to producers of such Irish potatoes above the level which it is declared in the act to be the policy of Congress to establish.

(o) The inspection of Irish seed potatoes to determine their grade, size, quality, and maturity, and the certification therefor with respect to such findings by a Federal-State inspector tends to establish orderly marketing conditions for Irish seed potatoes in South Dakota. It is found that such potatoes, which are inspected and certified by recognized authority as having certain specified characteristics, normally returned a higher price to farmers than do Irish potatoes which are not so inspected and certified. Inspection and certification of Irish seed potatoes by the Federal-State Inspection Service tends to promote the public interest by providing buyers and sellers with a greater amount of specific, accurate information relating to Irish seed potatoes offered for market than such interested parties would have in the absence of inspection and certification. Inspection and certification of Irish seed potatoes in South Dakota tends to promote orderly marketing conditions in the public interest and it is necessary for the operation of grade, size, quality, and maturity regulations that Irish potatoes marketed from this production area should be inspected and certified.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Interested parties were allowed until July 1, 1947, by the Presiding Officer at the hearing on the proposed marketing agreement and order to file briefs on findings of facts and conclusions based on evidence introduced at the hearing. No briefs were filed, hence no rulings are necessary.

Recommended marketing agreement and order. The following proposed marketing agreement and order are recommended as the detailed means by which the above conclusions may be carried out.

SEC. 2. Administrative body—(a) Establishment and membership. A South Dakota Potato Committee, consisting of seven producer members, is hereby established. For each member of the committee, there shall be an alternate member, who shall have the same qualifications as the member.

(b) Initial committee. The initial members and alternates of the committee shall be selected by the Secretary for a term of office ending on June 30, 1948, and until their successors are selected and qualified. Such members and alternates may be selected by the Secretary from lists of nominees supplied by producer groups or associations operating in and representative of producers in the production area.

(c) Term of office. The term of office of members and alternates of the Committee shall begin on the first day of July or the date of qualification, whichever is later, and continue until the end of the then current fiscal year and until their successors are selected and have qualified.

(d) Nominations. Except for initial members and alternates of the committee, nominations for membership may be determined by:

(1) Assembled meetings. Elections may be conducted in assembled meetings of producers in each district to determine nominees for such district. Such election shall be conducted under the supervision of a chairman and a secretary designated by the committee in accordance with the provisions of Roberts' Rules of Order; or

(2) Mail voting. Election of nominees may be effected by the producers of each district by written ballot forwarded or presented to the teller designated by the committee. Each ballot form shall have printed thereon the date on which such ballot must be in the hands of the teller to be counted and ballots received after such date shall not be counted. Ballots not presented to the teller in person by the voter must be enclosed in an envelope with the voter's name and address indicated thereon. The notice of election attached to such ballot form may contain a list or lists of candidates sponsored for election by a group or groups of producers.

The committee shall determine the most desirable and convenient method, aforesaid, of electing nominees for each district, thereafter appointing indicated officials to conduct such elections. Such committee determinations shall be conveyed to interested producers by means of newspaper stories, mail, or such other means of communication deemed adequate by the committee. Nominees shall be elected on forms provided by the committee by June 10th of each year and lists certified by appropriate election officials (either chairman and secretary or teller, depending on the method of election) shall be forwarded via the committee to the Secretary by June 15th of each year.

(e) Voting. Each producer shall be eligible to cast one vote for each of the designated number of nominees in the district in which he qualifies as such producer, which vote can not be cumulated for any one nominee. A producer qualifying thereas in more than one district shall elect the district in which he chooses to exercise his voting rights.

(f) Districts. The production area is divided into four districts, identified, described and with nominee representation as follows:

District No., Description, and Nominees

1—Codington and Deuel Counties:
4 for members.
4 for alternates.
2—Clark County:
6 for members.
6 for alternates.
3—Hamlin and Kingsbury Counties:
2 for members.
2 for alternates.
4—Brown and Day Counties:
2 for members.
2 for alternates.

(g) Selection and qualification of members. Except for the initial committee, the Secretary shall select two members and two alternates from nominees submitted from District No. 1, three members and three alternates from the nominees submitted by District No. 2, and one member and one alternate from the nominees submitted by each of the remaining Districts. If nominations are not supplied to the Secretary within the time and in the manner specified in paragraph (d) of this section, the Secretary may, without regard to nominations, select the members and alternates of the committee, which selection shall be on the basis of the representation provided herein. Any person selected by the Secretary as a member or as an alternate member of the committee shall qualify by filing a written acceptance with the Secretary within ten days after being notified of such selection.

(h) Vacancies. To fill any vacancy occasioned by the failure of any person selected as a member or alternate member of the committee to qualify, or in the event of the death, removal, resignation, or disqualification of any qualified member or alternate member, a successor for his unexpired term may be selected by the Secretary. Such selections, if made, shall be on the basis of substitute representation for the producers of the District involved.

(i) Obligations. Upon the removal or expiration of the term of office of any member of the committee, such member shall account for all receipts and disbursements and deliver all property and funds, together with all books and records, in his possession, to his successor in office or to a trustee designated by the Secretary and shall execute such assignments and other instruments as may be necessary or appropriate to vest in such successor or trustee full title to all of the property, funds, and claims vested in such member pursuant hereto: Provided, That the provisions hereof shall apply to alternate members in possession of funds, property, books or records, or participating in the receipt or disbursement of funds.

In the event of death, removal, resignation, or disqualification of a member, his alternate shall act for him until a successor of such member is selected and has qualified.

(k) Procedure. (1) Four members of the committee shall constitute a quorum, and any action of the committee shall require four concurring votes.

(2) The committee may provide for meeting by telephone, telegraph, or other means of communication, and any vote cast at such a meeting shall be confirmed promptly in writing: Provided, That if an assembled meeting is held all votes shall be cast in person. Provided, further, That the committee shall hold an annual assembled meeting during the last two weeks of March in each year, the exact time, place and date to be determined by the committee.

(l) Members expenses and compensation. The members of the committee and their respective alternates when acting as members, may be reimbursed for expenses necessarily incurred by them in performance of their duties and in the exercise of their powers hereunder, and shall receive compensation at a rate to be determined by the committee, which rate shall not exceed $5.00 for each day or portion thereof, spent in attendance at meetings of the committee.

(m) Powers. The committee shall have the following powers:

(1) To administer the provisions hereof in accordance with its terms.

(2) To make rules and regulations to effectuate the terms and provisions hereof.

(3) To receive, investigate, and report to the Secretary complaints of violations of the provisions hereof.

(4) To recommend to the Secretary amendments hereto.

(n) Duties. It shall be the duty of the committee:

(1) To act as intermediary between the Secretary and any producer or handler.

(2) To keep minutes, books and records which clearly reflect all of the acts and transactions of the committee and such minutes, books and records shall be subject to examination at any time by the Secretary.

(3) To investigate the growing, shipping and marketing conditions with respect to potatoes and to assemble data in connection therewith.

(4) To furnish to the Secretary such available information as he may request.

(5) To select a chairman and such other officers as may be necessary, and to adopt such rules and regulations for conduct of its business as it may deem advisable.

(6) At the beginning of each fiscal year, to submit to the Secretary a budget of its expenses for such fiscal year, together with a report thereon.

(7) To cause the books of the committee to be audited by a competent accountant at least once each fiscal year, and at such other time as the committee may deem necessary or as the Secretary may request. The report of such audit shall show the receipt and expenditure of funds collected pursuant hereto, and a copy of each such report shall be furnished to the Secretary.

(8) To appoint such employees, agents, and representatives as it may deem necessary, and to determine the salaries and define the duties of each such person.

(9) To confer with other Marketing Agreement and Order Committee in other States and areas.

SEC. 3. Expenses and assessments—(a) Expenses. The committee is authorized to incur such expenses as the Secretary finds may be necessary to carry out the functions of the committee pursuant to the provisions hereof during each fiscal year. The funds to cover such expenses shall be acquired by levying assesments as hereinafter provided.

(b) Assessment. (1) Each handler who first handles potatoes which are regulated, shall, with respect to the potatoes so handled by him, pay to the committee such handler's pro rata share of the expenses which the Secretary finds will be necessarily incurred by the committee for its maintenance and functioning during each fiscal year. Such assessment share shall be due and payable when the committee bills the handler therefor. Such handler's pro rata share of such expenses shall be equal to the ratio between the total quantity of potatoes handled by him as the first handler thereof, during the applicable fiscal year, and the total quantity of potatoes handled by all handlers, as the first handlers thereof during the same fiscal year. The Secretary shall fix the rate of assessment to be paid by such handlers.

(2) At any time during or after a fiscal year, the Secretary may increase the rate of assessment in order to secure sufficient funds to cover any later finding by the Secretary relative to the expense of the committee. Such increase shall be applicable to all potatoes handled during the given fiscal year. In order to provide funds to carry out the functions of the committee, handlers may make advance payment of assessments.

(c) Accounting. (1) If, at the end of a fiscal year, it shall appear that assessments collected are in excess of expenses incurred, each handler entitled to a proportionate refund of the excess assessments shall be credited with such refund against the operations of the following fiscal year, unless he demands payment thereof, in which event such sums shall be paid to him.

(2) The committee may, with the approval of the Secretary, maintain in its own name, or in the name of its members, a suit against any handler for the collection of such handler's pro rata share of the expenses of the committee.

SEC. 4. Regulation—(a) Marketing policy. At the beginning of each fiscal year, the committee shall prepare and submit to the Secretary a report setting forth its proposed policy for the marketing of potatoes during such fiscal year. In the event it becomes advisable to deviate from such marketing policy, because of changed demand and supply conditions, the committee shall formulate a new marketing policy and shall submit a report thereon to the Secretary. The committee shall notify producers and handlers of the contents of such reports.

(b) Recommendations for regulations. (1) It shall be the duty of the committee to investigate the supply and demand conditions for grade, size and quality of potatoes of all varieties. Whenever the committee finds that such conditions make it advisable to regulate the shipment of particular grade, size and quality of potatoes of any or all varieties during any period, it shall recommend to the Secretary the particular grade, size and quality of any or all varieties thereof deemed advisable to be shipped during such period.

(2) In determining the grade, size, and quality of potatoes of all varieties deemed advisable to be regulated in view of the prospective demand therefor, the committee shall give due consideration to the following factors: (i) Market prices, including prices by grade, size and quality of potatoes of all varieties for which regulation is recommended; (ii) potatoes on hand in the market areas as manifested by supplies en route and on track at the principal markets; (iii) available supply, quality, and condition of potatoes in the production area; (iv) supplies from competitive areas and regions producing potatoes; (v) the trend and level of consumer income, and (vi) other relevant factors.

(c) Issuance of regulations. Whenever the Secretary shall find, from the recommendations and information submitted by the committee, or from other available information, that to limit the shipment of potatoes to particular grade, size and quality of any or all varieties thereof would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall so limit the shipments of potatoes during a specified period. Any specific regulation may be made applicable to any variety or varieties of potatoes, different regulations may be applied in any fiscal year to different varieties, and different regulations may be applied in any fiscal year to table stock potatoes, on the one hand, and to seed potatoes on the other hand. One or more varieties of either table stock or seed potatoes may be regulated in any fiscal year without regulation of the remaining varieties. The Secretary shall notify the committee of any such regulation and the committee shall give reasonable notice thereof to handlers.

(d) Inspection and certification. During any period in which the Secretary has regulated the shipment of potatoes pursuant to this section, each handler shall, prior to making each shipment of potatoes, cause each shipment to be inspected by an authorized representative of the Federal-State Inspection Service. Promptly thereafter, each handler shall submit to the committee a copy of the inspection certificate issued thereon.

(e) Exemptions. (1) The committee shall adopt and announce, subject to the approval of the Secretary, the procedural rules pursuant to which certificates of exemption will be issued to producers.

(2) The committee shall issue certificates of exemption to any producer who furnishes adequate evidence to the said committee that by reason of a regulation issued pursuant to this section he will be prevented from having as large a proportion of potatoes shipped during the remainder of the shipping season, as the average of all producers. Such certificates of exemption shall grant an opportunity for such producer to have as large a proportion of his potatoes shipped as the average of all producers.

(3) If any producer is dissatisfied with the certificate of exemption granted or denied to him pursuant to an application, said producer may file an appeal with the committee. Such an appeal must be taken promptly after the issuance of the certificate of exemption or denial from which the appeal is taken. Any producer filing an appeal shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the committee, for a determination on the appeal. The committee shall thereupon reconsider the application, examine all available evidence, and make a final determination concerning the certificate of exemption to be granted or the denial thereof. The committee shall notify the appellant of the final determination and shall furnish the Secretary with a copy of the appeal and a statement of considerations involved in making the final determination.

(4) The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any procedural rules and any exemptions granted or denied pursuant to this section.

(5) Records shall be maintained by the committee and a weekly report furnished to the Secretary showing the applications for exemptions received, exemptions granted, exemptions denied, and shipments made under exemptions.

SEC. 5. Regulation of surplus—(a) Recommendation. It shall be the duty of the committee to investigate supply and demand conditions of potatoes. Whenever the committee finds that a surplus of potatoes exists, it shall determine the extent of such surplus of potatoes or of any grade, size or quality thereof. If it is deemed advisable, the committee shall recommend the control and disposition of surplus potatoes and plans for equalizing the burden of surplus elimination or control among the producers and handlers thereof under uniform rules established by the committee and approved by the Secretary.

(b) Issuance of regulations. (1) Whenever the Secretary finds from the recommendations and information submitted by the committee, or from other available information, that the control and disposition of surplus potatoes will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall control and dispose of such surplus potatoes and shall further provide for equalizing the burden of such surplus elimination or control among producers and handlers thereof. Such control and disposition, in any fiscal year, may be applied, where the facts so warrant, either to table stock or to seed potatoes, or both: Provided, That different controls and dispositions may be utilized, in any fiscal year, for table stock potatoes, on the one hand, and seed potatoes, on the other hand, and for the various varieties of table stock and seed potatoes.

(2) At any time during which the Secretary provides for the control and disposition of surplus potatoes, the committee is authorized to enter into contracts or agreements with any person, agency, or organization, for the purpose of facilitating the disposal of surplus potatoes. The Secretary may designate the committee as an agency to assist in and to effectuate the elimination or control of surplus potatoes under any governmental program.

SEC. 6. Limitation of regulations. Nothing contained herein shall authorize any limitation of the shipment of potatoes for any of the following purposes: (a) Potatoes shipped for consumption by charitable institutions or for distribution by relief agencies; (b) potatoes shipped for manufacturing or conversion into by-products, except for manufacturing or conversion into specified products recommended by the committee for regulation and approved by the Secretary therefor; (c) potatoes shipped by the producer thereof from the point or place of production to the nearest customary grading, storing, or loading point for the purpose of having said potatoes graded, stored, or loaded for shipment; and (d) upon recommendation of the committee and approval of the Secretary, potatoes shipped for livestock feed or for other specified purposes. The Secretary shall give prompt notice to the committee of any approval issued by him under the provisions of this section. The committee may prescribe adequate safeguards to prevent potatoes shipped for the purposes stated above from entering the current of interstate commerce or directly burdening, obstructing, or affecting such commerce contrary to the provisions hereof, which safeguards shall include Federal-State inspection provided by section 4 (d) hereof and the payment of a pro rata share of expenses provided by section 3 hereof: Provided, That such inspection and payment of expenses may be required at different times than otherwise specified by the aforesaid sections. The committee shall issue Certificates of Privilege for shipments of potatoes effected or to be effected under the provisions of this section and shall make a weekly report to the Secretary showing the number of certificates applied for, the number of bushels of potatoes covered by such applications, the number of certificates denied and granted, the number of bushels of potatoes shipped under duly issued certificates, and such other information as may be requested by the Secretary. The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, alter, or rescind any safeguards prescribed and any certificates issued by the committee pursuant to the provisions of this section.

SEC. 7. Reports. Upon the request of the committee, every handler shall furnish to the committee, in such manner and at such time as may be prescribed, such information as will enable the committee to exercise its powers and perform its duties hereunder. The Secretary shall have the right to modify, change, or rescind requests for any reports pursuant to this section.

SEC. 8. Compliance. Except as provided herein, no handler shall ship potatoes, the shipment of which has been prohibited by the Secretary in accordance with provisions hereof, and no handler shall ship potatoes except in conformity to the provisions hereof.

SEC. 9. Right of the Secretary. The members of the committee (including successors and alternates), and any agent or employee appointed or employed by the committee, shall be subject to removal or suspension by the Secretary at any time. Each and every order, regulation, decision, determination, or other act of the committee shall be subject to the continuing right of the Secretary to disapprove of the same at any time. Upon such disapproval, the disapproved action of the said committee shall be deemed null and void, except as to acts done in reliance thereon or in compliance therewith prior to such disapproval by the Secretary.

SEC. 10. Effective time and termination—(a) Effective time. The provisions hereof shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare above his signature attached hereto, and shall continue in force until terminated in one of the ways hereinafter specified.

(b) Termination. (1) The Secretary may, at any time, terminate the provisions hereof by giving at least one day's notice by means of a press release or in any other manner which he may determine.

(2) The Secretary may terminate or suspend the operations of any or all of the provisions hereof whenever he finds that such provisions do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(3) The Secretary shall terminate the provisions hereof at the end of any fiscal year whenever he finds that such termination is favored by a majority of producers who, during the preceding fiscal year, have been engaged in the production for market of potatoes; Provided, That such majority has, during such year, produced for market more than fifty percent of the volume of such potatoes produced for market; but such termination shall be effected only if announced on or before June 30 of the then current fiscal year.

(4) The Secretary shall terminate the provisions hereof at the end of any fiscal year, upon the written request of handlers signatory hereto handling not less than sixty-seven percent of the total volume of potatoes handled by the signatory handlers during the preceding fiscal year; but such termination shall be effective only if announced on or before June 30 of the then current fiscal year.[1]

(5) The provisions hereof shall, in any event, terminate whenever the provisions of the act authorizing them cease to be in effect.

(c) Proceedings after termination. (1) Upon the termination of the provisions hereof, the then functioning members of the committee shall continue as trustees, for the purpose of liquidating the affairs of the committee, of all funds and the property then in the possession of, or under control of the committee, including claims for any funds unpaid, or property not delivered at the time of such termination. Action by said trusteeship shall require the concurrence of a majority of the said trustees.

(2) The said trustees shall continue in such capacity until discharged by the Secretary; shall, from time to time, account for all receipts and disbursements and deliver all property on hand, together with all books and records of the committee and of the trustees, to such person as the Secretary may direct; and shall, upon request of the Secretary, execute such assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to vest in such person full title and right to all of the funds, property, and claims vested in the committee or the trustees pursuant hereto.

(3) Any person to whom funds, property, or claims have been transferred, or delivered by the committee or its members, pursuant to this section, shall be subject to the same obligations imposed upon the members of the committee and upon the said trustees.

SEC. 11. Effect of termination or amendment. Unless otherwise expressly provided by the Secretary, the termination hereof, or of any regulation issued pursuant hereto, or the issuance of any amendment to either thereof, shall not (a) affect or waive any right, duty, obligation, or liability which shall have arisen, or which may thereafter arise in connection with any provision hereof, or any regulation issued hereunder, or (b) release or extinguish any violation hereof, or of any regulation issued hereunder, or (c) affect or impair any rights or remedies of the Secretary, or of any other persons with respect to any such violation.

SEC. 12. Duration of immunities. The benefits, privileges, and immunities conferred upon any person by virtue hereof shall cease upon the termination hereof, except with respect to acts done under and during the existence hereof.

SEC. 13. Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any person, including any officer or employee of the Government, or name any bureau or division in the United States Department of Agriculture, to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions hereof.

SEC. 14. Derogation. Nothing contained herein is, or shall be construed to be in derogation or in modification of the rights of the Secretary or of the United States to exercise any powers granted by the act or otherwise, or in accordance with such powers, to act in the premises whenever such action is deemed advisable.

SEC. 15. Personal liability. No member or alternate of the committee, nor any employee or agent thereof, shall be held personally responsible, either individually or jointly with others, in any way whatsoever to any handler or to any person for errors in judgment, mistakes, or other acts, either of commission or omission, as such member, alternate, or employee, except for acts of dishonesty.

SEC. 16. Separability. If any provision hereof is declared invalid, or the applicability thereof to any persons, circumstances, or thing is held invalid, the validity of the remainder hereof, or the applicability thereof to any other person, circumstance, or thing shall not be affected thereby.

SEC. 17. Amendments. Amendments hereto may be proposed from time to time, by the committee or by the Secretary.

SEC. 18. Counterparts. This agreement may be executed in multiple counterparts and when one counterpart is signed by the Secretary, all such counterparts shall constitute, when taken together, one and the same instrument as if all signatures were contained in one original. Provided, That after the effective date hereof, any handler who has not previously executed this agreement may become a party hereto if a counterpart hereof is executed by him and delivered to the Secretary. This agreement shall take effect as to such new contracting party at the time such counterpart is delivered to the Secretary, and the benefits, privileges, and immunities conferred by this agreement shall then be effective as to such new contracting party.[2]

SEC. 19. Order with marketing agreement. Each signatory handler favors and approves the issuance of an order, by the Secretary, regulating the handling of potatoes in the same manner as is provided for in this agreement; and each signatory handler hereby requests the Secretary to issue, pursuant to the act, such as order.
